SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE

RIDGEWAY RAMBLES

Seeding nearly finished for this season.

Corn cutting is the present occupation of the farmer.

Those on the sick list in the village are on the gain slowly.

Prof. H. W. Daniels, of the Clinton schools, was in the village Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Houseman visited relatives at Raisinville last week.

Mrs. John Arner left Tuesday for a visit of a couple of weeks with relatives at Ithaca.

Dr. Begle, of Holloway, will occupy the pulpit of the M. E. church next Sunday morning and evening.

Mrs. Frank Cox and Miss Millie Kelley, of Holloway, visited their brother, Morris, Friday of last week.

C. W. Arner and wife, of Wellington Ohio, arrived Tuesday evening for a visit with their mother, Mrs. Louise H. Arner.

Rev, J. A. Lowry left for Alpena Wednesday morning to attend the M. E. Conference being held there this week.

The village school began Monday with Prof. W. H. Rieman and Miss Flora Chase as teachers. The attendance is good.

The officers of the school board wish to correct a statement that is in circulation to the effect that the tuition to foreign students had been raised. They desire to have it corrected by saying it is the same as it has been since the school was opened to foreign pupils.

Ida Pocklington received a telegram from the school board of Blissfield last Thursday, stating that a vacancy had occurred in their school, and requesting her to come and take the position. She left Friday for her field of labor, with the best wishes of her many friends here for her success.

Our citizens were somewhat shocked Monday morning when Mrs. Hall received a telegram that Mr. R. T. Bush was dead, having died that morning. W. L. Jones and Miss Ella Hall left on the evening train for Brooklyn. On their arrival they telegraphed back that the remains would be buried there Wednesday.

ONSTED ODDS.

Wheat all sown in this locality.

Corn is being cut as fast as possible.

A slight frost last Sunday morning.

Will Daniels is still quite sick with fever.

Mrs. Charity Taylor has been quite sick with bowel difficulties.

Our school is prospering finely with Miss Sylvia Maxwell as teacher.

What is the matter with Belden, Winans, Turner and Partridge? They are all right.

Missionary concert at the Church last Sunday evening and a good attendance.

Mrs. M. Reed started last week on a trip to Minneapolis, Minn., with her father for a visit.

A. F. Dewey has raised the frame for his large barn, which when finished will contain a silo.

The excavation for John Hand's new house is made and workmen will soon be laying the foundation walls.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Turner and family and Mrs. Will Walker and children, of Newaygo Co., Mich., are with friends here at present.

Onsted now puts on city airs since that first-class colored barber has located here. Give him a call and get a good job done.

The spiritualists of this and other localities held a two days' meeting on Saturday and Sunday last at Rexford's grove, Round Lake.

At the last meeting on Thursday evening the North Rome P. of I. received six new members into their fold. The association is growing and prospering finely.

David Corwin and family have their household goods all packed and will soon move to Marshall. Mr. C. is an employe of the C. J. & M. Railroad Co. in the capacity of bridge builder.

Mrs. Perkins, our millinery merchant, has returned from Detroit with a new assortment of first-class millinery goods, which she intends to sell out as cheap as anyone, so call and see her prices before buying, as she has given good satisfaction in her dealings heretofore.

The best and surest dye to color the beard brown or black, as may be desired, is Buckingham's Dye for Whiskers. It never fails.

Henry Scoenhals, foreman Henry Krug Packing Co., St. Joseph, Mo., uses Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil with his men for sprains, cuts, bruises, chapped hands, etc. It is the best.

MACON MUSIC.

Corn cutting and sowing wheat is the order of the day.

Mrs. Lavinia Jackson is visiting her daughter, Mrs. John Winchell, at Leslie, for a few weeks.

Wesley Betser, our expert paper hanger, has improved the interior of the school house by papering the sides and ceiling.

David Sloan of Britton, a former resident of Macon, has been obliged to close out his meat market on account of poor health.

Samuel Kriedler expects to move to Clinton in a few days. Sorry to part with him, but he is looking for his best interests and he has our best wishes.

William Pratt of Deerfield has become a resident of Macon. He has moved into the house of John Frost. Mr. Frost will make his home with them.

Horace Burgess has sold his house and lot to Lester Coller, and has bought the Kriedler and Ellison lots. Both together will make him a nice location.

The dance at the "Dewdrop" Saturday night was rather a small affair, only enough present to dance one set. The fault was not in the music for the Burger boys are first-class violinists.

We may look for a dry time next year, judging by the vast amount of tile that are taken away from the tile yards of Milan Sage. The farmers for miles around have learned that he makes the best tile in the county, and ten hundred makes a thousand every time at these tile yards.

CAMBRIDGE CLIPPINGS.

Mr. Myres is under the doctors care.

Corn cutting and wheat sowing are nicely along.

Dr. Frank Billmyre of Bellville O. is visiting at his father's Andrew Billmyre's.

The sale of the property known as the Willard Smith estate occured Monday last. David Neely the lucky one who secured the same at 33¼ dollars an acre, there being 240 acres. The house hold furniture sold well.

The C. L. C. will hold an apron and necktie socal at the home of Miss Anna Dewey Friday Sept. 26th. The ladies will furnish a short literary programm for the evening as follows:

Instrumental music—Anna Dewey.
Recitation—Anna White.
Solo—Gertie Billmyre.
Paper—Lula Allen.
History of the C. L. C. Ida Culver.
Solo—Ida Dewey.

TO THE BOYS AND GIRLS OF LENAWEE.

It is almost time for our annual county fair. My dear boys and girls, what are you doing to make it the grand success we all wish it to be? May we not ask of you (with assurance that you will cheerfully respond) that every one of you bring one or more articles to the fair, which will add to the attractions of the boys' and girls Department. Your exhibit is one of the most interesting features in the whole exposition, and will not every one feel a personal pride in it and by your efforts make a finer display this year than ever before, and so carry off more premiums. We expect much of you. Please don't disappoint us. Take the premium list, and look it over carefully, and decide upon something which you will each bring, and so swell the number of entries in your department, that every available inch of space shall be occupied. Don't say "Pray let me be excused." but every one help to make the fair of 1890 a perfect success.

Yours very truly,
MRS. D. A. DODGE,
Chairman of your Committee.

Catarrh Can't be Cured

with Local Applications, as they can not reach the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers acting on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

FRANKLIN FACTS.

This is ourself this time and not our double.

Sunday morning's frost did but little damage here.

Mr. Ancil Witherell is poorly but able to be about.

Mrs. Julia Knight accompanied by her daughter-in law Mrs. Ancy Billington has gone to visit her son Charlie.

Talk about big corn; why we've got plenty of it up here in Franklin that a tall man could stand up straight and couldn't begin to reach the top.

Alvinza Whelan has been very sick at Mackinaw but a letter to his wife Saturday says he is recovering; also that John Hand who is with him has had two or three severe attacks.

Rev. Burt and Mrs. Alverson stopped over night with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wisner on their way from the conference at Romulus to their new home and Pastorate at Waldron.

A telegram from Leslie week before last announced to his parents the sad news of the death of Henry Sayers. We who knew him remember him as one of the manliest of men; assuming from childhood heavy burdens of care and responsibility with cheerfulness and gentle patience. His brother Amos attended the funeral.

Mrs. Edward Wisner is getting along as well as could be expected perhaps, but which is not well at all; a little nearer the end of hay fever for 1890 and a good deal weaker and more worn than when we last wrote. Miss. Eva Wheeler has had a very severe time of it too but has bravely stuck to her school without loss of time.

WHAT IS A CORN PALACE?

The Sioux City corn palace is a palace covered and embellished as with tapestry outside and in, with products of the field, corn predominating, ingeniously and fancifully arranged. In building the palace a large structure is first erected of lumber, of a shape that will carry and show to advantage the multiform decorations with which it is to be adorned. It is in form lofty with broken lines, pinnacles, buttresses, bridges, gables, ornamented windows, etc.

Over every inch of this wooden surface are laid corn and kindred plants in architectural harmony, in a multiplicity of designs. The corn is employed in the stalk, the ear, the kernel and even the husk has its decorative uses. All the grains and grasses of the field lend themselves to the beautifying of the palace. The walls are covered on the outside with ears of corn, but lengthwise or cross-wise, and nailed on in geometrical figures or other designs. The various colors of a wide range of shading and coloring, while its artistic possibilities, developed from year to year in building the palace, admit of the production of effects that are as startling as pleasurable.

High over the entrance of the palace of 1889 was King Corn's crown as the nucleus of a sunburst, while below was the national flag in graceful folds all wrought in varied-colored corn as true and as beautiful as if painted by an artist's brush. The roof is overlaid with corn leaves. Pinnacles and columns are capped with the sorghum plant, or with grains and grasses. The irridescent walls, seen from a near distance, seem to be a rich mosaic of polished woods, while with the "Banners, yellow, glorious, golden,"

that

"From its roof-tree float and flow,"

the palace enraptures the beholder as one who looks upon a cloud-painted mansion that may dissolve before his eyes.

The interior work is finer and more elaborate. Here the kernel of the corn is largely employed, producing amazing and lovely effects. On the walls are wrought pictures, illustrating farm scenes, legendary and nursery tales, etc., with a fidelity that is calculated to raise a doubt that the material employed is the homely utilitarian growth of western farms. Frescoes and flowers, figures of persons and animals, draperies and thousands of surprising and beautiful things are made of field plants for the delight of the visitors to the palace, whose astonishment is succeeded by admiration of the genius that conceived and developed so much art and beauty from such homely fabrics as are employed.

CLEVELAND, OHIO.

J. M. Loose Red Clover Co., Detroit,

I was recommended, by one who had been cured by it, to use your Red Clover Extract. I done so and have been a happy woman ever since. The first application gave me more relief than all the medicine I had ever taken. After using less than one third of the solid extract sent me, I walked from my home down town, a distance of one mile, for the first time in 34 years. I can be on my feet all day, without any suffering, my work is a pleasure to me and I no more look forward with dread to days of pain and suffering. Your Red Clover has given me new life and am positive of a speedy cure.

Yours gratefully,
Mrs. M. G. KEITH.

PERHAPS no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. While not immediately fatal it is among the most distressing and disgusting ills that flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cure of chronic catarrh by any of the multitude of the modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising.

Erysipelas and Salt Rheum was driven entirely away from Mrs. J. C. Anderson, Peshtigo, Wis., by Burdock Blood Bitters. No equal as a Blood purifier.

TECUMSEH, THURSDAY, SEPT. 18.

The three county tickets are now all in the field and the campaign is likely to be a stirring one from now till the day of election.

The Hon. Webster Flannigan is the Republican candidate for governor of Texas. After election he will wonder what he was there for.

The tariff bill has passed the Senate. It will now go into the hands of a conference committee, where it will receive a little more ventilation.

The pension department is as much of a scandal as ever under this administration. The chief difference between Tanner and Raum is this: Tanner talked and Raum keeps mum, that's all.

It is evident that a tariff act substantially on the basis of the McKinley bill will pass this Congress. It is just as well. The Democracy could'nt ask a better issue for the fall campaign.

This is the most interesting political question in these parts at present: Will Capt. Allen get there for a third term? The general consensus of opinion seems to be that he will have a hard road to travel this fall.

The Democratic State Convention at Grand Rapids last week did its work wisely and well. An exceptionally strong ticket was placed in nomination. If the rank and file of the party do their duty and poll a full vote it will be elected.

The Democrats made no mistake when they nominated Judge Winans for governor. He is not a gentleman farmer, who farms it for fun, as Horace Greeley used to raise pumpkins, but a genuine life-long practical farmer, whose sympathies are with the farming classes. Look out for a land slide for the farmer candidate.

The tariff will stand upon the statute book as the grossest and most corrupt exercise of legislative power ever perpetrated in the history of the country, and as the signal movement of a point of departure at which wealth and corrupt politics joined hands in an alliance for defeating public opinion in the government of this nation. Its significance is that capital has become omnipotent in politics; and that controling politicians stand ready to use that instrument; and meaning that, how can it mean less than that the vox populi has been subjected to the power of an aristocracy of wealth?—New York Commercial Bulletin.

"The grand old party," says the Sioux City Journal, "is responding grandly to the progressive tendencies of the country and is putting itself to the front to serve its commercial interests. The best practical thought of the party is rapidly resolving itself upon the policy of reciprocity." Yes, "The grand old party" is responding about as grandly as a balky horse does to the application of the gad. The progressive tendencies of the country have given the grand old party distinct notice that it must move or perish. Under the gad it squirms, and kicks, and jerks as if it was on the point of going somewhere, but settles right back into its balk and doesn't budge. The "grand old party" is too firmly rooted in the prejudices and and selfish interests of protectionism even to serve the commercial interests of the country.—Chicago Times.

But the darling is his first-born, and he cannot see its blemishes, or if he does, thinks them excellences. Were he not thus blinded by paternal feeling he would never talk of the Republican party being "benefited" by a measure which will make it harder for everybody to feed, house and clothe himself. That political organization which is foolish enough to ask for popular support on the ground that it has made people poorer and life harder to live deserves a thrashing. If the Republican party were so unwise as to do what McKinley wishes and begin "pointing with pride" to the fact that it has harmed all but a selected few, the sooner the pallbearers should be picked out the better.

ALLEN'S STRENGTH IN LENAWEE AND HILLSDALE.

A Hudson correspondent of the Detroit Evening News sends that paper the following somber view of Allen's chances for re-election:

HUDSON, Mich., Sept. 5—If the feeling concerning the return of Capt. E. P. Allen to congress is the same in other parts of the second district as it is in this section, he will find his old path to glory not a bed of roses, but rather a network of thorns.

It is an indisputable fact that Capt. Allen has had in the district in most every place in his political contests heretofore an enthusiastic following that has bent every energy for his success. But the events immediately following the accession of his party to the presidential office, when these same republicans imagined that they would be like so many pigs in clover, through the kindly intervention of Capt. Allen, have cooled their ardor, until in many instances the mention of Allen's name makes them as frigid as an iceberg.

The most important political plum to be picked up around the country town is the postoffice. Regarding their disposal, Mr. Allen proclaimed a rule that the Republicans, or a majority of them, who get their mail at a postoffice should select their postmaster. He said that he did not propose to be a boss and select a postmaster at the dictation of three or four persons who held themselves up as party leaders. This proposal was fair enough to look upon, but having made it, Allen, in most every instance, has set out to prevent the choice of the people being fairly and honestly made, but by a series of manipulations and vacillations on his part has set the best men of the party by the ears in every town and made personal enemies that will leave no stone unturned to encompass his defeat. The more stones they can pile upon his political grave the better it will suit them. It is generally agreed that the next congress will be democratic any way, so that these strong party men, who would generally go the straight ticket, feel that they hazard nothing in getting even with him.

There is hardly a place in the west end of this district but the congressmen has held out encouragement to all parties contesting for a position. He has been good Lord and good devil to them all. This of course, has made the inevitable disappointment the more bitter, when it surely came. There has nothing ever been known like the bungling manner in which patronage has been distributed, and it has weakened the party, which has, as a general thing, come to regard Allen as a political coward, who is unable to take a stand and hold it when he has once settled his mind.

Take Pittsford, for instance. The favorite candidate of the people of that place for postmaster was Orlando Cole, a veteran. He had the support of a preponderance of republicans. Capt. Allen came to Pittsford to decide the contest, having given out that he would be there on a certain day. A large number of old-time republican farmers from the country round about came to town to say a word to the congressman about the appointment. Of course he communed with them upon the subject nearest their heart? Not much; he closeted himself with a smart village doctor and a political boss from another part of the county and proceeded to dissect the petitions. Cole proved to be in the lead. But he was not a favorite with the parties who were closeted with Capt. Allen. It is not thought that these Pittsford farmers who danced in attendance to Allen on that day, will be shouting very hard for him this fall. In fact, the township heretofore strongly republican has been nearly Democratic since. The republicans elected their supervisor by only eight majority the next spring, and at the last election the vote was a tie. Not very comforting for Allen, sure; so few votes in each township throughout the district turns the election.

At Prattville, Hillsdale county, the appointment was promised to Mr. B. L. Veness, the son of a veteran, a bright young man, who had the indorsement of the patrons of the postoffice. He went into business in the little town upon the expectancy of reciving the place. By Allen's peculiar methods he was disappointed, and a large personal following will return the compliment at the polls.

In Medina, Lenawee county, Aldrich McLouth, following Capt. Allen's rule, obtained the names of a large majority of republicans to h petition. Allen gave him personal assurance that the petition would be considered. His rival disdained a petition, and Allen rubbed it into McLouth, a life-long republican, by claiming that he was prohibitionist. McLouth has a host of friends who are not enthusiastic over Allen's renomination.

In Clayton there is a trial of vengeance following the defeat of Private Joe Badgely for the postoffice, and in Addison, actually, both contestants became so disgusted with the uncertainty of Allen's mind that they withdrew their papers from his hands and a democrat is still holding the office long after the expiration of his term.

At Morenci, Allen said to the party workers: "Now, I know all about you fellows down there; anything you say goes." It did go, too; into the waste basket. They got left and are as mad as March hares.

Here in Hudson the republicans have been fighting over the postoffice for two years. J. J. Wood had the almost unanimous indorsement of the patrons of the office. Finding that Allen was linked in a scheme to destroy the strength of his position, he appealed to one of the party leaders of the state, only to find out that it had been fixed in favor of Scarritt, who had taken no personal interest in the campaign, but had come home from a long visit soon enough to start his petition right after election. He is not a popular candidate, and if the election means that a vote for Allen is a vote for Scarritt for postmaster, Hudson would reverse her sturdy republican majority and go democratic on congressman.

At Osseo there is a sore spot over the defeat of L. H. Elliott for postmaster. He has been an untiring worker for Allen heretofore. This whole western end of the district is honeycombed with disaffection. Hillsdale, Jonesville, Reading, Allen and North Adams have numerous workers who have been snubbed by Allen.

It would have been an easy matter, if their had been any aspiring candidate in the field, to have downed Allen in the convention; but the district is in such bad shape over the distribution of spoils that no one dared to take the fight off of his hands, step into his shoes and invite certain defeat. The dissatisfaction, coupled with the great outcry of the farmers for legislation in their interests, will make it mighty lively for the fog-horn member from the second this fall.

SOME MCKINLEY PRICES.

BRUTALITY BEGETS INDECENCY.

If the popular branch of Congress would command any measure of popular respect it should adjourn as speedily as possible. The proceedings of Wednesday were the most disgraceful of our more than hundred years of Congressional history.

And yet this consuming shame is only the logical gravitation from the brutality that has ruled the House under Speaker Reed to the unprintable of scenity that drove ladies from the galleries and involved four of the Speaker's party followers in a worse than pot-house row.

Only under a long reign of unmixed brutality could such unspeakable indecency have been bred in a great deliberative body; and now, when ladies must shun the debates of the law makers of the Republic, and when the grossest epithets of the fish-market are freely bandied in personal brawls, and when obscene speech is emphasized by the scuffles of the slugger, it is high time to adjourn Congress and send Representatives back to their constituents to renew their lessons in the common decencies of life.

Let Congress speedily adjourn. The failure of the tariff, or of the river and harbor appropriations or of any other public measure, is unimportant compared with the maintenance of the dignity and decency of the people's branch of Congress. Go home.—Philadelphia Times.

A DAY OF RECKONING AT HAND.

The country has been scourged on more than one occasion by bad laws and by bad law makers. If the force bill, a measure clearly devised for the purpose of enabling a corrupt band of politicans to steal the next Congress and the next Presidency, becomes a law, the people must bear the infliction with such philosophy as they may until they can destroy it lawfully and bring confusion and disgrace upon its authors. That it will be destroyed, that its authors will feel the sternest wrath of the people, and that the result of the episode will be a closer union between the North and the South The Herald most confidently believes. The American people are capable of self-government and they will govern themselves. Designing men may appear to triumph over them at times, but the plottings of all such will come to naught. A day of reckoning is at hand.—Chicago Herald.

SCROFULA ALL HIS LIFE.

I consider my cure by S.S.S. one of the most wonderful on record. I had the worst type of Scrofula from my infancy until I was 22 years of age. My whole young life was embittered and made miserable by the loathsome disease. I not only suffered Scrofula but was so marked that I was ashamed to associate with and was avoided by my playmates and fellow workmen. I tried every known patent medicine, and was first and last attended by more then a dozen reputable physicians but in spite of all, the disease continued to grow worse. About four years ago a friend from Pittsburg advised me to take S.S.S. wich I did and after taking seven bottles I was cured sound and well. The old skin peeled off and was replaced by a new skin as smooth and free from blemish as any person. I have had no return or symptom of the disease.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the sympathetic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind.

Distress After Eating

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." SPRINGER VS. BLAINE.

THE ILLINOIS CONGRESSMAN TALKS ABOUT RECIPROCITY.

Blaine's Position a Distinct Advance, but There Is No Reason for Not Making Reciprocity Wider Still—The Foreign Trade Not Understood by Mr. Blaine.

Congressman William M. Springer, of Illinois, who has been speaking on the tariff question on behalf of the Reform club at various county fairs in New York state, when in New York city the other day granted to a member of the club an interview on the reciprocity question.

"I have just found time," said Mr. Springer, "to read Mr. Blaine's recent speech on the subject of reciprocity with the Spanish-American states. It goes to show what effect is produced upon the mind of the average protectionist when his pet theories begin to be exploded by the inevitable logic of events. The protective question in this country has reached the point at which its various advocates are compelled either to advance in the direction of absolute exclusion and the 'Chinese wall,' or to admit, much to their chagrin, that free trade with some countries is actually desirable. Mr. Blaine has perched for some years upon the protective fence, and is now compelled to get down on one side or the other.

"Mr. McKinley, Mr. Reed and others younger and less experienced in public affairs, who obtained their idea of protection from Horace Greeley and the doctrinaires of the so called 'American system,' have got down on the other side. They succeeded in getting into the Chicago platform a declaration in favor of raising duties so as to restrict importations. This means, of course, to restrict trade of all kinds, except as to articles which cannot be produced in this country, since there can be no trade unless exportation follows importation in nearly corresponding degree, for foreign trade is an interchange of products between the people of different countries.

"Mr. Blaine, it seems, believes that we ought to have some trade with some countries, and he points out the countries with which such trade would be desirable, and others with which trade would be detrimental. But here Mr. Blaine is confronted with one of the most cherished tenets of protection, and one of which he has not yet learned the fallacy and supreme absurdity. I refer to the protectionist theory of the balance of trade.

"Mr. Blaine says that during the last year our trade with Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia, Canada and the Sandwich Islands was as follows: Exports from the United States to these countries, $658,000,000; imports from these countries to the United States, $529,000,000. From this he argues a balance of $129,000,000 in our favor—equal, as he says, to so much gold among our people. If trade is the exchange of products these figures might suggest that we had sent out to those countries $658,000,000 worth of our goods, and they had sent to us $529,000,000 of theirs, and that therefore they had got the better of us in the bargain to the extent of $129,000,000. Did it ever occur to Mr. Blaine that if a cyclone had struck the fleets—flying the British flag, I am sorry to admit—that bore these goods from abroad, and had sent to the bottom $100,000,000 worth of the cargoes that started, that we should have been better off by $100,000,000 worth of goods thus sunk in the sea? Certainly his arguments seem to lead to these conclusions.

"Turning from Europe, Asia and Africa Mr. Blaine looks to the south of us, to countries whose people are chiefly agriculturists, our rivals in the markets of the world where our agricultural products are sold. Mr. Blaine imagines that he sees in Cuba, Brazil and South America generally the most profitable field for the development of our trade on the plan of reciprocity. For instance, he states that in 1889 we lost more than $40,000,000 in our trade with Cuba. Here is the way he figures it out. Cuba sent us that year $52,000,000 worth of her products, chiefly sugar, and we sent her in exchange only $11,000,000 worth of our products. This, says Mr. Blaine, shows a direct loss to us of $41,000,000. Mr. Blaine seems to think that we really paid Cuba for $52,000,000 worth of sugar with $11,000,000 worth of our products; and curiously enough he seems to suppose that we lost $41,000,000 by the transaction. The same argument holds good as to Brazil and Mexico, to which he refers.

"I am surprised that a man of Mr. Blaine's intelligence should evince so little acquaintance with the course of trade. The facts are, in practical business, that during 1889 $52,000,000 worth of Cuban products, principally sugar, were brought into this country, and in paying for it we could send to Cuba at a profit only $11,000,000 worth of our goods. For the balance the Cuban merchants were paid not in gold, but in a check on a New York bank, and the deposit was drawn on to pay for American farm products, cotton, breadstuffs, provisions, and other articles that are grown in this country and can be sold at a profit in Europe, there being little or no market for them in Cuba. The cargo of these products went to some European port, and was there exchanged for manufactured goods of that country, such as cotton fabrics, clothing, dry goods generally, and other articles suited to the consumption of Cuba. Vessels conveyed these goods to Cuba, and thus the exchange was complete.

"In short it was thus: The Cuban merchant sold us sugar, and took in exchange cotton, provisions and breadstuffs of American growth. He took them to Europe, and there exchanged them for European products suitable to Cuba, and these he took to Cuba, where they were consumed by the same people that produced the sugar sold to us in the first instance.

"Perhaps Mr. Blaine will contend that it would have been better for our country had the Cuban bought commodities here and taken them direct to Cuba without going around by Europe, but the effect upon this country would be precisely the same, except in so far as the cost of transportation, which must be borne by the producer, is less to Cuba than to Europe. But it is not the Cuban's fault that he did not take back a cargo of our manufactured goods.

"The tariff so increases the cost of materials, raw or partly raw, entering into our manufactures that the product become unsalable at a profit outside of the United States. Thus the Cuban and South American who grow at home most of their breadstuffs are obliged to seek a market in Europe for most of our products taken in exchange for sugar sent to us. This is the effect of our tariff.

"Mr. Blaine may get reciprocity with all South America, and I hope he will. It would have some beneficial effects. But until our tariff is so reduced, especially on materials entering into manufactures, as to enable us to compete in Cuba and South America with European manufactured products his reciprocity will remain beautiful in theory, but of comparatively little utility in its practical workings. Our trade with Cuba and South America can be protected by the reduction of our tariff to a strictly revenue basis and the placing on the free list of all materials raw, or partly manufactured, that are essential to the manufacture of goods salable at a profit to countries south of us.

"Now, however, that Mr. Blaine has endeavored to enlighten the unenlightened intellects of his fellow Protectionists by teaching them that some kinds of trade with other countries are mutually beneficial I hope that in his next speech he will explain further why it is that free trade with South America and Cuba is desirable, while at the same time free trade with Canada would be injurious; and when he has crossed the Canadian line and embraced that country within his theory of reciprocity he must explain why it is that free trade is desirable with all the countries of the American continent, but baneful when you cross salt water. If the salt hath lost its savor wherewith shall his theory be salted?"

Protecting Paper.

Last winter when the representatives of the various protected interests were filing past Maj. McKinley to tell him what they wanted in order to make the country rich there came one day in January a Mr. Edward C. Rogers, president of the American Paper Manufacturers' association. He seemed to have a rather confused idea of what he wanted. "I do not know," he said, "that we want to ask for anything special today."

Mr. Rogers was quite content that the present duty of 15 per cent. ad valorem on the common paper used for cheap books and newspapers should remain as it is—but it is a duty which could very well have been abolished altogether, as it was testified by one of the pulp manufacturers at the same session of the committee that this class of paper was worth about the same in Europe and in America.

The better class of book paper, however, much of which now comes in at 20 per cent., Mr. Rogers wanted raised to 25 per cent. The result was that the 15 per cent. and the 20 per cent. rate were left as at present; but on some of the higher grades of paper McKinley placed a considerably higher duty.

From this it might be inferred that paper making is an unprofitable industry in this country. But a late number of Bradstreet's discusses editorially the condition of the paper trade in New England as follows: "The New England paper men have every reason to be satisfied with the present condition of their business. Their mills are all running on full time, and yet this is the dull season of the year. They are now in the interim between the summer and the autumn trade. The outlook for the future is very bright, and they are taking every step necessary to make the most of it. Very many of the manufacturers have found that their old quarters were not adequate to meet the increase in business, and the work of enlarging their mills is noticeable all over Massachusetts."

With prices abroad the same as here and with protective duties over and above, as if to make up for a difference that does not exist, the paper makers have certainly no cause to fear the pauper made paper of Europe, and under these conditions they can go on unmolested in the home market.

Are Americans Equal Before the Law?

Nearly all Americans, even those who think our fining and searching tariff laws a tyrannous restraint on personal freedom, think that all persons are equal before the law of our great country. They are sadly deluded. It is not only true that those of us (the people) who cannot combine into trusts, buy a national election, and get openly paid at Washington by a self constituted czar and a microscopic Napoleon, must pay up for those who can; but worse than that, we cannot dress as others can unless we pay more than they. We must pay what amounts to 65 per cent. on every piece of foreign goods we wear, and under the bill Mr. Milliken introduced to muzzle the supreme court of these United States only he and the protectionist devils who then possessed him can say how much more. On top of all this if one of us saves up money and, to get a long needed rest, goes to England, where he uses his freedom to buy what goods he pleases by having some clothes made there, the poorer he is the more he must pay duties on.

Mr. Astor returning from Europe can bring twenty-one trunks with him, each filled with clothing, and pay no duties. The reason is that one of his "means and station" needs enough clothes to fill a retail store to be suitably clothed. Ye gods, what an amount of nakedness he must have! But you and I, who can only have one or two suits a year at most, must be content with one trunkful; while Tom, Dick and Harry must use their backs as their trunks. And yet selfish politicians in their greed for offices would have us believe that the tariff helps the poor man, and that a law which puts him in a different "station" in life from the Astors or the other land—or manufacturing—barons we must submit to, is an American law.

You cannot be too particular about the medicines you use. When you need a blood purifier, be sure you get Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and no other. It will mingle with, purify, and vitalize every drop of blood in your body. It makes the weak strong.

Wonders
Are wrought by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor in restoring gray hair to its original color, promoting a new growth, preventing the hair from falling, keeping it soft, silky, and abundant, and the scalp cool, healthy, and free from dandruff or humors. The universal testimony is that this preparation has no equal as a dressing, and is, therefore, indispensable to every well-furnished toilet.
"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for some time and it has worked wonders for me. I was troubled with dandruff and was rapidly becoming bald; but since using the Vigor my head is perfectly clear of dandruff, the hair has ceased coming out, and I now have a good growth, of the same color as when I was a young woman. I can heartily recommend any one suffering from dandruff or loss of hair to use Ayer's Hair Vigor as a dressing." – Mrs. Lydia O. Moody, East Pittston, Me.
"Some time ago my wife's hair began to come out quite freely.
not only prevented my wife from becoming bald, but it also caused an entirely new growth of hair. I am ready to certify to this statement before a justice of the peace."—H. Hulsebus, Lewisburgh, Iowa.
"Some years ago, after a severe attack of brain fever, my hair all came out. I used such preparations for restoring it as my physicians ordered, but failed to produce a growth of hair. I then tried, successively, several articles recommended by druggists, and all alike fell short of accomplishing the desired result. The last remedy I applied was Ayer's Hair Vigor, which brought a growth of hair in a few weeks. I think I used eight bottles in two years; more than was necessary as a restorative, but I liked it as a dressing, and have continued to use it for that purpose. I believe Ayer's Hair Vigor possesses virtues far above those of any similar preparation now on the market."—Vincent Jones, Richmond, Ind.

A MOTHER'S LOVE
Saves Her 10 Yr. Old Child.
My little girl, ten years of age, had Bright's Disease. Her ankles, feet and eyes were terribly swollen. Four of our best physicians attended her, but her life was despaired of. But a mother hopes unto the last, and I determined to try Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, made at Rondout, N. Y.
Bright's Disease
How happy I am that I determined upon this course—for one by one the well known symptoms of the disease left her. Words fail to express my gratitude, and I cannot too earnestly recommend the Favorite Remedy. Her recovery was entirely due to the Favorite Remedy, which was the only medicine taken after her case was abandoned by the physicians.

The figure 9 in our dates will make a long stay. No man or woman now living will ever date a document without using the figure 9. It stands in the third place in 1890, where it will remain for years and then move up to second place in 1900 where it will rest for one hundred years.
There is another "9" which has also come to stay. It is unlike the figure 9 in our dates in the respect that it has already moved up to first place, where it will permanently remain. It is called the "No. 9" High Arm Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine.
The "No. 9" was endorsed for first place by the experts of Europe at the Paris Exposition of 1889, where, after a severe contest with the leading machines of the world, it was awarded the only Grand Prize given to family sewing machines, all others on exhibit having received lower awards of gold medals, etc. The French Government also recognized its superiority by the decoration of Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, President of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor.
The "No. 9" is not an old machine improved upon, but is an entirely new machine, and the Grand Prize at Paris was awarded it as the grandest advance in sewing machine mechanism of the age. Those who buy it can rest assured, therefore, of having the very latest and best.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.
It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.
The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.
WHAT IT CURES.
All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.
It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.
Over 40 Years,
This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.
Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

A MEDDLESOME PHYSICIAN CAUGHT.

A Detective Exposes an Old Doctor Who Tried to Separate a Druggist and His Wife Because they Dismissed His Son.

"Nearly all of our work is very secret in its nature," said Detective Fuller to a PRESS reporter the other day, "but I would be glad to oblige you in your request for a story, and I will give you the details of a case which I had on my hands in 1879, of course suppressing all names.

"Some years ago a leading druggist of this city called upon me with several offensively written letters, which he said his wife had received from an unknown source. The letters reflected upon his integrity, and it was the evident purpose of the writer to separate the druggist and his wife. The letters were cunningly composed, and it was palpable that their author had watched the movements of the druggist. Each time that the druggist left his home in the evening to attend some meeting or visit a friend, the day following was sure to bring a letter to the distracted wife detailing her husband's unfaithfulness.

"At first the wife suffered alone, but the thought of her husband's infidelity became unbearable, and she took her mother into her confidence. The mother was unwilling to believe this, and prevailed upon the wife to show the letters to the druggist. They had a family council, and it was decided to seek detective aid. Hence his visit to me. I asked him if he had any known enemy, or if he had reason to suspect any one, and he replied negatively. I then asked him if his wife had any, and he said he knew of none. I next asked him if he had ever had a dispute with any physician for whom he had prepared prescriptions, and he said yes, one.

"'This one,' he said, 'was my own family physician, and I dismissed him for cause. His father, a retired physician, called upon me a few days later and tried to induce me to reinstate him, but I refused, and he left my store muttering something to himself. Since that time my wife has received these letters.'

'I then said in my judgment the father is the one guilty of this offense. I asked him if he had ever prepared any prescriptions for him, and he said that he had filled a great many; in fact, the old man had had the run of the store. I then accompanied the druggist to his place of business for the purpose of comparing the letters with the old man's prescriptions. An examination revealed the fact that every prescription the old man had ever written had been carefully removed.

"I then wrote the doctor a letter, which I sent to a Western correspondent to be mailed to him, and awaited his reply. It came in due time but the answer had been written by the son. I had another mailed from an Eastern point with similar results. Finding that it would be useless to try to get a specimen of his writing in this manner I hit upon a novel plan which succeeded.

During my conversation with the druggist he informed me that the elder physician was of German birth, and that he came from a very good family. Learning the name of the city he had come from, I returned to my office and had my German assistant prepare some papers, apparently seeking information of a man bearing the name of the physician. I had the letters addressed to myself, and antedated them to correspond with the time required to have received them from abroad. The letter stated that it was necessary to secure this gentleman's affidavit for the purpose of closing up an estate, and that the last heard of him he was a practicing physician in New York city.

"I had prepared the necessary blanks with a series of questions, in order to establish his identity. My next move was to secure a large envelope which had actually come from Germany, bearing that government's stamps and postmarks. I removed the writing with some acids and had my name and address substituted by my German assistant.

Then I had an interview with the old gentleman, having first watched his house until I saw his son drive away.

"At first he was very suspicious, but my card and envelope completely disarmed him. I had decided upon this move of going to him open handed as being the most likely to throw him off his guard, and it was a complete success. I made him believe that he was the sole heir to a valuable piece of property in Germany, and he permitted his greed to get the better of his caution. Before I left he filled in with his own hand every question of my series, and I had eleven lines of his writing, which, upon comparison with the anonymous correspondence, was readily seen to be his writing. I showed the druggist the result of my work, and we called together upon the old physician. Before we left we had wrung a full confession from him.

"He got down upon his knees and begged for mercy, saying that exposure would disgrace him and his family for life. The druggist, in view of the hitherto honorable standing of the man, said he would not prosecute, provided a donation of $500 was made to a charitable institution which he named, and that he also write a complete retraction to the druggist's wife, to which he gladly consented.

"He admitted that in order to avoid detection he had unobserved removed the prescriptions from the druggist's books, and for the same reason he had prevailed upon his son to answer all his correspondence, informing him that he had rheumatism in his wrist. The son did not know what the old man had been doing. It is safe to say that he has not written any anonymous letters since."

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Democratic County Convention held on Monday last was well attended. It transacted its work well and placed a very strong ticket in the field, which will be heard from in November.

The Convention was called to order at eleven a. m. by Len W. Hook, Chairman of the County Committee. Dr. H. S. Wyman of Seneca was made temporary Chairman and C. S. Burroughs of Clinton Secretary. The usual committees were appointed and the Convention then took a recess for dinner.

Upon reassembling after dinner, C. L. Lowe of Ridgeway was chosen permanent Chairman and C. S. Burroughs was continued Secretary.

James Schermerhorn of Hudson presented a set of resolutions, the reading of which was frequently interrupted by applause and which were adopted with a hurrah.

RESOLUTIONS.

The Lenawee democracy in convention assembled, encouraged by the evidences of growing disfavor into which the Republican administration has come through its monopolistic measures, which enrich the capitalists and wrest from the hand of toil its just reward, salute the intelligent voters of the county with the assurance that the candidates to be placed in nomination to-day will, in the discharge of the duties of legislative and county offices, conform to the wise, economical and business-like policy of Grover Cleveland, as enforced by him in four years of the best executive conduct the country ever saw. With hopefulness that the splendid ticket placed in nomination by the democracy at Grand Rapids, headed by the peerless farmer candidate, Hon. E. B. Winans, will redeem Michigan from misrule, and enroll it among the States that will rebuke the authors and support of the McKinley and Lodge bills, and the patrons of the politicians of the Quay and Raum stripe; and expressing our full accord with the sound and sensible declarations of the platform of the Michigan democracy, it is hereby

Resolved, That by the nominations made in this convention to-day, which are to deserve and receive the loyal support of the Lenawee democracy, we express our full sympathy with the growing demand for a revision of the laws that will secure for all a fairer division of the wealth and resources of the country, and the greatest good to the greatest number, and

Resolved, That while so many of us are suffering from low prices and unrequited toil, burdened with mortgages and extravagant taxes, we call upon all our nominees whom we may have the gratification of placing in office, to use every opportunity for exercising economy and retrenchment in serving the people; and

Resolved, That with the state Democratic platform we unite in severest condemnation of the last Michigan legislature, who consumed the people's money by a needlessly protracted session, and that we purpose to-day to place before the people a candidate for the state councils who will present to the people the spectacle of a faithful and conscientious public servant, who will address himself to the work of lightening the burden of taxation by lessening the expense of state administration. Be it further

Resolved, That we are ever mindful of the heroic services of the soldiers in the preservation of the Union, and that we will use every means within our power to secure for them their just rights and recognitions under the law, and to redeem all promises made to them in the years of their sublime sacrifice; and we cannot too severely condemn and deplore the neglect of the Republican party in ignoring them entirely at their recent county convention; and finally be it

Resolved, That the Lenawee Democracy enters the campaign with the enthusiasm and hopefulness of of those who have a just cause to fight for, and with bright prospects of a successful outcome at the polls.

The Convention then proceeded to the nomination of a County ticket. There was quite a warm contest over Sheriff and Treasurer, but the other nominees were all chosen without the formality of a ballot.

The ticket as completed is as follows:

Sheriff—Henry Bowen.
Clerk—Ira Waterman.
Register—Edgar Morse.
Prosecutor—Fred B. Wood.
Treasurer—Wm. H. Wiggins.
Surveyor—Richard Kent.
Circuit Court Commissioners—Bert Chandler, J. W. Helm, jr.
Coroners—Dr. J. E. White, Eugene C. Case.
Senator—James H. Morrow.

Lon O'Mealey made a short speech and Mr. Morrow gave a brief talk which was most favorably received. The Convention then adjourned.

A LECTURE COURSE.

Tecumseh is booming in a literary, as well as a business point of view, in this year of grace, 1890. The HERALD mentioned the fact last week that Mr. J. H. Osborn was securing pledges to shares of stock for the purpose of organizing a lecture association. The requisite amount of stock was obtained last week, and on Tuesday evening a meeting of the shareholders was held to organize. There was a good representation of the signers to the stock present at the Council Room when the meeting was called to order.

C. F. Field was called to the chair and J. H. Smith was made Secretary. After some preliminary discussion as to the best plan of procedure it was decided to elect officers at once and leave the details of the lecture course to be managed by the official board. The following officers were then chosen:

President—Dr. Geo. Howell.
Vice Pres.—C. A. Slayton.
Secretary—C. F. Field.
Treasurer—J. H. Smith.
Entertainment Com.—S. W. Anderson, J. D. Shull, D. McNair.

On motion it was resolved that the officers should constitute an Executive Committee, to have charge of all business of the association, except such as properly devolves on the Entertainment Committee.

It was also on motion resolved that the course should consist of six first-class lectures, and if there be a surplus of funds at the close it should be used to secure one or more additional entertainments.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. J. H. Osborn for his labor in procuring the necessary pledges to make the course a certainty. The meeting then adjourned.

The newly elected officers then met and instructed the Secretary to institute correspondence at once to start a course of at least six entertainments. The Board then adjourned subject to the call of the Secretary.

Y. will cure Fever and Ague, Billiousness, Rheumatism, Debility of the Stomach Bowels, Kidneys, and Bladder, and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood, when no other medicine or treatment has been of any permanent benefit.

PARTING WORDS.

Miss Sarah Rosebrugh, who died at Freeport, Illinois, Sept. 10, 1890, was borne in Groveland, Livingston county, N. Y., on Feb. 13, 1824. She was the oldest of a family of nine children. Being helpful, ingenious and unselfish and often called upon to exercise these qualities, her mother soon learned to trust in her judgment and from this the younger members were early led to go to her in counsel, as children do to a faithful mother.

In 1852 the family moved to Tecumseh, Mich., where she remained until by marriage and death the home was broken up. In 1880 she went to Freeport, Ill., where her sister was teaching.

We form friendships more slowly in later years than earlier, and knowing this she feared to enter upon the duties of making a new home. But at her death, friends of this new sphere showed by their acts that her cheerful Christian spirit, exercised from early girlhood, had like other laws in nature drawn to itself the elements of life's enjoyment, "true friends."

Her last days were cheered by the care of her family friends, and when these cares were ended, her remains were brought to Tecumseh, and on the afternoon of the 12th her body was borne to the cemetery and deposited in its narrow bed, where birds may sing or storms rage, yet the quiet of that dreamless sleep will remain unbroken.

SOME FINE BLOODED STOCK.

When Lt. Elliott Gray started for Ireland, a few weeks ago, we mistrusted that some mischief was brewing. Upon his return last Saturday he brought with him a lot of pure bred horses and sheep which will give him one of the finest stock farms in Southern Michigan. The mystery was then solved.

Yesterday we accepted an invitation to visit his place and took a ride out there in company with Mr. Gray himself, Editor Field and Ed. Hollister. We can say without any boasting that it was an unusually good looking load. Upon arriving at the farm the new purchases were brought out for exhibition at once. He has four stallions of the celebrated "Suffolk Punch" breed, which he bought of Alfred J. Smith, of Rendlesham, Suffolk, England. They are heavy horses all chestnut color, slightly marked with white. The best one of the lot is "Minstrel Boy," 1759. He is four years old this spring, and without a blemish. We have seldom seen a finer specimen of horseflesh. The other horses, all of which are but little inferior to Minstrel Boy, are Rattle, 1795; Tub, 1788; and Tannington, 1923. Mr. Gray brought two grooms with him to assist in taking care of the stock, one of whom is the son of Mr. Smith the seller. He will return in a few days. The other groom will remain here permanently.

His imported sheep consist of a flock of 92 yearlings of full blooded Shropshires, bred in Scotland. They are beauties and no mistake.

Lt. Gray received as a gift from Mr. Smith two English Fox Terrier pups, bred by the celebrated Dr. Ker. Their sire sold for one hundred guineas.

Alva Spayde has a new card this week. Read it and heed it.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Richard of Jackson were in town last Monday.

James Elliott's new house is completed and the family will move into it next week.

Strong & McNair, our old reliable clothing firm, have a new business announcement this week.

The boiler room connected with the shop of the Tiffany Iron Works is now being built and the boiler will be placed in position next week.

The new firm of Avery & Ellis are now at the helm. They have engaged space in these columns and will fill it as soon as they have time.

The dance given at Armory Hall last Friday evening was will attended and was a very enjoyable affair. Ollie Hunt's orchestra furnished the music.

Mrs. D. D. Marshall of Bay City has concluded to make Tecumseh her future home and is moving her household goods into her own home on Maumee street.

David J. Lewis will preach at the Friend's church as usual, next Sabbath evening. The series of meetings proposed to be held will not commence till later.

The Amos Stocking house at the corner of Union and Pottawatamie streets has been torn down, thus removing one of the old land marks from that part of the village.

Miss Rose Cupples and Miss Hattie Whittier visited Clinton last Monday. They paid no attention to cars, carriages, safety-gigs, etc., as they take pride in breaking common sense shoes.

Macon Grange will meet in regular session Friday, Sept. 26th, at 7:30 o'clock, P. M. The following persons are placed on the program and it is hoped that they will be present and respond:

Mrs. Oliver Sanford died quite suddenly last Saturday night of heart disease, at the age of 61 years. The funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon and were largely attended by sympathizing neighbors and friends.

Prof. David A. Hammond, formerly of Tecumseh, now of Charlotte, was nominated on the Democratic State ticket as member of the State board of education. This is a most excellent nomination, and will be favorably received, wherever Prof. Hammond is known.

The Democrats yesterday nominated James S. Gorman, of Washtenaw, to make the race against Capt. E. P. Allen for Congress. Mr. Gorman is a farmer residing at Chelsea, and has served with especial credit in the State Senate. He will be a strong candidate.

Next week Friday will be "political day" at the County Fair, and three speeches by prominent speakers will be given that afternoon. L. G. Hall of Saginaw will represent the Republicans; Frank Dean of Charlotte the Democrats, and Walter Thomas Mills of Chicago the Prohibitionists. They are all splendid talkers. Look out for some fun.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

TECUMSEH, MICH., SEP. 18, 1890.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

We are getting rain enough these days.

Seeding is about finished in this section.

Lorenzo Youngs of Tecumseh, has received an increase of pension.

Lt. Elliott Gray returned last Saturday from his visit to Ireland.

Mrs. P. B. Swick of Kalamazoo was visiting her sister, Mrs. VanAntwerp last week.

Ida Rector has gone to Olivet, where she will attend Olivet College the coming year.

The Addison W. R. C. took the $20 prize at the Southeastern Encampment at Jackson.

Wood, Crane & Wood, the popular Adrian Clothiers, have a new card in the HERALD this week.

H. J. Warren of Blissfield, has received the Democratic nomination for representative in this district.

O. P. Bills left last week for the Mackinac region where he will remain until the hav fever season is over.

Prof. Hopkins, formerly of the Clinton schools, but more recently of Saline, has secured a position in the railway mail service.

Stephen Whittier left last Tuesday for Elgin, Ill. He has taken the contract to build Geo. N. Stacy's new house and will begin work at once.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Merritt will return to their home in Cadillac tomorrow. They have enjoyed their week's visit in Tecumseh very much.

Mrs. I. H. Schreder and granddaughter Lovisa, took the excursion train Tuesday for Chicago, to visit Mrs. D. N. Goodrich and see the sights of the city.

L. B. Addis has a peculiar beet, grown in his garden, one beet having grown through the center of another beet. It beats all the beets of the season thus far.

Will McNair has been assigned to the 3d Artillery. This is quite an honor, as the artillery is considered the best branch of the service. He is awaiting orders to report for duty.

The new firm of Avery & Ellis began business last Tuesday. They are both young men of excellent business qualifications and will doubtless take their place among our best firms. Success to them.

Will Anderson retired on Tuesday and turned over his store to the new firm. He thinks some of moving onto his Devils Lake farm. A year's work in the open air would doubtless benefit his health very much.

The Owls will please look wise now while they are informed that the picture of the Owl's Nest was spoiled beyond repair by too much light. It may be said to the credit of the owls that it was no fault of theirs.

The Labadie-Rowell Comedy Co. have been playing the first three nights of this week at the opera house It is a pleasure to state that the company is a good one in every particular, and deserves the patronage of any city it chooses to visit.—Soo Democrat.

The many Tecumseh friends of Daniel Soper will congratulate him upon his nomination as Secretary of State on the Democratic State Ticket. He is admirably fitted for the position. Dan is a hustler from the word go and he stands an even chance of getting there.

The following comparative figures on the census will be of general interest in these parts. The first column shows the population of each town in 1880, the second column the figures for 1890.

Tecumseh	2702	2826
Macon	1423	1195
Ridgeway	1167	1389
Raisin	1264	1381
Franklin	1532	1398

The Morenci Fair is in full blast this week, and the show is a good one.

Jones & Hazlett have received their new fall stock and they swing out a new fall card this week.

Tecumseh will have a first-class lecture course the coming winter. That is now a fixed fact.

Rev. J. S. Joslin is in attendance upon the Detroit conference which is in session this week at Alpena.

The election of officers of Lodge No. 51, Order Eastern Star, will be held on Thursday evening, Sept. 25th.

Miss Anna Service of Clinton, has been here visiting Mrs. James Gregg. She returned home last Saturday.

The Tecumseh City Band will play for the Lenawee County Fair on Military Day, next week Wednesday, the 24th.

J. D. Arner of Ridgeway, is assisting H. J. Williams this week, putting the slate roof on the Tiffany Iron Works.

The fall term of school opens very auspiciously. There are now 30 foreign pupils in attendance and more are expected soon.

Mrs. James Gregg started last week Wednesday to visit a son in Iowa, and also two daughters in Illinois, and other friends.

Prof. Skinner and Charley will go to Ann Arbor next Tuesday to play with the Manchester Band at a German celebration.

The walls of the Tiffany Iron Works are now all up, and H. J. Williams, who has the contract for putting on the slate roof, began his work yesterday morning.

The Tecumseh City Band chose new officers last Monday evening as follows: Prof Skinner, President and Leader; G. H. Tansley, Secretary; Will Ross, Treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Blood, of Lansing, arrived in town Tuesday evening for a short visit, having driven over with a horse and buggy. This is LeRoy's favorite method of traveling.

The letter which appeared in the HERALD last week under the head of Franklin Facts came from an occasional correspondent. Our regular correspondent was not responsible for it.

T. Gimbert, of Adrian, has been laying one of his patent cement walks in front of Bill's bank and Hosmer's store. It makes a beautiful walk, and if it stands the severe cold weather, it will be as servicable as flag stone.

To the boys that made a disturbance at the Opera House last Friday afternoon, we would say, that if it is repeated, their names will be published in the papers and their names given to Mr Kyle and their parents.

The Loyal Legion will give a literary entertainment and supper at the home of Mrs. Jennie Hall, on Chicago street, Saturday, Sept. 27th. Supper served from 5 to 7:30, at ten cents. Let the parents and friends of the cause come out and give the young people a benefit.

THE DETROIT TIMES, the new penny paper, makes a remarkable offer to the boys and girls of the State. It will give a handsome safety bicycle, the regular $35 machine, for a small number of new subscribers. For full particulars write to The Times, 68 Congress street west, Detroit, Mich.

The sudden death of Mr. R. T. Bush last Monday morning, at his home in Brooklyn, removes from earth a noble, public spirited man, whose loss will be seriously felt. His many friends and admirers in Tecumseh will deeply condole with the family in their bereavement. We have not yet learned the full particulars of his demise.

An alarm of fire was sounded last Saturday afternoon, about 3 o'clock, and the boys got the engine out in double quick time. The fire was in Charlie Heck's poultry house in Brownville, and started in the incubator. The fire was confined to that building, but it was a narrow escape for some of the houses and barns near by. Heck's loss will amount to about $250

"There ought to be a law, if there is not one now, regarding the running of steam threshers on the highways. They are as bad as an elephant to frighten horses, and the number of accidents resulting from them is considerable. People, especially ladies, are afraid to drive, for fear of meeting one of the infernal scare-crows." Thus says the Manchester Enterprise, and we heartily concur in all of it, venturing the suggestion that underground passages be made along the highways, where practicable; and where not, hire balloons. Or—but the question opens up great possibilities.—The Times.

Noting our non sectarian proclivities, the Adrian Press volunteers to get some one to pray for us. How thoughtful in the brother to get a person to do the job who has a little influence with the Almighty, and at the same time knows what to pray for and when to quit. Still the Press cannot acquire the art any earlier, and a "marrow bone position with full confession of sins would be a good sign."—Addison Courier.

CAMPBELL'S HORSE FOOT REMEDY.

Is the best article on the market for horses' feet and has all the merits claimed for it. How to prevent and cure corns, quarter cracks, split hoof, sand cracks, hard dry, brittle and contracted feet, sores, bruises, cuts, swellings, sprains, foot rot, thrush and scratches, also treatment for founder, mange, vermin and all skin diseases.

Under these circumstances we have accepted the agency for this city and vicinity and shall always have on hand a stock from which to supply dealers and horse owners. We shall sell it with the understanding that if used as directed, and it fails to do what is claimed for it, when your can is empty come back and get your money. Suggestions—a book containing valuable information on the care and treatment of horses' feet, on how to keep horses' feet in perfect condition without the labor of packing and soaking. J. J. Orr, druggist agent, Tecumseh, Mich.

NOTICE TO FARMERS.

Osgood Bros. of Britton are now ready to manufacture Sorghum and Cider. They have added new and improved machinery for the manufacture of Sorghum. Having had long experience in the manufacture of Sorghum they are not afraid to guarantee their work to be first-class. They have facilities for working up cane very rapidly, therefore there will be no danger of cane spoiling after receiving at the mill.

They are located in the village of Britton and solicit the patronage of farmers having cane to be made up to give them a call.

SORGHUM MOLASSES.

Having thoroughly repaired our Sorghum mill, and added several improvements, we are better prepared than ever before to manufacture first-class Sorghum molasses. Farmers having small or large lots to make can bring their cane to us and be sure of receiving molasses from their own cane. We shall also have a quantity of syrup on hand to sell by the barrel or single gallon. Give us a trial and we will guarantee satisfaction. Having had 30 years' experience in the business, we claim to be well posted in the art of syrup making and can manufacture an article second to none.

That Lottery Bill

Will be Considered Early in the Week

AND THE SENATE WILL THEN CALL UP SEVERAL LABOR BILLS.

Republican Members of the House Declare They Will Call a Halt on Filibustering—The Programme of the Week in Congress —Other News.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—The Senate this week will work industriously on several bills which head the list of measures that the Republican caucus last week decided should be acted upon promptly and before the close of the session. The conference report on the land grant forfeiture bill is still unfinished business and is likely to be taken up and disposed of Monday. The anti-lottery bill, according to the Republican caucus programme is the next thing to be considered and acted on, and will probably come up on Tuesday. The bill for the relief of the Supreme Court of the United States is next on the list and this and the bill providing for the transfer of the revenue marine to the navy department which Senator Gray has given notice he will call up on Wednesday or Thursday, and the several labor bills that recently passed the House and which come next on the list of measures on the Republican caucus programme are more than enough to occupy the time of the Senate during the week.

The Republican leaders of the House have not only determined that the filibustering proceedings which were so successfully carried on last week, while the majority was endeavoring to call up the Langston-Venable contested election case for discussion, shall not be carried further, but have determined to administer discipline to the unruly minority by pushing through the contested election case of Miller against Elliott from the Seventh district of South Carolina immediately after the Langston-Venable case is disposed. The discipline which the Republicans will enforce will consist in limiting the debate to about forty minutes, a vote to be immediately taken when the debate is closed. The Langston Venable case is on the programme for Monday and the Republicans hope to have a sufficient number of majority members on hand to defeat any attempt on the part of the Democrats to break a quorum. In conformity with the action of the Republican caucus the tariff bill will be reported from the ways and means committee early in the week, on Wednesday probably, accompanied by an order from the committee on rules setting apart for debate what the committee consider reasonable time. When the time allowed for this discussion has expired a vote on non-concurrence in all the Senate amendments will be taken and the Republican votes will send the bill to conference. It is believed by prominent Republican members and was so stated in caucus, that the conference reports will be presented in both Houses in less than a week.

The rest of the week in the House will be consumed as the committee on rules sees fit. The general deficiency bill with Senate amendments now in the hands of the appropriations committee of the House is likely to be reported back to the House during the week, with disagreements and a request for the appointment of a committee on conference.

EARLY SNOW FALL

Has Not Seriously Damaged Crops in Western States.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Sept. 15.—No precedent can be cited to equal the early snow of this year. Snow has fallen in North Dakota, Montana, northwestern Minnesota and Manitoba from a quarter of one inch to several inches. An inch fell at St. Vincent, Minnesota, four inches at Hallock, Minnesota, and the ground was generally spread with the wintry white mantle. In some quarters cold rains quickly disposed of the snow, and the snow and rain combined have done little damage to wheat that is still in crop. Snow capped shocks are reported around Hallock and Warren, Minnesota, as well as at other places. While the snow has been limited in extent, the cold wave extended over both Dakotas, Minnesota and Iowa. Most of the crops are too far advanced to be much damaged.

To Defraud Stockholders.

SPRINGFIELD, ILLS., Sept. 15.—In the United States court Edward Litchfield, of Brooklyn, N. Y., filed a bill for an [illegible] board of the St. Louis, Alton and Terre Haute railroad to restrain a transfer of the road by lease to the Cairo, Vincennes and Chicago. Litchfield is a heavy stockholder in the road, and claims the alleged transfer as proposed is a mere shift to defraud the stockholders. He also charges mismanagement to the effect that the net earnings have been applied to individual use instead of the payment of dividends.

Distinguished Visitors.

LINCOLN, NEB., Sept. 15.—The Hon. John Fitzgerald was the recipient of the following cablegram from the secretary of the Irish National league, relative to the visit of the Irish members of parliament to this country during the coming fall and winter:

"DUBLIN, Sept. 13.—The Hon. John Fitzgerald, President of the Irish National League of America, Lincoln, Neb.: John Dillon, William O'Brien, T. P. Gill and myself will sail by the Teutonic, leaving here in October.

"TIMOTHY HARRINGTON."

School Boy Shoots His Companion.

LOGANSPORT, IND., Sept. 15.—The ten year old son of Panhandle Engineer Charles Beam with a companion came home from Sunday school and finding a revolver in a drawer, Beam pointed it playfully at his companion. The latter begged him to desist, but the boy laughingly assured him it was not not loaded, and to convince him placed the revolver to his own throat and pulled the trigger. The weapon exploded, killing him instantly, the ball passing out at the base of the brain.

May and December.

ATLANTA, GA., Sept. 15.—Thomas Phelps, aged seventy-five, was married to Mrs. Elizabeth Howell, aged fifty-nine. He was engaged to her as second wife, but parents objecting, both married, and now she comes in as number three.

McKINLEY'S PLAN

For Considering Tariff Amendments Is Unfolded in the House.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—The Republican members of the House held a caucus last night and talked over plans for disposing of the tariff bill when it is reported back to the House from the committee on Ways and Means. Mr. McKinley, voicing the sentiments of the majority of the committee, said that it would be expedient to consider the Senate amendments to the bill in open House, a vote to be taken on the question of non-concurring in the amendments in bulk after a reasonable debate. Mr. McKinley thought this the better way to dispose of the amendments, although some of the Republican members of the Ways and Means committee had, he admitted favored debate in committee of the whole. These members had, however, acquiesced to the desire of the majority. Mr. McKinley stated that he had promised to let the minority members of the committee know on Monday what action would be taken by the House. A number of other members spoke, most of them in favor of Mr. McKinley's plan. Several members, among them Mr. Payson of Illinois, urged consideration of the bill in committee of the whole. Mr. Payson said that he wanted to speak on several of the amendments, and would oppose the McKinley plan should it be adopted by the caucus.

Speaker Reed made a vigorous speech in favor of Mr. McKinley's plan, and was frequently interrupted by applause.

After some discussion the plan submitted by Mr. McKinley was adopted by a viva voce vote, with the understanding that the committee on rules should bring in an order early next week in conformity with the decision of the caucus.

DEATH IN DAKOTA.

SAD FATE OF A MASONIC EXCURSION TRAIN.

A Falling Tree Strikes a Coach—Two Persons Instantly Killed and Many Severely Wounded as the Result.

RAPID CITY, S. D., Sept. 15.—A sad accident occurred on the newly completed narrow gauge railroad between Piedmont and Lead City to-day. An excursion train made up of two coaches and a number of flat cars with seats arranged to accommodate the passengers left Lead city at 9:46 a. m., with about 200 Masons and their families. As the train was passing a point near Elk creek, 25 miles from Deadwood, a large pine tree which had caught fire from a passing engine fell, striking the last car which was packed with human freight, killing two people and wounding seven. When the massive piece of timber struck the car a panic took place.

Following is the list of the killed and wounded: M. J. Belding, engineer of the Golden Star mill at Deadwood, instantly killed; Mrs. J. K. Snyder, of Lead City, killed. The injured were: Miss Snyder, Mrs. J. E. Brooks, Samuel Gilbert, all severely. The others injured were: George Deemer, Mrs. Klingler, J. V. Lillig, and a son of Andrew Grey, all slightly injured.

FLOODS IN NEW YORK.

The Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg Road Suffers.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 15.—The rain which has fallen in torrents almost continuously for five days, has swollen every stream in this section to a spring freshet heighth, and today the effects are seriously felt hereabouts in an almost complete tying up of the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg railroad and its branches and the destruction of mills and other damage to manufacturing and farm property. A big washout has occurred on the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg, between Mannsville and Pierrepont Manor, in this county. The flood has carried away the track for thirty feet and made a deep channel across the line. A new iron bridge, which has just been completed at Centreville, a mile west of Richland on the Rome branch, was also carried away. One of the stone abuttments has been washed away and the other is going now.

Near Deer river, west of Carthage, on the Utica and Black river division, there is another washout, but this will be repaired immediately. At present direct railroad and mail communication from northern New York is shut off with the south, east and west, and will be until the Deer river railroad is repaired.

The Barrundia Shooting.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—It is said at the state department that no official report was received in the Guatemalan mail from Minister Mizner, respecting the Barrundia case, and so there is nothing officially known about the matter. Assistant Secretary Wharton expressed surprise at the failure to receive an account of the recent stirring events in Central America. It was confidently expected that the steamer which sailed from Guatemala after the attempted assassination of Minister Mizner would bring full particulars of the shooting; but the department is still without information on the subject.

BECK AND RANDALL.

The Senate and House Honor Departed Members.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—In the House the journals of each day of the present week were approved without objection and the House then proceeded to give the day to eulogies upon the late Senator Beck.

In the Senate the entire day was devoted to eulogies upon the late Congressman Randall.

Fatal Natural Gas Explosion.

FINDLEY, O., Sept. 15.—An explosion of natural gas at the bakery of J. W. Watt probably fatally burned Fred Singlay employe. He was instructed to open the door of the oven and light the gas. Without his knowledge the gas had been turned on, and the explosion followed. His face, arms, shoulders and body were burned in a frightful manner, while the flames stripped all his clothes from his person.

Not So Bad.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—The secretary of agriculture denies the published statement that the recent crop is seriously depressing in character. He says that cotton is universally good and oats and barley seriously short. He thinks there is no cause for trepidation on the part of the public.

German Socialists

New Era in Their History at Hand,

BECAUSE OF THE REMOVAL OF THE ARBITRARY LAWS.

Personal Aspirations of a Few Famous Leaders Will now Find Room for Development—London Postmen's Union and Other Foreign News.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The forthcoming social democratic congress which opens at Hall on October 12th will mark a new epoch in the development of the socialistic movement in Germany. There is no blinking the fact that the socialistic party in Germany is the most perfectly organized body existing, and that it is immensely powerful. Cohesion and integrity of the party were obtained under the stringent, arbitrary provisions of the anti-socialist law. This iron band is to be removed on the first of October—in fact it has already been loosened, and the effects are evident. All those elements in the party which are suppressed, or were forced to suppress, their individuality and personal aspirations under the strong wills of a few famous leaders, now find room and opportunity to develop these aspirations. Circumstances, conditions and actions which were endured under the law are now freely and openly criticized, and the autocratic, tyrannical and uncontrolable powers of the leaders are challenged as not in accordance with the original principles of the social democratic platform. Foremost in this new and unexpected opposition against the old and tried leaders are the Berlin and Magdeburg Socialist clubs. The great industrial centres always were more radical, more, extreme, if not to say anarchistic, in their adherence to socialism than the smaller provincial towns. In Berlin the anti-Parliamentary section is led by the energetic Dr. Wille and Herr Hanisch, at Magdeburg by a young law student named Muller and the assistnat editor of the Weekly Journal Kamplnaler. In the Saxon midlands the anti-Rebel party is mainly led by Baurath Kessler. These opponents are called the "Young ones" by the Bebel-Singer faction. The latter have worked out a new programme by which the entire direction of the party would lie in the hands of a newly elected council. This council, however, would be under the supreme control of the parliamentary Reichstag faction, which would have the ultimate decision in all matters placed before it. Against this autocratic system the "Young ones" vehemently rebel.

Meetings have been held all over the country which have adopted resolutions pro and con to the new programme. But there can be no doubt whatever that after a prolonged and certainly very animated debate between the friends and opponent of Bebel, the old party demigod, with his financial supporter Singer, will eventually win the day. Several meetings already held have been marked by violent disorder, and in one some blood was shed. The Berlin-Magdeburg section, with Wille, Muller, Hanisch and Kessler, are thus far still in the minority and seem certain to remain so. At the Halle congress the resolutions prepared by the parliamentary faction will doubtless be adopted by a goodly majority as the working programme of the socialistic party in the immediate future. But there are signs that point to a later triumph of the Wille faction, if for no other reason than that it is a progessive body, while the Bebel-Singer faction is becoming so conservative as to check the principle of even healthy growth.

The statement that the triple alliance has been extended from its time of expiration in 1892 to 1897, emenates from the Hamburg Nachrichten, which claims to have learned the fact from an unquestionable source.

The London postmen, who were beaten in their recent attempt to secure better treatment from the Government, have held a series of secret meetings lately and have thoroughly reorganized their union. They propose at some future time to make a determined effort to gain their point, and they expect, by reason of experience and better discipline, to avoid a second failure. Mr. William O'Brien has served upon Lord Salisbury a notice of appeal to the House of Lords in the action for libel brought by the Premier.

Cardinal Manning's health is in such an unsatisfactory condition that his friends are quite alarmed. His recent efforts to settle labor disputes, and his arduous literary work, largely with the same end in view, have told upon his strength.

The Southampton striking seamen and firemen are not satisfied with the concessions offered by the masters, and will probably not go to work Monday. This will keep the dockmen out of work some time longer. Their action is due to the fact that the dockers attempted to save themselves at the expense of the seamen and firemen by offering to return to work on terms more advantageous to themselves than to their allies. A split between the London and Southampton dockers' union is expected.

A petition signed by 50,000 persons has been presented to Prime Minister Crispi of Italy, asking the government to support a project for a great exposition at Rome in 1893.

Italy is about to reduce her military force in Africa by 90,000 men.

That Omitted Township.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Positive and definite information has been received that parts of Storrs Township, Ohio, were left out in the Democratic districting bill. The matter will now be brought before Congress in the form of a resolution reciting that the present districts do not conform with the law, and that congress will therefore proceed to divide the State into congressional districts. This has not yet been drawn, as the matter is awaiting close legal study.

Census Frauds Located.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., Sept. 15.—The net result of the United States grand jury's work when it adjourned, at 3:30 p. m., was four census fraud indictments, two St. Paul and two Minneapolis enumerators having fallen under the jury's suspicion. These are J. O. Vervais and F. W. Henrich, of St. Paul, and Benjamin Aarons and L. B. Staum, of Minneapolis.

DODD'S CATARRH CURE.

LOCAL AND INTERNAL TREATMENT.

In order to cure catarrh it is necessarry to allay the inflammation of the irritated membranes with a soothing application, cleanse the head of the plugging mucous secretions, and heal the discharging ulcers. For cold in the head and nasal catarrh Dodds' local treatment does this without the aid of snuff, douches or fumes. If the disease has extended downwards affecting the bronchial tubes or lungs, digestion and blood, the internal treatment both removes from the system the scattered poison, and by its building-up properties assists nature in restoring the impaired parts. ESTATE OF MARY LOTTRIDGE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 25th day of August, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

Present, Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate.

On reading and filing the petition of Charles Burridge, executor of the last will and testament and upon the estate of said deceased, alleging that the funeral expenses and debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration thus far incurred, have been fully paid, and that he is now ready to close said estate and to render his final administration account, which he prays may be allowed, and that the residue of said estate may be assigned according to the provisions of said will, that he may be discharged and his bond cancelled, and for such other order and decree as to this Court shall seem proper.

It is ordered, That Monday, the 29th day of September next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks, previous to said day of hearing.

SINGLE TAX DEPARTMENT.

HOW IT WORKS.

Co-Operation and Single Tax in a Michigan Town.

Several years ago in Copperdale, Mich., a prospector found a paying lead of ore. He was an intelligent, honest man, who rather disliked the idea of selling out his claim to a company of capitalists who would thenceforth monopolize the whole locality and rule labor through its power as lord of all the land adjacent to the place of work.

He was familiar with the single tax, and also had just learned of the people's co-operative banks. Therefore, instead of going in search of capitalists to buy out his claim, he began a correspondence with all the honest, sturdy workingmen, like himself, that he knew. It was not long till several hundred men were on the spot. Each had brought a little money—the savings of several years. Together they had a capital of about $3,000. They formed themselves into a co-operative company with a capital stock of 300 shares of $100 each, or $30,000. Two hundred shares were issued, one each to the men on the spot, to be paid for by instalments. The other one hundred shares were held in the treasury of the company, to be issued one each to any newcoming worker whose help they might require. They nearly all opposed the idea of "watering" the stock, as a few proposed to do.

Mining operations now began. With but crude methods they were able to secure ore near the surface, which was quite rich, and which paid the workers at the average rate of $6 per day. As soon as the work was inaugurated the company selected one of their number to go to the city to find a market for their product. Simultaneously teams were secured and the ore hauled to the nearest railway station. Not having to divide their wages (the equivalent of the product of their labor) with employers or capitalists, they could afford to sell their ore at a little less than the market price, and found an immediate market for all they could ship.

The company established a reserve fund, paying out in wages only $3.50 per day. By mutual consent the balance of their earnings was reserved to establish a fund to purchase all the necessary plant of machinery to operate mines. Not many months past until the outside world had heard of this "find" of copper and population began to pour in. All the land adjacent to that claimed by members of the co-operative company was readily taken up, and the town of Copperdale was founded with a population of 3,000 adults. Several hundred of these were allowed to take shares in the company and assisted in the mining operations. The rest of the population divided itself into the various channels usually found in such a town, and among them were not a few bums and speculators, who had come in hopes of being able to capture some opportunity which others would pay them well to relinquish. A social order society disposed of the former as quickly as could be humanely done; they were told to either show evidence of self-support or depart. The speculators had soon staked out a city, and a wild game of speculation in parcels of land was in progress within three months. The town had meantime been incorporated according to the prevalent ideas of social economy. All improved lands and lots were to be taxed about five times as high as lots held on speculation which were equally valuable. The discoverer of the mine who, beside being the hero because of his discovery, had won the hearts of the people by his brotherly dealing in forming the co-opearative company, was a single tax man, and so were quite a number of his associates. He was chosen mayor of the town, and his single tax friends formed a majority of the board of aldermen. The result was that lands of equal value were appraised and assessed alike, and had to pay the same tax. At first the land speculators were dismayed. Then they considered the matter, and finding a population which was in need of all kinds of good buildings they concluded forthwith to improve (build upon) their lands. Thus capital was forced to co-operate on an equality with labor in building the town, and the result was that five houses were built where otherwise only one would have been erected. Consequently every one who wanted work found all he could do. All kinds of workers were kept busy, and instead of a man paying $200 a year rent for a lot with a shanty "thrown in," he got a neat, comfortable cottage with a garden patch and lawn thrown in for the same money; for no one was anxious to hold land at too high a value, but each sought to make money by furnishing desirable homes.

The people had established a co-operative bank, which, though still refused the function of issuing currency, was allowed to receive deposits and loan money. Its officers consisted of the foremost men of the town, so that the people had every confidence in it and patronized it as depositors and borrowers. Whenever any one desired a loan he would write the president of the bank, making an offer. If this was not accepted he was invited to come to the bank on the following Wednesday and there openly bid for the desired loan against others who wanted loans. In consequence of this equal access to money every workingman in the place (they were now all workers in one way or another—even the speculators were working) either bought his home or started a business or trade of his own. But a few months later, after the first great wave of excitement had subsided, the people began to think of their spiritual welfare. A meeting was held at which it was decided to build a church co-operatively—each man doing a part without pay. When the church was built it was debt free, for it was built by love. Now they began to think whom they should invite to be their pastor. One of them described a middle-aged preacher of his acquaintance, who, above all others mentioned, met with general favor. A letter was written him asking him to come to them. When the preacher got the letter he at first felt insulted, and thought of treating it with contempt, as he had quite a prosperous congregation in one of the large cities. "The idea of asking a man of his prominence to come to a rough frontier mining town!" In a few weeks the preacher was to have his vacation, and as the time drew near he had "cooled off," and read the letter over again several times. Presently he replied that he would soon have his vacation, when he would come and see them and preach for them once or twice if they desired it.

When he reached the railway station a buggy was waiting to convey him to the town (as the railroad to it was not yet completed). What was his surprise to find that the people had already built a church quite commodious and attractive. The next day was Sunday. The congregation which assembled was as large as the building would contain, though not as fashionable a one as he had been accustomed to. There was an array of honest, ruddy faces which spoke of life and hope and happiness, and which actually inspired him to preach with a vim which he had not felt for many a year. He felt happier than ever in his work, and when, at the close of the service, he saw the brotherly cordiality which was evidenced by all, his heart was won. What a difference between such church life and that of his own, where Miss Proud could not recognize Miss Prude and Mr. Rich looked over Mr. Poor.

The next day he looked the town over, and acquainted himself with its industries and how they were conducted, and at a meeting held on Tuesday night he told the people of Copperdale he would preach for them if they wanted him.

Happy Copperdale! Its people being inspired with lofty hopes by having equal opportunities, there is equality and fraternity among them. Vice and crime are almost unknown because jealousies are precluded, and all have nobler ambitions than to sit in a saloon or tavern and imbibe the spirits from which nine-tenths of all crime springs. How different would they be were they denied equal opportunities to land and money. They would be wage and rent slaves, and finding it utterly impossible to make any progress, they would say: "What's the use? We are only animals, are used as animals, and our only enjoyments are animal. Let us at least have the pleasure of carousal."—Titus R. Smith.

TAKE TAX OFF HOUSES.

Successful Movement to Exempt Personal Property From Municipal Taxation.

The success of the movement to exempt personal property from municipal taxation in the city of Newport, Ky., should encourage our friends everywhere to attempt movements toward tax reform. Of course every thorough single taxer is in favor of the exemption of personal property, but outside of the single tax ranks there is still the old prejudice in favor of taxing a man because he is rich, which constantly manifests itself in the indignant question: "Would you allow millionaires to escape taxation?" The task of demonstrating to the masses that every tax on the products of labor will eventually be passed on the consumer, and that taxes on consumption fall more heavily on the poor than on the rich, is a heavy one and can not immediately be accomplished.

One step farther, however, could probably be taken without exciting the prejudice alluded to, and which only can be met by a careful argument on the principles of taxation. A mere child can understand that taxes on houses make houses scarcer and rents higher. The large amount of people now interested in loan associations, who are seeking through that co-operative agency to secure homes for themselves, already feel the gross injustice of the present system of fining a man for building a house. Therefore, without abating our demand for the removal of all taxes on the product of labor, it may be well to seek the line of least resistance and encourage a demand for taking the taxes off of houses. It will be a step in the right direction and the men who are thus drawn into a study of the question of taxation will eventually accept the whole single tax doctrine.

Let the single tax men remember that they can not do this or any other great thing by themselves. Let them take hold of the movements in which other people are interested. Our friends are not numerous or influential in Newport, but they took prompt advantage of the removal of several factories from that city on account of an increased taxation to arouse public indignation against a system that drives factories away, and the result is that they have succeeded in interesting that community to probably take the most advanced step toward the establishment of the single tax that has been taken anywhere in the United States.

"Judicious Application" Will Do It.

The Maine committee on taxation finds that the average tract of 100 acres of timber land, in that State pays a tax of only 22 cents a year. Pine tree land equaling in area in Massachusetts and Connecticut combined pay only $30,000 a year in taxes. Small wonder that there is timber and land monopoly in Maine. A judicial application of "Single-Tax" would make these lands rather hot for the speculator to hold.—Boston Globe.

Told by the Son of a Deacon.

A citizen of Denver, Col., now visiting on Walnut street, in this city, tells of a church out there that bought a corner lot for $1,500 to erect a church building upon, and before the house was finished had a chance to sell the same lot for $150,000. And the man who tells the story is a good, truth-telling church member, too, and the son of a new England deacon.—Springfield (Mass.) Homestead.

THE Central Labor Union, of Indianapolis, has at least struck a keynote. The union has written a letter to the common council and board of aldermen, in which it protests against giving street railway companies the privilege of using the streets in future unless they pay for it.

ENTERING JERUSALEM.

LESSON XII, THIRD QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, SEPT. 21.

Text of the Lesson, Luke xix, 37-48. Commit Verses, 37, 38—Golden Text, Luke xix, 38—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

37. "And when He was come nigh, even now at the descent of the Mount of Olives." He was riding upon the ass' colt, according to Zech. ix, 9, thus literally fulfilling one of the last public signs that He was the long predicted Messiah, the Son of David, Israel's king.

"The whole multitude of the disciples began to rejoice and praise God with a loud voice, for all the mighty works which they had seen." They were convinced that He was their Messiah, and, notwithstanding the parable of the last lesson, they thought He would now surely proclaim Himself king, and therefore their joy was most exultant, their praise most hearty.

38. "Saying, Blessed be the King that cometh in the name of the Lord: Peace in Heaven and glory in the highest."

39. "And some of the Pharisees from among the multitude said unto Him, Master, rebuke thy disciples." The religious rulers always against Him. The people who ought to have welcomed Him hating every word spoken in His favor. A little later, as the children praise Him in the temple (Matt. xxi, 15, 16), they again find fault. When there was occasion to rebuke His disciples He did not hesitate to do it (Matt. xvi, 23; Mark x, 14), but there was no occasion now. They were not praising any too loud.

40. "And He answered and said unto them, I tell you, that, if these should hold their peace, the stones would immediately cry out." John the Baptist told those who came to him not to pride themselves upon being children of Abraham, for, said he, "God is able of these stones to raise up children unto Abraham" (Matt. iii, 9). And as to stones crying out, one of the prophets had said that, because of their sin, "the stone should cry out of the wall, and the beam out of the timber should answer it"

41. "And when He was come near, He beheld the city and wept over it." Stein says that so in some sense He weeps over all cities. While this may be true, His weeping over this city had a special significance, for this was the city of David, the holy city, the city of the great King, the city which He had chosen to put His name there, that He might be glorified (Matt. iv, 5; v, 35; II Chron. vi, 6).

42. "Saying, If thou hadst known, even thou at least in this thy day, the things which belong unto thy peace! but now they are hid from thine eyes." Thou—thy day—thy peace; this was Zion that He had chosen, that He had desired for His habitation, concerning which He had said: "This is my rest forever; here will I dwell; for I have desired it," etc. (Ps. cxxxii, 13-18). But by her unbelief she was blinded and knew not her day nor Him who was her peace. To every sinner this same Jesus is saying: "Now is the day of thy salvation." "I am thy peace." But of how many is it so sadly true that "In them the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious Gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them" (II Cor. vi, 2; iv, 4; Eph. ii, 14). Blessed are all who can say, I thank God that whereas I was blind, I now see.

43. "For the days shall come upon thee, that thine enemies shall cast a trench about thee, and compass thee round, and keep thee in on every side." So it literally came to pass in about forty years.

44. "And shall lay thee even with the ground, and thy children within thee; and they shall not leave in thee one stone upon another; because thou knewest not the time of thy visitation." So also did it literally come to pass, as He said. And as the same Spirit had said through Micah 700 years before: "Zion shall for your sake be plowed as a field and Jerusalem shall become heaps" (Mic. iii, 12). When we see how clearly events have been by the Spirit foretold, and how literally they have been fulfilled, how can any believer doubt that the thoughts of the Lord shall come to pass, that as He has proposed so shall it stand, and that every purpose of the Lord shall be fulfilled? (Isa. xiv, 24; Jer. li, 29.)

45. "And He went into the temple, and began to cast out them that sold therein, and them that bought." The Tabernacle of Moses and the Temple of Solomon were in some respects the most remarkable buildings this world ever saw; chiefly because God alone was the architect of each, and each was made that God might dwell on earth in the midst of His people. Jesus Himself was the true tabernacle and temple, and when the Kingdom comes we shall then see the full significance of each. They were never intended to be places of merchandise, but rather places where God might reveal Himself to His people, and where they might draw near and worship Him. The whole company of believers is now the living temple of God on this earth, in which He desires to reveal Himself to men; but the Church is largely given up to providing entertainment and amusement for the people, rather than inviting them to the blood and water, and bread and light and incense of God's salvation, cleansing, food, heavenly fellowship. Every individual believer is also a temple of the Holy Ghost, and it is His pleasure that we should cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God (I Cor. vi, 19; II Cor. vii, 1). When the New Jerusalem shall have come down from God out of Heaven we shall see more clearly.

46. "Saying unto them, It is written, My house is the house of prayer; but ye have made it a den of thieves." In Isa. lvi, 7, the reading is: "Mine house shall be called an house of prayer for all people." And the context refers to strangers joining themselves to the Lord to serve Him and love His name. One of those references to the flocking of all nations to Israel when once the Lord shall have come again to dwell in their midst. It is the exaltation of Jehovah that shall draw the nations; not the desecration of His temple. Take the Church of today and, instead of taking up the time with entertaining the people and providing food and delicacies for the body, let the time be given to earnest waiting upon God in prayer for the outpouring of His Spirit and the revelation of Himself as a God of salvation, and then He would be glorified and all worldliness would be crowded out by His presence and the manifestation of His power.

47. "And He taught daily in the temple. But the chief priests and the scribes and the chief of the people sought to destroy Him." The next two chapters will give us some of His teachings during these days, but it is more fully recorded in Matt. xx, 25. He exposed their sin, the heartlessness of their ceremonies, foretold more fully the coming judgments, and made many references to His return in power and glory. But as far as the chief of the people, either in civil or religious matters, were concerned, His teaching fell on deaf ears and hearts full of hatred for Him and His teachings.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at C. A. Wright & Co's Drug Store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1. Every bottle warranted.

PROGRESS.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye easily taken, aceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

The use of calomel for derangements of the liver has ruined many a fine constitution. Those who, for similar troubles, have tried Ayer's Pills testify, to their efficacy in thoroughly remedying the malady, without injury to the system.

SYRUP of FIGS

ONE ENJOYS

Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

PROHIBITION CONVENTIONS.

The Prohibitionists held their Congressional and County Conventions at Adrian last Tuesday.

G. P. Waring was made chairman of the Congressional convention, which met in the morning, and C. M. Fellows, of Ypsilanti, chosen Secretary.

A committee on credentials was appointed, also a Committee on resolutions. The latter committee reported substantially that it would be better to support the state platform.

For a congressional candidate the convention had its choice of Levi Chase, of Lenawee, Prof. Reed, of Hillsdale, and our own Thomas F. Moore. The following vote will show the result:

Reed	16
Chase	16
Moore	40

A Congressional Committee, composed of Messrs. Fellows, of Wastenaw, Mosher, Hillsdale, Waring, of Lenawee, and Roach, of Monroe, was appointed, and the convention adjourned.

THE COUNTY.

In the afternoon the County convention was called to order, A. P. Coddington, of Tecumseh, made chairman, and Dr. Julia P. Greene Secretary.

Delegates were present from the city, Adrian, Rollin, Franklin, Dover, Ogden, Rome, Palmyra, Macon, Raisin, Fairfield, Tecumseh, Cambridge, Seneca and Hudson.

After listening to the reports from the various committees, the convention proceeded to nominate a county ticket with the following result:

State Senator—Levi P. Chase.
Sheriff—D. H. Warren.
Clerk—Wm. K. Green
Prosecutor—E. G. Walker.
Treasurer—J. B. Tenbrock.
Register—Fred Street.
Surveyor—D. B. Baylus.

CROP REPOP SEPTEMBER 1. 1890.

For this report returns have been received from 631 correspondents, representing 520 townships. Four hundred and twenty-four of these reports are from 327 townships in the southern four tiers of counties, and 106 reports are from 97 townships in central counties.

Correspondents in the southern four tiers of counties have received from threshers statements of wheat threshed up to about August 25, as follows:

The number of jobs reported threshed in the central counties is 623; acres, 6,324; bushels, 106,395; average per acre, 16.82 bushels.

The number of jobs reported from the northern counties is 309; acres, 2,158; bushels, 31,354; average per acre, 14.53 bushels.

The figures indicate a total yield in State of about 24,000,000 bushels

Reports have been received of the quantity of wheat marketed by farmers during the month of August at 375 elevators and mills. Of these 302 are in southern four tiers of counties, which is 53 per cent, and 56 are in the fifth and six tiers of counties, which is 42 percent of the whole number in these sections respectively. The total number of bushels reported marketed is 1,471,764, of which 378,994 bushels were marketed in the first or southern tier of counties; 357,325 bushels in the second tier; 292,549 bushels in the third tier; 302,988 bushels in the fourth tier; 129,911 bushels in the fifth and sixth tiers; and 9,997 bushels in the northern counties. At 73 elevators and mills, or 10 per cent of the whole number from which reports have been received, there was no wheat marketed during the month.

The quantity of wheat marketed in August is 789,671 bushels greater than marketed in the same month last year.

The number of acres of oats reported threshed in the southern counties is 35,607; in the central counties 3,205, and in the northern counties 1,764. The average yield of oats per acre in the southern counties is 25,75 bushels; in the central counties, 30,95 bushels, and in the northern counties, 19,94 bushels.

The corn crop has been greatly reduced by the drouth, yet in localities that have been favored with showers the crop is fairly good. The yield in the state is placed at about three fourths of an average. Much of it has already been cut, some of it to save the fodder rather than because the grain was ripe.

Potatoes are estimated to yield 47 per cent of an average crop in the southern countries, 60 in the central, and 84 in the northern counties.

The recent rains will, it is thought, greatly benefit the late planted and late varities. With a late fall the crop will doubtless be somewhat better than above indicated.

The yield of winter apples will be about 20 per cent of an average crop in southern counties, 35 in the central, and 27 in the northern. The figures for each section are materially lower than one month ago.

The Farm Statistics, returned by supervisors last spring, furnish the following totals of live stock, six months old and over, in the State in May, and of sheep and wool sheared in 1889. These statistics are subject to further revision though only slight changes are likely to be made. Live stock in cities is not, as a rule reported.

The number of horses in the State last May, as shown by the table, was 396,883; milch cows, 405,675; cattle, other than milch cows, 363,519; hogs, 450,748; sheep, 1,908,254. Compared with the statistics of a year earlier there is an increase of 11,892 in the number of horses, and 2,842 in the number of milch cows, and a decrease of 26,725 sheep. The number of sheep reported sheared in 1889 is 1,944,297; pounds of wool, 11,983,491, an average per head of six and one-sixth pounds. At the same average per head as in 1889 the wool crop of the present year amounts to 11,754,844 pounds.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

VILLAGE OF TECUMSEH,
Council Room, Sept. 1, 1890.

Present—Pres. Heesen and Trustees Ames, Elliott, Heck, James, Kennedy, Smith and the recorder.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

REPORTS OF OFFICERS.

The street commissioner made the following report for August:

Corporation team, 22½ days, street commissioner, 23½ days, hand labor, 21 days, poll tax worked, 14 days.

On motion the report was accepted and ordered filed.

The marshal reported that a new sidewalk should be laid on the east line of A. W. Mills' lot, on the west side of Ottawa street, and on motion the marshal was instructed to order said sidewalk rebuilt within ten days.

The sexton reported four adult interments for August and two infant interments, also two lots sold. Accompanying his report was the treasurer's receipt for $20.00 interment fees and vault rent.

Report accepted and ordered filed.

NEW BUSINESS.

The chairman of the street committee reported that he had hired W. E. Gray to take care of the council building, wind mill and street lamps in use for $200.00 for one year, beginning Aug. 1st. 1890.

Report accepted and adopted.

The following bills were received and referred to the finance committee:

Albert Pilbeam, oats, $22.35; M. F. Marks, sundries, $16.48; L. M. Waldron, work on pump, $2.75; C. F. Field blank licenses, $1.75; Temple & Co. lumber, $4.66; Tecumseh Electric Co., lighting for August, $112.00; E. A. Hodges, street commissioner, $21.00; B. Bartholomew, street labor, $8.13; T. R. Kyle, marshal, $4.00; J. E. Harrison & Son; repairs on cemetery vault, $99.13; ond the following for labor for vault:—A. Packard, 16.25, Wm. Powell, $7.00, Wm. Mellon, $18.00, T. D. Mark, $25, Arthur Hughes, $1.25, F. A. Manley, $3.75, C. Patterson, $18.00, Wm. Ross, $30.25, J. O'Hara, $22.50, R. E. Farley, $8.38.

The chairman of the street committee reported that a good quality of gravel had been found on the land of Samuel Holden, the piece comprising about 2½ acres. On motion the street committee were instructed to purchase said gravel on as favorable terms as they may be able to obtain.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The finance committee reported favorably on the above bills as read and on motion orders were directed drawn for the several amounts.

Council then adjourned.

CHICAGO INTER-STATE EXPOSITION.

The eighteenth Annual Exhibition of this organization opened Sep. 3, and close Oct. 18th. Our information gives assurance that the preparatory work is completed. All the available space in the immense building is fully occupied. The novelty and high character of the exhibits in every department of Industry, Art, and Science make the Exhibition, as a whole, seem more like a rehearsal for the World's Fair than like an ordinary local event. The display of electric lights by the "Sun Electric" and the "Edison" Companies surpassed anything of the sort heretofore seen in America, and is worth a journey to see. The Art Galleries contain the best collection ever made in this country, aggregating a value of nearly half a million of dollars. All Western Railways transport passengers at excursion rates.

ESTATE OF ALEX. PATTERSON.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 15th day of September in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

Present, Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate.

On reading and filing the petition of John Linton, Executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, alleging that the funeral expenses and debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration thus far incurred have been fully paid and that he is now ready to render his fifth annual administration account, and praying that said account may be allowed, and for such other order and decree as to this court shall seem proper

It is ordered, That Monday, the 13th day of October next, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

(A True Copy.)

FRANKLIN NEWS.

This is our self, and not our double nor intended. No, I would not care to wrench any of the laurels of Nero Bruno or Cicero that may await your fair correspondent, and had it not been for the Herald devil changing news into "facts" it would have appeared as above.

Quite a severe frost again Saturday night doing more damage to late crops than the one a week ago.

Messrs. Wilson, Trip and Kimball have a very nice and large crop of celery and cabbage, and should the season prove long enough they will receive large profits for their undertakings. Their first plants being distroyed by insects and the dry weather together has made the crop rather late. Their first well did not prove sufficient and they are now boring for another one. They can consider themselves very lucky in being so fortunate as to secure the services of a great renowned water-witch who can tell the exact spot where water is to be found in the earth, whether it is to be a flowing well or not, and just exactly how far from the surface, etc. He takes a crotched peach sprout, (the water beach will do,) the prongs in each hand with the end pointing at the north star, and makes a circuit in the neigborhood of where the well is wanted, and if there is any water in reach you will soon see the small end of the sprout leave the star and turn toward the center of gravitation. His coattail will go from a perpendicular on a horizontal; by this time he is standing on tiptoe, provided there has not been a word spoken during the time. He stays in that position about five minutes, when the spell ceases. Then he takes a seat near by, pulls off his shoes which are by this time filed with water, and then with watch in hand, pours the water on the ground. If it runs up hill you will get a flowing well, but if it gradually disappears in seven minutes, the well will be exactly twenty-one feet deep with seven feet of living water. He has demonstrated this so many times that he has offered to work a week for nothing provided water is not found as stated.

A. W. Simmons had a very narrow escape a week ago Saturday last, while returning home from Adrian, just after dark. He was driving his horse, Tom Marshall, just south of the river bridge in Adrian township, when someone unknown to him with horse and buggy ran into his cart, tpping him and cart bottomside up, the horse getting away, leaving Uncle Ab. with the stranger, who staid just long enough to enquire, "Are you badly hurt," and then disappeared in the darkness. The horse and cart were found about half a mile from there by W. H. Wiggins, who drove the horse back to Uncle Ab., who thinks there is quite a difference between the two men.

Ezra Simmons went over to the Morenci fair with his string of trotters last week. Marshall Star won third place; Josie L. won, not exactly, but she made them hustle just the same.

J. M. Burns' new house is nearly completed and bids fair to be the most elegant farm house in town.

No one can say what protection will stimulate a man to do, or not to do. Why, only just lately at a schoolmeeting, a good deacon fought a boy for only ten cents, he going on the plan "Give to every man that asketh of thee and of him that taketh away thy goods, ask them not again." But now that he has protection says that he would not fight for less than twenty-five dollars—only twenty four hundred and ninety cents difference. Who says the tariff is not a tax?

with Local Applications, as they can not reach the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers acting on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

PERHAPS no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. While not immediately fatal it is among the most distressing and disgusting ills that flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cure of chronic catarrh by any of the multitude of the modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising.

MANCHESTER MATTERS.

Isaac B. Hall has gone to Missouri for a visit.

Col. F. D. Baldwin of Texas was in town last week.

Wells R. Martin was in Adrian several days of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pease are visiting in Montcalm county.

TIPTON TOPICS.

J. M. Burns' new residence is rapidly progressing.

Rev. H. Palmer is attending Conference at Alpena.

Mrs. Weston, sister of Mrs. H. Palmer, is visiting her at present.

The bright days and cool nights bring the thought to our minds that autumn is here to stay.

On Wednesday last the few words were uttered which made Miss Luella Butrick and Mr. Eddie Spalding one, and as they enter upon the matrimonial sea of life the wishes of their many friends go with them.

Married.—Wednesday, Sept. 17th, at the residence of the bride's father, D. W. Love, Miss Flotie Love to Mr. Ernie German. The happy couple went directly to Brooklyn, where they will make their future home. The best wishes of a host of friends go with them.

The Farmers' Club at John Burtless' last Friday evening was not largely attended, although enough were present to carry on the meeting. Two new reporters were appointed, viz.: Eva Wheeler and Lilly Vedder. The next meeting will be at Wm. Pentecost's, Oct. 24th, when the following program will be given:

Music—Nellie Smith and Frank Gray.
Oration—Elmer Wilson.
Rec.—Rose Pawson.
Rec —Bessie Pentecost.
Song—Willard Crittenden.
Sel. Read.—Mrs. Wm. Pentecost.
Rec.—Alta Bradley.
Music—Susie Vanderpool.
Paper—Nellie Smith.
Music—Nellie Smith and F. Gray.
Question—What should be the aim or object of the Farmers' Club?

A cordial invitation to all.

Melissa Pawson and Cora Bunting drove out to Cambridge last week to visit relatives there.

The school in this district (No. 3) expect at this writing to visit the Fair in a body, Wednesday. They cannot hope to win the flag, but will make themselves as numerous as possible.

Patrick Commons was visiting his home Monday. Perhap's "Joe's" old friends will be interested to know that he is travelling salesman now for a firm in Jackson, with a good salary and a good prospect of a higher one in the future.

All ladies, young or old, in this vicinity, who believe in the principles of the prohibition party and are desirous of its triumph, are requested to meet at the home of G. W. Allen on Saturday, September 27, at 3 p. m., for the purpose of organizing a local White Rose Club.

"All men love a lover," and a newly married pair are sure to be the subjects of many congratulations. Especially is this the case when the parties are such universal favorites a Ed. Spalding and his bride, Lelie, daughter of John Butrick. Long life to them and sunshine all the way.

The Union Literary and Lyceum met last Saturday night at G. W. Allen's. Of course a crowd was present for everybody likes to go there. As it was election night no debate was held, but a good literary and musical program was rendered. The newly elected officers are: G. W. Allen, President; Bertha Taylor, vice President; Rena Allen, Secretary; Leon Allen, Treasurer. The next meeting will be at L. E. Taylor's, October 18.

NORMAL NOTES.

Everything is in running order once more, both in the Normal and the Model Training School.

The Training School is in session all day now and seniors are obliged to teach three hours per day in place of one as before.

More new students have entered this year than ever before. Someone has estimated that there are four girls for each boy. Every boy wishes he had four arms.

Nearly every society in the Normal Lyceum has its required number of members and excellent programs are being carried out every Friday night. Preparations are already on foot for the first "Public" of the year, which will be be held about November 6th.

A reunion of the 17th Regiment was held in Normal Hall Wednesday afternoon. Co. E. of this Regiment was mostly composed of Normal boys who went to the war in '61, and one feature of the exercises was the unveiling of a beautiful marble tablet which has been set in the wall of Normal Hall, and which bears the names of the Normal boys who fell at the front in the Rebellion.

Thursday was student's day at the fair and the training School was closed in the afternoon in order t might attend.

CLEVELAND, OHIO.

J. M. Loose Red Clover Co., Detroit,

I was recommended, by one who had been cured by it, to use your Red Clover Extract. I done so and have been a happy woman ever since. The first application gave me more relief than all the medicine I had ever taken. After using less than one third of the solid extract sent me, I walked from my home down town, a distance of one mile, for the first time in 34 years. I can be on my feet all day, without any suffering, my work is a pleasure to me and I no more look forward with dread to days of pain and suffering. Your Red Clover has given me new life and am positive of a speedy cure.

Yours gratefully,
Mrs. M. G. KEITH.

TECUMSEH, THURSDAY, SEPT. 25

The present Republican congress has been a decided success in one direction, most assuredly. It has squandered the surplus with neatness and dispatch.

Winans and Gorman are the winning names through this section. They will both run largely ahead of their ticket in Northern Lenawee. Mark the prediction.

The Democrats made no mistake in nominating James S. Gorman for Congress. Capt. Allen's Democratic contingent in Washtenaw will be a minus quantity this fall.

The leading political conundrum now is: Who is the greatest "Man from Maine." Jim Blaine wears the largest hat but Tom Reed wears the longest lawn tennis scarf.

Hides are kept on the free list to help the New England shoe manufacturers. Binding twine will be kept off the free list because it would help the western farmers. This is the McKinley method of revising the tariff.

Now you see it and now you don't. Binding twine was put on the free list by the Senate but the committee of conference have restored it to the dutiable list. It is safe to say that binding twine will be taxed when the bill finally passes.

The country will deeply sympathize with Vice President Morton in his loss of $10,000 by the burglary of the Bliss residence. It will take a good many horns over the Shoreham bar, even at twenty cents a horn, to replace this sum.

An analysis of the figures of the Maine election presents some curious results. The vote was an unusually light one. Reed received 2000 less Republican votes than he did in 1888, but the Democratic vote fell off in greater proportion. Had the Democrats possessed life enough to have voted, Reed would have been laid out.

We ask every reader of the HERALD to carefully peruse the article in the next column entitled "Speaker Reed's Triumph." It is a special Washington letter to the New York World and states the present political situation with great clearness. With Tom Reed enthroned as the Republican leader, a crisis is approaching in American politics which may well cause the friends of free government the profoundest alarm.

In New Jersey the Republicans elect five State Senators by a vote of 22,505, in the First Congressional District, while in the Seventh it takes 27,822 Democratic votes to elect one State Senator. In Connecticut, Cheshire with 476 votes has as many representatives in the Legislature as New Haven with 17,000 votes. These figures give some idea of how Plutocracy manages to hold the United Senate through the suppression of Democratic votes.

There is no hope for agriculture until the Government returns into the hands of the Democratic party. It is a move in the right direction when Republicans burst party shackles and start out upon an independent movement. Yet it is only a half a step in the right direction. The full step will land them in the Democratic party, where every friend of pure and simple government belongs; for, if we are ever again to have a farmers' republic, it must be established under Democratic auspices.

Free binding-twine was a nice little tub thrown by the senate to the farmer whale, but even to that little tub there was a strong twine attached. The conference committee will not concede even that to the farmer. Mr. McKinley insists upon the tax imposed by the house bill, which, according to Senator Davis, costs the farmers of Minnesota nearly $1,000,000. McKinley does not propose to make a concession in the direction of freedom at any point along the line. He will give the farmer a show of protection on his eggs and cabbages and onions and steers, but he will give him no chance to get his supplies at reasonable prices. There remains, however, the consolation of knowing that the northern farmer will have no more favor on his twine than the southern farmer on his bagging for cotton.—St. Louis Republic.

SPEAKER REED'S TRIUMPH.

He is now the Unquestioned Leader of the Republican Party—What his Leadership Means.

The return of Mr. Reed has been a triumph. It marks the beginning of a new era in the history of the republican party and of American politics.

Last week Mr. Reed was a conspicuous personage of the second rank; to-day, in the estimation of republican politicians, he is the one absolute, unquestioned ruler and leader of his party. Everybody else has sank into insignificance. The partisans in the party have "gone to heel" at his command like so many trained pointers in a grouse field.

If this were true only of politicians in Washington, it would be a matter of minor importance. It is significant in larger ways, because the like of it has occurred in the party throughout the country. It marks the beginning of new polices or new and more extravagant applications of the old policies. It begins a new history and establishes a new leadership for the party.

It was Mr. Reed who was cheered spontaneously in the Indiana republican convention on Wednesday, while Mr. Harrison, the president and presumably the "favorite son" of that enthusiastic state, was "indorsed" by the convention only at cost of a hard night's labor in a committee the majority of whose members bitterly resented the thought of indorsing him at all.

It is Mr. Reed who alone snatched the semblance of victory from the Vermont election returns, for a no less high authority than Mr. Edmuds interprets the falling off of the republican vote in that state and the cutting down of the republican majority by one-half as a mark of disapproval intended as a rebuke to the republican majority in the senate for their failure to follow Mr. Reed's lead and to execute Mr. Reed's behest in their dealing with the force bill, which he had driven through the house under the crack of his whiplash.

It is Mr. Reed alone of the Republican leaders who is entitled to find comfort in the discontent of the republican manufacturers and importers over the senate's action on the McKinley bill. The resentment is directed solely against the senate's assurance in undertaking to tinker the bill sent to them by Mr. Reed, after he had forced it through his house of representatives.

Mr. Reed is master since this Maine election, and his man Boutelle has been quick to recognize the fact. He has twiddled his fingers at Mr. Blaine Senator Hale and Mr. Manley with a degree of confidence never before felt by Mr. Reed or any of his partisans.

The significance of Mr. Boutelle's utterance is not doubtful. The old quarrel between Reed on the one hand and the Blaine-Hale-Manley group on the other, which has endured ever since Mr. Reed's entrance into politics, culminated in last Monday's election. The issue was joined then at the polls and Mr. Reed won. It is a fact known perfectly to republican politicians throughout the country that Mr. Reed's winning in any election in which he has been the candidate has never been very earnestly desired by the followers of Mr. Blaine. It has also been their contention that any other candidate could do better than he in his district, and it has also been their scarcely concealed desire that some other candidate should have the chance. They are perfectly known to have contemplated with entire quanimity the possibility of his defeat in this year's contest or of his election by so small a majority that its smallness should be a rebuke.

All of these things were well understood here before the election occurred. The election itself, was understood to be, in effect, a trial of strength between the "Man from Maine" and the "other man from Maine." Now that Mr. Reed has returned bearing with him a majority double that of former years, those partisans who are disposed to worship the rising rather than the setting sun have been quick to see that this is Reed's triumph, and that he bears at his chariot wheels other than democratic captives.

There is no question that Thomas B. Reed is to-day the most conspicuous leader of the republican party, and he must henceforth determine the policy of that party. He is more conspicious than Mr. Blaine, and immeasurably stronger as a leader than Mr. Harrison. His will is the will of the party, and in every effort to forecast the future policy of the party the one thing necessary to reckon with is the character of Thomas B. Reed, his ideas and his methods.

To the student of political history who is accustomed to look at all beneath the surface this change, sudden and radical as it seems, is in no way surprising. It is the outcome of the natural law of evolution in politics. It is the result of forces which are ever present and persistent. It is the inevitable consequence of the tendencies that control human nature. It is the fruit of human nature. It is the fruit of history.

When the dominant concern of the republican party was the subjection of the southern states and their enforced enlistment in republican service, the natural leaders of republican opinion were those men who most exclusively devoted themselves to that purpose. Mr. Blaine was one of the first to perceive that an end must come to the history of war as a part of politics. He early saw that his party, partly through force of circumstance, but more through force of its own traditions, was destined to ally itself with industrial selfishness and corporate greed, and to accept considerations of business interest in lieu of political principles. He, first among republican leaders, founded a policy upon considerations of that nature alone. As his perception of the tendency of his party was correct, his winning was inevitable. He became the foremost leader of the party because he went first in the direction in which the party was inclined to go. It was he who formed political alliance with financial interests and made the promotion of these interests the party policy. In 1884, and for some years preceding that time, he was without a rival for this simple reason.

It always happens, however, in the history of parties that he who wins by radicalism, in the end loses by his inability or unwillingness to follow out his own teachings to their logical conclusion. He reaches at last the limit of his own daring, and is supplanted by a man bolder or more reckless than he. There arises some one younger than himself and bolder, who is willing to take up his thought where he is disposed to lay it down, and ready to push it beyond the limits which he has deemed the extreme boundaries of safety.

The party which he has led has been educated by him to the acceptance of a new leader's dictation. Because of the impetus he has given to it, it outruns him the moment he hesitates or falters.

Precisely this has been the history of Mr. Blaine's dethronement. He taught his party to consider business alliances as a legitimate substitute for political principles, and Mr. Reed has taken up his teaching at that point where Mr. Blaine, cherishing some memory of the traditions of a higher statesmanship, shrunk from its further application. Having pushed the protective policy to what at the outset seemed the furthest extreme, Mr. Blaine has come at last to hesitate. He is disposed to hedge. He is unable to shut his eyes to the fact that beyond and behind the protected manufacturers of the country there is a people to protect. He sees that the policy of special legislation for the benefit of a particular class has been carried beyond that point at which its tendency is to undo its own work by the walling in of our industries and the closing of foreign markets to our goods. He seeks to temper the government bounty to individuals by government dickers for popular advantage; to offset protection with reciprocity. But the teaching he has so diligently inculcated is not restrained in the party by any such conditions. When he cries "Halt!" the command is received with impatience by those who see profit for themselves in going further.

Is is at this point that Mr. Reed has been quick to see and seize his advantage. He has no such scruples. He is willing to fulfil the contracts made by the party with the moneyed interests of the country. He is faithful to the alliances between the party and those monopolies which have lent the party financial support in its time of need. Furthermore, he represents in a degree which Mr. Blaine never could the traditional spirit and impulse of the party—the spirit and the impulse of arbitrary force. He does not believe in the rights of the minority, even when the minority is, as the last presidential election showed it to be, an actual majority of the people if not of their representatives. His sole conception of the value of power is to use it in the enforcement of his will. He is impatient of restraint, easily irritated by contradiction and not in the least disposed to listen to argument. Having the power to do, he does, and that which stands in the way of his doing he sweeps out of the way. He is in his own person the embodiment of the force bill, which he drove through congress without permitting its discussion and without any consideration even for the qualms of conscience manifested by men in his own party. His ethics is founded upon the doctrine that the end justifies the means and that that end is righteous which represents his desire.

In all this Mr. Reed reflects both the history and the present temper of his party. Its history from the days of federalism until now has been that of a party of force; its policy has been that of centralization, of the enlargement of the federal power, of the arbitrary control of events in accordance with the will of those who have directed its destinies. Even in its dealings with the national finances it has diligently sought to accomplish results in themselves unrelated to the national finances, results beneficial to favored classes at the expense of the great mass of the people. It has legislated for interests as contradistinguished from principles. It has sought by legislative force to compel results and create conditions. Its impatience of restraint has shown itself in the form of attempts to override and subdue human nature itself. It has not hesitated to repeal the natural laws of economics and to substitute statutory laws of its own creation in their stead.

Its tendency to centralization has been due, not to any theory or conviction with regard to the constitution of our federal republic, and not to any conception of ultimate benefit to the republic, but solely to its own impatience with the slow methods of democratic liberty. It has always been in love with the short cuts of despotic rule, and it has persistently sought the centralization of power for the sake of the expedition with which centralized power can be used in the accomplishment of cherished purposes

In Mr. Reed these dispositions are reflected in their fully developed form. His natural leaning is to executive, not to deliberative methods. His idea of legislation is that of autocratic decree, with himself in the role of autocrat. That which he deems right and desirable he wants to do without pottering with objections raised by small minds.

It has been many years since a situation so interesting and so critical has been seen in American politics. With what emotions the supplanted leaders, and more especially the one man who is the titular head of the party, view this manifest situation it is easier to imagine than to find out by any utterance of theirs. They are like the deeps in this, that they are just now dumb.—N. Y. World.

"The protectionist who opposes reciprocity in the form in which it is now presented knocks away one of the strongest supports of his system. The enactment of reciprocity is the safeguard of protection, says Artful Dodger Blaine, in his letter to the Boot and Shoe club of Boston. There is more truth in this than Blaine meant to reveal. Let the farmers of the northwest bear these words on their banners this fall, and beneath it write: "The farmer who votes for Blaine and his reciprocity fraud forges an unbreakable link in the chain which shackles him to the chariot of the Carnegies."—Chicago Times.

Eczema From Childhood.

Wheen an infant my body broke out all over with an eruption or rash which became more aggravated as I grew older From early childhood until I was grown my family spent a fortune trying to cure me of the disease. Every noted physician in our section was tried or consulted. When I came of age I visited Hot Springs, Ark., and treated there by the best medical men but was not benefited. After that, under the advice of a noted specialist, I tried the celebrated Clifton Springs, New York without any good results. When all things had failed I determined to try S.S.S. and in four months was entirely cured. The terrible Eczema was all gone not a sign left; my general health built up, and I have never had any return of the disease. I have since recommended S.S.S. to number of friends for skin diseases, eruptions, etc, and have never known of a failure to cure.

What steam is to the engine, Hoods Sarsaparilla is to the body, producing bodily power and furnishing mental force.

Be Sure

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination; proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other.

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it." MRS. ELLA A. Does it hurt the Clothes?

We hear that some woman said of Pearline—"it's the greatest thing I ever saw for easy washing and cleaning, in fact it does so much I'm afraid of it." She recalls the old saying, "too good to be true."

How absurd to suppose that the universal popularity of Pearline is due to anything but wonderful merit.

How absurd to suppose that millions of women would use PEARLINE year after year if it hurt the hands or clothing.

How absurd to suppose that any sane man would risk a fortune in advertising an article which would not stand the most severe (and women are critical) tests.

That's just what PEARLINE will stand—test it for easy work—quality of work—for saving time and labor—wear and tear—economy—test it any way you will—but test it. You'll find PEARLINE irresistible.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers are offering imitations which they claim to be Pearline, or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—they are not, and besides are dangerous. 166 Manufactured only by JAMES PYLE, New York.

PROGRESS IN THE DEBATE

EXPORT DISCOUNTS WORRY THE REPUBLICAN SENATORS.

Senator Carlisle Proves That Manufacturers Sell to Foreigners More Cheaply Than in the Home Market, and Republicans Feel the Force of the Blow.

The Democratic senators have made frequent and telling use of the facts about export discounts during the discussion of the McKinley bill in the senate. The conclusive proofs that have been given that many manufacturers are selling their goods at much lower prices to foreigners than in the protected home market have given no little annoyance to the Republican senators. Senator Vest has made such telling use of the Spanish edition of The New York Mail and Export Journal, which was procured from Buenos Ayres, that Senator Allison has tried to put the whole matter aside with a little ridicule.

When the hardware sections of the bill were under discussion Senator Carlisle made a very effective speech in which he thoroughly exposed the falsity of the claims often made before the ways and means committee by men who pretend to be on the verge of ruin and yet sell their wares to foreigners at greatly reduced rates. The firm selected by Mr. Carlisle as an example of this practice was that of Landers, Frary & Clark, of New Britain, Conn. Mr. Carlisle stated that Mr. Charles S. Landers, the leading member of this firm, came before the ways and means committee to ask for increased duties. The senator read extracts from the testimony of this manufacturer showing what gloomy talk he then indulged in.

Before the committee Mr. Landers had said: "I am a manufacturer of table cutlery at New Britain, Conn., and represent before this committee what is left of that industry in the United States."

Another morsel from the testimony of Mr. Landers was this: "As stated here last night by Col. Bradley in this Solingen district the Germans manufacture very cheaply, and unless we are protected they will drive us out." To which he added: "We have got to have this protection. I have given the facts, and do not propose to argue the question."

The present protective duty which these men have is 35 per cent. ad valorem, but their tale of woe induced Maj. McKinley to raise the duty to an average figure of 55 per cent. In other words, whoever buys a dollar's worth of table cutlery now pays for it, not $1, but $1.35. Not content with this increase Maj. McKinley proposes to make us pay $1.55.

Mr. Landers' tale of woe, however, was thoroughly exposed by Mr. Carlisle, and its fraudulent character established beyond doubt. The senator read a news paragraph from a trade journal, The Hardware, as follows: "Landers, Frary & Co. are now kept very busy supplying their western consumers with their superb cutlery. They were compelled during the spring to employ about two hundred new hands to be able to keep up with the demand for their well famed goods."

And it was just this man who said he would have to go out of business unless he got higher protection!

But Senator Carlisle added a still more crushing blow to the foregoing. Holding up a sheet of paper he said: "I hold in my hands a bill, and I call the attention of the senator from Rhode Island (Mr. Aldrich) to this sentence, conspicuously printed in red ink upon the face of it. This is a bill of goods sold by these same parties:

"'For immediate cash, with an agreement on the part of the purchaser that the goods shall not be sold in the United States. Custom house certificate to be furnished if required.'

"So that they sell these goods for exportation," Mr. Carlisle continued, "at a lower price than they sell them to American citizens for home consumption, and compel their purchaser to enter into a stipulation, spread out conspicuously upon the face of the receipt which he gets for the money paid for the goods, that he will not sell them in the United States, and if these manufacturers require it that he shall produce to them the certificate of the custom house to show that he has exported them for sale abroad."

Mr. Carlisle took up also the case of the Northampton (Mass.) Cutlery company, exhibiting a bill of cutlery sold by them in the home market and reading from the export price list published by the same firm in its own name, and he showed from these two authoritative sources that the company sells abroad at prices ranging from 24 to 28 per cent. lower than in the protected home market. Reading from this bill of goods actually sold by the company in the home market he showed that the price of table knives (No. 877) is $9.25 per gross, and from the foreign price list he read that the price is $7.50. The two other styles of knives in this bill and the corresponding foreign prices are: No. 685 at $11.50 here and $8.50 abroad; No. 685 C at $12.50 here and $10 abroad.

In view of these facts Mr. Carlisle undertook to refresh the memory of Senator Allison in reference to a promise which the latter had made: "I think the senator from Iowa, if he will examine these papers, will find that we have reached a point in this discussion where he, according to his pledge made the other day, will be compelled to halt, for as I understood that senator his statement was substantially that, if evidence could be produced to show in any case that American manufacturers were actually selling their goods abroad for less than they were selling them here at home, he thought the duties might very well be reduced, or at least that he would not vote to increase them."

But Senator Allison, so far as appears, did not keep his promise, and only a few days later he was ridiculing Senator Vest for using his Buenos Ayres paper so frequently. Another of the Republican senators thought it was all right that our manufacturers should sell at a lower price in the foreign market, but American consumers will agree that it is rather hard on them to be made to pay for protection and then to be robbed of its benefits.

SOME ENGLISH FIGURES.

A Statement of the Progress of England for Several Years Under "Free Trade."

The condition of England has come to be quite a study in America during recent years, almost as much of a study, in fact, as the condition of our own country.

Both sides in the present tariff war look to England to find proofs of their favorite theories. We study the question of wages in England almost as carefully as in America. Mr. Blaine has made some studies in this field, too, and as a result he declares "undoubtedly the inequalities in the wages of English and American operatives (in cotton mills) are more than equalized by the greater efficiency of the latter and their longer hours of labor."

But the usual protectionist verdict is that England is a mighty hard country for labor, and that America is far in the lead, not only in the wages of labor, but in general manufacturing prosperity; and therefore what a good thing protection is!

We now have some recent figures about the growth of England, figures which were given by Mr. G. W. Medley in his report at the recent annual meeting of the Cobden club.

From the address of this gentleman we learn that the foreign commerce of England rose from £618,580,489 in 1886 to £743,230,274 in 1889—or an increase of about $600,000,000 in four years, which was a gain of more than $20 on every $100. It is interesting to note that during the same time our own foreign commerce gained, as shown by the latest treasury reports, only $175,000,000, or little more than $18 on every $100.

During these four years the investment of English capital in foreign countries has gone on rapidly; the annual interest alone on this English capital invested in foreign countries amounts to from $500,000,000 to $600,000,000. The receipts of English railways increased $15,000,000 from 1888 to 1890, and the operations of the London clearing house show the astounding gain of more than $3,000,000,000 for this single year. Bank deposits on Jan. 1, 1888, were $2,900,000,000; on Jan. 1, 1890, they were $3,050,000,000, or a gain of $150,000,000 in one year. The deposits in savings banks gained from Jan. 1, 1888, to Jan. 1, 1890, about $32,000,000.

The public revenues showed a condition not less satisfactory. The revenues collected showed a surplus of about $16,000,000, and instead of squabbling for years over the question how to get rid of the surplus without reducing taxes the government forthwith reduced the revenue duty on tea from twelve cents a pound to eight cents.

Agriculture, too, has made a gain, there being 106,809 more acres under cultivation in 1889 than in 1888, with an equal increase in pasture lands; and there were more horses, cattle, sheep and hogs—the gain in hogs being 90,000, and in sheep 546,000.

The condition of the English working classes forms a highly interesting answer to the assertion so often heard on this side of the Atlantic that "British free trade" is ruining the British workman. On March 1, 1889, there were twenty-eight laborers in every thousand out of employment in England, but on March 1, 1890, there were only fourteen in every thousand—these figures including strikers also. The number of paupers is also diminishing. The total number of poor receiving aid from the state in England and Wales was about 32,000 less in January, 1890, than at the same time in 1888, which is the lowest figure reached since 1858. In the latter year forty-eight persons in every thousand were paupers; now the number has fallen to twenty-seven.

The tendency toward a higher prosperity is seen, too, from the fact that emigration is falling off, the number of people leaving England the first six months of this year being 26,500 less than for the same time last year. Crime is also decreasing. The ratio of crimes committed in 1868 was one for every 377 of population; in 1888 it had fallen to one for every 671.

In contrast with this latter fact Mr. Medley points out that in the United States in 1850 the arrests were one for every 3,448, while today we have one for every 715, not including boys.

Referring also to the condition of agriculture in the United States he quotes the statement made last April to one of the committees of congress by Mr. Polk, of the Farmers' Alliance: "We are upon the brink of ruin, and we assert that this is not the fault of the farmers. We assert that it is the fault of the financial system of the government, which has imposed an undue, unjust and intolerable burden of taxes upon agriculture."

In view of the facts here set forth protectionists would do well to change their cry that "British free trade" is ruining the farmers and working classes of England.

Speaker Reed said in his Boston speech: "If any tariff bill was ever the result of the beliefs of the whole people of the United States the McKinley bill was that bill." It is evident that the speaker has not read the great Republican journals which mold Republican opinion in the west and northwest, and which have been bombarding this same McKinley tariff bill all summer without ever letting up on it. Also he could not have read the numerously signed petitions which his own New England sent to congress in favor of free wool and free iron ore and coal. Mr. Reed has contracted the habit of counting only one side.

The tanners of morocco leather in Lynn, Mass., have ordered all their establishments closed as a result of a disagreement with their laborers, which throws 1,500 men out of employment. There is a protective duty on morocco, put there, as we are always told, for the special benefit of labor; but labor does not seem to realize the contentment which protectionists are always promising it. The trouble about tariff bills is that they never contain a provision compelling a division of the tariff spoils with the laborers. That is taken wholly on faith.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark, says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free.

DON'T GIVE UP
The use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. One bottle may not cure "right off" a complaint of years; persist until a cure is effected. As a general rule, improvement follows shortly after beginning the use of this medicine. With many people, the effect is immediately noticeable; but some constitutions are less susceptible to medicinal influences than others, and the curative process may, therefore, in such cases, be less prompt. Perseverance in using the remedy is sure of its reward at last. Sooner or later, the most stubborn blood diseases yield to
Ayer's Sarsaparilla
"For several years, in the spring months, I used to be troubled with a drowsy, tired feeling, and a dull pain in the small of my back, so bad, at times, as to prevent my being able to walk the least sudden motion causing me severe distress. Frequently, boils and rashes would break out on various parts of the body. By the advice of friends and my family physician, I began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla and continued it till the poison in my blood was thoroughly eradicated."—L. W. English, Montgomery City, Mo.
"My system was all run down; my skin rough and of yellowish hue. I tried various remedies, and while some of them gave me temporary relief, none of them did any permanent good. At last I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, continuing it exclusively for a considerable time, and am pleased to say that it completely
Cured Me.
I presume my liver was very much out of order, and the blood impure in consequence. I feel that I cannot too highly recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla to any one afflicted as I was."—Mrs. N. A. Smith, Glover, Vt.
"For years I suffered from scrofula and blood diseases. The doctors' prescriptions and several so-called blood-purifiers being of no avail, I was at last advised by a friend to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I did so, and now feel like a new man, being fully restored to health."—C. N. Frink, Decorah, Iowa.

A MOTHER'S LOVE
Saves Her 10 Yr. Old Child.
My little girl, ten years of age, had Bright's Disease. Her ankles, feet and eyes were terribly swollen. Four of our best physicians attended her, but her life was despaired of. But a mother hopes unto the last, and I determined to try Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, made at Rondout, N. Y.

Bright's Disease
How happy I am that I determined upon this course—for one by one the well known symptoms of the disease left her. Words fail to express my gratitude, and I cannot too earnestly recommend the Favorite Remedy. Her recovery was entirely due to the Favorite Remedy, which was the only medicine taken after her case was abandoned by the physicians.

The figure 9 in our dates will make a long stay. No man or woman now living will ever date a document without using the figure 9. It stand in the third place in 1890, where it will remain ten years and then move up to second place in 1900 where it will rest for one hundred years.
There is another "9" which has also come to stay. It is unlike the figure 9 in our dates in the respect that it has already moved up to first place, where it will permanently remain. It is called the "No 9" High Arm Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine.
The "No. 9" was endorsed for first place by the experts of Europe at the Paris Exposition of 1889, where, after a severe contest with the leading machines of the world, it was awarded the only Grand Prize given to family sewing machines, all others on exhibit having received lower awards of gold medals, etc. The French Government also recognized its superiority by the decoration of Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, President of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor.
The "No. 9" is not an old machine improved upon, but is an entirely new machine, and the Grand Prize at Paris was awarded it as the grandest advance in sewing machine mechanism of the age. Those who buy it can rest assured, therefore, of having the very latest and best.

A VISIT AT THE HUB.

Notes on the G. A. R. Trip from Chicago to Boston and Return, by D. P. Spaulding.

I left Tecumseh on Wednesday, July 30th; visited in Hudson until Saturday; spent an afternoon at Mrs. Westfall's, president of the W. R. C; she hoped to visit our corps sometime this fall. Saturday, Aug. 2d, left for Chicago; reached there next morning at 7:30. Monday morning visited Libby Prison. Of course it is impossible for me to tell anything of the horrors of the place during war times, but a number of brass plates fastened to the floor, where our men had lain huddled together, spoke volumes. One of the visitors was relating his experiences, which was quite enough for me. Among the relics was the last edition of the Vicksburg Citizen, printed on wall paper; and the inscription on one envelope, among many others, attracted my attention. It was our flag upside down, and underneath:

"Emblem of traitors ever scurvy,
Be forever topsy turvy."

Saw a piece of great chain which was put across the Hudson river at West Point in 1778 by Gen. Putnam, to prevent the English war ships from passing up the river.

August 7th left Chicago for Boston in one of the largest crowds I ever saw, but finally got through the gate to our train. There were nine trains composed entirely of sleeping cars, of from nine to twelve cars each. We were in section 1, car T, and of course expected to be first to start, but one or two Iowa sections got ahead of us and managed to keep ahead all the way.

August 8th, 7 a. m., crossed the St. Clair river at Port Huron on ferry. Quite a novel experience to me sitting in my car and sailing across a wide river. Had breakfast at 10:30 at London, Ont., which was really the only good meal we had in Canada. Reached Hamilton, Ont., at 1:30 p. m.; had a fine view of Burlington Bay. We then started for Niagara Falls. Saw Lake Ontario for quite a long distance and arrived at Niagara Falls at 3 p. m. We found such a lack of enterprise. We were two miles from the Falls and no carriages to be had. Found the street car ran within half a mile of the Falls. All, or as many as could get on, started and rode as far as the car went and then walked the rest. At first we were a little disappointed, but a feeling of awe and wonder seems to grow upon you as you gaze upon them. We stayed as long as we dared, as we had only one hour and twenty minutes. We found on going back to the car track that the crowd had been so great as to break down a car, and they would not run any more that day. We tried to find some way to get back, but finally decided we would have to walk, so all started up the Mich. Central track,—and to see several hundred people trying to go two miles in twenty minutes on foot, might have been funny to a looker-on, but to us it was no laughing matter. We were cheered by a train load of G. A. R.'s coming in from California, but we got there and on time, too.

August 9th, arrived at Kingston. Here we are on the banks of the St Lawrence, ready to embark on the Bohemian. A jolly crowd, all apparently happy, some doing their best to be funny. One gentleman said to his wife, "Now, if anything happens, you just hang onto the anchor." She may have had occasion to think of it afterwards, as they were all night in a fearful storm in the Rapids, without a rudder, expecting every moment to go to pieces. But we got on board, and it being a fine day, we enjoyed our sail among the Thousand Islands immensely. It was the nearest approach to an earthly paradise that can be imagined. On Round Island is the Tontenac hotel, one of the finest I ever saw. Central Park Island and Point Vivian remind one of fairy land and Rose Isle, connected to Gipsy Isle by a miniature suspension bridge, was one of the beauties of the Thousand Islands. Quite a number of these islands are owned by Chicago people.

When we arrived at Prescott were informed that all but first, second and third sections would have to take another boat there, as the Bohemian was overloaded. We found our tickets were good on the other boat, we gladly made the change. We passed through two long rapids, and began to feel as if we would prefer smoother sailing, and we had a lovely sail down Lake St. Francis, which is 25 miles long by 6½ wide. Just as we reached Coteau Landing we saw the Bohemian entering the third rapid, but our Captain would go no farther, as it was growing dark and a fearful storm coming. It began to thunder and rain came down in torrents. We heard next day that the Bohemian was aground on the rocks all night, with no rudder. She was entirely at the mercy of the torrent, 1000 souls expecting to go to the bottom every moment. Our Captain telegraphed to Montreal for our cars to run up and meet us there. We were 42 miles from Montreal. We crossed Victoria Bridge about 5 o'clock next morning. It is about two miles long. Dined at the Stuart House at 8:30; reached Gorham at 6 p. m., at foot Mt. Hayes. Had a good view of Mt. Washington.

Reached Portland Sunday night. Kept our sleepers until Monday morning; took carriage and rode through the city until time for our boat; passed Speaker Reed's residence, and a number of noted places. Rode through Deering Park past Casco Bay; saw the G. A. R. encampment ground of two years ago; had a fine view from the Eastern Promenade of Mt. Washington; could see the Alpine house at its foot. At 9 o'clock embarked on ocean steamer for Boston; did not care to talk much for several hours, but enjoyed the sail into the Harbor in the evening very much indeed.

Next day visited places of interest; also attended the W. R. C. convention and heard post commander Van De Wirt's speech in the convention on the matter of considering the question he had introduced to the G. A. R. convention, that the W. R. C. be the only organization recognized as auxiliary to the G. A. R. Saw Mrs. Hampton; was introduced to a number of the delegates; had a good time; next day started for New York on ocean steamer. Did not like to talk much the second time, but was able to be on deck for about three hours. Saw Blackwell's Island; sailed through Hell Gate, past Bedloe Island; saw Liberty enlightening the world; sailed under Brooklyn bridge, past Castle Garden, into New York. Spent two weeks in vicinity; went to Ocean Grove, Long Branch, Elberon, Orange Mountain, N. J. Wish I could tell half I saw, but it is impossible. On our return trip we came along the Hudson; had a fine view of the Catskills; passed West Point, and had a nice stop at Niagara; spent four or five hours there.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Anna M. Sanford, aged 61, died at her home in Tecumseh, Sept. 14th, 1890.

She was born in Rome, N. Y. In early life she moved with her parents to Washtenaw county, Mich. At 29 she was married to Mr. Sanford. In 1864 she with her husband removed to Tecumseh. She was converted and joined the M. E. Church in 1865, of which she continued a member until called to the Church Triumphant, faithful alike in her home and church relations. She was a member of the W. F. M. S., of which she was Treasurer at the time of her death, trusted and greatly beloved by all who knew her, especially by those who were associated with her in church work.

Her death was sudden and unexpected, even by her devoted husband and near friends.

Her funeral was held at her home attended by a large number of relatives and friends, who greatly mourn her loss. Her remains were borne to their last resting place in Tecumseh cemetery.

Resolutions passed by the Tecumseh Auxiliary Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. Church on the death of its Treasurer, Mrs. Anna M. Sanford, who suddenly departed this life Sept. 14, 1890.

WHEREAS, Since it has pleased the All-wise Disposer of events to remove by death our beloved and faithful Treasurer, Sister Sanford, Therefore,

Resolved, That in our deep sorrow we do reverently bow in humble submission to the will of our Heavenly Father who doeth all things well.

Resolved, That we are grateful for the years we have enjoyed in Christian work and fellowship with her. As we shall miss her loving presence with us, we will still bless the Hand that guided her in every good word and work, and pray that her gentle and consistent Christian life may inspire our own hearts to greater diligence in the cause she loved so well, until we, too, shall peacefully enter the "Beautiful Golden Gates."

Resolved, That we extend our sympathy to the sorely bereaved husband in this time of need, and commend him to the loving care of our blessed Redeemer, and devoutly pray that he may receive support and comfort in the thought that the dear wife and children gone anxiously await his coming on the other shore, where there is no separation.

Resolved, That we also remember the relatives of the family and trust they, too, may find consolation by looking forward to a happy reunion beyond this vale of tears.

MRS. N. R. MERRITT,
MRS. H. STEINHOFF,
MRS. M. HIALEY.

AUCTION SALE.

Farm and Personal property for Sale. The undersigned having lost his wife will sell at Auction on the premises, 2 miles south of Tecumseh, on Thursday, Oct. 2d, 1890, at 12 M., the following property: 160 acre farm known as the Joseph P. Lee farm. It will be sold entire, or in two parcels to suit purchaser, one parcel being adapted to pasture and vegetables and the other to grain. The latter has all the buildings, orchard and two wells of water. The house is a large two-story brick. This is one of the most productive farms in Northern Lenawee. Six head of horses, described as follows: two good brood mares, one brown Banker mare, 1 four year-old Banker mare, 2 yr-old filly, 1 yearling filly, 12 head of cattle, 6 cows coming in early; balance young cattle; 60 sheep, mostly ewes; large stock of fancy poultry. A large number of Farming Implements, 25 acres corn in shock, 25 tons good hay, lumber, rails, fence posts, seasoned stovewood and many other things. Terms of Sale of Personal Property:—All sums of $5 and under, cash; sums over $5, one year's credit will be given with good approved notes drawing 6 per cent. interest. JOHN HANLEY.

NEVER NEGLECT a constipated condition of the bowels, or serious results surely follow, such as piles, impure blood and many chronic complaints. Burdock Blood Bitters is the remedy.

LAWMAKERS

The Work of the Week in Congress

EXCITING SCENES WILL MARK ADJOURNMENTS APPROACH.

Republicans in the House are Determined to Rush Through the Contested Election Cases—Senate Will Complete the Caucus Programme.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. LABOR bills are likely to be displaced this week by the conference reports on the general deficiency bill and the tariff bill, which will probably come in about the middle of the week. The Senate this week will continue to work on the unfinished programme outlined by the Republican caucus, and finish consideration of Senator Evarts' bill for the relief of the Supreme Court, which should come up as unfinished business Monday. This and Senator Enmunds' private land claims court bill, which was laid aside temporarily last week, will probably engage the attention of the Senate most of the week, and the bill to transfer the revenue marine from the treasury to the navy department, and several labor bills next on the programme, will be more than enough to keep the Senate busy during the entire week. The work of the Senate during the week, as the time for adjournment about October 1, approaches bids fair to become interesting if not exciting.

The Republicans in the House have determined that the Langston-Venable contested election case shall be put through and Mr. Langston be seated before any other business comes before the House. They expected to accomplish this last week, but the absence of a quorum of Republican members prevented action. It is now almost certain that a sufficient number of Republican absentees will be present Monday to break the Democratic deadlock, and in this event the case will be quickly pushed to a conclusion, and if circumstances are favorable, it will be followed by the contested election case of Miller (Republican), against Elliott (Democratic), from South Carolina, which will go through quickly if the Republicans agree to call it up. Mr. Miller, the contestant in this case, is a negro.

A number of prominent members, both Republicans and Democrats, think that the conferees on the tariff bill will be able to submit their report on Tuesday, but less sanguine persons think that it will not be presented until Wednesday, and several members who are familiar with the progress being made by the conference committee think that the report will not be presented this week, it will be quickly disposed of, and the completed bill rushed to the president for his approval. The general deficiency bill with the report of the committee on appropriations recommending non-concurrence in the senate amendments and the appointment of a conference committee will probably be presented during the week.

THE SIGNAL SERVICE.

So Far as the Weather Predictions Go, Will Be Taken From the Army.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 22.

The bill taking the weather signal service from the war department, and transferring it to the department of agriculture, has passed both branches of Congress, and will become a law, no doubt. This is to go into effect July 1, 1891. There will be a signal corps of the army, but for the farecasting of weather for the business interests of the country, the service will hereafter be under the agricultural department. The enlisted force of the signal service as now constituted, is to be discharged on June 30, 1891, but if they so choose, they can be transferred to the civilian service. There will be a signal corps of the army to consist of one chief signal officer, one major, four captains and four first lieutenants (mounted). Of the thirteen second lieutenants, four will probably go into the corps as first lieutenants, upon examination, and the other nine will go back into the line.

Insane From Over Study.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22.—About a week ago Brigadier General Grierson arrived in St. Louis from Los Angeles, California, in search of his son, who made his escape from a private insane asylum at Jacksonville, Illinois. Friday evening the police arrested an insane man who was terrorizing women and children in the vicinity of Vanderventer avenue and Pine street. It was discovered that the prisoner was General Grierson's son. The unfortunate man is deranged from over study. He was remarkably bright in his younger years and secured an appointment to the West Point military academy. He was unable to finish the prescribed course on account of brain troubles, and returned home. Soon afterward he became violently insane.

Dined and Wined.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—The invitation extended to the commissioners, board of directors and officers of the World's Columbian exposition by Potter Palmer to attend a banquet at the Palmer house were responded to by nearly all of the invited. After justice had been done to an excellent bill of fare, speeches were delivered by President Palmer, of the United States commission; President Gage, of the Chicago directory; Directory General George R. Davis and others.

Itinerant Turks Drowned.

FORT SMITH, ARK., Sept. 22.—During a fierce storm in the Boston mountains a party of ten Turks, who were traveling south with a lot of dancing bears, lodged in a creek bottom in one of the gulches. The heavy storm caused a torrent in the ravine and seven men and all the bears were drowned.

A SIGNAL BLOW

Against the Doctrine of Nationalism

Is What England Hoped to Strike

BY THE WHOLESALE ARREST OF IRISH LEADERS.

Nationalists Are Not Dismayed and Claim Their Cause Will Be Made Stronger by the Renewal of England's Proverbial Tactics of Persecution.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—The sudden wholesale arrest of Irish leaders gives rise to a variety of speculations as to the motives which has inspired the government to enter upon this new crusade against nationalism. From well informed sources, however, we learn that the movement which has caused such surprise to the public is the result of pressure brought to bear upon the government by the Irish Tories, who feared that Mr. O'Brien was arranging a campaign against several large estates similar to the one so successfully carried out on the Smith-Barry lands at Tipperary. Barry's great wealth enables him to survive the depopulation of his domains, but there are many cases in which such an exodus would mean ruin to the landlords. Mr. O'Brien was also credited with the intention of utilizing the distress caused by the potato blight as a means of stirring up feelings against the landlord system, which would be charged with the responsibility of keeping the people too poor to accumlate even the few pounds required to help them through an occasional bad season.

Doubtless a desire to prevent the proposed American tour of O'Brien, Dillon and others had its weight among the motives leading to the arrests, but this not believed to have been the principal incentive. Mr. O'Briens last trip through America and Canada did not have sufficient effect in evoking the ill-feeling against England nor in swelling the contributions to the Irish campaign funds, to justify any great apprehension as to the result of the expected tour; and the same statement may be made in reference to former. American journeys of Messrs. Dillon and Redmond.

The Nationalists are not at all dismayed by the new turn which events have taken; in fact they are already claiming that their cause will be all the stronger on account of a renewal of England's proverbial tactics of persecution. They confidently predict that American liberality will be greatly stimulated by what has occurred. If this expectation is realized, the government may find that in attempting to strangle the league it has only succeeded in bringing to it fresh strength and a longer lease of life. The consensus of impartial opinion as gathered in the clubs and other resorts seems to be that the government has entered upon a course in which experience shows that there is little prestige to be gained.

Mr. Parnell has been counting upon great results from the proposed American stumping tour, as he is nervously anxious to have a large fund raised for the election of 1891, and it is thought possible that he will go to the states and deliver a series of appeals himself if Messrs. O'Brien, Dillon and others who had expected to go are imprisoned or kept at home by legal proceedings. Mr. O'Brien is now in fairly good health and could stand prison life better than he could during his last severe experience of that kind. Mr. Dillon, however is quite delicate. Both of them expect they will be forced to serve the maximum term of six months.

Canine Beauties.

TORONTO, ONT., Sept. 20.—The International Bench show is attracting great crowds, the attendance yesterday being 11,000.

Among the prize winners are the following: Open class, dogs, black-and-tans, the Senator, Rochelle kennels, New Rochelle, N. Y., second.

Open class, bitches, Broomfield, Madge, Rochelle kennels, first. Fox terriers, smooth, dogs, Blemton, Volunteer, Oriole kennels, Youngstown, Ohio, first; St. Arden's Jack, Woodale kennels, Troy, second. Bitches, Blemton Vice, Youngstown, second. Irish terriers, dogs, Brela Belle, Salem, Mass., first; Burnside, Philadelphia, third.

The Salem kennels also won firsts for Yorkshire terriers, both sexes; sky terriers, dogs and bitches, Sir Stafford, Philadelphia. Best kennel of fox terriers, Oriole kennels, Youngstown, Ohio. Best pug, Bessie, Dr. Cryer, of Philadelphia. Best kennel of pugs, Dr. Cryer, of Philadelphia. Largest entry by one exhibitor, B. F. Lewis, Philadelphia.

The Melbourne Strike.

MELBOURNE, Sept. 20.—The minister of commerce was visited by a delegation from the county and municipal councils who expressed to him their approval of the government's action in the shipping strikes and denounced the attitude of the strikers. They asserted the striker's places could be filled by farmers and others in the colony who would come to Melbourne and help restore commerce to its normal condition. The minister replied that the government was ready to meet any violence of the strikers, and if necessary the colonies would combine in vigorous measures to secure the freedom of labor. He was warmly applauded.

In the Dark Continent.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Emin Pasha has hoisted the German flag at Tabora, captured a quantity of guns, ivory and cattle from Sultan Sike there and proceeded to Usukuma. Negotiations in regard to the African possessions of England and Germany are proceeding smoothly, Germany having admitted England's claim to Wanga and Taveta.

Champion Horse Jumper.

TORONTO, ONT., Sept. 20.—The horse Rosebery, has beat the world's record for high jumping, by jumping seven feet and one inch at the exposition grounds. The highest previous record was seven feet and five-eights of an inch made by the same horse at Elmira, N. Y.

Robert Garrett Ill.

PARIS, Sept. 20.—Robert Garrett, the American railroad millionaire, is residing at No. 4 Rue Presbourg. He is denied to visitors but sent out word that his health has not improved during his sojourn abroad. He rarely goes out, except to drive with his family.

Mrs. Chas. Whitmore of Adrian was in town Tuesday last.

Lamont C. Bidwell paid his father's family a brief visit yesterday.

Mrs. F. P. Deuel has been seriously ill for several days, but is now on the gain.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Searles of Sturgis, spent last Sunday with friends in Tecumseh.

Wheeler Tate has sold his house and lot on Wyandotte street to Francisco Harring.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Arnold attended the big German picnic at Ann Arbor, on Tuesday last.

R. G. Goff sprained one of his ankles last Friday, which will lay him up for several days.

Angie Nyland and Ellsworth Rixom returned to their school duties at Flint on Friday last.

James O'Riley, Jr., is now a fireman on the Michigan Central R. R. His run is from Jackson to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Dell Packard lost their only child last Saturday night. The funeral was held Tuesday morning.

El. Hand has purchased the house and lot lately owned Mrs. Cole, and is overhauling the house in grand style.

Whitenack Bordine & Co., are on deck with a new card this week. If you want a cook or heating stove call and see them.

Good judges claim that the dress parade on the Fair grounds yesterday was one of the finest military parades ever witnessed in this county.

The pupils of Dist. No. 1, Tecumseh, went over to the fair yesterday morning with a four-horse team. Philip Kehoe was the engineer of the load.

The Britton School, loaded into a mammoth wagon and drawn by a four horse team, passed through the village at seven o'clock yesterday forenoon, en route for the County Fair.

Mrs. Fred Knight died Monday afternoon, after two months illness. She had been a great sufferer with asthma and died from the effects of that dread disease. The funeral occured Wednesday afternoon.

Little Lee Pattison, son of E. B. Pattison, while playing on the street Saturday evening was run over by some unknown person, driving a horse and buggy. His injury was a very serious one and it was feared at first that it might prove fatal, as the top of his skull was fractured. Doctors North and Howell dressed the wound and the boy is doing finely. His escape from death seems almost miraculous.

Our friend J. W. Wightman has joined the army of benedicts. And he went through the transition ceremony in true business fashion. Having furnished a house on Shawnee street, he called in Rev. Wm. H. Babbitt, who performed the nuptials which made Mrs. Clara B. Boyce, Mrs. J. W. Whitman. The newly wedded couple began at once the realities of house-keeping in their own home. Here is our right hand, accompanied with our hearty congratulations.

Do not forget the entertainment and supper given by the Loyal Temperance Legion, at the home of Mrs. Jennie Hall on Chicago street, Saturday, Sept. 27th. Literary exercises at 7 o'clock; supper served from 5 to 7:30, at 10cts. Any one not members, and not buying supper tickets, will be charged 5cts. at the door. Let there be a good attendance of parents and friends of the cause, for the encouragement of young people. The members of the W. C. T. U. are requested to be present at their room promptly at 3 o'clock, as special business will come before them at that time.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

TECUMSEH, MICH., SEP. 25, 1890.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

This is a fine week for the county fair and people are improving it.

The slate roof of the Tiffany Iron Works will be all on by next Saturday night.

E. L. Wells of Toledo was shaking hands with his Tecumseh friends last Saturday.

C. T. Hewitt, of Cleveland, Ohio, was in town last Friday and Saturday on business.

The Washtenaw county fair will begin on Tuesday, Nov. 30, and continue four days.

Rev. Frank Arnold, the new pastor of the Baptist church, is making an excellent impression thus far.

Mrs. Margaret Osborn leaves to-day for Merrill, Mich., to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Lee Booth.

Bert Garlinghouse spent last Sunday at home. He is now at work for the Davis Binder Co., and is doing well.

The new foundry of Heesen Bros. & Co, is about completed. They expect now to take their first "heat" in about a month.

O. O. Hiscock started for Albion, Mich., Monday, where he expects to attend college during the coming year. Success to him.

Prof Hayden and wife of Hudson, have purchased bicycles and ordered another for their eldest son. All the family will soon be on wheels.

The County Fair is largely attended this week from this section and all who have attended are well pleased with the character of the exhibition.

H. S. Lee returned last week from his New York trip in the interests of the Table Co. He struck some business leads which are likely to pan out well.

Editor Schemerhorn of the Hudson Gazette, is writing some very entertaining letters, descriptive of his press excursion trip to the Yellowstone Park and Oregon.

Some miscreant entered the office of the clerk of the Hudson Water board one night last week and stole all the records and papers belonging. Hudson is always in hot water about something.

The ladies of the Baptist church will will give a social at the church parlors Thursday, Oct. 3d. Supper will be served by Mrs. Coddington's committee from 5:30 till 7 o'clock.

It will be political day at the County Fair to-morrow. Roswell G. Horr will champion the Republican side Frank A. Dean the Democratic, and Walter Thomas Mills the Prohibition.

Last week's issue of the Manchester Enterprise began the 24th volume. Bro. Blosser publishes one of the best local papers, without an exception, that enters our sanctum. May he live long and continue to prosper.

Isaac P. Keyser has placed us under obligations for a fine sample of celery, grown on his Jackson celery farm. Pat has "got the nack" of raising good celery. It was a prime article. He has about eighteen acres this year.

Nearly $5,000 was paid out last Thursday, to farmers in this vicinity for cucumbers. One man who has six acres has drawn, up to a week ago last Friday, $225. He will have at least another one hundred dollars worth.—Brooklyn Exponent.

T. S. VanDuser of Ridgeway, gave us a call last week. He has just returned from a five month's service as steward on the Fayette Brown. This is one of the Northwestern Transportation Co's propellers, running between Buffalo and Duluth. He likes boating first rate.

Mr. P. C. Snell's Sunday School class presented him last week with a fine unabridged dictionary. He was taken wholly by surprise but returned his thanks for the gift in a very happy manner. He feels proud of his class of young men, which is one of the best in the M. E. Sunday School.

To Lippincott's Magazine for October Rose Elizabeth Cleveland contributes an article entitled "My Florida." She tells of the southern section of Florida, which she has frequently visited, and gives a great deal of practical and useful information regarding the best time for going to Florida and the mode of life and precautions that should be observed during a visit.

The Concert given by the Baptist Sunday School last Sabbath evening was quite an elaborate affair. The program was in the nature of a harvest home festival, and consisted of music and recitations in proper proportions. The pews in the Southwest corner of the audience room were covered with a temporary platform which was trimmed with fruits, grains, etc., to represent the harvest season. Some of the recitations by classes were especially fine. A large and delighted audience listened to the exercises, who pronounced it one of the best concerts ever given in the Baptist church.

Jud DePuy of Detroit, spent Sunday and Monday in town.

Clinton will have another first class lecture course next winter.

The city band will give a street consert next Saturday evening.

Editor Stearns of the Adrian Press was in town last Monday afternoon.

The Hillsdale Fair will hold its fortieth anniversary meeting next week.

Anderson & Co., of this village, have a standing advertisement in the Clinton Local.

C. H. Hopkins of Battle Creek, is spending a week or two with Tecumseh friends.

Miss Hattie Whittier returned to Elgin last Tuesday, where she will resume her position in the Watch Factory.

Eugene Tremaine left for Chicago Tuesday where he will take a course of medical lectures during the coming winter.

Six Adrian attorneys invaded Tecumseh last Monday: A. L. Millard, Capt. F. B. Wood, Westerman Bros., L. H. Salsbury and Geo. L. Bennett.

Yesterday was military day at the County Fair, Co. C. went down on the morning train, accompanied by the Tecumseh city band and a big crowd.

Arrangements have been perfected for a balloon ascension and parachute drop on the county fair grounds yesterday, to-day and to-morrow at 3 o'clock P. M.

Hause Bros. started their Clinton cider mill last Tuesday, and they look for a good season's business. Altho' the apple crop is short in this section there will be plenty of cider apples.

There will be a meeting of Patrons of Industry of Section Association No. 1432, held in Science Hall, in Dist. No. 5, Thursday evening at 7 P. M., sharp. All members are requested to be present.

Geo. Heesen & Son will start their apple drying factory next Monday. They want apples at once, delivered at the factory near the electric works in Tecumseh, for which the highest market price will be paid.

The Clinton Local has improved very much since J. R. Blanchard assumed control. We called at the office on Monday and found Bro. Blanchard very nicely situated. He has a model country office, and is evidently enjoying a good run of patronage.

Anna C. Brackett will contribute to HARPER'S Magazine for October a "Fantasy" entitled "The Strange Tale of a Type-Writer." The type-writer in question is a machine, not an operator of a machine, and the moral which is deduced from the story is "Always read an author in his own language."

The Labadie-Rowell troupe presented two fine plays at the Opera House on Monday evening. The actors were well up in their profession and the plays themselves were of unexceptionable character. A Tecumseh audience rarely has the opportunity of witnessing as good a theatrical entertainment. The company deserved a better house.

While at Clinton last Monday afternoon, we called to see our friend C. S. Burroughs and we found him up to his elbows, making gum. We were quite surprised to see the amount of labor and machinery required in gum manufacture. His entire time is now occupied at the business and he is building up a good trade. His "Cuba" gum is one of the best brands on the market.

The following item, clipped from the Newaygo Tribune, has something to say about three former Tecumseh residents: "Chas. A. Blanchard of the Toby Furniture Co., Chicago, is here visiting Daniel E. Soper. They have not met in over 30 years, and hearing of Dan's nomination he hastened here to congratulate him personally Blanchard, Soper and Hendershott, the drummer boy of the Rappahanock were boys together, inseperable but always quarrelling and many are the pleasing anecdotes related by them. Mr. Blanchard is a comrade and was a bosom friend of General Custer.

We had a strole through John T. Clark's fruit orchards and vineyards, in company with the proprietor the other day. Mr. C. has about fifty acres in fruit; five are devoted to grapes, of which he has about twenty varieties. The balance is occupied with peaches and pears. At the time of our visit he had about two car loads of grapes in baskets for shipping. His pear crop this year is almost a total failure, but a walk through his grounds is like one through a dense forest. Mr. C. also makes some two hundred pounds of butter daily, which is shipped to the cities, and for which he receives the highest price for the creamery article. Next season Mr. Clark will set out forty acres more to fruit.—Clinton Local.

Louis Ahrends of Adrian is in town to-day.

Geo. Tansley of Addison, was in town yesterday.

DeLoss LeBaron of Toledo, was in town yesterday.

Geo. Heesen & Son swing out a new card in this week's issue.

Minor T. Cole of Palmyra, has obtained an original pension.

Mrs. D. L. Whitenack is visiting friends in Adrian this week.

Another big crowd went down to the County Fair this morning.

A big crowd from Tecumseh went to the fair yesterday morning.

Baker & Hall have repapered their store, much to its improvement.

A big batch of Council Proceedings came in too late for insertion this week.

They say there is the best show of horses at the Fair ever seen in Lenawee county.

Rev. F. Adkins filled the pulpit of the Ashland Ave Baptist church at Toledo last Sunday.

Russell Adkins has taken a clerkship in the postoffice. We believe he will fill the bill to a dot.

Talk about the climate of Southern California Can they beat the weather we have enjoyed this week?

George Schreder started Monday for Cleveland, Ohio, to accept a position as collector for the Detroit Commercial Advertising Company. Success to George.

The commissioners in the Wm. T. Thorp estate held a meeting last Monday afternoon. Several contested claims were presented and nearly half the Lenawee Bar was on one side or the other.

Rev. J. S. Joslin has been assigned to the Tecumseh church for another year. His return will doubtless be satisfactory to both pastor and people, as he has done an excellent work here during the past two years.

The Tecumseh auxiliary W. F. M. S. of the M. E. Church is deeply bereaved in the death of its beloved Treasurer, Mrs. Anna M. Sanford, who suddenly passed from labor into the abiding rest Sept. 14, 1890.

Rev. J. M, Getchell was called to Marshall last Tuesday to attend the funeral of James W. Cole, who formerly kept a meat market in Tecumseh. He had been a great sufferer from rheumatism, which was the cause of his death.

The Lenawee county S. S. Association will hold its fourth annual convention at the Presbyterian church in this village on Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 7th and 8th. A fine program is in preparation and a large gethering is expected.

NOTICE TO FARMERS.

Osgood Bros. of Britton are now ready to manufacture Sorghum and Cider. They have added new and improved machinery for the manufacture of Sorghum. Having had long experience in the manufacture of Sorghum they are not afraid to guarantee their work to be first-class. They have facilities for working up cane very rapidly, therefore there will be no danger of cane spoiling after receiving at the mill.

They are located in the village of Britton and solicit the patronage of farmers having cane to be made up to give them a call.

SORGHUM MOLASSES.

Having thoroughly repaired our Sorghum mill, and added several improvements, we are better prepared than ever before to manufacture first-class Sorghum molasses. Farmers having small or large lots to make can bring their cane to us and be sure of receiving molasses from their own cane. We shall also have a quantity of syrup on hand to sell by the barrel or single gallon. Give us a trial and we will guarantee satisfaction. Having had 30 years' experience in the business, we claim to be well posted in the art of syrup making and can manufacture an article second to none.
GRIPTON BROS., Britton.

HALF FARE.—Harvest Excursions via Lake Shore Route.—On Sept. 9th and 23d and October 14th, 1890. The Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R'y Co., will sell Excursion Tickets to points in the South, Southwest, West and Northwest, at one fare for the round trip. Tickets will be good thirty days from date of issue. Apply to ticket Agents for full particulars.

An Affair of Honor

Should be Settled by the Code Duello,

SAYS AN EMINENT FRENCHMAN WHO HAS TRIED IT HIMSELF.

Law Suits are Expensive and Unsatisfactory, and While They May Do for the Rich, the Duel Should be Left for the Poor and Honest.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—In an interview about dueling M. Mermerix, who recently fought a duel with a deputy, says:

"Naturally I am an advocate of its existence in France, and an ardent advocate of it as a most convenient institution. It saves a heap of time and trouble. Besides it is cheap, which lawyers are not. You are insulted, or you insult someone. You receive or send a chalenge. You appoint seconds. You have a pleasant drive of a few minutes, excellent exercise, a good lunch or dinner as the case may be, and all is over. Your opponent owes you no grudge if you win, whereas if you had gone to law he would have continued to regard you as his enemy even if he had won the case. Your lawyer would have driven him crazy with cross questions, would have insulted him and called him names. He would naturally lay all your lawyer's sins at your door. Then there is the expense. Law suits are all well and good for the rich, but leave the duel for the poor and honest."

After stating that although a poor swordsman, he never feels nervous when he has a duel on hand, but that he always insists on fighting in the afternoon and on a full stomach, he said: "The modern duel may be a remnant of the barbarism of trials, combat and all that, but we do not consider the victor was in the right. You see it is this way. A man's honor is questioned: he wipes out the insult in blood, or tries to, which is practically the same. Dueling is short and part of our manners. I for one don't want it to be eliminated from them."

In the course of the interview M. Naquet entered the room, and in reply to a question he said: "I don't want to say anything now about Boulanger, but this you may say, if the general attacks me then I will reply, and may the devil help the hindmost."

Peculiar Poisoning Case.

DANVILLE, ILL., Sept. 22.—The family of Henry Varner, living near East Lynn, and consisting of himself, wife and three small children, all became suddenly and violently ill. The family physician said it was a case of poisoning. The little girl died, one of the boys cannot recover and Mr. Varner's condition is precarious. A new pump had just been placed in the well and a careful examination disclosed the fact that rat poison had been put in the pump while in stock at the country store to kill rats.

Armenians Organizing.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—A meeting of Armenians was held to form an organization for furthering the interest of their country. The attendance was large. Dr. H. Gabriel presided and explained that a commitee had been formed in London to help the Armenians to throw off Turkish rule. The organization was spreading all over the world. Addresses were made by several prominent Armenians denouncing the outrages inflicted on their countrymen by the Turks.

To Favor Ex-Soldiers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Representative Atkinson, of West Virginia, introduced a bill amendatory to the law providing that preference shall be shown ex-soldiers and ex-sailors who served in the late war in making appointments to government positions by making it a misdemeanor for any official to refuse to comply with the law, and providing that any person found guilty of the offense shall be disqualified from holding office under the United States.

Railroad Accident.

BRIDGEPORT, CONN., Sept. 22.—An accident occurred to the express train from New York for Pittsfield, which left here at 4:50 p. m. An axle of the smoking car broke between Newton and Hawleyville, throwing the car across the track. There were several passengers in the car, but they escaped with a bad shaking up. The track was blocked several hours.

Hermit's Frightful Death.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—William Fuller, a strange old man who lived the secluded life of a hermit, on Whipple street, met with a frightful death. He was subject to fits. Just after applying a match to an oil stove he was seized with a fit and fell helpless over the stove, where he was slowly burned to death. In the fall he knocked the stove over and the house caught fire.

South Dakota Crops.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., Sept. 22.—A Yankton, S. D. special to the Tribune says: Reports from twenty-one counties in South Dakota, where threshing is in progress, show that the yield of small grain is greater than at first supposed. It averages fifteen bushels to the acre. Corn was uninjured by frost and yields forty-five bushels per acre, although not a full crop farmers will realize more cash for their produce than for many years.

Bitten by a Cat.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—A woman 70 years of age is a patient at the Pasteur infirmary. While cleaning a cellar in a fashionable up town residence a cat sprang upon her, fastening its teeth in the woman's arm. The cat clung to the arm until it was tortured with burning matches. The arm swelled to large proportions and the woman suffered great pain. Dr. Gibier dressed the wound.

Burned to Death.

SARATOGA, Sept. 22.—Mrs. Elihu Wing wife of a wealthy farmer of Greenfield, and mother of Daniel E. Wing, a prominent Saratoga lawyer, was burned to death in the sitting room of her residence near here. Her clothing caught fire from a lamp.

Chinaman Smuggler Fined.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept 22.—Arthur Murchison was fined $22 in the United States court for trying to smuggle Chinamen into this country. He is the first white man to be convicted and punished for this offense.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER

Was that Charged Against Reginald Burchall.

WOODSTOCK, ONT., Sept. 22.—The case of Reginald Burchall for the murder of Fred C. Benwell in February last will be called the first thing in the morning. From all that can be learned the defense will be an alibi that Benwell was alive after the date on which the murder was supposed to have been committed. Detective Bluett, who has been unceasing in his efforts to complete Burchall's defense, has secured two men, who it is said will testify that they saw Benwell alive after the 17th of February, the date of the murder. Witnesses will be brought from Brantford, who it is also said will testify to the same effect. The prosecutions case is somewhat weakened by the fact that it is reported that Neville A. Pickthall, whose name was connected with the murder at one time as a suspect and later as an important witnes, has disappeared, and that he will not appear at the trial.

Burchal continues as confident as ever, and shows the least concern of all connected with the case. The trial will probably continue the entire week.

ELLIS SNUBBED.

GEN. UNDERWOOD WILL SUCCEED HIMSELF IN OFFICE.

As Commander of the Patriarchs Militant for the Next Three Years' —Work of the Sovereign Grand Lodge.

TOPEKA, KAN., Sept. 22.—The Sovereign Grand lodge, I. O. O. F., concluded its business late Saturday afternoon and adjourned to meet at St. Louis, Missouri next September. Most of the day was taken up in the consideration of the numerous reports of committees. Another blow was struck at Captain-General Ellis, of the patriarchs militant by deciding to make the office of lieutenant-general and generalissimo elective, and John C. Underwood, the present incumbent, was elected to the position for a term of three years. Under the legislation of the Los Angeles session of 1888 Captain-General Ellis would have succeeded to the position by promotion at the expiration of the term of General Underwood. But his assumption of the office of September 6th, and subsequent suspension by the grand sire, influenced the Sovereign Grand lodge against him and resulted in the repeal of the old law and the enactment of the new.

Before adjourning, the new officers of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, both elective and appointive, were installed. Allen Jencks, of Rhode Island, was appointed assistant grand secretary; A. C. Cable, of Ohio, grand marshal; J. W. Venable, of Kentucky, grand chieftain; Alexander Guthrie, of Delaware, grand guardian; A. E. Kelly, of Washington, grand messenger.

DISBARRED.

A Prominent Maryland Attorney Shut Out.

BALTIMORE, MD., Sept. 22.—The supreme bench has unanimously signed an order disbarring Hon. John H. Handy, ex-state senator and one of the most prominent attorneys of the local bar, for conduct unbecoming a lawyer in having appropriated to his own use, trust funds amounting to many thousand dollars.

Switchmen's Convention.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 22.—The Switchman's convention was unable to conclude its business and continued in session. The constitution was revised and adopted. The benefit for total disability was raised to $1,000. A letter has been sent to the superintendents of the different railroads of the country, answers to which will be read at Monday's session. The tenor of the letter is withheld until then.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

COLONEL GEO. B. DAVIS ELECTED DIRECTOR GENERAL.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Colonel George R. Davis was elected by the world's fair commissioners director general of the Columbian exposition by a majority of seven votes over his competitors. The vote stood: Davis 50, Hastings 32, McKenzie 6, Price 1.

The first thing of importance before the World's Fair commission was the report of the executive committee of twenty-six on the question of choosing a director general. The report was presented by President Palmer and was as follows: "By direction of the executive committee at a meeting held in the morning I have the honor of presenting to this commission the name of George R. Davis for director general"

A minority report was presented endorsing General Hastings. Both reports were tabled for the time being. The president also announced the personnel of the various committees which will handle the various features of the Columbian exhibition. The chairmen are as follows: Judiciary, rules and by-laws, William Dindsay; committee-at-large: trains and transportation, N. D. Groner, Virginia; foreign affairs, C. M. Depew, New York; fine arts, A. G. Bullock; committee-at-large: electric appliance, G. C. Sims, Rhode Island; forestry and lumber, J. W. M'KINLEY NOT IN IT.

He Will Not Assist Ryan at Urbana—The Major's Letter.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 19.—

Major McKinley will not be at Urbana to assist in opening the Republican campaign according to programme. He has notified Chairman Hahn, of the executive committee, that his official duties at Washington will prevent his expected visit to Ohio. Following is Major McKinley's letter declining:

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18, 1890.

Hon. Wm. M. Hahn, Chairman Republican State Executive Committee:

It is now certain that I can not be at Urbana. To go means to run away from the most important business of the session, and infinitely more important to the Republican party in Ohio than my presence at your meeting, which I am sure you and the Republicans without exception will appreciate. I fully expected to be present and meet the Republicans of Champaign and adjoining counties, but the condition of the public business in these closing hours of the session makes it my imperative duty to remain here. It was especially my desire to join Hon. Daniel J. Ryan, the gallant candidate for secretary of state, in the opening of the campaign and my regret is greater than yours.

WILLIAM MCKINLEY, JR.

URBANA, Sept. 18, 1890.

The meeting arranged for McKinley in the afternoon of the 20th at Urbana has been declared off and no exercises will be held until evening, when Secretary of State Ryan and Hon. Theodore Funk will speak.

SAYING NOTHING.

Governor Campbell on the Extra Session Question.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 19.

Governor Campbell refuses to state whether or not there will be an extra session of the legislature called for the purpose of heading off congressional interference with the Democratic gerrymander, because of the omission of Storrs township. When asked what he intends to do in regard to the matter, he said:

"Who is authority on the subject that any territory is unprovided for, and can it be demonstrated that any part of Storrs Township is omitted from the Second district? The Cincinnati Board of elections, which has for several years exercised jurisdiction over all of Hamilton county, finds no fault, nor is there any one in the district claiming to be disfranchised. I can not see how any action is to be taken until an election in the disputed territory raises the question of disfranchisement."

As has been previously stated in this paper, information comes from a reliable source that the governor is sorely troubled over the situation and the question of calling an extra session is being considered by him. It is understood that the state executive committee is opposed to an extra session and that the meeting of the central committee next Tuesday is called for the purpose of considering the subject.

It is reported that the governor stated to a friend in confidence that an extra session is among the probalities.

SENSATIONAL ARREST.

Another McAndrew Brother Jailed for a Big Theft.

BOSTON, MASS., Sept. 20.—John A. McAndrew, brother of Wm. McAndrew who was arrested at Lynn on Tuesday last, charged with breaking and entering the residence of Henry R. Stowell at Athol, on the night of Nov. 27, 1889, and stealing therefrom jewelry and negotiable stock bonds and notes in all valued at over $100,000 has been arrested as an accessary after the fact. It is alleged that John A. negotiated some of the stolen bonds in Chicago. He is prominent in the Sons of Veterans circles, having served as colonel of the Massachusetts division.

The Manitoba Road Bonds.

BOSTON, MASS., Sept. 20.—The Sioux City and Northern railroad, which completed last January its ninety-six miles of road from Sioux City to Garretson, thereby giving the Manitoba system entry into Sioux city, has sold its first issue of bonds, $1,920,000 6s, to a Boston syndicate, which will shortly offer them in the New York market, probably at 95.

DODD'S CATARRH CURE.

LOCAL AND INTERNAL TREATMENT.

In order to cure catarrh it is necessarry to allay the inflammation of the irritated membranes with a soothing application, cleanse the head of the plugging mucous secretions, and heal the discharging ulcers. For cold in the head and nasal catarrh Dodds' local treatment does this without the aid of snuff, douches or fumes. If the disease has extended downwards affecting the bronchial tubes or lungs, digestion and blood, the internal treatment both removes from the system the scattered poison, and by its building-up properties assists nature in restoring the impaired parts. ESTATE OF MARY LOTTRIDGE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 25th day of August, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

Present, Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate.

On reading and filing the petition of Charles Burridge, executor of the last will and testament and upon the estate of said deceased, alleging that the funeral expenses and debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration thus far incurred, have been fully paid, and that he is now ready to close said estate and to render his final administration account, which he prays may be allowed, and that the residue of said estate may be assigned according to the provisions of said will, that he may be discharged and his bond cancelled, and for such other order and decree as to this Court shall seem proper.

It is ordered, That Monday, the 29th day of September next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

RICHARD B. ROBBINS, Judge of Probate.

HER STIPULATION.

At the old piano seated
As I played with Margaret,
Sweet the harmony repeated
In the chords of our duet.

'Twas her favorite piece, she told me,
She had chosen it to play,
And its music seemed to hold me
With a viewless, magic sway.

'Twas a melody Circassian,
And its strains, in varying mood,
Now sang low of love's sweet passion,
Now like clarions stirred the blood.

Still with me the memory lingers
Of that happy day in June;
So harmonious moved our fingers
Surely we had hearts in tune!

Visions through my soul delighted
Passed, that told what joy 'twould be
If our hands could be united,
Making endless harmony.

And I thought "'Tis now or never!"
So I whispered: "Margaret,
Why should not we twain forever
Make our lives one long duet?"

She, meanwhile, with smile entrancing,
Stood, in silence wrapt; but soon,
"'Twould be nice," she said, down glancing,
"If I always chose the tune!"

BRAVE MARY SEXTON.

How She Saved Her Lover and the Express Train.

"Is it true, John, that you are to bring in the express to-morrow night?"

There was a world of solicitude in Mary Sexton's voice as she looked up into John Manning's face, her eyes showing, even more than her voice, the dread which had taken possession of her.

"It's true, Mary, darling, but have no fear. There are no road agents in these parts, nowadays, and I'm quite sure that the modern tramp has not pluck enough to wreck a train," and John smiled as he endeavored to reassure his sweetheart that there was no danger in connection with the trip.

"But Long Lake is nearly even full, and it was said this morning that the dam might break. In that case there will be plenty of danger at Long Lake pass," pursued Mary.

"Tush, little one, that's only the talk of a man who knows nothing about the dam. It's strong enough, and you need never fear about its breaking. Good-bye, sweetheart," he said, bending over and pressing his lips to hers.

But she still clung to him, loth to let him start, but he disengaged himself and stepped into the cab of his iron horse, pulled open the throttle, and slowly the train rumbled away in the darkness from Hornellsville station toward the mining camp in the mountains fifty miles away, which was the other terminus of the branch, leaving Mary on the platform, her eyes too bedimmed by tears to see her lover.

All that night and the next day, a vague feeling of impending danger filled her heart, and her apprehension became more intense when rain began to fall in torrents early in the afternoon.

The D. L. & S. branch runs from Hornellsville to Mortality Camp, up in the mountains, fifty miles away. The first ten miles are down a steep grade and toward a narrow valley. Then the track is laid between two ranges of hills, the pass not being more than a mile across in its widest part. Just at the base of Long Lake, an immense body of water which furnished power to numbers of stamping mills close by in the pass, the road turns sharply to the right. To avoid tunneling, the road then doubles completely, and runs back, almost parallel to its first course, to Downer's Bend, within two miles of Mary's home. Thus the first twenty odd miles of the road run in the shape of an elongated loop. The branch then continues on an easy stretch to Mortality Camp. The run from Hornellsville to the camp usually occupies nearly two hours, but the return trip could be made in a trifle over an hour and a half.

Everyone in Hornellsville knew Mary Sexton, but she was a constant lass, and she had smiles for no lover but the sturdy engineer, John Manning, the friend of her youth, the man who for years had been almost a brother to her, for Mary was an orphan and had known the tender solicitude of a parent only in early childhood. It was only natural, therefore, that the station and the freight-house were places of engrossing interest to her, and that after she had acquired a knowledge of reading and writing, she should solve the intricacies of telegraphy. She was an apt pupil, and for many months had been in the habit of relieving the regular day operator from time to time.

It was considerably after eight o'clock in the evening, when Mary left her home for the station, and though she knew she had to wait until 9:40 o'clock for John's train to return, she could not rest easily while there was any doubt as to the solidity of Long Lake dam.

She stepped into the station a few minutes before the half-hour, prepared to ask for the latest news, but she paused with surprise when she saw that the place was empty. She was still wondering whither the operator had gone, when her accute ear caught the call "Ky," repeated again and again with what seemed to be feverish rapidity. Without stopping to remove her shawl, she hastened to the instrument, opened the key and gave the answering symbol. There was a brief pause, and then hurriedly she read:

"Dam at Long Lake likely to go at any moment. Water even with top. Stampers have fled to high ground. HT."

"HT" was the signature of the operator at the company's mills, just beneath the lake, and she recognized it instantly. Opening the key again, she rattled off:

"What time is the express due there?"

The reply came:

"In fifty minutes, or at 9:17. Tried to get Mortality Camp, but got no answer. If the train gets into the pass just as dam breaks, every one will be lost—"

The message abruptly ended, and Mary realized that something had caused the operator to leave his instrument. Instinctively she saw the danger to John and the express. Though her heart throbbed like an engine, she lighted a red lantern, and, hastening with a wild, unreasoning impulse from the station, she sped breathlessly through the street, hardly forming, in the frenzy of her physical exertion, an outline of a plan.

"I have half an hour in which to reach Downer's Bend. John is due there at 8:57," she muttered to herself, and her face bespoke the determination she had reached. "I can reach the switch of the spur track at the Bend at that time. My lantern will slow up the express. I'll throw the switch. That'll send her up the spur towards the quarries at its end. She'll stop in twelve or fifteen car-lengths, after passing the switch, and so I'll save her from entering the pass."

She hurried along for many slowly passing minutes, unmindful of the storm which had drenched her, and likewise unmindful of the rough gravel which cut through her thin slippers and bruised her feet. Presently, above the roar of the rain and the wind, she heard the blast of a locomotive whistle. To her agonized mind it seemed to scream: "Mary! Mary!" dying away in a long moan like that which comes from a person in pain. But scarcely had the sound died in the distance, when she became aware of even a more horrid noise borne on the wind from the direction of the pass; a noise like that made by the crashing of trees in a gale. Again the whistle sounded, and its shriek pierced her heart like a knife. She quickened her frantic run. A few moments more and she was descending the hill which ended at Downer's Bend.

As she neared the switch, she snatched a moment to cast a look backward, and saw the bright gleam of the locomotive's headlight.

She swung the lantern around her head as she ran. In an instant she had thrown the switch; and even while her fingers were groping for the locking-pin, the locomotive dashed by.

She had looked up as it struck the switch-rail, and saw John Manning's face in the window-slide of the cab; and even while she looked, she heard him cry:

"Mary!"

Mary Sexton heard, dimly, the whistle for "down brakes," the sound of escaping steam, the click of the brake-clamps, and the sound of grinding-iron; then she fainted.

VALUE OF THE PAST.

It Tells in the Most Insignificant Acts of the Present.

The power of the past over every instant of the present is so subtle in its operation that it tells in the most insignificant acts. One of my friends who has had much experience in tuition tells me that he knows immediately, without asking questions, whether a young man has had a classical education or not. A close observer might possibly guess from the slightest movements if a young man had been accustomed to athletic exercises.

In all the arts there are momentary difficulties that only the most dexterous can fully overcome. In other words, the labor of years is concentrated in the skill of a moment, the extensive past operating with all its accumulated force upon the narrow present. On witnessing these momentary displays of a skill that is almost incomprehensible, a thoughtful person is chiefly impressed by that marvelous law of nature which makes years of previous labor available all at once.

The great difficulty in employing the Present well is that the use of it must form part of some consistent scheme or well-devised arrangement of life. There is no satisfactory Present that is not well rooted in the Past. It is the sense of this great need of the Past which drives people who have no steady pursuits to a perpetual waste of time. They feel that desultory efforts are useless, and they cannot determine to undertake those that might be effectual and continuous. Hence the great advantages in trades and professions, that they insure continuity; they keep the cobbler to his last, the painter to his pallette. It is thus, in the arrangements of nature, that the Present is made so valuable, that men are, on the whole, so wonderfully efficient now when we want their services, and do not put us off with promises of future utility. This is the one admirable result, that civilization helps us now, that the telegraph is ready to take our message and the steamer ready to start, and the fire-engine ready to stop the conflagration. The increased experience of the human race is leading it more and more to appreciate the importance of the Present and to look upon the Future only as that which will be the present in its turn.—Philip G. Hamerton, in Scribner.

A Safe Hobby to Ride.

A hobby is apt to be an expensive palfrey. It sometimes costs piles of money to groom and run it, and it seldom wins purses and cups enough to pay for its keep and entrance fees. Nevertheless, as man, in the absence of some special object to engage his thoughts, is almost sure to get into mischief, it is better for him to push ahead on any sort of a hobby that is not vicious, than to lounge through life in a slipshod, desultory way, without definite aim or purpose. No matter what other praiseworthy hobbies a man may have, he should make conscience the prime favorite of his moral stud. That is a hobby that is always safe. Give it the rein freely, never curb or check it, go with it in whatsoever direction its divine instinct would guide you, and over every "hill of difficulty," through every "slough of despond," it shall take you safely to the "narrow house"—which shall seem to be as the "House Beautiful"—at your journey's end.—N. Y. Ledger.

REVIEW OF THE QUARTER

LESSON XIII, THIRD QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, SEPT. 28.

The Cases of Those Who Failed to Accept the Gospel—The Rich Young Man Whom Jesus Loved—What Was the Sin of Dives?—The Personality of St. Luke.

The teachings comprised in the twelve lessons preceding are so many, varied and important that a specific review, or even satisfactory mention of each principle advanced, is manifestly impossible. A few salient points, however, should be noted: The development of Christian doctrines; the fact that these lessons deal chiefly with teaching and very little with personal history, and especially the instances given illustrating the reasons why men do not accept the gospel and order their lives in accordance therewith. In the cases of those bidden to the supper, one was kept away by his wife, and another by his oxen; one by an unreasonable fondness, and another by mere love of property.

Again, in the case of the wealthy young man we have a very peculiar and affecting instance. The text plainly shows that he was a youth of much nobility of character, and another evangelist adds that Jesus loved him. He was no doubt "one of the most popular men of our community," as the modern phrase has it, and yet he had not abused his wealth or popularity, for he was chaste, temperate and just. And yet even he failed to accept Christ—he had too much money, or at any rate thought too much of it.

Other characters are the greedy rich man, the lazy and voluptuous man, the merely indifferent man, and finally Dives, against whom no serious allegation is made—he seems to have been what some call "a downright good fellow," "a jolly dog," eating and drinking and having a "good time," "never bothering his head about reforming the world," but "letting each fellow look out for himself."

And on him a special condemnation falls—and what a fearful condemnation! Out of all who rejected Christ, as recorded in the quarter's lessons, he alone is followed beyond the grave and selected as an instance of final and complete reprobation. Not the murderer, not the extortioner, not even the impenitent thief—simply the man who had drifted along and enjoyed himself and never inquired about the sick and sorrowing. Are we at liberty to conclude that the state of society in the Roman empire at that time and the luxury then beginning among the wealthy were considered in this parable? And surely there never was a time when the lesson was so applicable as now; for there never was a time in the world's history when so many great fortunes were so suddenly acquired as in the United States in this generation. Never was the moral responsibility of the wealthy so great as now. Wealth is not sinful; but as to a life of mere enjoyment Christ has given us the divine view in His account of Dives. Of all the sinners mentioned during the quarter's lessons Dives is selected as the utterly hopeless case.

It should also be specially noted that the work of the last quarter is practically a study of Luke's gospel; the student should, therefore, as occasion serves, examine the authorities as to Luke. Here it is sufficient to state that he was a physician and man of learning, a companion for some time of St. Paul and author of the "Acts of the Apostles." Other facts of his life are not clearly proved, but the primitive Christians received by general tradition the statement that he was a native of Antioch, a Greek by blood rather than a Jew, or, at any rate, of Greek rearing and culture, one of the earliest converts and a very careful and diligent student of all things connected with the earthly life of Christ. The style of his writing shows that he had the "historical sense" very well developed.

The first mention of this gospel is alleged to be by Clement of Rome, about the year 100; and it is spoken of as a work already generally known to Christians and accepted as authority. For these and many other reasons the best judgment is that Luke wrote his gospel not long before the destruction of Jerusalem, and with the assistance of St. Paul. Tradition adds that he died a natural death at the age of 84, after preaching in various countries. As to the style of Luke it should be noted that he is careful to fix the time of each important event by mentioning the rulers in power at the time. The construction is artistic: First is the address to Theophilus and a citation of authorities, then the advent of John the Baptist and events in historic order to the beginning of Christ's ministry, and then the development of doctrines and lessons in regular order.

The quarter now closing opens with an impressive lesson on the proper use of the Sabbath; it is not to be kept by mere rigid formalism, as the Pharisees kept it, but with a joyous devotion. The old Jewish Sabbath is done away with. The parable of the supper follows, and here, as in many other places in Luke, the fact is emphasized that those who held rule among the Jews, with very rare exceptions, had no welcome for Jesus. The beginning of a Christian life—"taking up the cross"—the finding of the lost sheep and the lost piece of money and the prodigal son as an example of forgiveness follow as regular chapters in a serial discourse upon the work of grace. The parable of Dives and Lazarus is the most vivid picture of the life beyond the grave given in Christ's teachings, and appropriately closes this division of this gospel.

The miracle of the ten lepers, the parable of the widow who prevailed by prayer and the contrasted prayers of the Pharisee and publican logically come together as containing our Lord's teaching on the power of prayer in healing for the soul. Other parables and incidents follow, each introducing an important principle of the Christian faith, and the quarter closes with another and most emphatic lesson upon the hostility of the chief priests and the scribes. The student curious upon such matters should consult some of the recent discussions on the prophecy concerning the destruction of Jerusalem, and especially the question lately debated with some heat as to whether St. Luke recorded the prophecy before or after its fulfillment. As the city was destroyed in A. D. 70, and as Luke was traveling with St. Paul as late as 61 (in the spring of that year they reached Rome after the shipwreck), the question is one of great interest.

A Careful Georgian.

A wealthy Georgia man died recently, and after the last sad rites the family made a search for the will, but could not find it. Finally some one suggested that the body should be exhumed. This was done, and in the inside pocket of the grave coat the will was found. The careful citizen had put it there for safe keeping.—Chicago Times.

The American Association for the Advancement of Science has made a gift of $2,350 to the Toronto university for the encouragement of the study of physics.

Failures in Life.

People fail in many ways. In business, in morality, in religion, in happiness, and in health. A weak heart is often an unsuspected cause of failure in life. If the blood does not circulate properly in the lungs, there is shortness of breath, asthma, etc.; in the brain, dizziness, headache, etc.; in the stomach, wind, pain, indigeston, faint spells, etc.; in the liver, torpidity, congeston, etc.; heart strain. For all these maladies Dr. Miles' New Cure for the heart and lungs is the best remedy. Sold, garanteed and recommended by Baker & Hall. Treatise free.

PROGRESS.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

ONE ENJOYS

Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

Mary is a worker and will no doubt be successful in her work.

CAMPBELL'S HORSE FOOT REMEDY.

is the best article on the market for horses' feet and has all the merits claimed for it. How to prevent and cure corns, quarter cracks, split hoof, cracks, hard dry, brittle and contracted feet, sores, bruises, cuts, swellings, sprains, foot rot, thrush and stratches, also treatment for founder, mange, vermin and all skin diseases. Under these circumstances we have secured the agency for this city and county and shall always have on hand a stock from which to supply farmers and horse owners. We shall deal with the understanding that if it does as directed, and it fails to do what is claimed for it, when your can is empty come back and get your money. Suggestions—a book containing valuable information on the care and treatment of horses' feet, and how to keep horses' feet in perfect condition without the labor of packing and unpacking. J. J. Orr, druggist, Tecumseh, Mich.

THE PUBLIC WILL APPRECIATE IT.

The public are indebted to the Royal Baking Powder Company not more for having perfected and prepared a leavening agent that is pure and wholesome beyond a question than for its exposure, so boldly made, of the numerous impure, adulterated and injurious articles that are sold under the name of baking powders, bread preparations, &c., throughout the country. In making these exposures the company has, of course, made itself the target for all sorts of counter attacks, but the animus of these attacks has been perfectly understood by the general public, and by their very virulence have served to more prominently call attention to the good work of the "Royal" Company.

Ordinary adulterations such as are found in coffee, spices, etc., although they are swindles in a commercial sense, are often tolerated because they do not particularly affect the health of the consumer. But when an article like baking powder, that is relied upon for the healthful preparation of almost every meal, is so made as to carry highly injurious if not rankly poisonous elements into our daily food, it is the duty of the public authorities to take cognizance of it.

In this fight for pure food made by the "Royal" Company, it is to be noticed that the most trustworthy scientific authorities are emphatically upon its side. In all the contests of this company with the alum and other impure baking powders the result has proved that every statement made by the Royal Baking Powder Company, both as to the purity of its own and the adulteration of other baking powders of the market, was fully authorized by the most competent chemical and medical authorities of the country.

In this contest two facts have been pretty conclusively settled in the minds of the public—the first that the Royal Company has found the means and uses them, to make a chemically pure article of food; and the other that the market is full of poisonous, and other adulterated baking powders, which, no matter how strongly endorsed by "commercial" chemists are to be studiously avoided.

A pure baking powder is one of the chief aids to the cook in preparing perfect and wholesome food. The recent controversy in the press has left it no longer a question with those who desire purity and wholesomeness of food what baking powder they shall use.

GORMAN FOR CONGRESS.

James S. Gorman, the Democratic nominee for Congress, was born on a farm in Lyndon, Washtenaw county, December 28, 1850, and has been a resident of Michigan all his life. He was educated in the Union school of Chelsea, graduated from the law department of the University in 1876, and immediately began the practice of law in the city of Jackson with James A. Parkinson. He was Assistant Prosecuting Attorney for two years under Mr. Parkinson. He removed to Dexter in the fall of 1879. In the spring of 1880 he was elected justice of the peace, and in the fall was elected to the House of Representatives by his fellow Democrats. Mr. Gorman was the author of the famous "frog bill," vetoed by Gov. Jerome. He championed the famous Brule River Railroad bill, the Howle compilations, and the Kochville bill. He left public life at the earnest solicitations of his aged parents, owing to the failing health of his father, and took the active management of his large farm of 280 acres. In 1886 he was elected on the Democratic ticket to the State Senate and was re-elected to the Senate of 1889-90 by a vote of 9,323 to 7,957 for C. Cornwell, Republican, and 745 for J. Schumacker, Prohibitionist.

That indefatigable Shakespearian scholar and editor, Dr. William J. Rolfe, has prepared a new edition of Shakespeare's Poems, which will soon be issued by Harper & Brothers. This will be the first thoroughly annotated edition of the poems published in this country. The Notes will embrace the results of the late investigations and discoveries relative to the history of the Sonnets, together with much bibliographical and other information of great value to the Shakspearian student. The text of all the poems is given without omission or expurgation.

WILHELM'S IMPROVED CREAMERY CAN.

Unequalled for private Dairies of from one cow to full size Creamery. $5.00 will buy FOUR 3-GAL. CANS making a capacity of 12 gallons of milk, and will PRODUCE ALL THE CREAM FROM 4 TO 8 HOURS, in a vat, tub, or any receptacle the farmer may choose, holding water from 10 to 14 inches in depth, and at a temperature from 40 to 60 degrees cold. IT MAKES A PERFECT CREAM and combines the advantage of deep setting, rapid cooling, protecting the milk from all impurities of the atmosphere which so quickly taints cream. Also preventing sour'ng by thunder storms, from flies, insects, dust, and all bad odors, thus preserving both cream and milk, clean and sweet. Over 200,000 in actual use in the U. S. One setting of milk is all that is needed to prove the merit of the can. Usual size of can, 3-gal., price $1.25. A liberal discount on orders of one dozen Cans and upwards. Write for descriptive circular and testimonials. I also make a specialty of building Creameries and furnishing all the best improved machinery and apparatus. JOHN WILHELM, Wooster, Wayne Co. O.

C. L. Osgood, Samaria, Mich. says—The Milk Cans I bought of you give perfect satisfaction. We can make just as good and just as much butter in the most unfavorable season of the year by the use of your Cans as at any other time of the year. I have 4 Cans. Have used them 3 years and would not be without them.

"Seeing is Believing."

And the best lamp ever made, like Aladdin's of old, a "wonderful lamp!" A lamp absolutely non-explosive and unbreakable, which gives a clear, soft, brilliant white light of 85 candle power! Purer and brighter than gas light, softer than electric light, more cheerful than either! That lamp is

"The Rochester."

And with it there is no smoke, no smell, no broken chimneys, no flickering, no sweating, no climbing up of the flame, no "tantrums" nor annoyance of any kind, and it never needs trimming. Its founts (oil reservoirs) being tough rolled seamless brass, with central draft, it is absolutely unbreakable, and as safe as a tallow candle.

Only five years old, and over two million of these lamps in use. It must be a GOOD lamp to make such a telling success. Indeed it is, for lamps may come and lamps may go, but the "Rochester" shines on forever! We make over 2,000 artistic varieties,—Hanging and Table Lamps, Banquet, Study, Vase and Piano Lamps,—every kind, in Bronze, Porcelain, Brass, Nickel and Black Wrought Iron.

Ask the lamp dealer for it. Look for the trade-mark stamp: "THE ROCHESTER." If he hasn't the genuine Rochester and the style you want, or if no lamp-store is near, send to us for free illustrated catalogue (and reduced price-list), and we will box and send you any lamp safely by express, right to your door.

RIDGEWAY RAMBLES

Daniel Linn was in Adrian Tuesday on business.

Mrs. Phoebe Allison is on the sick list at present.

Several of our citizens attended the Fair at Adrian last week.

Mrs. A. J. Sutton has been under the doctor's care during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Broadbent of Clinton visited at Mr. Samuel Barlow's last week.

Lou Arner went to Adrian on Monday to help copy in the Messenger office for a few days.

Mrs. John Houseman, jr., of St, Johns, was visiting her father, David Coryell, and other relatives last week.

Ed. Harrison, having purchased the house and lot known as the Mrs. Coats' property, has taken possession.

W. B. Arner returned Tuesday evening from Bridgeport, Alabama, where he has been for the past six months.

H. Pulver, of Dundee, has begun work on the abutments of the bridge over the Little Raisin, where it crosses the ridge south of the village.

Miss Mamie Hay, of Tonawanda, N. Y., who is visiting Mrs. James Pocklington, is numbered with those on the sick list at present writing.

The Library Reading Circle will meet at the Library on Wednesday evening, Oct. 15th, for the purpose of beginning a series of evening entertainments. A good attendance is desired.

B. F. DePuy took in the Olin excursion Tuesday and went to Albany, N. Y. He said when he left that he would be home in time to get Hon. James Gorman here for a talk before election.

The persons who exchanged shawls at the church the evening of the silver medal contest will confer a great favor if they will leave the one they have with the sexton, and get the one belonging to them.

Mrs. Beckler, who lives on the Ridge north of the village, was robbed of $165 in money and a gold watch Tuesday night by a man who was stopping with her. The villain has not been captured at this writing.

The attendance at the L. C. S. held at Mrs. Dr. Nelson's on Friday evening was very encouraging and a pleasant time is reported by all. The next social will be held at the home of Mrs. J. F. Temple on Friday evening of next week.

Before this shall reach the readers of the Rambles a quiet wedding will take place at the home of W. R. Wilson, the contracting parties being Willie Harrington of Blissfield and Miss Maggie Hogan, who has been with Mrs. Wilson during the past year. Rev. J. A. Lowry will perform the ceremony that will make the two as one and send them out in the world to try the realities of married life.

TIPTON TOPICS.

Patron meeting last week was well represented and a good program presented.

Rev. Gibbs will fill the M. E. pulpit the coming year. Rev. Palmer goes to Stony Creek.

Miss Lida Simmons, who has been spending the past month in Chicago, returned last Monday.

Quite a number of the Franklin schools were represented at the Fair Wednesday, but none had the requisite number to secure the flag.

Miss Lelia VanValkenburg, who had taken a position in a training school in Chicago, has been obliged to return home on account of ill health.

LAKE RIDGE LACONICS.

Mrs. C. Craig visited friends at Monroe last week.

Mrs. Geo. Bryan has gone to Kansas to visit a sister and will remain three or four weeks.

Miss Minnie Sisson has returned from Butler, Indiana, for keeps, on account of poor health.

Rev. J. J. Gullick arrived from Niagara Falls last Saturday and will occupy the parsonage at South Macon and take charge of the Reform churches of this township.

"Fonce" Montonye brought water to the surface with his boring rig at Frank Davenport's last week and will try for a fountain at Will Easlick's the present week.

Our Town Hall is nearing completion and will be a good one, only it should have been about one-fourth larger to accommodate public gatherings. It is 24x36 feet and 12 feet from floor to ceiling.

The growing wheat looks well; early sown covers the ground. Late corn is being cut and is only a fair crop, with considerable soft corn. Potatoes, early planting, nix; late, fair. Fall pasture in abundance.

Politics are on the move. A team went by the other day under "full silk," the driver so full of "personal liberty" that he could not sit alone, and we could not tell from his looks or actions which old party he belongs to, but he is licensed to get "high" and abuse his team and family, and liable to collide with other teams on the highway with terrible results.

You will have to guess again. "The Britton school, loaded into a mammoth wagon and drawn by four horses," mentioned in the HERALD of last week, was from Lake Ridge—right here in School District No. 8. The rig belongs to A. Easlick and the teams to F. W. Yates and Henry Karcher and the school is in charge of Miss Ida Easlick. There were over thirty persons in the load—five more children than the enrollment, which should have drawn the flag on the ground of per cent. They had a good time and report says it was the gayest rig on the ground.

CAMBRIDGE CLIPPINGS.

Geo. Hines went to New York last week on business.

Arthur Bhelps, of Hanover, Mich., is visiting his father, Melvin Phelps.

Miss Stella Dewey has a new upright piano. She will now take music lessons at Adrian College every Wednesday.

Quite a few of our fair-going citizens went to the County fair at Adrian last week and a goodly number will sojourn at Hillsdale this week.

Earl Musgrave, of Magie, W. Va., who is attending school at Adrian College, spent a few days of last week with his brother, E. Clinton Musgrave.

Victor Dewey fell from the water table of their new barn to the basement, a distance of twenty-four feet, striking on a sandpile, One foot struck a board and that was about all the bruises he received.

Rev. Mr. Eichbaum closed his first year's work of the second visitation at the Episcopal church last Sunday. As he only preaches here once in two weeks it will be the second and fourth Sundays of each month. Communion each second Sunday.

FRANKLIN FACTS.

Who does not enjoy this superb weather?

Martin Whelan is in Detroit, the guest of J. B. Whelan.

Notwithstanding the slight frosts and the fact that it is October now, green corn and cucumbers are upon the daily bill of fare.

Alvinza Whelan has returned from Mackinac. He brought with him from Detroit his little grandson, John Whelan's boy, for a few weeks' visit.

A letter from Grace Wisner, Omega, Neb., says that her sister Minnie is teaching school near North Platte City and gets $70 per month. She has a school of from eight to seventeen scholars.

Mrs. Ed. Wisner is quite smart again, although she has occasionally a day when she is confined to her chair with all she can do to breathe. A little peculiarity of the disease this year—at least in her case—is a tendency to come and go most unexpectedly at times.

Fisk Beebe is still in Nebraska, nursing his brother Bank. There seems to be little hope of his ever recovering the use of his limb or of his health. Surely among the most precious things of life is a brother so unselfish as to leave home and friends and go hundreds of miles and spend weeks and months of constant, wearisome, patient watching over the sick bed.

Thanks, awfully, Franklin News, for your assurance of having no evil designs on our laurels; to wrench away any that may await us. In our ignorance we supposed the wrenching would come the other way and we prefer to remain in our present obscurity than rise to the pinnacle of fame in borrowed plumage—in other words, on the wings of our friends' brilliant wit and wisdom. F. News has been fully exonerated to us some time since. In the best of humor with everybody, let us say what a delightful thing it is to have some one that we may shift all our errors of omission and commission upon. Yes, blessed be ye (printer's) devil!

UNION LITERARY AND LYCEUM.

The Literary Society was held at Mr. G. W. Allen's, Sept. 20, 1890. It being the night of election a good crowd was present. The following were the officers elected:

President—Mr. G. W. Allen.
Vice Prest.—Miss Bertha Taylor,
Secretary—Rena Allen.
Treasurer—Leon Allen.
Reporter—Alma Whelan.

The following program was then listened to:

Music—Seth Simmons and Mrs. Wm. Witheral.
Dec.—Cecil Billington.
Rec.—Ruth Taylor.
Song—Edith and Ruth Taylor.
Chip Basket—Alma Whelan.
Music—Clarence Wisner.
Dia.—Clarence and Lena Witheral.
Inst. Music—Ed. and Grace Spaulding.
Duet—Minnie Jenkins and Rena Allen.
Song—Clarence and Lena Witheral.

The question for debate next time is, resolved that "Foreign Emigration should be prohibited by law." Leading disputants. Mr. J. C. VanDoren, Aff., and Miss Bertha Taylor, Neg.

The next meeting will be held at L. E. Taylor's, Oct. 18th, 1890.

Michigan Board of Pharmacy.

A meeting of the Michigan Board of parmacy for the purpose of examining candidates for registration, will be held at Lansing, Wednesday and Thursday, November 5th and 6th, '90.

The examination of both Registered Pharmacists and Assistants will commence on Wednesday at 9 o'clock a.m, at which hour all candidates will please report at Representatives Hall. The examination will occupy two days.

Special railroad rates of one and one-third regular fare for the round trip have been secured for this meeting. Reduced rate certificates will be mailed by me to all who apply for them. JAMES VERNOR, Secretary.

Catarrh Can't be Cured

with Local Applications, as they can not reach the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers acting on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

THE DETROIT FREE PRESS

Its Wonderful Growth in Circulation and Influence During the Past Twenty Years.

The publishers maintain that The Free Press has the largest circulation of any paper between New York and Chicago, and without exception the largest circulation of any paper in Michigan.

The growth in circulation is remarkable; the increase in advertising patronage is commensurate with it and even more remarkable. It has come to be acknowledged that The Free Press, in respect to merit as a newspaper and as an advertising medium, is the leading paper of Michigan. Very few newspapers anywhere in this country have such a superb patronage. This patronage comes, as experience has shown, because advertisers receive the most abundant returns from their investment in The Free Press. Its readers are made up of the most prosperous people within its territory, those who have wants to be supplied and who look to its columns for information in regard to all matters of business in which they may have either steadily or occasionally any interest.

Look at the magnificent array of liner advertisements with which the paper is crowded. There is no surer index to popularity. Of itself it is evidence that the paper is read and an insertion in its columns is always prolific of results.

Those who have made advertising a study agree in the opinion that 'want' or liner advertisements put the matter of circulation to the severest test. Everybody knows that the individual who inserts a four-line "want" in a newspaper has the best means of judging of the advertising value of a given medium. He and many others like him soon come to recognize the paper which gives the best results, and the general advertiser feels that he can safely rely upon their verdict. There is no feature of the modern newspaper if deaths and marriages are excepted, that has so many eager readers as the liner advertisements. In consequence a newspaper which is recognized as the great "want" medium is bought by many persons who might prefer something else so far as editorial character is concerned. But when the editorial character is fair and just, when ability manifests itself in all departments of the paper, when accuracy of information is the study, when the reader is sure to be instructed and entertained he feels a respect and confidence which manifest themselves in the bestowal of patronage. A reputation of this kind is the most honorable that can attach to a newspaper, and to say that it has been attained by The Free Press is within the knowledge of all. The extent of the liner advertisements in our colums is warrant enough that the paper is a good one and that its circulation is the largest.

HALF FARE TO DETROIT.

All railroads centering at Detroit will sell half fare round tickets to Detroit on October 15th on all regular trains, it being the date of the military prize drill contest for the Detroit Journal banner. The drill will occur at Recreation park, and will be one of the most important military events in the history of Michigan. It is expected that military companies from Grand Rapids, Jackson, Coldwater, Flint, Marquette, Mason and Detroit will compete. The winning company will have to defend the banner against all future challenges. The contests this year will be witnessed by thousands. In addition to these rates for regular trains, several of the railroads will run "special" excursion trains at low rates.

The many remarkable cures of catarrh effected by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla is conclusive proof that this loathsome and dangerous disease is one of the blood, only needing such a searching and powerful alterative to throughly eradicate it.

Queen Victoria has a remarkably fine head of hair, for a lady of her age; but her son, the Prince of Wales, is quite bald. Had he used Ayer's Hair Vigor earlier in life, his head might, to-day have been as well covered as that of his royal mother. It's not too late yet.

After all, the best way to know the real merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla, is to try it yourself. Be sure to get Hood's

TECUMSEH, THURSDAY, OCT. 2.

Geo. L. Yaple has been nominated for Congress by the Democrats of the Fourth district. He will make Julius Caesar Burrows hustle himself this fall.

The triangular political debate on the Fair grounds last Friday was well attended for a rainy afternoon. Everybody was pleased and each party claimed that "our man" came out ahead.

The two great object lessons of Republican unfitness to be trusted with power are the McKinley bill and the Lodge Force bill. They will be kept before the people, no matter what may be done regarding them by Congress or the President.

The correct conclusion on Secretary Windom's relief policy is arrived at by the N. Y. Wold:

"It is a dangerous remedy for a desperate disorder when the national treasury becomes an adjunct of Wall street."

The Republicans congratulate themselves that they did not put the tax back on quinine. They had put so much on clothing, plows, tableware, cutlery, glass, household furniture and thousands of other things that they had none left for quinine.

To deserve success is half the battle. The Democracy are acting on that principle in the character of their nominations this fall. They have nominated M. H. Ford for Congress in the Fifth district. Two years ago Mr. Ford was beaten by boodle, but boodle can't beat him this fall.

The largest vote yet cast by Republican Senators against the Tax-Raising Tariff bill is the one against the binding-twine tax. Twelve Republicans, including Mr. Allison and a formidable delegation from the west, voted with the Democrats for the motion of Senator Davis of Minnesota to put binding twine on the free list. But binding twine will be taxed just the same when the bill finally passes.

What an innocent, harmless old gentleman Vice President Morton is, to be sure. A late telegram says: "The sale of wines and liquors at retail has been stopped at the Shoreham. Mr. Morton did not understand until last week that liquors were being sold at retail, and he immediately put a stop to the practice." The sale will be continued hereafter, we suppose, in the "original packages."

The Alliance men who favor the sub-treasury scheme for raising money on their crops overlook one fatal obstacle in the way of its success. After their grain was housed in the sub-treasury warehouses, there would be no money in the Treasury for the government to advance upon it. The Republicans in Congress have already knocked the surplus silly, and paper certificates issued upon collateral securities by a treasury already empty would not tend to promote financial stability.—St. Louis Republic.

In his Boston speech Speaker Reed accused the Democrats of "parsimony in their action in the expenditure of money" when they had control of the House of Representatives, and he also said that "there is no doubt but that the expenditures of the Government are about to approach its receipts." The Speaker might have added that the people prefer Democratic "parsimony" rather than Republican extravagance, and for that reason will approach the polls in November to give expression to that preference. Parsimony! We thank thee for the word, kind sir.—Buffalo Courier.

The farmer's case is hopeless until he learns that his salvation depends not upon more protection for himself, but in a reduction of the tribute which he pays to others. If his products cost more than he receives for them, it is because they cost him too much; and the reason why they cost him too much is that unnecessary taxation is a large element of their cost. The subsistence of the farmer and his family is part of the cost of production, and the tribute which he pays to make the business of others profitable, constitutes a large percentage of his expenses. He is right in demanding a change in the tariff: but when he seeks it in the direction of more protection, he is on the wrong track. What he needs is protection from the protectionists.—Louisville Courier Journal.

PARTISAN RECKLESSNESS.

The utter partisan recklessness that has characterized the proceedings in the national house of representatives, culminated in the high-handed outrage which unseated the member from the Fourth Virginia district yesterday and placed a negro who has no shadow of claim to the place, in his stead. Mr. Venable was as surely elected to the house by the vote of his district in 1888 as was any other member on the floor. The most rabid and reckless partisan sheet in the country, the most spiteful and venomous in its statements, the New York Mail and Express, cannot make a fair sounding summary of the case. It says:

In the first place there is in the district a normal republican majority, largely of colored voters. There were two republican nominees, Arnold and Langston. Arnold got most of the white republican votes in the district and polled a total of 3,207. Langston got nearly all the colored votes, the returning officers allowing him a total of 12,658, as against 13,299 for Edward C. Venable, the democratic nominee. Arnold was recognized as the regular republican nominee by Mahone and the state committee and all the republican election officials. * * * * The returns gave Venable a plurality of 642 over Langston. Without going into the details, it is enough to say that there are two precincts the returns from which even Venable's friends admit should be excluded, and which bring his apparent plurality down to 558; and there are two precincts in Petersburg in which Langston had proved, by poll books kept by his watchers, and by sworn affidavits, that he was defrauded out of votes enough to give him a plurality of 209 over Venable. Considering the fact that the election machinery was all in the hands of Langston's enemies, and that a necessarily incomplete examination has absolutely proved that he had a plurality, it is altogether probable, as Mr. Haugen asserted, that his real plurality was at least 2,000.

"Normal votes" are counted on the same plan as that employed by Speaker Reed in counting a quorum. Arnold was recognized as the regular nominee by the majority of republicans, including President Harrison himself. Two precincts were thrown out bodily, and yet Mr. Venable had a plurality. So two more precincts were laid hold of, and witness the loose uncertainty, (by their own confession) upon which so vital a point was declared decided: "A necessarily incomplete examination has absolutely proved" that "Langston was defrauded out of 'votes enough'" (guessed at and lumped off) "to give him a plurality of 209 over Venable."

And this damning apology is the best that can be made for such a bold and defiant outrage. But Speaker Reed and his co manipulators do not care for even so weak an attempt in their behalf. They would quite as soon the country should be called upon to "admire the audacity" which throws a democrat out of a seat in the representative chamber and places a republican in his stead whenever the mood takes them, for revenge or the need of another vote.

Why an examination which has lengthened out over two years should be "necessarily incomplete," or how such an examination can "absolutely prove" anything, is not easy to understand. But, as said, no apology is necessary. Democrats are powerless just now, and if there be no patriotic republicans to protest against such high handed proceedings, then elections by the people are a farce, so long as the party in power can hold sway, and representatives may as well be chosen in Washington first as last.

Meanwhile the people's money pays a double bill, for every such partisan maneuver; each officer, the elected one and the usurper, receiving his salary.

THRIFTY CAMPAIGNING.

The monstrous "gall" exhibited by James M Turner, in booming his candidacy at the expense of the state agricultural society, as the facts become developed, is equally astounding to democrats and republicans alike. It appears by Lansing correspondence of the Free Press, that Turner as the society, issued no less than 6,800 complimentaries this year. It required nearly 7,000 to properly boom the gubernatorial candidacy of the society's president. We believe this is the first instance in which a candidate has assessed and collected from the state at large the expenses of a campaign boom—for that is what Turner's fine stroke of diplomacy amounts to. A tolerable notion of the extent of this brazen scheme was gained before the fair closed and was the subject of indignant comment by a number of Lenawee republicans, who attended the fair and gained an insight into the Turner method. These men denounced the robbery of the society in this manner before a word had been printed concerning it, and the mutterings of disgust have increased as the figures become known. The Turner method will scarcely save the cause which it was intended to further.—Adrian Press.

Will Butterworth's options bill, if it shall become law, along with the duty on eggs, dried apples and cabbage heads, as rated in the McKinley bill, set the farmer straight financially so far as legislation is concerned? It is for him to say.

OUR NEXT SECRETARY OF STATE.

Daniel E. Soper of Newaygo is the Democratic candidate for secretary of state. He is 48 years old and while not exactly handsome he is good. He is well known in this city where he frequently visits, and yet but few of his most intimate friends are acquainted with his record. His parents were poor but respectable, honest but not burdened with an overplus of worldy wealth and when he was ushered into the world lived in Saratoga Springs, N. Y. When he was two years old the father died, leaving the widow and mother in reduced circumstances. The mother gathered her children about her and moving to Oneeda county was obliged to take in washing for a living. At the age of seven Daniel was sent to live with an aunt at New York Mills and she put him in training for the pulpit. His inclinations did not run in a clerical channel and the boy ran away and returned to his mother. Then they came west, settling at Tecumseh, Mich., and Dan was set to work on a farm, and again ran away to his mother. He worked in a woolen mill attending school at night, and when the war broke out enlisted in Co. G, 4th Michigan Infantry. He was under age, and as his mother remonstrated with the officers they refused to muster him into the service. He next appeared at Hillsdale, where he sold papers on the street. He was married in 1895 at Hillsdale to a daughter of Judge W. T. Howell, and then went to Newaygo, where he has since lived. He has a family of two bright children, and his wife presides over the happy home. He is engaged in the insurance and loan business, and enjoys a handsome income. He was postmaster of Newaygo under the Cleveland administration, but aside from that never sought or asked for political preferment. He is an elk, a Pythian knight, and of the Patriarchal Circle, and if elected secretary of state will be a popular and efficient official.—Grand Rapids Leader.

THE WEST AND SOUTH.

Most of the Democratic Southern senators voted with Western Republican senators against the senatorial agents of a syndicate of Eastern mill bosses, and put binding twine on the free list. This was equivalent to a gift to Western farmers, who need the money badly, of several millions of dollars. But when the proposition was made that cotton bagging, which is just as much a necessity for Southern planters as binding twine for Western farmers, be placed on the free list, and released from the grasp of a trust monopoly, the Western senators, with two exceptions, voted against it! Their action was impolitic, unjust, and ungenerous. The manufacture of cotton bagging is controlled by a grasping, greedy trust, like that of binding twine. The syndicate which manufactures it has been merciless in its exactions. It has oppressed the great Southern industry and has leveled high toll on the colored Republicans who raise the cotton on shares as well as the white Democrats who own the land. The monopoly which has done these things should have been dealt a blow because it is a trust, especially when it was in the power of the Western Republicans at one and the same time to show that they did not wish the bill should contain any discriminations against Southern products if they could help it and also to reciprocate the courtesy of the Southern senators in voting to help the Western farmers against the binding twine monopoly.

The Southern senators were perfectly justified in saying that "they considered the vote an unfair discrimination against the Southern section;" that "there was no argument for the removal of the duty on one which did not apply to the other;" and that "it was astonishing to them that Western Republican senators should vote against the one and for the other."

These Western Republicans have certainly put themselves and their party in the West in a false position, and neither can afford to remain in it.—Chicago Tribune.

THE TRUE POLITICAL DOCTRINE.

The demand of the Florida fruit-growers for a protective tariff tax on pineapples, bananas and cocoanuts isn't Democratic, but it is logical under the circumstances. These Florida fruit growers would be vastly better off if they could have free iron free agricultural implements, free hats, boots and shoes, free cotton and woolen goods etc., along with free West India fruits. But so long a they have to pay monopoly taxes on all manufactured goods, they are perfectly logical in asking protection for their own products. They are not likely to get what they ask any more than the Northwestern farmers got the protective duty on hides which the Republican party promised, only to go back on its word, while the McKinley bill was a-borning. The Democratic doctrine of tariff for revenue is the true one, but as long as there is any protection going the farmers are entitled to their share of it.—St. Louis Republic.

TILDEN ON THE TARIFF.

The Albany Argus points the lesson of to-day as follows:

Sixteen years ago to-morrow Sam'l J. Tilden was nominated for Governor of New York. In directing notice to the fact the New York Sun quotes part of his speech on that occasion, but it suppresses these important words: "Retrenchment in public expenditure, reform in public administration, simplification and reduction of tariffs and taxes, accountability of public officers, enforced by better civil and criminal remedies—the people must have these measures of present relief, measures of security for the future. The Federal Government is drifting into greater dangers and greater evils. * * * It undertakes to direct the business of individuals by tariffs, not intended for legitimate taxation, by granting special privileges and by fostering monopolies at the expense of the people." On that platform Mr. Tilden was elected Governor by 50,000 plurality. The Hon. Roger Q. Mills is doing excellent service for the Democracy by speaking all through the country now, as Tilden spoke when he began the battle for tariff reduction.

WHAT IS

SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which developes ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofulous sore neck from the time she was 22 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CARLILE, Nauright, N. J.

WAGES AND DUTIES.

A CASE WHERE PROTECTION DOES NOT MAKE HIGHER WAGES.

Statements Which Were Made Before the McKinley Committee, with Some Later Developments of the Subject—Wages in England and Germany.

One of the most remarkable examples of the stupid and blind way in which the average protectionist bows down in worship at the altars of his idol protection is seen in the continued use that all protectionists make of the "pauper labor" argument.

They keep up the old cry that we must have a protective tariff in order that labor may get high wages. In order to prove that a tariff keeps up wages they always get together tables of the daily wages paid in various industries in this country and in Europe.

One comparison, however, you can never get the average protectionist orator or so called statesman to make—a comparison between wages in free trade England and in neighboring countries on the continent of Europe where there is a perfect paradise of protection. The fact that wages is much higher in England than in the protected countries of France, Germany and Italy has been pointed out and proved over and over again. This fact places it beyond all question that protective duties have substantially no influence on wages, and yet protectionist stump speakers go up and down the country asserting that protection is needed for the workingman, and rich manufacturers go before Maj. McKinley and talk the same rot.

One of these men, Mr. James Gillinder, of Philadelphia, was heard by the McKinley committee last winter in favor of higher duties on glassware for the benefit of his workmen, who "do not average over nine months' work in the year." Mr. Gillinder is a benevolent man. He said, "I do not want to see our well paid labor put on the same footing with those who are said to get meat only once a week."

The workmen who "get meat only once a week" are the German workmen, as Mr. Gillinder had just been explaining to the committee. He knew all about the wages of glass workers in Germany and in England; but he did not seem to be able to draw any conclusion from his stores of knowledge on that subject, except that he was in need of higher protection against the protected German workman. The following interesting dialogue will show that Mr. Gillinder was well acquainted with the facts as to wages in England and Germany, but that he was blind to the meaning of those facts:

Mr. Flower—Some statement has been made as to the efficiency of the German labor?

Mr. Gillinder—I have not been in Germany myself, but my brother visited there and was very much astonished by the skill and quickness displayed by the German glass blowers.

Mr. McMillin—Does not your competition come more from Germany, where they have a protective tariff, than from England, where they have not?

Mr. Gillinder—I think that is true. The reason for that is that labor in England is as two to one in Germany. Where a workman gets $12 in England he gets $6 in Germany.

Mr. McMillin—And yet Germany is protected and England is not.

Yes, Germany protects her "pauper labor" against the better paid labor of free trade England. Germany puts up her tariff wall, which runs, in the glass duties, from 35 cents to $3.50 per one hundred pounds; and yet her glass makers, as Mr. Gillinder himself confesses, receive only one-half as much as those in free trade England!

If Mr. Gillinder would use the same geographical argument as all protectionists are in the habit of using he would not have asked for any protection at all—not for his labor at least. For the argument runs this way: We with our protection have higher wages than England with her free trade; therefore protection is the cause of our higher wages.

Now, if Mr. Gillinder had applied precisely the same method of reasoning to the case of Germany and England he would have been compelled to put the case thus: England with her free trade has wages twice higher than Germany with her protection; therefore protection is the cause of Germany's lower wages.

As a matter of fact the reasoning is false in both cases, but if protectionists wish to use it between England and America they must show cause why it may not be used between England and Germany. They must show why the Englishman may not say: We have higher wages than the Germans with all their protection; therefore free trade makes higher wages.

One curious fact deserves to be noted. Mr. Gillinder's plea for higher duties was heeded by the obliging McKinley, and the senate, while cutting down McKinley's work considerably, left the duties at a figure somewhat above the present rate. It would naturally be expected therefore that under increased protection labor would get increased wages and would be very happy at the prospect of those new duties. But it is not so. Here is a report just published by a protection paper:

"More boys at the glass houses of Swindell Bros. and Baker Bros. & Co., in Baltimore, went on strike. A number of persons were thrown out of employment by the strike. In the afternoon the boys got an American flag and, forming line, paraded the streets in the neighborhood of the glass works, shouting as they marched, 'More pay or no work,' and whistling the popular airs. The boys went out of the city and into the country where there are no police, and organized a mass meeting which was addressed by the embryo Demosthenes and Gardides of their number, who declaimed vehemently about the oppression of capital and the slavery of labor."

THE TRADE BOOM IN NEW YORK.

Importers Doing a Big Business Before the McKinley Bill Increases Duties.

New York city is enjoying an unprecedented "boom" in the dry goods trade. During the spring and summer months the prospect of the McKinley bill becoming a law caused importers to ship enormous stacks of goods from Europe. The fear of increased duties acted as a stimulus to importation to an extraordinary degree, and the importations of dry goods during the summer were far in excess of the usual figures.

While all this was going on among importers, however, the jobbers from all parts of the country who visited the metropolis could not be induced by any means to make purchases. The McKinley bill was hanging fire in the senate, and there was much doubt whether there would be any tariff bill at all this year.

The great jobbers hung about New York, watched the senate and hoped that the McKinley wall would be overturned. They felt sure that if the bill should not pass the big importers would be compelled to sell at the old prices, or even at lower prices, in order to realize on their large investments. But the importers believed that the bill would pass, and then they would begin at once to get "McKinley prices" for their goods.

As the importers and the jobbers held these contrary views as to the future of the McKinley bill no trading could be done, and all summer things were at a standstill.

As soon, however, as the senate began to see daylight through the long tariff tunnel which it has been digging through the McKinley bill it became plain that we were to have the new Chinese wall. Then business immediately took an upward bound in New York. The jobbers saw that they would have to buy at McKinley prices sooner or later, and at once they began to make heavy purchases. Just as the importers had had a race to get their goods into the country before the two McKinley bills should go into effect so now the jobbers have a race to lay in large stocks from the importers before "McKinley prices" are put on to their full extent.

This is the view of the largest New York merchants themselves. A correspondent has gotten their views, and they all unite in saying that there has not been such an outlook for the immediate future in years as at present. None of them, however, with one exception, attributed the outlook to the proposed heavy increase of taxation through the McKinley bill. Indeed the general sentiment was that merchants, in anticipation of the McKinley bill becoming a law, had invested all their ready money in the importation of goods for which they had no immediate use.

This correspondent learned from his interviews with dry goods men that while the leading great merchants of the city believed they are about to enjoy an exceptionally prosperous season, they said it would be rather in spite of the McKinley bill than because of it. Or, to put it more directly, the most of them attribute the bright immediate outlook to the fortunate delay that has prevented that wonderful measure from taking immediate effect.

Senator Edmunds on the Coffee Tax.

Senator Edmunds, of Vermont, has one string to his little tariff fiddle, and he picks on it all the time. The tariff of five cents a pound on coffee was removed in 1871 and 1872, and for several years after this the price of coffee was higher in New York than when the duty was removed.

This fact has made a profound impression upon the mind of Senator Edmunds, and he makes use of it on every possible occasion to prove that the tariff is not a tax. He wrote about it in a magazine several years ago, and he has twice recently fiddled his same little tune in the senate.

If Senator Edmunds would take the twelve years before 1872, when coffee averaged under the duty $18.61 per 100 pounds, and would compare with that period the price during the fourteen years following 1872, under free coffee, he would find that the price during the latter period was $14.79 per 100 pounds—or a difference of $3.82 per 100 pounds.

True, this is not the whole amount of the duty removed; but, as Senator Edmunds himself shows, Brazil at once put on an export duty of 11 per cent. Our merchants have to pay this Brazilian duty and add it to the price of their coffee. It is readily seen that this 11 per cent more than accounts for the difference between $3.82 per 100 pounds and $5 per 100 pounds, which latter was the duty we removed.

Let the senator find a different case if he wants to prove that the tariff is not a tax.

A Rule That Does Not Work Both Ways.

Minister Whitelaw Reid tells M. Ribot, the French minister of foreign affairs, that in refusing to take our pork "you have deprived your French steamers of a valuable line of freight." But if we had any vessels would not they suffer in precisely the same way from McKinleyism?

And Minister Reid even tells M. Ribot that, in excluding American pork, "you have deprived your grocers and country peddlers throughout France of a staple and useful trade." But does not Mr. Reid know that, according to McKinleyism, the dealers in foreign goods deserve no sort of consideration; and further, that in shutting out foreign goods it is only the foreigner who suffers?

Here he quietly assumes that dealing in our pork is actually of some importance to French tradesmen; but McKinley's way of treating the dealer in foreign wares, as stated by a prominent Republican merchant of New York, is "to give him a cold smile of pity."

The protectionists ought to be consistent among themselves. If we put up a prohibitory wall against foreign wares by letting McKinley give us what he calls his "domestic bill," his "American bill," can we wonder that the French pass a "domestic bill" also? McKinley boasts that his bill is "not a European bill." Let the French in their turn boast that theirs is "not an American bill."

"What fools these mortals be!"

Do you want to buy a Lamp?
And the best lamp ever made, like Aladdin's of old, a "wonderful lamp!" A lamp absolutely non-explosive and unbreakable, which gives a clear, soft, brilliant white light of 85 candle power! Purer and brighter than gas light, softer than electric light, more cheerful than either! That lamp is
"The Rochester."
And with it there is no smoke, no smell, no broken chimneys, no flickering, no sweating, no climbing up of the flame, no "tantrums" nor annoyance of any kind, and it never needs trimming. Its founts (oil reservoirs) being tough rolled seamless brass, with central draft, it is absolutely unbreakable, and as safe as a tallow candle.
Only five years old, and over two million of these lamps in use. It must be a GOOD lamp to make such a telling success. Indeed it is, for lamps may come and lamps may go, but the "Rochester" shines on forever! We make over 2,000 artistic varieties,—Hanging and Table Lamps, Banquet, Study, Vase and Piano Lamps,—every kind, in Bronze, Porcelain, Brass, Nickel and Black Wrought Iron.
Ask the lamp dealer for it. Look for the trade-mark stamp: "The Rochester." DR. A. FRASER'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.
The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.
It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.
The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.
WHAT IT CURES.
All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.
It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.
Over 40 Years.
This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

By All Odds
The most generally useful medicine is Ayer's Pills. As a remedy for the various diseases of the stomach, liver, and bowels, these Pills have no equal. Their sugar-coating causes them not only to be easy and pleasant to take, but preserves their medicinal integrity in all climates and for any reasonable length of time. The best family medicine, Ayer's Pills are, also, unsurpassed for the use of travelers, soldiers, sailors, campers, and pioneers. In some of the most critical cases, when all other remedies have failed, prove effective.
Ayer's Pills
"In the summer of 1864 I was sent to the Annapolis hospital, suffering with chronic diarrhea. While there, I became so reduced in strength that I could not speak and was compelled to write everything I wanted to say. I was then having some 25 or 30 stools per day. The doctors ordered a medicine that I was satisfied would be of no benefit to me. I did not take it, but persuaded my nurse to get me some of Dr. Ayer's Pills. About two o'clock in the afternoon I took six of these pills, and by midnight began to feel better. In the morning the doctors came again, and after deciding that my symptoms were more favorable, gave me a different medicine, which I did not use, but took four more of the pills instead. The next day the doctors came to see me, and thought I was doing nicely, (and so did I). I then took one pill a day for a week. At the end of that time, I considered myself cured and that Ayer's Pills had saved my life. I was then weak, but had no return of the disease, and gained in strength as fast as could be expected."—F. C. Luce, Late Lieut. 56th Regt. Mass. Vol. Infantry.
"Ayer's Pills are The Best
I have ever used for headaches, and they act like a charm in relieving any disagreeable sensation in the stomach after eating."—Mrs. M. J. Ferguson, Pullens, Va.
"I was a sufferer for years from dyspepsia and liver troubles, and found no permanent relief until I commenced taking Ayer's Pills. They have effected a complete cure."—George W. Mooney, Walla Walla, W. T.

The figure 9 in our dates will make a long stay. No man or woman now living will ever date a document without using the figure 9. It stands in the third place in 1890, where it will remain 10 years and then move up to second place in 1900, where it will rest for one hundred years.
There is another "9" which has also come to stay. It is unlike the figure 9 in our dates in the respect that it has already moved up to first place, where it will permanently remain. It is called the "No. 9" High Arm Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine.
The "No. 9" was endorsed for first place by the experts of Europe at the Paris Exposition of 1889, where, after a severe contest with the leading machines of the world, it was awarded the only Grand Prize given to family sewing machines, all others on exhibit having received lower awards of gold medals, etc. The French Government also recognized its superiority by the decoration of Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, President of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor.
The "No. 9" is not an old machine improved upon, but is an entirely new machine, and the Grand Prize at Paris was awarded it as the grandest advance in sewing machine mechanism of the age. Those who buy it can rest assured, therefore, of having the very latest and best.

DEATH OF RUFUS T. BUSH

The Mistake Which Caused His Untimely Taking Off. A Brief Account of the Funeral Ceremonies.

From the New York HERALD of Sept. 16th we take the following account of Mr. Bush's death. His numerous friends and admirers in Ridgeway and surrounding towns will deeply mourn his departure and sympathize with the afflicted family in their bereavement. We have delayed giving a notice of the affair until we learned the full particulars. The account of the funeral ceremonies is taken from the Brooklyn Eagle of Sept. 18th.

Rufus T. Bush died at his residence, No. 202 Columbia Heights, Brooklyn, yesterday morning, from the effects of aconite, which he swallowed in mistake for paregoric to cure nervousness.

Mr. Bush, who was well known in oil refining and yachting circles, was the owner of the extensive refineries along the South Brooklyn water front from Thirty-ninth to Forty-fifth street.

Yachting was the favorite diversion of Mr. Bush, and the New York Yacht Club had no more enthusiastic or intelligent member. As the owner of the schooner yacht Coronet he gained fame in the race made by that yacht with the Dauntless across the Atlantic in the summer of 1887. The previous year the Coronet had made such good time over the Atlantic that the challenge was issued.

The Coronet was sent by Mr. Bush in the spring of 1888 around the Horn to San Diego. He embarked from that port on her, with his family and a party of friends, in July of that year. They sailed around the world and reached this port in April, 1889.

SOUGHT RELIEF FROM NERVOUSNESS.

Although of nervous temperament he was a man of fine physique and of affable and agreeable manners. With the hope of improving his health he made a tour of Europe this summer, and in the early part of last week returned to his home. Then he went West, hoping to get relief from nervousness. Relief failed to come to him, and upon again reaching his home he sought the advice of Dr. McCorkle. The doctor prescribed for him and ordered him to remain quiet, and the ailment would soon pass away.

The unsettled state of the stock market within the past few days may have had the effect of adding to his nervousness and attendant insomnia. In a medicine chest in his bedroom he kept various remedies. There were two bottles alike, except as to labels, in the chest. In one was paregoric and in the other tincture of aconite. During the early morning he poured three teaspoonfuls from the aconite phial, which he mistook for paregoric, into some whiskey and drank it.

Soon afterward he was taken with a severe nausea, and realizing the mistake he had made called his wife.

"I have had a burning in my throat ever since I took the paregoric," said Mr. Bush. "I fear I have made a mistake and have taken aconite."

VAIN EFFORTS TO SAVE HIS LIFE.

Mrs. Bush upon investigation found that such was the case. The aconite bottle was partially emptied while the paregoric vial was full. Under the instructions of her husband, who was familiar with the use of medicine, Mrs Bush administered emetics and stimulants. Mrs. Bush, who was almost frantic with fear as she realized her husband's critical condition, aroused the family and the domestics and everything was done to relieve the suffering man.

A messenger was sent for the family physician, Dr. G. A. McCorkle, of No. 141 Clinton street. The doctor arrived at the bedside of the dying man at half-past seven o'clock and found him in a stupor.

The time which had elapsed from the swallowing of the potion, the flavor of which had been concealed by the whiskey, until Mr. Bush realized the burning in the throat and called his wife proved fatal. He died about ten minutes after the doctor arrived.

Coroner Rooney was notified and empanelled a jury and will hold the inquest to-day. The Coroner coincided with the attending physician in the opinion that death was due to accidental poisoning. A post-mortem examination was therefore deemed unnecessary.

AN ACTIVE BUSINESS CAREER.

Rufus T. Bush, who was fifty years of age on February 22d last, was a native of Tompkins county, this State. Until he was eleven years old he worked on his father's farm. Then with his father's consent he went to work for twenty five cents a day on a neighboring farm. His family moved to Detroit, Mich., soon after that and young Rufus accompanied them there. For four years he attended the Lansing High School and became a school teacher.

He subsequently graduated at the Michigan Normal School. He was married while there to Miss Sarah M. Hall, daughter of the late Jonathan Hall, of Ridgeway, Mich. He came to this city twenty-four years ago and entered into the business of the manufacture of lubricating oils. He was exceedingly prosperous. The firm of Denslow & Bush, formed in 1867, was changed ten years later to Bush & Denslow. It became a manufacturing corporation, and Mr. Bush, as president, continued at the head of the firm up to the time of his death. The works of the company are in South Brooklyn.

Mr. Bush took an interest in art and literature and was connected with several Brooklyn institutions.

Besides his wife Mr. Bush leaves two sons, Irving T. and Wendell T. Bush. The funeral services will be held on Thursday at Plymouth Church, when the Rev. Dr. Abbott will conduct the services.

THE FUNERAL.

Yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, the funeral services of Rufus T. Bush, who died last Monday, were held at his late residence, 202 Columbia Heights. There gathered the many friends who had been endeared to him through his long and useful life, to pay the last tributes of love and respect to his memory before his remains were borne to their final resting place in Greenwood.

Before a bank of ferns and palms and surrounded with countless floral pieces, rested the plain, black cloth casket, in the front drawing room. It was half hidden under the roses and lilies. During the service a quartette, composed of Mrs. Anna Rasan, Miss Elliott, W. E. Hopper and George Ellard sang "Abide With Me," "Beyond the Smiling and the Weeping" and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." After reading the service the Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, of Plymouth church, spoke briefly as follows:

There are two tests of character afforded by a business life, many regarding it as an opportunity or judgment day, and in truth all our life here below is a judgment day. These tests of an active life here are embraced in the acquisition and method of expenditure of wealth so obtained. They are both a measure of man. I am sure that greed is not an American characteristic, as many have claimed. It is, of course, the great desire of the average man to acquire property and means, but they are not misers with it all, nor are they given to over self indulgence in the expenditure of that property. It is the power, I believe, that this money brings which acts as the incentive for the accumulation of riches. In recognizing its possession it affords an evidence of ability, of skill, of industry and perseverance. There have been men in America to whom their wealth was far from being an honor or a blessing; there are robbers of various kinds, men who use their strength to oppress the weak and their wisdom to oppress the simple; but if a man acquires wealth it is an evidence that he has worked hard and faithfully, that he has been patient and persevering and he is, therefore, a benefit and a blessing to the commonwealth. He may have had faults, to be sure, but the fact remains the same, nevertheless. It is for this reason that Americans value wealth. The second test of character is the use to which this property is put when acquired. We have been called here to day by the death of one who began life with nothing, but who acquired property by measures which no one has ever questioned. He was one who received not a little, but yet gave a great deal more, whose life has been one of active service. I have often thought that the clergy do not fully recognize these qualities of service in the big, active, pushing world. We are to a certain extent men of the closet and we cannot always see or know of the trials and temptations of this outside business life, but I am sure that we should recognize the virtue of living in the midst of life's competitions and in them keeping unspotted from the world. We who knew this departed friend know that he knew how to use his means benevolently. When a man inherits wealth it is not strange that he should be generous and free handed in its distribution, but it is different when he has had to earn every penny of that wealth by daily application to the routine of business. Many of us know how Mr. Bush used his money, know of what he did for his church and God's cause, yet in a great city we touch garments rather than hearts and the deeds of our neighbors are often unknown. I shall not attempt to speak here of what he was in the circle of his home. It is a subject too sacred, yet we must all recognize that there was something remarkable in the sweetness of his character and the personal relations which he bore to all who knew him. One who has been in close business relations with him for more than a quarter of a century has told me that in all that time he had not one unpleasant or disagreeable remembrance of his intercourse with Mr. Bush. If not out of place at this time I may speak of my own personal relations with the deceased, for my remembrance of his course toward me in assuming my present duties I shall always hold most dear. When I came to the pastorate of this great church, which had so recently been bereaved by the loss of its illustrious head, it was with many misgivings as to my fitness for the position, as you all know, yet I found a greeting and a cordiality which far exceeded anything which I could have possibly hoped for, and among those who came forward most earnestly and heartily, and who extended to me even more than the right hand of fellowship, is the face, the memory and the name of Mr. Bush. I cannot refrain from taking this opportunity of expressing some little of the personal feeling which his removal has occasioned in my heart.

In behalf of his numerous acquaintances in this vicinity we deem it not out of place to add a word in honor of his memory. Although not a citizen of Michigan and although his residence here had been confined to a few brief weeks in the summer season, yet he had gathered about him a large circle of warm-hearted friends and admirers. His hospitable nature, his genial disposition, his kindness to private individuals and his liberality in public affairs had endeared him to all. A good man has fallen and all who knew him mourn. His family can rest assured that among the host of friends who will drop a tear of sympathy upon learning the sad news of his death, there will be no more sincere mourners than may be found in the little village of Ridgeway.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. A trustworthy medical writer says: "Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but most of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure cannot be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient.

NEVER NEGLECT a constipated condition of the bowels, or serious results surely follow, such as piles, impure blood and many chronic complaints. Burdock Blood Bitters is the remedy.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

VILLAGE OF TECUMSEH,
Council Room, Sept. 15, 1890.

Regular session. Present—President Heesen, Trustees Elliott, James, Kennedy, Smith and the recorder Absent, Ames and Heck.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The street committee reported that they had been unable as yet to arrive at satisfactory terms for the purchase of the gravel on the property of Mrs. Holden and on motion further time was granted the committee.

NEW BUSINESS.

The following bills were presented and on motion referred to the finance committee:—

W. E. Anderson, lantern globe and wicks, $1,15; I. S. Osborne, oak plank $148.00; Moreland Bros. & Crane, oil; $5,83, Albaugh & Neeley, repairs on pumps, $7,75; A. Packard, work on cemetery vault $3,75; E. A. Hodges, street commissioner, $29,00; R. Magile, street labor, $3,00; Wm. Gray, street labor, $1.25.

The township board, through supervisor James, requested permission to set up election booths in the council building and on motion the request was granted.

Robert Magill requested that a street lamp be placed on the corner of Shawnee and Wyandotte streets. Referred to the street committee.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The finance committee reported favorably on the above bills as read and on motion orders were directed drawn for the several amounts.

Council then adjourned.

Devotional Exercises.
Recitation by Fred Grayson.
Reading by Mattie Caldwell.
Parliamentary Drill by Mrs. Wood.
Recitation by Libbie Chase.

The supper given by the W. C. T. U. at their rooms last Saturday evening was largely attended and the "supper season" was very auspiciously started. An entertainment was given in the evening which was enjoyed by a house full of listeners.

John C. Palmer, of Ridgeway, passed through Tecumseh bound for St. Joe county, just sixty years ago the 17th day of next May, and he has lived in Michigan ever since, over fifty years in Ridgeway. He has taken the HERALD over thirty years.

Dr. Bennett will be at the Lilley House next week Wednesday, Oct. 8th. How many of you doubt that hay fever, asthma, headache and backache can be permanently cured? He does it and they remain cured, all by his new way of treating them. Go and see him. Free talks.

Ernest Gamble and Scove Walker went to Ann Arbor Tuesday, to attend the University. Ernest will continue the course of lectures he began last year and Scove will enter the literary department. They have engaged rooms in a convenient quarter of the city and will chum together.

Gov. Hayes, owned by T. R. Kyle of this village, has made a good record this season. He took the first premium in the Hambletonian class at the Petersburgh Fair, and second in the all-work class at the Adrian Fair. His colt, now owned by Joe Waring, took first at Adrian in the coach and roadster class.

Clyde Heck, a young son of James H. Heck, while out hickory nutting last Friday, risked himself upon a rotten limb and he came to the ground in short order. One ankle was badly sprained and the small bone of one leg was broken by the fall. Dr. North reduced the fracture and the boy is doing as well as could be expected.

There are now nearly 200,000 "King's Daughters" in the land, and Mrs. Margaret Bottome, an energetic New York woman, is their President, as she is also the founder of the Order. With October 1st, Mrs. Bottome takes up the editorial pen, and becomes one of the editors of The Ladies' Home Journal, in which periodical she will hereafter write and edit a department entirely devoted to the best interests of "The King's Daughters." Through this channel it is Mrs. Bottome's intention that her "Daughters" and herself shall come closer together in feeling and sympathy.

Sergt. Jas. Mark of Co. C. and Miss Louise Rudisile were united in matrimony at the bride's home in Riga last week Tuesday evening. The happy couple returned to Tecumseh, Friday noon, when they immediately went to housekeeping. Jas. has lived in Tecumseh long enough to gain the respect and regard of all whose good fortune it was to to have met him. His comrades in Co. C., appreciating his faithfulness in the past, marched to the residence Friday evening, and after fireing a salute which brought the Sergt. from peaceful slumbers to the door, presented to him a very pretty hanging lamp.

The HERALD, 3 months, 25 cents.

John Kelly, of Mason, is visiting his cousin, C. H. Bramble this week.

Twenty-five cents will pay for the HERALD for three months. Try it.

Elliott Gray exhibited his imported horses and sheep at the county fair.

Church supper at the Baptist parlors this evening from 5:30 to 7:00 o'clock.

Mrs. Elma Emmett of Delaware, is spending a few days with friends in town.

Slayton & Avery exhibited their patent wagon rack at the county fair last week.

Mrs. Nancy Adams of Baltimore, Md., is making her sister, Mrs. F. P. Deuel, a visit.

S. P. Hosmer has exchanged his one arc lamp for seven incandescent lamps in his store.

Mr. C. A. Stacy returned home from a two week's visit with her son George at Elgin, Ill., yesterday.

Henry Smith is making extensive repairs at his paper mill. He is also trying to establish a flowing well.

Mrs. S. A. James of Detroit, who has been spending the summer with her parents, returned home last Monday.

Arthur A. Hall of Raisin, has been called home from Washington, D. C., by reason of his mother's serious illness.

Miss Blanche Taylor left home last Monday for Cleveland, Ohio, where she expects to spend a year in an art school.

A. W. Slayton is contemplating moving his office from Detroit back to Tecumseh. This would be a very sensible move.

Dr. Lewis E. Meeker, of Brooklyn, N. Y., made his parents, Dr. and Mrs. D. D. Meeker, a flying visit a couple of days last week.

Robt. Crosby has accepted the position of engineer at the Tiffany Iron Works. They are connecting the engine and boiler and we will soon hear a new whistle.

We clip the following from the Dundee Reporter: Who can beat this? From a plot of ground 2 rds. by 6½ rds. planted to sugar cane, I received 21 gals. of fine syrup—the same was made by the old reliable firm of Gripton Bros., near Britton. Jas. H. Dunmore.

Mr. J. D. Shull wears a smiling countenance these days. He is making a quiet, but thorough canvass and seems confident of his election as representative. Well, if the district is to be represented by a Republican we know of no better man. He is a man who would not permit his politics to interfere with his official duties. He is both a farmer and a business man and would doubtless make an efficient legislator.

All the information we can gather goes to show that Capt. Fred B. Wood is going to make a "home run" this fall for Prosecutor. In this section of the county where he has been known so long and favorably he will hold his vote of two years ago and increase it. During the past two years he has extended his acquaintance very much in other sections of the county which is another strong point in his favor. We expect to see him "get there" this time.

The County Fair last week scored the best success in the whole history of the society. The weather for the first three days was absolutely faultless and the attendance was very large each day. Friday, being political day, drew a good crowd notwithstanding the rain. The debate was a rouser and was the crowning event of the Fair. The exhibits were well up to former years in most departments, while the display of horses exceeded anything ever seen in Lenawee County.

We were quite surprised, as well as delighted last Tuesday forenoon to receive a call from our old friend and school mate David Boyd, who is now a resident of Greeley, Colorado. He was one of the founders of the Greeley Colony twenty years ago, and has lived to see a town grow up as large as Tecumseh now is. He has been absent four months, making a tour of Europe with his daughter, and is spending about a week with his old Macon friends on his return home. Mr. Boyd has lately published a history of the Greeley colony, of which we shall have something to say hereafter. Years seem to have touched him lightly. He looks but little older than when he left Tecumseh and is apparently enjoying robust health.

H. Brewer & Co., have engaged 35 incandescent electric lights for their foundry.

C. A. Wright will put in three incandescent lamps besides the arc light now in his store.

The Tecumseh Table Co's business is getting a splendid start. They sold over 2000 tables in September, and their pay roll last week amounted to $237,00.

The Maude Oswald Dramatic Co., open here Oct. 9th. The only traveling company having the right to play Bartley Campbell's Divorce. She also control's the original dramatization of Brete Harte's most popular work, M'Liss, which will be produced on Saturday.

The Maude Oswald Dramatic Company open their season here Oct. 9th, for three nights—producing Dion Boucicault's Comedy Drama, "Keithleen, the Farmer's Daughter." Both play and star are too well known to need much of an introduction; suffice it to add they are sure to please. So far this season, Manager Sutton has booked nothing but first class attractions, and from his present action, it looks as though he was to continue in his good work. Popular plays, popular prices, popular troupes.

Mrs. J. F. Hicks—Worthy Matron.
" J. H. Smith, " Patron.
" E. B. Wood, Secretary.
" J. H. Smith, Treasurer.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Last Friday was examination day, but was almost too damp to be thoroughly enjoyed by those who were excused from attendance.

Miss Rose Hendershot visited the High School Tuesday forenoon.

Several of our ex-seniors have favored us with visits, and we hope they will continue to do so; altho' much of the pleasure occasioned by such visits has been destroyed by the late edict of our Professor.

The class, General English III. are reading Macauley's Essays on Frederick the Great, and General English IV. have commenced Abbott's "How to Write Clearly."

We have been counting the noses of the foreign pupils. Altogether there are thirty. H. R,

MR. J. J. ORR, DRUGGIST—This certifies that I gave Campbell's Horse-foot Remedy a thorough trial on my driving horse's feet. I had not used her on the road in six months on account of dry and contracted hoofs. I used the remedy for four weeks and she now travels as well as ever. I can recommend it to anyone in need of such a remedy. Yours Truly
JNO. F. SCHREDER

—Tecumseh Mich, Sept., 24th.—I am using Campbell's Horse Foot Remedy. It is just as good as advertised and I can cheerfully recommend it to all horse men.

NOTICE TO FARMERS.

Osgood Bros. of Britton are now ready to manufacture Sorghum and Cider. They have added new and improved machinery for the manufacture of Sorghum. Having had long experience in the manufacture of Sorghum they are not afraid to guarantee their work to be first-class. They have facilities for working up cane very rapidly, therefore there will be no danger of cane spoiling after receiving at the mill.

They are located in the village of Britton and solicit the patronage of farmers having cane to be made up to give them a call.

Nearing the End.

Congress May Adjourn This Week.

THE SENATE WILL LIKELY FIX WEDNESDAY OR THURSDAY

As the Date for Final Adjournment, By an Amendment to the House Resolution—The Tariff Bill Goes to the President Monday or Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The conference report on the tariff bill will be taken up in the Senate Monday, and speeches on it will be made by Senator Aldrich for the Republican conferees, and by Senator Carlisle for the Democrats. Senator McPherson, who has been detained from the Senate chamber on account of illness for some time, has said that if he is well enough he will speak in opposition to the report, and Mr. Gorman may make some remarks in opposition to the report. Mr. Ingalls, who was in the chair during almost all of the debate on the bill, may make a speech. He is not certain whether he will or not. The western and northwestern senators who are displeased with the binding twine schedule, have said that they will demand a hearing, but the friends of the bill hope to persuade them not to interfere with its passage. Senator Paddock says, that he will vote against the conference report, and he says that a number of Republican Senators will vote with him. It was whispered about Saturday that if the number of Republicans in the negative was sufficient to endanger the adoption of the report, the friends of the bill had an assurance of negative support from two of the Democratic senators, who will absent themselves without being paired against the bill. The chances are that the bill will go to the president Monday night or Tuesday morning.

The Senates will make an effort to clear up a few odds and ends of legislation, while the bill is before the president, notably the conference report on the deficiency bill and the conference report on the bill to relieve the Supreme Court, if they are ready for consideration. An effort will be made also to call up the labor bills now on the calendar. It is likely that the Senate will amend the House resolution for adjournment, so as to make the time for adjourning Wednesday or Thursday, or perhaps a little later.

The House managers have no definite plans for the coming week beyond providing for discussion on the conference report on the deficiency appropriation bill, which will be presented early in the week. Several committees are anxious to get days to dispose of bills in their charge; but the request will probably not be granted, and it is likely that the House will spend some time in passing bills on the speaker's table under suspension of the rules by unanimous consent. Bills on the speaker's table consist of Senate bills and House bills with Senate amendments. It is possible that a conference report on the bill to relieve the Supreme court of the United States will also be presented and considered.

ROAST PORK.

CHICAGO PACKING HOUSES DESTROYED BY FLAMES.

Nearly a Million Dollars Loss Results From the Burning of the Anglo-American Provision Co.'s Stock Yards Plant.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—More than one-half of the extensive stock yards plant and property of the Anglo-American Provision company was destroyed by fire. The most conservative estimate of the loss is $700,000, the highest nearly $1,000,000. Prior to its acquisition a few months since by the English syndicate with a stock and bonded capital of $500,000, the property was owned by the Fowler Brothers.

Considerable mystery surrounds the origin of the fire. Flames were discovered in the engine room shortly after 1 a. m., and the private fire company maintained by the Englishmen fought them for some time before calling for reinforcements from the city. Before these arrived the flames had spread to the immense packing house, thence to warehouses E, F and B. In the packing house were nine thousand dressed hogs which had been slaughtered during the past two days. While on one floor of the adjoining warehouse there were 200,000 pounds of sausage in process of curing. On the other floors of this and the adjoining warehouses were stored the product of ninety thousand hogs together with an immense quantity of beef.

With this material to feed on the fire raged furiously for hours, and although twenty-six of the city engines were called into requisition it was not until late in the afternoon that it was brought under control. At one time it was feared that the conflagration would cover a greater portion of the packing house district. Several thousand live hogs were with difficulty saved from warehouse F.

The loss proper is fully covered by insurance, but the loss resulting from suspension of business will be enormous, as the concern has been killing from 4,000 to 7,000 hogs daily, and proposed to increase the number to 12,000 in two weeks. Thirteen hundred men are thrown out of employment. A searching investigation into the origin of the fire is to be made. General Manager Stobe places the loss on buildings at $75,000, machinery, including three ice machines; $30,000, and stock nearly $900,000.

Virginia Church Scandal.

ROANOKE, VA., Sept. 29.—J. B. Omeara has caused the arrest of J. J. Keely for assault and threatening his life, and of Father J. W. Lynch, pastor of the St. Andrews Catholic church, as an accessory. The trouble arose through a scandal which Omeara had made public concerning Keely and a lady of Father Lynch's church. The priest arranged a meeting between the two, to which Omeara came, not knowing Keely would be there. At the meeting, Keely forced a written retraction from Omeara at the point of a revolver, telling him he must sign it or die. Keely admits the assault, but denies the priest's connection with it. Keely was fined $25 and bound to keep the peace in $1,000. The case against the priest comes up this morning.

THE TILDEN WILL.

Executors Carry it up From the Supreme Court.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The executors of the late Samuel J. Tilden have appealed from the decision of Judge Beach, of the Supreme Court, holding the Tilden trust clause for the establishment of a large library in this city invalid. The case will now go to the general term of the Supreme Court and subsequently to the court of appeals. In the first trial Judge Lawrence sustained the will on appeal, the general term reversed him and ordered a new trial which was before Judge Beach.

Betrayed By a Woman.

COLUMBUS, IND., Sept. 29.—William H. Shrieber, the absconding bookkeeper of the First National bank of this city, who with a Chicago belle, robbed the bank of nearly $300,000 on Thanksgiving night in 1888 and has since been in Canada was arrested at Detroit. About two months ago, the young woman who led Shrieber astray, died in Windsor from dissipation and an overdose of morphine. Shrieber then visited Detroit and was paying his attentions to a blonde, who had been paid to assist in his arrest by a detective and it was in her house that he was arrested.

FOUR SCORE AND TEN.

Approaching Ninetieth Birthday of Von Moltke.

BERLIN, Sept. 29.—The 26th of October, the ninetieth birthday of Count Von Moltke, will be celebrated as a public festival by the various cities and corporations throughout Germany. The emperor proposes on that day to bestow on the count some special mark of his favor.

TWENTY KILLED.

DISASTER ON A PACIFIC COAST RAILWAY.

Two Trains Crash Into Each Other—Reported that Twenty Persons Have Been Killed—Officials Deny the Report—Meager Details.

PORTLAND, ORE., Sept. 29.—A serious wreck is reported to have occurred at Wauconda, Idaho. Two fast mail trains on the Oregon Short Line ran into each other. Over twenty are reported killed and many injured. A traveler who arrived in Pendleton, Oregon, brings the news of the wreck.

At the Union Pacific railroad office in this city nothing is known of the reported wreck on the Oregon Short Line railroad near Shoshone, Idaho. Shoshone is in the Idaho division, the headquarters of which are at Pocatello, Idaho. The officials here were notified that the west bound train due here at 6:40 a. m. to-day was delayed at Huntington, Oregon, but claim that they were not advised as to the cause of the delay. The east bound train left here Thursday morning and carried a large number of passengers.

Gold Found in Michigan.

BATTLE CREEK, MICH., Sept. 29.—This city is excited over the finding of pure gold while drilling a well for city water. The sand, which is brought up from a distance of 140 feet below the surface, is thick with small nuggets of pure gold ore, and several dollars worth of ore has been carried away by visitors to the well. Land in the neighborhood can hardly be purchased. A shaft will be lowered to the vein, which is supposed to be a rich one.

Confidential Clerk Disappears.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—It has just come to light that Washington Ritter, the confidential clerk and bookkeeper for Lapsy and Gallup, brokers of Broad street, disappeared, leaving a shortage of several thousand dollars in his accounts, and a young wife and three young children without any provision for the future. He was also trustee for the estate of his deceased sister, the property being valued at $8,000, and it is feared that he has illegally appropriated some of that money.

THE TARIFF BILL

Lacks Only Approval of the President.

THE MCKINLEY BILL HAS PASSED BOTH HOUSES.

A Few Republicans Vote With the Democrats Against the Bill—McKinley's Speech Closing the Long Debate—President Will Approve It.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The Senate passed the House joint resolution to appropriate a million dollars for nickel to be used in armor plate.

The bill to amend the alien labor law was amended, but went over without final action.

The bill to create a land court was recommitted to the committee on private land claims.

The bill to adjust claims of laborers under the eight hour law was considered, and was pending when the Senate adjourned.

The House discussed at length the conference report on the tariff bill and adopted it by a vote (151 to 79). Mr. McKinley made the closing speech in advocacy of the bill. It was not, he said, a bill of retaliation, or a bill of diplomacy; it was a bill for the people of the United States to supply them with the necessary revenue to meet the current expenses. The committee had so discriminated in the adjustment of the tariff as to give protection to our people, defence to their industries, and a compensation to make up the difference between the prices paid for labor in Europe and prices paid labor in the United States. (Republican applause.) For it was the pride of this country that it paid more and better wages to its workmen than were paid anywhere else on the face of God's earth. (Applause on Republican side.) The future alone would vindicate or condemn this bill. The mere words of the gentleman from Tennessee, or of other gentlemen, were only the words of the press of England; or of the other countries. Was it any wonder that under the threat of the Mills bill in 1888 the national Republican convention had declared that the Democratic party served the interests of Europe and of the Democratic party, and surrendered the interests of the United States. (Applause on the Republican side.) Gentlemen had said that this bill did not increase the demand for a single grain of wheat or a pound of corn. He would say to these gentlemen that when this bill became a law, fifty thousand men would be employed to provide the people of this country with tin plate, which would be consumed by the farmers of the west. Already they had begun making tin plate in St. Louis.

This bill, if it became a law, would put upon the free list one half of all the products which the United States imported—the like of which was never known in any tariff bill passed by the congress of the United States. Under the Mills bill only 40 per cent. of foreign importations were placed on the free list. At the conclusion of his speech (which was loudly applauded) Mr. McKinley demanded the previous question. The previous question was ordered—yeas 151, nays 79. The conference report was then agreed to, yeas 152, (the Speaker voting in the affirmative), nays 81.

The only deviation from a strict party vote was on the part of Messrs. Coleman, Featherstone and Kelley, who voted with the Democrats in the negative.

Mr. McKinley then reported from the committee on ways and means a resolution providing for final adjournment on Tuesday next, and it was adopted without division, and the House adjourned.

Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The Senate in secret session confirmed the following nominations: Eynvos extraordinary and ministers plenipotentiary: Eburd Grubb, of New Jersey, to Spain, and Edwin H. Conger, of Iowa, to Brazil; register of land office, Oscar Palmer, at Grayling, Mich.; receiver of public moneys, S. P. Youngs, at Grayling, Mich., and a number of Indian agents.

A STRANGE CASE.

Two Well Dressed Men Found in the Throes of Death.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., Sept. 29.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Cheyenne, Wyo., says: As a west bound freight train pulled out of Hillsdale, a small station forty miles east of here, a brakeman heard a groan issuing from a box car attached to the train. On investigation the bodies of two men were discovered lying among a lot of ties, both shot through the temple. Some distance away lay a small revolver with two chambers empty. From papers found on the persons it was learned their names were Ross F. Fishbaugh and W. B. Emerson, of St. Joseph, Mo. Both were well dressed and money and jewelry were found on their persons. Fishbaugh was dead but Emerson was still breathing. No hopes of his return to consciousness are entertained. It is doubtful whether the case was a mutual suicide or a murder.

The Official Count.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The census office has announced the populations of the following cities and towns, with increases since 188:0

Kansas—Fort Scott, 11,337, increase 6,465; Arkansas 8,354, increase 7,342; Winfield 5,147, increase 2,303; Parsons 6,736, increase 2,537; Emporia 7,550, increase 2,919.

Ohio—Bellaire 9,901, increase 1,876; Marietta 65,31, increase 1,087; Martin's Ferry 6,247, increase 2,428; Zanesville 21,117, increase 3,004.

Pennsylvania—Bradford 10,478, increase 1,281; Dubois 6,137, increase 3,419; Lock Haven 4,350, increase 1,505; Williamsport 27,107, increase 8,173.

California—San Francisco 297,990, increase 64,031; San Jose 18,027, increase 5,460:

Fatal Collision.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., Sept. 29.—A special to the Tribune from Omaha, Neb., says: A tail-end collision between two stock trains on the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley railroad, near Cody, in the northern part of the State, in which Charles Chesner, a hotel clerk was killed, and John Rocford seriously hurt. Both men are from Rapid City, South Dakota.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The great excitement caused by this great event is scarcely equaled by that produced by the great discovery of Dr. Miles—The Restorative Nervine. It Speedily cures nervous prosperation, change of life, pain, dullness and confusion in head, fits, sleeplessness, the blues, and neuralgia, palpitation, monthly pains, etc. C. W. Snow & Co., of Syracuse, N. Y.; Talbott and Moss, of Greensburg, Ind. and A. W. Blackburn, of Wooster, O., says that "The Nervine sells better than anything we ever sold and gives universal satisfaction." Dr. Miles' new illustrated treatise on the Nerves and Heart and a trial bottle free at Baker and Hall's drug store.

DODD'S CATARRH CURE.

LOCAL AND INTERNAL TREATMENT.

In order to cure catarrh it is necessarry to allay the inflammation of the irritated membranes with a soothing application, cleanse the head of the plugging mucous secretions, and heal the discharging ulcers. For cold in the head and nasal catarrh Dodds' local treatment does this without the aid of snuff, douches or fumes. If the disease has extended downwards affecting the bronchial tubes or lungs, digestion and blood, the internal treatment both removes from the system the scattered poison, and by its building-up properties assists nature in restoring the impaired parts. SINGLE TAX DEPARTMENT.

A SCOTCHMAN'S VIEW.

The Moral and Social Effects of the Single Tax.

In our articles on the single tax and its effects we have taken up seriatum nearly all the effects that would result directly from the confiscation of rent to the common exchequer. These effects would have been mostly economic, and have been deduced from generally admitted economic laws. But beyond these economic effects there are moral and social effects resulting from the economic conditions to which the imposition of the single tax would give rise. For the opening up of natural opportunities to labor and capital, and the taking from off the shoulders of industry the burden which at present weighs upon it would make it possible for every man to make an honest living by his labor. This would do away with the army of tramps and beggars and other parasites of society which are the product of the unequal distribution of wealth. It would eliminate forever the unemployed and the criminal classes who are recruited from the unemployed. Such things as prisons and reformatories would be unnecessary. The civil law would be greatly simplified for disputes would be fewer, and would be more easily settled. In short, it would do away altogether with government, at least as a repressive agency, and this simplification and curtailing of the functions of government would make it capable of assuming certain other functions which at present it can not successfully undertake. These are the running of railways, the transmission of telegraphs, and the maintaining and controlling of many other things which in their nature are monopolies. The great increase of material prosperity would tend to the increase of rent which could be used for the common benefit, and which would enable us to establish baths, libraries, museums, halls, theaters, gardens, etc. Water, gas, electricity and other motive powers might be conducted through our streets at the public expense, and these same streets might be lined with trees, as is the case with many cities on the continent, notably Paris.

To put it shortly, Government would not be as at present an expensive and almost useless burden, but would simply become the instrument whereby the public property would be administered for the benefit of every individual. Now, to the man who has been reared amidst the present chaos and confusion, all this foretaste of what might be seems only like the vague and impracticable vision of an imaginative dreamer, but all the great things and all the good things that we have achieved were at one time but visions in the brains of those who conceived them. And if we but consider for a moment the change that would be wrought in a social life if labor received its full reward, we shall come, I think, to the conclusion that perhaps after all such visions may be possible of realization, and such dreams may indeed come true. Want, and the fear of want, as a factor in human life, would be eliminated. And this is the element that would work the change; for poverty, as Carlyle says, is the hell of which the modern Englishman is most afraid. It is poverty and the fear of poverty, and the struggle to keep out of it, that makes civilization such a mass of evil. It is but natural that men should strive to keep themselves and those dependent upon them from falling into this terrible abyss. And it is this struggle to rise above the fear of poverty that makes men lie and cheat and steal, and renders them indifferent as to whether they trample their neighbors underfoot.

It is this continual struggle to raise themselves above the fear of want that makes men admire the rich and the fortunate, and that causes the struggle for existence to become even fiercer and more fierce, and it is now becoming evident to the mass of mankind that unless they go to the root of the evil and destroy it, the more fiercely they strive the worse it will be for their children who are to come after them. But give labor a free field, choke off the dog in the manger that stands between man and the bounty of his Maker, and let labor have its full reward. Take and use for the benefit of the whole community that value which the preference of the community creates, and production being set free would enormously increase, the margin of cultivation would rise to its natural level, and men would not require to worry about finding employment, any more than they worry about finding air to breathe; the worship of wealth would become a thing of the past, and the man who strove to get more than he required would be looked upon with something like commiseration and pity. It is unnecessary to enlarge. Any one with the requisite imagination can fill in the picture and conceive for himself the vice that would be stayed, the sorrow that would be soothed, the hearts that would be healed. For when labor freed from the restrictions that now hamper it, can get across to natural opportunities and these necessities of production can come freely together, our civilization will have entered upon a newer and brighter era, and in time we shall attain to a realization of the golden rule as enunciated by the great Democrat of Nazareth, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."—Brechin, Scotland, Herald.

A Natural Order.

Land, labor, wealth. That is the natural order. Whoever controls land, controls labor and wealth. If one man owned all lands, every other man would be simply a slave to this one. The farther we are removed from such a condition the better, we all say. Well, what better way, we pray, to remove this nation from such a condition than for the whole people to own the land and vouchsafe to every citizen the right to use a part of it.—Port Huron, Mich., New Era.

Brooks Kidney and Liver Syrup strikes at the very root of the evil by correcting the condition of the liver and appetite, removing the feeling of general depression. Sold by C. A. Wright & Co.

QUEENSLAND COMMENT.

A Brisbane Paper's Estimate of Mr. George's Place in History.

Henry George is one of the great personalities of the age. The premier of New South Wales, himself perhaps the most remarkable man on our "isle of continent," said the other day that if he were to select a hundred of the most eminent men of the century, Henry George would rank high among them. Sir Henry Parkes might have gone further and declared that George was of those great souls, of those high intellects who are epoch making. A man who has probed deep into the evils of the time, whose whole being has been fired by the wrongs of the down-trodden, whom suffering has tried as by fire, and in whose heart beats a chord sympathetic with the pulsating aspirations of the brotherhood of man. Of the old writers on political economy Adam Smith was the only one whose style made the study attractive. Hence it came to be designated the "dismal science." It was left to Henry George to impart a quickening life to the dry bones. He is the most original thinker on economics since Ricardo, and his two great works, "Progress and Poverty" and "Social Problems," have created a greater stir among social scientists than any two other books of our time. George's philosophic method is as logical as that of Cusin or Sir Wm. Hamilton, his style is as fascinating as that of Sir Walter Scott, his diction as pure and eloquent as that of Ruskin, with whom in lofty morality and spiritual insight he may be compared. No one can deny, however great may be the disagreement with the conclusions at which George has arrived, that he has made a deep impress upon the English speaking world and on the domain of contemporary thought. From Prof. Huxley and the Duke of Argyll to the merest tyro in the study of ethics and economics, a host of hostile critics have assailed him, but he has met them all with high courage, a keenness of retort, a sledge-hammer power of argument, and illustrations drawn from reading which seems to have been all-devouring and all-embracing. It may be conceded without trenching on those principles which have caused the widest diversity of opinion, that George has successfully assaulted the stronghold of Malthus and the Malthusian doctrine. Of all the teachers of modern times he it is who, by skill and exhaustive analysis of facts and penetrating glance into the spiritualities of the universe, has shown that to throw on the Creator responsibility for the evils arising to humanity from bad and oppressive laws, and man's wicked disposition, is rank blasphemy. His other great achievements in economics is that he has demonstrated with clearness and precision which defies refutation that wages are paid not out of capital, but from the current products of labor.

One of the most impassioned and impressive orators of the age, the citizens of Brisbane have had an opportunity of seeing and hearing Henry George in two different aspects—in the character of an expounder of his own peculiar economic tenets and in the character of a preacher, who proclaims his gospel with the entrancing power of a Savonarola and the fiery earnestness of a St. Francis. Somewhat short in stature, he is yet well proportioned, and gives the idea of strength and concentration of purpose. His dome-shaped head and full, expressive countenance are exceedingly impressive. When warmed up to his subject there is a fine play of feature, and a fire in the eye which kindles an electric sympathy in his audience. His gestures are graceful and unstudied as he moves about the platform flinging forth his polished sentences. Suffering from the effects of a cold, his voice falls short of that bell-like resonance of some years back. It lacks musical softness, and there is no liquidity about the vowels. But these are minor defects which are soon forgotten when the man possessed by his subject rises to the heights of burning eloquence and pours out period after period of impassioned and poetic English.—Brisbane, Queensland, Courier.

Signs of the Times.

The president of the Standard Oil Company takes his daily drive with a retinue of servants. First comes a man mounted on a horse, acting as a body guard, then the carriage with his royal highness, a coachman and a footman on the box and a footman behind, in the rear another man mounted on a horse acting as a body guard. By and by, the populace will be called upon to say: "Long live the king."

The much abused landlords of Connecticut are organizing an association for their "protection" against the impecunious tenant. "Pay your rent or get off the earth." A black list is to be made, and any one mentioned on that list will not be accepted as a tenant on any terms. It is proposed to have branches all over the Union and to become as generally useful as Bradstreets or Dunn. Workingmen may come and workingmen may go, but the rent goes on forever. Poor landlords! The time will come when, with Artemus Ward, they will think it would have been money in their pockets if they had never been born."—H. O. Skinner.

Would Take Clogs Off of Industry Everywhere.

The city of Newport, Ky., just across the Ohio from Cincinnati, is about to try the experiment of letting all money, stocks, bonds, manufactured goods, raw materials, tools, machinery, etc., go entirely free of municipal taxation. Of course the hope of its citizens is that the premium thus set upon manufactories will draw in enough to build up the city so much that the additional burden thrown upon real estate will not be felt. The outcome of the experiment will be interesting, but if it succeeds the result can scarcely be claimed by the Henry George single tax party as evidence that it would be good policy to throw all taxation, everywhere, upon the soil. Newport will offer inducements for the removal thither of mills and factories from other places, but if personal property were exempt from taxation in all States and cities, there would be no reason for a change of location in any given ground.—Cleveland Leader.

THE VINEYARD PARABLE

LESSON I, FOURTH QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, OCT. 5.

Text of the Lesson, Luke xx, 9-19—Commit Verses 13-19—Golden Text, Isa. liii, 3—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

9. "Then began He to speak to the people this parable: A certain man planted a vineyard, and let it forth to husbandmen, and went into a far country for a long time." He is now about to tell them of their history as a nation and of their treatment of their God and His servants from the days of their coming out of Egypt even unto His death at their hands. We are not left in any doubt as to who or what is signified by the vineyard, for it is written, "The vineyard of the Lord of Hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah his pleasant plant" (Isa. v, 7). That also explains who it was that planted the vineyard—the Lord of Hosts. The husbandmen would mean the kings, prophets and priests who ruled over the people as God's representatives. His going away probably signifies the withdrawal of his manifested presence in the days of Samuel, when they desired a king, like other nations, thus, as He said to Samuel, rejecting Him and not Samuel (I Sam. viii, 7). Or it may refer to earlier days, when they relied on the ark rather than on God, who dwelt between the cherubim; or yet earlier, to the days of the judges when they forsook Him and He allowed their enemies to oppress them. The contrast to all this is the vineyard of which He is the True Vine and His Father the husbandman, and all the faithful are living branches.

10. "And at the season He sent a servant to the husbandmen, that they should give him of the fruit of the vineyard; but the husbandmen beat him and sent him away empty." We are very plainly told what fruit He expected; "He looked for judgment, but behold, oppression; for righteousness, but behold, a cry."

11. "And again He sent another servant: and they beat him also, and entreated him shamefully, and sent him away empty." As to beating and shameful treatment read Jer. xx, 2: "Then Pashur smote Jeremiah, the prophet, and put him in the stocks." Also xxxviii, 6: "Then took they Jeremiah and cast him into the dungeon, * * * and in the dungeon there was no water but mire; so Jeremiah sunk in the mire." Read also in II Chron. xviii, 23, 26, how Micaiah, the son of Imla, was smitten and imprisoned and fed upon the bread of affliction and the water of affliction just because he spake the truth for God.

12. "And again he sent a third: and they wounded him also and cast him out." These three sendings probably cover all the prophets from Samuel to John the Baptist. They might be divided into those before the captivity, those after the captivity and John, the immediate forerunner of Christ.

13. "Then said the Lord of the vineyard, What shall I do?" Not what shall I do to punish these guilty rebels, how shall I most quickly sweep them from the earth? That would need no planning. A moment's withdrawal of His mercy and they are gone. But He is considering what else He may do that He may win them to Him.

"I will send My beloved Son. It may be they will reverence Him when they see Him." Here is a glimpse of the love of God as seen in the councils of a past eternity.

14. "But when the husbandmen saw him they reasoned among themselves, saying, This is the heir: come let us kill him, that the inheritance may be ours." Like Joseph's brethren, who hated him and said, "Come now and let us slay him, and let us see what will become of his dreams" (Gen. xxxvii, 8, 20). If we did not know it to be a true story that is contained in this parable, we could hardly believe such ingratitude possible. Such unheard of love to be thus rejected and abused. I believe that the greatest fact in the Bible, and in all history, and the one least understood, is the love of God. Who among us begins to appreciate the greatness of that which is contained in John iii, 16? Who can fathom the height and depth or measure the length and breadth of the love of God, which passeth knowledge.

15. "So they cast him out of the vineyard and killed him. What therefore shall the lord of the vineyard do unto them?" Again He foretells His death. It is ever before Him. But the glory beyond lightens it up (Heb. xii, 2). He is thinking more of these poor blinded, self destroying people than of Himself. He shall rise again from the dead. He shall live forever. The kingdom shall yet be His. But those who die in rebellion against Him must perish.

16. "He shall come and destroy these husbandmen, and shall give the vineyard to others, and when they heard it they said God forbid." Matthew says that it was the people who gave the verdict (Matt. xxi, 41); it may have been the disciples who said God forbid; or the disciples may have given the verdict and the people have said "God forbid." These husbandmen are the enemies of chap. xix, 27, who refuse to submit to Him and must perish. The vineyard given to others He explains in Matt. xxi, 43, by saying: "The Kingdom of God shall be taken from you and given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof."

17. "And He beheld them and said, What is this then that is written, The stone which the builders rejected, the same is become the head of the corner." This is from Ps. 118, the latter part of which like Isa. xii refers to the Day of the Lord when He shall have become Israel's salvation. Notwithstanding His rejection and approaching death He constantly points forward to His ultimate triumph.

18. "Whosoever shall fall upon that stone shall be broken; but on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grind him to powder." This is from Isa. viii, 14, 15, and Dan. ii, 45, referring to the present and future result of refusing to receive Him. Jesus crucified and risen from the dead is the foundation and the only foundation on which to build for eternity (Acts iv, 10-12); and He tells us that the way to build is to hear and do His words (Matt. vii, 24, 25).

19. "And the chief priests and the scribes the same hour sought to lay hands on Him, and they feared the people: for they perceived that He had spoken this parable against them." What blinded fools they were, for in the next verse we see them sending out men who were to feign themselves righteous so as to catch Him in His words. After all His reading their hearts and telling their thoughts they still think to deceive Him, and this parable, which they see is spoken against them, instead of working repentance in them only makes them more bitter. How fully given over to Satan they must be. Let us never be the least offended by anything our dear Lord says or does or permits, but may all things draw us nearer to Him.

May Thank Her Stars.

The narrow escape of Mrs. B. M. Searles, of Elkhart, Ind., from a premature death is wonderful. She states that "for twenty years my heart troubled me greatly. I became worse. Had smothering spells, short breath, fluttering; could not sleep on my left side, had much Pain in Breast, shoulder and stomach. Ankles swelled. Had much headache and dizziness. Treatment did me no good, until I tried Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and Restorative Nervine. The first bottle helped me, and I was soon virtually cured. For sale at Baker & Hall's drug store. A fine book on the Heart and Nerves free.

PROGRESS.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

THE LADIES DELIGHTED.

The pleasant affect and the perfect safety with which ladies may use the liquid fruit laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions make it their favorite remedy. It is pleasing to the eye and to the taste, gentle, yet effectual in acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels.

ONE ENJOYS

Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

You Take No Risk.

In buying Hood's Sarsaparilla, for it is everywhere recognized as the standard building-up medicine and blood purifier. It has won its way to the front by its own intrinsic merit, and has the largest sale of any preparation of its kind. Any honest druggist will confirm this statement. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy anything else instead. Be sure to get Hood's.

OUR LECTURE COURSE.

A First-Class Course of Six Entertainments Arranged for.—A List and Brief Description of Them.

We are able to announce this week that our lecture course is a fixed fact. The officers chosen some three weeks ago have been at work, and the result is that they have engaged six entertainments of a literary and musical character, which together will furnish the best course ever given in Tecumseh. The association has been very fortunate in securing first-class talent, and the course will doubtless be liberally patronized. Although it is quite an expensive one, still the stock already pledged and its high class character will render it a financial success.

A brief description of the several entertainments will show our readers that our claims are not exaggerated.

First.—Miss Adele Aus Der Ohe, a rising young pianiste. Date in October. She was a favorite pupil of the celebrated Liszt and has been giving public piano recitals for the past four years. She has already scored an immense success in the Eastern states and is justly regarded as one of the finest pianistes now before the American public. This entertainment will be a fit introduction to the series.

Second.—Russell H. Conwell. Date Mar. 23, 91. Mr. Conwell has been on the lecture platform for the past twenty-five years and during that time he has lectured over sixteen hundred times. He has a fine list of subjects both grave and gay to draw from, and he has more calls every season than he can possibly accept. He is pastor of the largest Baptist church in Pennsylvania, which has grown, under his charge, from one of the smallest in Philadelphia.

Third.—The Ovide Musin Troupe. Date Dec. 13th. This troupe is composed of five artists: Ovide Musin, the great violin virtuoso; Annie Louise Tanner, the American nightingale; Karl Storr, the German baritone; Inez Parmater, an eminent mezzo soprano; Eduard Scharf, a superior solo pianist. This is one of the best musical combinations on the lecture platform. It always draws well and gives the best of satisfaction.

Fourth.—The Ariel Quartette. Date April 9, 1891. The Ariel Ladies' Quartette have sung themselves into fame and fortune. Last season was their fifth before the public and they filled 150 paid engagements. The Club consists of Misses Nellie E. Fox, Ada L. Briggs, Fannie E. Holt, Mabel F. Mumler. This year the troupe will also contain Mr. John Thomas, a humorous soloist. They give a very enjoyable entertainment.

Fifth.—The Lotus Glee Club. Date Feb. 10th, '91. This Club has been before the public ten years. The present membership has been maintained since 1886, viz.: Geo. E. Devoll, 1st tenor; Edward E. Long, 2d tenor; Chas. L. Lewis, baritone; Clifton F. Davis, basso; Miss Minnie Marshall, reader. Miss Marshall is a lady of unusual talent, and her recitals, while adding the necessary variety, are fully up to the high standard of the musical selections.

Sixth—Daniel Dougherty, the great New York lawyer. Date in February. He is one of the finest platform orators now living. He is the peer of Col. Ingersoll and is considered by many as Ingersoll's superior. His speech, presenting Cleveland's name for renomination at the St. Louis Convention, was the grandest specimen of convention oratory ever listened to in this country. The Opera House will not be half large enough to hold the audience that will come to hear him.

Season tickets for the course will soon be placed on sale and they will doubtless go off like hot cakes. We feel like congratulating our citizens upon the successful manner in which this enterprise has been started.

WILHELM'S IMPROVED CREAMERY CAN.

Unequalled for private Dairies of from one cow to full size Creamery. $5.00 will buy FOUR 3-GAL. CANS making a capacity of 12 gallons of milk, and will PRODUCE ALL THE CREAM FROM 4 TO 8 HOURS, in a vat, tub, or any receptacle the farmer may choose, holding water from 10 to 14 inches in depth, and at a temperature from 40 to 60 degrees cold. IT MAKES A PERFECT CREAM and combines the advantage of deep setting, rapid cooling, protecting the milk from all impurities of the atmosphere which so quickly taints cream. Also preventing souring by thunder storms, from flies, insects, dust, and all bad odors, thus preserving both cream and milk, clean and sweet. Over 200,000 in actual use in the U. S. One setting of milk is all that is needed to prove the merit of the can. Usual size of can, 3-gal., price $1.25. A liberal discount on orders of one dozen Cans and upwards. Write for descriptive circular and testimonials. I also make a specialty of building Creameries and furnishing all the best improved machinery and apparatus. JOHN WILHELM, Wooster, Wayne Co. O.

Misses Amy and Lena Alexander and James Hunter contemplete a visit to Chicago in the near future. Amy expects also to make a few weeks stay with friends in Fowler, Ind., before returning home.

As we understand it, the next Lyceum will be held at L. E. Taylor's on Friday evening, Oct. 17, instead of the 18th as stated in last week's HERALD. We have met lately on Saturday evenings, but, at the last meeting it was voted to change back to Friday, our regular day.

The White Rose Club will meet at the home of Mrs. E. J. Whelan on the afternoon of next Saturday, Oct. 11. Will every one who is interested in this movement make an effort to attend at that time? A good beginning has been made; now if all who intend to join us will do so promptly, we shall continue to do well.

The Grange meeting at Tipton last Thursday was a decided success. Members were present from all over the county, nearly. At the public exercises in the afternoon the crowd was so great it became necessary to adjourn to the Congregational church. The program, which was furnished principally by the Macon Grange, was an excellent one. Mrs. Mayhew made a very fine address; the Congregational choir gave us some good music, while the duets sung by Amy Alexander and W. Crittenden brought down the house. We could not learn the names of those from Macon who contributed to the general pleasure, but all did finely, especially the young lady violinist.

This writer can remember when it was a great honor and privilege to be sent with a little school mate after a pail of water. Even the joy of "passing the water around" could not compare with it. What cared we for aching arms, or how much of the contents of our pail slopped out in one-half mile walk? Well, what of it? Only that the march of improvement has robbed the children of that delight, and now, in Dist. No. 1, they have not even to pump the water, as a flowing well has been put down in the school yard. Not to be outdone so near home, Mart Whelan set men at work and Monday morning succeeded in getting so strong a flow that his beats all the wells in Franklin, which is saying a good deal.

NOTICE TO FARMERS.

Osgood Bros. of Britton are now ready to manufacture Sorghum and Cider. They have added new and improved machinery for the manufacture of Sorghum. Having had long experience in the manufacture of Sorghum they are not afraid to guarantee their work to be first-class. They have facilities for working up cane very rapidly, therefore there will be no danger of cane spoiling after receiving at the mill.

They are located in the village of Britton and solicit the patronage of farmers having cane to be made up to give them a call.

Len Billington went a fishing, for the first time last Saturday night. He says he caught an eel longer than two spear poles. It beats all how long a man may live without finding his calling.

C. H. Carpenter, of Chelsea, has just completed a tubular well for Dist. No. 1. At the depth of 80 feet he struck a vein of water that raised 6½ feet above the level, giving a flow of 125 barrels per day. No excuse for schoolmarm and children having dirty faces and hands any more. It is being talked of carrying the waste water in pipes down to the four corners to make a public watering place—a good idea. With a flowing well at the schoolhouse, public watering place on the corners and a neat little cottage across the way, which Uncle Ab. says we can look for in the near future, who can say that the Center of our town is not getting public spirited.

THE ELECTION LAW.

The Supreme Court has sustained the validity of the main features of the election law passed by the Legislature of 1889, and it behooves the local authorities throughout the state, who have been awaiting the decision of the test case before taking action, to at once take measures of compliance with the law so far as it imposes duties upon them. The most valuable provision of the law is that which requires the erection of polling booths and secures to the elector the right to prepare and cast his ballot free from espionage or interference. This is its redeeming feature; but this feature was alone well worth the effort which was made to preserve it. Aside from this, the law is very loosely drawn and is decidedly objectionable in some respects, the method of counting the ballots which it prescribes being especially open to criticism. This method would be all right if we had the Massachusetts modification of the Australian system, with the names of all the candidates voted for on one ballot, and if the districts were as small as they ought to be with this system in vogue; but in many of the districts, as at present constituted, the task of counting the ballots in accordance with the terms of the law will be a fearful strain upon the inspectors.—Detroit Free Press.

HON. DANIEL E. SOPER.

Of the gentlemen who have been honored with places upon the Democratic state ticket there isn't one of the so-called millionaire class, and only one or two who are even moderately wealthy. On the contrary, there isn't one who has not toiled from his youth up, and they are all toiler's to-day. All that they are and have is due wholly to their own exertions, for nearly all of them were thrown upon their own resources early in life, and struggled for years to acquire an education and get a start in the world. This is especially true of the subject of this sketch, the nominee for Secretary of State.

DANIEL E. SOPER.

Daniel Ellis Soper was born at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., June 3, 1843, has two sisters residing in this state—Mrs. Willian McCowen, of Tecumseh, and Mrs. Norman F. Jones, of Centerville. His father died in January, 1844; and for a time the widow took in washing to support herself and little ones. When Daniel was 6 years of age his mother moved to Oneida County and placed him in the care of a farmer. Here he remained five years, doing a boy's work upon the farm nine months in the year, and tramping through the snow two miles to a log schoolhouse in winter. In 1854 his mother brought her little family to Michigan and located in Lenawee County. Here Daniel obtained employment in a woolen factory, where he worked twelve hours per day and attended a night school.

When the war broke out Daniel was 18 years of age, and he immediately quit work in the mill and announced a determination to enlist in the First Michigan Volunteer infantry, but yielded to the pleadings of his mother and returned to his work. He subsequently enlisted in the Fourth Regiment, but, being under age, was prevented from going to the front by his mother forbidding the reculting officers to swear him in.

He then went to Hillsdale to commence life for himself, and arrived in that village the possessor of twenty-five cents. He worked in a dye-house until his cash capital had swelled to $2, when he embarked in trade as a newsdealer, at first selling only THE FREE PRESS, but soon adding the Times and Tribune, of Chicago, the Blade, of Toledo, and the principal New York dailies. These he used to personally deliver at the residences of his patrons, and his voice was heard upon the streets as early as 5 o'clock in the morning. Soon he had amassed sufficient capital to start a news stand, which he did in the postoffice building, and added books, music and stationery to his stock in trade. His business prospered, and in 1865 he sold it out, married Mary A. Howell, a daughter of Hon. Wm. T. Howell, a pioneer of the state and a prominent politician of Hillsdale County, and engaged in the drug business at Newaygo. About fifteen years ago he engaged in the real estate and insurance business there, and has since prospered in that occupation.

Mr. Soper is the proud father of two children, a boy and a girl, and the latter is now a pupil at the Akeley Institute at Grand Haven. He has never before asked or sought for an elective office, but helped nominate Grover Cleveland in 1884, was on the electoral ticket, was appointed postmaster by President Cleveland in 1885, and was a popular man among the Newaygo mails. He has always taken an active interest in public matters and particularly in the public schools, to which he frequently pays a visit. He has served as a member of the school board, and let the truth be spoken, has been an alderman. He has attended every Democratic state convention since 1872 and has ever taken a lively interest in their deliberations. He is broad and liberal in his views, is a man of many charities and a working member of various orders that are based upon works of charity, as the Knights of Pythias, Patriarcal Circle, Seven wise men and Benevolent Order of Elks.

TECUMSEH, THURSDAY, OCT. 9.

Speaker Reed has closed his tariff school and taken a vacation until the first Monday of December next.

If Congressman Allen has any excuse to offer for his vote to tax binding twine his constituents would be glad to hear from him.

Several mistakes have already been discovered in the enrollment of the tariff bill. The Republican party is likely to discover within a year that the whole bill is one huge mistake.

P. stands for Pluck, and P stands for Plumb, Paddock and Pettigrew, the three Republican senators who posseessed independence enough to vote against the McKinley tariff bill.

In his final vote on the tariff bill, Capt. Allen decided to stand by the twine trust and let the farmers go to thunder. Will the farmers have "sand" enough to return the compliment when they vote for congressman this fall?

Is it in accordance with the "eternal fitness of things," that the party of great moral ideas should select as its candidate for governor a man, who goes on saloon keeper's bonds and rents his buildings for houses of prostitution?

The Republicans 'compromised' and the tax on binding twine went back, just as the HERALD predicted. The prediction that Republican compromises will always protect the trusts and sacrifice the public is a pretty prediction to make.

The Adrian Times makes a sorry attempt to defend James M. Turner from Prof. McElroy's crushing exposure. The voters will please bear in mind that this expose is substantiated, not by Democratic testimony, but by Republican authority.

Here is a little McKinley logic for you: Aluminum has hitherto been on the free list; but as it is rapidly coming into use as a valuable material in many of the arts and industries the McKinley bill claps on it a duty of 15 per cent ad valorem.

Senator Carlisle's speech was a fitting close of the admirable Democratic contest against inordinate war-rate taxation in time of peace. The feeble reply of Mr. Aldrich served to render conspicuous the contrast between the popular side and the monopoly side of the great tax issue.

Billy Mason walked off with the pen with which Mr. Harrison signed the tariff bill and McKinley walked off with the pennant. Both will be glad of their precious possessions after they have dwelt in the marshes of salt river a few years, and will exhibit them to their children as evidences of how great they once were when the Lilliputs inhabited the earth.—Chicago Times.

The Philadelphia Record calls attention to a sad oversight in Major McKinley's tariff bill: In 1857 the United States Government brought a load of camels from the Barbary Coast to be used by the troops in the deserts of Arizona and New Mexico. The experiment at camel culture was, however, a failure, and not one member of the herd survived later than 1866 Why should such a promising infant industry have been so sadly neglected?

Congressman Butterworth hit the monopoly tariff taxes right between the eyes when he said in a recent speech that the McKinley bill left free the only thing it professed to protect—that is labor. The new monopoly tax tariff restricts trade in everything but labor, and the pauper laborers of Europe—the Hun, the Pole, the Italian—can swarm in by scores of thousands to take the place of American laborers in our highly protected shops and mills.

Henry Watterson of the Louisville Courier-Journal, gave an address before the Massachusetts Tariff Reform club last week. The present political situation was expressed in a nut shell thus: "Two dangers seem at this time to threaten the integrity of the union and the prosperity of the people. One of them is the gospel of force and the other is the doctrine of p[illegible] The first is expected to hold [illegible] country whilst its fellow skins it, and to both the republican party has committed itself."

MINNESOTA AGAINST CONGRESS.

As the Republicans in Congress have decided to support the Twine Trust in its exactions, the Republicans of Minnesota have taken steps to begin the manufacture of binding twine in the Minnesota State prison. The prison board has just purchasd $25,000 worth of machinery, and the work of manufacture will be begun as soon as possible.

The object, of course, is to break down the trust. The Republicans in Congress say the trust must be protected against the "pauper labor" of Europe." The Republicans of Minnesota declare that it must compete with convict labor, which costs nothing at all. Such inconsistencies abound in a party which has no fixed principles; which does not even pretend to regulate its course by justice; which has no other guide than selfishness and the expediency of selfishness. The Republicans of Congress commit the great injustice of taxing several millions of farmers for the sole benefit of a single corporation, which has stamped out competition, monopolized its line of trade and cornered the entire American market in its products. The Republicans of Minnesota are guilty of the equal injustice of bringing the State into competition with private industry and of using unpaid convicts in competition with free labor.

Of the two Republican systems, however, that of Minnesota is by far the better. If we cannot have free manufacture and unhampered commerce, it is better for the State itself to do the manufacturing than to farm it out to private monopolists who buy special privileges of extortion through contributions to political corruption funds. A Congress thus corrupted supports these monopolies, conferring and increasing the privileges of exacting unearned money from the people of the States. One remedy is that proposed by the Democratic party—greater liberty, more Americanism, less injustice. Another is this adopted by Republican Minnesota, using its State authority to defeat the purpose of a Federal law enacted in Congress by the Republican party. The plan of the McKinley bill is the communism of capital. That of Minnesota is the socialism of the masses. Only one step is lacking to make the Minnesota plan Socialism pure and simple—the employment of free labor. If the States are to engage in manufacturing to break down monopolies created by Congress, why should they restrict themselves to the employment of convicts? Why not enlarge the scope of the work and increase its efficiency by giving employment at just wages to free citizens? In that way labor could be "protected" much more effectually than under the plan which looks to the employing corporation to which monopoly is secured by law, to divide fairly with its employes instead of cutting down their wages when it can get others to work cheaper.

If all the States go into manufacturing, the private monopolies will be broken up. While this is certain enough, the far better way is to force the government, State and national, to cease its interference with trade and production.—St. Louis Republic.

DUTIES GO UP, WAGES GO DOWN.

According to the authorized expounders of the doctrine of protection, high duties on imports enable American manufacturers to pay high wages to their workmen—see Republican national platforms and the public utterances of Benjamin Harrison, William McKinley, Thomas B. Reed, Frank Hiscock, Nelson W. Aldrich and other Republican statesmen. Therefore, if the doctrine is sound and its expounders truthful, the tariff reported to the two houses of Congress by the conference committee yesterday should produce an immediate and considerable advance in wages, for it largely increases the customs duties on imported manufactures.

There is in New York an importer and commission merchant who imports the cloths made by about a dozen English mills, of which he is the agent. One of his customers is a large manufacturing firm in Buffalo, which buys of him a certain fabric extensively used in its factory. The English manufacturer's price for this fabric is about thirty cents a yard. The present duty is 110 per cent. ad valorem, and the price here has been sixty-eight cents per yard. The new tariff bill imposes a duty of 140 per cent. The New York commission merchant informed his Buffalo customer that to meet this increased customs charge he had been compelled to add nine cents a yard to the price of the goods. We are permitted to make the following extract from a letter he has received from the manager of the Buffalo firm:

"You were somewhat surprised that we could afford to pay the additional 9 cents a yard for cloth, but I prepared our work people for it, and today, by making a cut equal to 10 per cent. on their wages all around, I have covered the amount and turned them all into good, sound Democrats. That, I take it, is as good as a Yankee could do."

We present this to the sincere and to the insincere among the protectionists and to befooled wage earners everywhere as an early and beautiful illustration of how the new tariff works.—New York Times.

LET HIM RISE AND EXPLAIN.

Candidate James M. Turner, who is seeking the suffrages of the people of Michigan for the highest office within their gift, is in hot water, with a strong probability that he will be transferred rfom the hot water to the soup next November.

The Detroit Free Press of last Friday contains a lengthy expose by Prof. J. F. McElroy, a former Superintendent of the State school for the blind, in which Mr. Turner's official and moral peculiarities are set forth very fully. The article fills five columns of space and is fortified with letters and affidavits to prove every charge made. We append a few sample extracts. Prof. McElroy has always been a Republican and is a man of unimpeachable integrity, whose word can be implicitly relied upon. When Mr. Turner sought a reappointment to the Board of Control of the Blind School, Prof. McElroy presented to Gov. Luce a lengthy statement of the facts within his knowledge. Mr. Turner then withdrew his application for a reappointment and the matter was allowed to drop. Had not Mr. Turner allowed his political ambition to run away with his discretion, by seeking a nomination for govenor, expose would never have become public property.

AS AN ESCORT TO GEN. ALGER.

I distinctly recall an amusing example of Mr. Turner's fatal habit of prevarication. During one of Gen. Alger's visits to the school Mr. Turner conducted him through the various school rooms. He was evidently anxious to make a favorable impression upon the general, and he kindly undertook to explain to him the history of the different pupils, described their characteristics, stated what part of the state they hailed from, how long they had been in the institution and what progress they had made in their studies—all of which information was originated in his fertile imagination. I knew that he was making up the history of the pupils as fast as he went along. I was afterwards informed by Gov. Luce that Gen. Alger, in urging Mr. Turner's reappointment, had referred in enthusiastic terms to his (Turner's) wonderful familiarity with the personal history and class work of the individual inmates of the school!

I am willing to let the public

DRAW ITS OWN INFERENCE

From the fact that Turner suddenly withdrew as a candidate for reappointment after he had been fairly moving Heaven and earth to force Gov. Luce to send in his name to the Senate.

I understand that Mr. Turner has reported that my opposition to him was aroused from his having caused my salary to be reduced $500 a year. Concerning this I would say: There is no truth in this statement, that my salary was not reduced $500 a year, and that for the last year I was in the institution I received $1,600 per year—the same as the three previous years, though in some matters of household expenses there were some deductions made, but even these were not made until after a conference was held with me, and the deduction had received my whole sanction. Mr. Turner's statement on this subject is as true and no truer than other statements of his concerning his official connection with the Blind school. It simply sustains his reputation for unveracity.

THE BRAZEN HARDIHOOD

Which Turner displayed in denying the charges that he was upon saloonkeepers' bonds amazed me. An examination of the records in the city Clerk's office at Lansing will show that when he protested to Gov. Luce that I had falsely accused him, his name was upon the bonds of three saloonkeepers, one of whom he himself had set up in business in his (Turner's) own building! I do not want my motive in urging Turner's backing of the saloon interest as a reason why he should be compelled to severe his official relations with the Blind School to be misunderstood. I once had occasion to rebuke a blind pupil who I discovered was in the habit of occasionally patronizing the saloon kept by a man named Thompson in one of Turner's buildings. This boy's reply to my reprimand brought the tingle of shame to my cheek. He said: "I don't understand why my going to that saloon is such a bad thing, as I understand Mr. Turner, of the Board of Control, owns the building in which it is kept and is one of the bondsmen of its proprietor!"

It is also a matter of current talk that Mr. Turner leases his property for purposes of prostitution. This talk is very general and some of it may do Mr. Turner an injustice.

There is reliable evidence, however, in two cases in which his property was used for purposes of prostitution. Mr. Turner was informed of such use of his property and was asked to remove the inmates. In one case he is said to have made a remark for which he is already famous, viz., that "they pay their rent," and in the other case he ostensibly made a deed of the property to the woman who runs the house She is said to pay to him at this time what would amount to a good round rental on the property. The last statement I give as heresay. The fact that he pretended to sell the property to the woman and the character of the house she was keeping, can be proven.

The house here referred to is the notorious house near the city water works on Michigan avenue.

PLUNDER, AUDACITY AND CORRUPTION.

No government, not even our swaggering young Republic, teeming with wealth and bursting with energy and pride, can endure the reckless policy of the Congress now for the present done and gone—a Congress of plunder, audacity and corruption.

These are stern, harsh words—plunder, audacity and corruption—not lightly applied to any legislative body. They are true and must stand. Plunder in these pension bills, corruption to the highest water-mark in this dreadful tariff, audacity in the attempt by a Force bill to reinvade the South and provoke a new civil war. We were spared the Force bill because the tariff barons and pension sharks needed time to loot the Treasury. But the spirit reigns and will have to be met in December.

Congress is done and in a day or two will have gone. It goes without honor or useful virtuous achievement—a shallow, loose jointed, ignorant body of men, such as we never again hope to see in the Capitol. And none of them are more deserving of contempt than the herd of shoats sent from New York and its environs. With two or three exceptions we have never had such an utterly worthless gang—doing nothing, saying nothing, making no impression upon the national legislation.

Congress done and gone. For this let the benignant heavens be praised!—N. Y. Herald.

THE FARMER'S HOPE.

PROTECTION PARODIED AND REDUCED TO AN ABSURDITY.

Protection for Farmers—How It Is Defended by Protectionists—The Laughable Results of Their Arguments Shown as in a Looking Glass.

[FIRST PAPER.]

The absolute dependence of the American farmer upon the protective tariff for all his prosperity has been so often demonstrated that it may seem superfluous to add anything to what has been already so well said by our illustrious president, by Senator Cullom, the late Judge Kelley, Hon. Robert P. Porter and such able journals as The American Economist, The New York Press, The Chicago Inter-Ocean, The New York Tribune, etc. Yet the insidious wiles of the Cobden club seem to make it necessary to recur to the subject again and again.

The American Economist, which is too little known among farmers, but which is published by that noble band of defenders of American industry, the American Protective Tariff league, in its issue of Feb. 14, 1890, had an article headed "Kansas Farmers Getting Rich," in which it showed by statistics what a resistless tide of wealth was flowing into the pockets of Kansas farmers, and how rapidly they were passing manufacturers and miners in the accumulation of riches.

Thirty years ago, under the free trade tariff of 1857, Kansas was a thinly peopled territory, the inhabitants of which did not reckon one man among them worth even half a million dollars. To-day Kansas proudly boasts of her many millionaires, of her vast increase in population, of her numerous railroads, her handsome cities and other evidences of wealth. Kansas horses have increased in thirty years from 20,000 to 726,000, cattle from 93,000 to 2,580,000, sheep from 17,000 to 488,000. The value of farm animals alone is now over $114,000,000. What is the wealth of a Carnegie compared with this? And to what is this magnificent result due? Can any patriot, uncorrupted by foreign influence, hesitate to answer, "To the protection of American industry resolutely maintained by the statesmen of Kansas for the last thirty years?" Without the duties levied upon encroaching horses, cattle and sheep from abroad, how would it have been possible for the Kansas farmer thus to roll in wealth and luxury?

Captious free traders will of course say that this wealth is divided among many thousands of farmers, and therefore does not show that any one of them is really rich. Suppose this were so; is it not the boast of protected America that wealth is here divided among large numbers, instead of being concentrated among a few lordlings of the Cobden club? Free traders will next claim that much of the wealth of Kansas is concentrated in the hands of a few; that the fact of there being many millionaires proves that this is so; that the railroads are owned by eastern capitalists, and so on. They will point to the wealth of three or four such men, and claim that any one of these is worth more than the whole value of Kansas farm animals.

It must be conceded, however, that not all the farmers of our country enjoy the same measure of prosperity which The American Economist has shown to be the happy lot of the Kansas farmer. There is much complaint of low prices and poor returns. But it has been repeatedly shown that under the free trade tariffs of 1846 and 1857 so ruinous were the prices of western produce that corn was used as fuel in Iowa in 1858. Nothing could more conclusively prove the disastrous effects of the free trade policy. Rescued from that miserable condition, the Iowa farmer has found a ready market among the toilers of the loom and the anvil, who have been encouraged by a beneficent protection against foreign competition. Recently it has been alleged that corn has been burned in Iowa and Kansas for want of a market, and Congressman Kerr, of Iowa, a sound protectionist, stated in congress that this was no new thing, but had often occurred during the last twenty years.

This, no doubt, is the result of inadequate protection. Rates of duty which were sufficient twenty years ago are often insufficient now, and a wise policy demands a steady increase at recurring periods. Meantime it is consoling to read in the same champion journal already quoted, the American Economist, for April 25, 1890, that corn wisely used as a fuel and fertilizer has remarkable properties, and is a great improvement to the soil. In any case there is a vast difference between the burning of corn under free trade and under protection. Under free trade corn was burned because the farmer was too poor to send it to market. Under protection corn is burned because the farmer is independent enough to keep it out of market.

The fall in prices of farm products of which farmers complain is the direct result of their disregard of the advice which that noble defender of the protective cause, Hon. Jacob R. Dodge, has given them for more than twenty years. He has constantly urged them to plant less, pointing out that a large crop produces a smaller aggregate price than a small crop. Instead of forming an alliance, as manufacturers so wisely do, and limiting the acreage of their crops, farmers have gone on heedlessly from year to year, continually increasing their production. Every increase of demand, by raising for a time the price, has only tempted farmers to plant more and more, and so led them on to destruction. A wise application of the protective principle by restricting the production of food and making it artificially scarce will relieve American farmers from this embarrassment.

If this should seem impracticable relief may be obtained by a different application of the same beneficent principle. The new tariff, which promises to diffuse new blessings throughout the land, provides for bounties upon the growth of sugar and silk. Why not extend these bounties to all classes of farm products? A few cents paid out of the groaning treasury of the republic on each bushel of wheat, corn and potatoes to the toiling farmers would encourage their industry and enable them to compete in foreign markets with the products of the pauper labor of India and Russia. Or, to promote our export trade and shipping, the freight of American grain exported in American ships could be paid out of the taxes levied upon foreigners by our judicious tariff.

It was one of the most profound and statesmanlike sayings of our illustrious president before his election that free traders were students of maxims, while protectionists were students of markets. Stung by this incisive and philosophical remark, free traders have lately been struggling to point out new markets to American farmers. Mr. Secretary Rusk and Mr. Statistician Dodge met the issue by pointing out that Europe, to which free traders looked for a market for American wheat, is crowded with a population so poor that one-half of them, say 150,000,000, actually never taste wheaten bread and never have enough of anything to eat.

The free traders thereupon argued that if American farmers would break down the tariff barrier which now excludes the productions of these Europeans they would gladly buy American wheat in exchange, and thus give our farmers a new and large market. But right nobly answered Mr. La Follette, the representative of Wisconsin farmers on the ways and means committee, "In God's name, Mr. Speaker, is this the kind of market which they offer to the American farmer?" What, indeed, can be more preposterous than to offer to American farmers the custom of 150,000,000 men who are always hungry? Is the high spirited American farmer to be degraded by selling his crops to a crowd of half starved paupers? Is he to give them food for nothing? Or, if they would pay for it by their own productions, shall the American farmer exchange his good, clean wheat for their dirty gewgaws and gimcracks?

Take away the tariff and American farmers would be overwhelmed with a flood of foreign goods, which must speedily perish in the using, while their excellent wheat and provisions would have left this country never to return. Farmers' sons would be corrupted by the introduction of foreign luxuries, their wives and daughters would be spoiled by French silks and German woolens.

We are already too dependent on foreign markets. The price of American wheat is fixed, so say the free traders, by the Liverpool market. They propose measures which, they say, will increase the purchasing power of that market. The consistent protectionist prefers to cut off that market altogether. Since the Liverpool prices are not satisfactory let us no longer sell in Liverpool. Let this great nation make its own market, and refuse any longer to be the slave or plaything of foreign grain speculators. This can be done in either of two ways. The nation can itself buy up all the grain which would otherwise be shipped to Europe, and keep it at home, or it can absolutely exclude all imported articles, thus preventing our foreign foes from obtaining our grain by refusing to receive anything in payment therefor.

It has been well pointed out by the most philosophical champion of the American system, Professor Denslow (for many years tariff editor of The Chicago Inter-Ocean, afterward tariff editor of The Philadelphia Press, Tariff League Bulletin, etc.), that that which costs nothing has no economic value. A market which costs nothing, therefore, has no value. The Liverpool market is given to us for nothing, and therefore it has no value. The American farmer, if he desires a really valuable market, must give something for it. This he does when creating a home market.

The tariff represents the price which he pays for a steady market; and, when he has thus created a market which did not exist before, he has a market of assured value, which has cost something to produce, would cost as much to reproduce, if once lost, and which is for that reason well worth having. If this home market is not entirely satisfactory the remedy is of course to make it more valuable. This can only be done by expending more upon its development. The more it costs the more valuable it will be. Whatever taxes or other burdens may be necessary for this purpose the farmer should cheerfully bear, since they are imposed only for his own benefit.

As a matter of course the farmer should also be secured in his possession of the home market, which is thus created mainly by his efforts. Foreign agricultural products should be excluded as rigidly as manufactures. The efforts of Maj. McKinley and his associates on the ways and means committee for this purpose deserve vigorous support. They state that they have devoted months to the study of this precise point; and they report that under the existing tariff of 1883 $356,000,000 worth of foreign agricultural products are annually imported. This injurious competition with the American farmer shows clearly how dependent he is upon protection, and how much he needs an extension of the protective system to his own products.

Of this total of $356,000,000, $227,000,000 consist of sugar, coffee, tea, cocoa, hides and raw silk. It must be admitted that Maj. McKinley's solution of the problem is a little difficult to follow, for he proposes to admit more than two-thirds of all that he enumerates as agricultural products free of duty, including all the articles here specified. Differences of opinion will, however, always arise upon such matters of minor detail, and a loyal support of our gallant leader, without regard to details, is the only wise policy. The great object of protection being to cheapen prices, it may be that the admission of two-thirds of all agricultural produce free of duty may tend to keep up the price and so to benefit the American farmer.

PUBLIC SAFETY
DEMANDS

That only honest and reliable medicines should be placed upon the market. It cannot, therefore, be stated too emphatically, nor repeated too often, that all who are in need of a genuine Blood-purifier should be sure and ask for

Ayer's

Sarsaparilla. Your life, or that of some one near and dear to you, may depend on the use of this well-approved remedy in preference to any other preparation of similar name. It is compounded of Honduras sarsaparilla (the variety most rich in curative properties), stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, and the iodides. The process of manufacture is original, skilful, scrupulously clean, and such as to secure the very best medicinal qualities of each ingredient. This medicine is not boiled nor heated, and is, therefore, not a decoction; but it is a compound extract, obtained by a method exclusively our own, of the best and most powerful alteratives, tonics, and diuretics known to pharmacy. For the last forty years, Ayer's has been the standard blood-purifier of the world—no other approaching it in popular confidence or universal demand. Its formula is approved by the leading physicians and druggists. Being pure and highly concentrated, it is the most economical of any possible blood medicine. Every purchaser of Sarsaparilla should insist upon having this preparation and see that each bottle bears the well-known name of

J. C. Ayer & Co.,
Lowell, Mass.

In every quarter of the globe Ayer's Sarsaparilla is proved to be the best remedy for all diseases of the blood. Lowell druggists unite in testifying to the superior excellence of this medicine and to its great popularity in the city of its manufacture.

The figure 9 in our dates will make a long stay. No man or woman now living will ever date a document without using the figure 9. It stands in the third place in 1890, where it will remain 10 years and then move up to second place in 1900, where it will rest for one hundred years.

There is another "9" which has also come to stay. It is unlike the figure 9 in our dates in the respect that it has already moved up to first place, where it will permanently remain. It is called the "No. 9" High Arm Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine.

The "No. 9" was endorsed for first place by the experts of Europe at the Paris Exposition of 1889, where, after a severe contest with the leading machines of the world, it was awarded the only Grand Prize given to family sewing machines, all others on exhibit having received lower awards of gold medals, etc. The French Government also recognized its superiority by the decoration of Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, President of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor.

The "No. 9" is not an old machine improved upon, but is an entirely new machine, and the Grand Prize at Paris was awarded it as the grandest advance in sewing machine mechanism of the age. Those who buy it can rest assured, therefore, of having the very latest and best.

Do you want to buy a Lamp?

And the best lamp ever made, like Aladdin's of old, a "wonderful lamp!" A lamp absolutely non-explosive and unbreakable, which gives a clear, soft, brilliant white light of 85 candle power! Purer and brighter than gaslight, softer than electric light, more cheerful than either! That lamp is

"The Rochester."

And with it there is no smoke, no smell, no broken chimneys, no flickering, no sweating, no climbing up of the flame, no "tantrums" nor annoyance of any kind, and it never needs trimming. Its founts (oil reservoirs) being tough rolled seamless brass, with central draft, it is absolutely unbreakable, and as safe as a tallow candle.

Only five years old, and over two million of these lamps in use. It must be a GOOD lamp to make such a telling success. Indeed it is, for lamps may come and lamps may go, but the "Rochester" shines on forever! DR. RASMUS MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years,

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

KING OF THE BLOOD

The Most Thorough Purifier of the Blood Yet Discovered.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the stomach.
It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.

Its name is its best description as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.

It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.

It cures DROPSY, general or partial.

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.

It eradicates the effects of Venerial Disease and Mineral Poisons and establishes a sound constitution.

Many certificates, much further information and full directions to cure, will be found in the pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.

Price $1 per bottle containing 12 ounces, or 50 doses. Sold by dealers in medicine.

If your druggist does not happen to have it on hand, request him to order a supply of it for you and it will be cheaper than for you to order direct of us, and less trouble.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

THE FOURTH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE LENAWEE COUNTY ASSOCIATION HELD AT TECUMSEH, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY.

A Very Successful Two Day's Session—The Attendance Larger than Usual and a Fine Program Presented—A List of Delegates and a Brief Synopsis of the Proceedings.

The fourth annual convention of the Lenawee County Sunday School Association convened at the Presbyterian church in this village last Tuesday afternoon. The weather proved to be auspicious and the attendance at the opening session was very gratifying.

The assemblage was called to order at the appointed hour by Rev. L. M. Belden the Secretary of the convention, and in the absence of the President, Rev. Storms of Hudson, Rev. J. S Joslin of this village was chosen President pro tem.

After devotional exercises led by Rev. McMahon of Fairfield, the preliminary business of the convention was transacted. The delegates present handed in their names, the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and the standing committees were appointed.

Below is a list of the schools represented and the names of delegates.

Committee on Resolutions—Rev. W. H. Babbitt, Mrs. S. W. Anderson, Rev. VanWormer.

P. S. McKinnon of Tecumseh delivered an interesting address on the "Relation of the Sunday School to the State." A discussion followed.

Mrs. Mitchell Leonard of Palmyra read a paper on "Primary Teaching," and Dora Bennett of Adrian read an essay on "Primary Visitation."

Rev. H. M. Morey of Ypsilanti, then gave a half hour's blackboard talk to the children, which interested the old folks no less than the children.

The convention then took a recess until evening.

EVENING SESSION.

The capacious audience room of the church was well filled in the evening and the congregation was entertained with a program that was probably the best one of the convention. About an hour was devoted to a service of song, led by Mr. J. S. Strong, and the full church choir. It consisted of Anthems by the choir and Sunday School songs by the congregation. Miss Jennie Root presided at the organ with her usual efficiency.

Rev. H. M. Morey followed with a vigorous address entitled, "The Three Allies." It was intently listened to and fitly closed the exercises of the first day.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

The exercises this A.M. were held in the Baptist church. They were opened at 8:30 a. m., with devotional exercises conducted by the president.

The first topic introduced was, "What is the Place of Doctrine in the Sunday-school?" In the absence of Mr. Arnold, Rev. John Patchin opened the discussion. Rev. Mr. Williams, Mrs. Marshall Reed, Samuel Morey and others followed in a spirited discussion.

Mrs. Marshall Reed read a fine paper upon the topic, "Influence of the Teacher out of and of the Parent in the Sunday-school." Mr. West, Mrs. Freeman, John Richard, Rev. Adkins and others followed in the discussion of this topic.

Rev. H. M. Morey spoke of the state convention and state work.

Rev. Mr. Babbitt, in behalf of the Committee on Resolutions, submitted the following report, which was accepted and adopted.

RESOLUTIONS.

The Sunday-school Association of Lenawee County, Michigan, composed of Christian workers of various religious denominations, assembled in annual convention, at Tecumseh Oct. 7 and 8, 1890, would express thanks to the Heavenly Father for the measure of prosperity granted us in our work for another year. Also for the privilege of meeting together once more and joining in the profitable and stimulating exercises of this, our 4th annual county convention. In separating to return to our various homes and fields of individual effort, we hereby pledge ourselves to each other and make a public expression of our aims and principles in the following resolutions:

Resolved, That in thorough Biblical instruction we recognize one of the most important safeguards for the young against the manifold temptations to which they are exposed. An intelligent and interested student of the Bible rarely if ever makes a bad citizen or a disreputable member of society.

Resolved, That we will use all diligence to become better students of the Divine word ourselves, that we may become more successful instructors of those committed to our charge.

Resolved, That while the name of the tempter of young and old is legion, the saloon system of iniquity is so ubiquitous and so destructive that we feel bound to pledge ourselves to use every proper effort to guard the young against its influence, and in the name of humanity, as well as religion, we feel bound to protest against the continuance of this curse of our country, and to labor against it as well.

Resolved, That we feel it a privilege and an honor to be permitted to engage in a work so useful as this of aiding parents in teaching their children the precepts of God's blessed word to men, and that we invoke upon our labors of the coming year the influences of the Holy Spirit, that they may be abundantly successful in building up the kingdom of the saved.

The committee on nominations made the following report which was also adopted. Officers for the coming year:

Pres.—Rev. W. K. Spencer, of Adrian.

Sec.—Rev. L. M. Belden, Holloway.

Treas.—Channing Whitney, Adrian.

Ex. Com.—The three officers above named ex officio and Mrs. Barzillai Hurry, Tecumseh, Rev. D. C. Coburn, Adrian, Mrs. J. M. Segur, Adrian

Delegates to State Association—Rev. W. P. Wormer, Onsted; J. H. Cole, Weston, C. A. Slayton, Tecumseh, W. S. Wilcox, Adrian, Mrs. Chas. Humphrey, Adrian, M. J. Tremaine, Tecumseh, Geo. S. Bradley, Hudson.

We also recommend that the committee on program hereafter be instructed to select and notify some person to lead whenever discussion follows the reading of a paper and that the Supt. of every Sunday School, as soon as their delegates are appointed each year be required to send to the Secretary of this association a list of said delegates.

After some routine business the convention adjourned for dinner.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

The convention assembled at 1:30 P. M. in the M. E. church, and was opened by devotional exercises conducted by the President.

The special committee on Sabbath desecration submitted their report which was adopted.

The topic, "Teacher's Meetings" was opened by Rev. W. K Spencer in a plain practical way. General discussion of the topic followed.

The next topic, "Temperance Instruction" was opened by President McCulloch of Adrian College and Dr. Geo. Howell, followed by remarks from several others.

The Question Box was passed and a half hour very profitably employed in propounding and answering questions.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the people of Tecumseh for their entertainment and hospitality.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Miss Belle Joslyn visited in the A room last Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. D. A. Hammond was a visitor in our building Tuesday afternoon.

Will McNair, Bert Baker and Augustine Cummins attended Chapel exercises Tuesday morning.

Misses Agnes Stevens and Marp Burridge revisited the scenes of their former joys and sorrows Monday morning.

Misses Elva Tallman, Maggie Haire, Esther Binns and two other young ladies visited Chapel on Wednesday morning.

The autumn leaves are unusually beautiful this year. One of our Juniors appeared on the scene of warfare the other day wearing a branch nearly as large as herself. H. R.

Kidnaped and Hair Cut.

Hudson, Mich., Oct. 4.—The whole town of Hudson was farely crazed last night over the sudden disappearance of Miss Edna Wood, daughter of J. J. Wood, one of the most prominent merchants in Hudson. The fire bells were rung and the whole village en masse started in pursuit. Search was made at the residence, and under one of the large maple trees which adorn the yard was found the hair of the missing young lady.

It had undoubtedly been cut off by the kidnaper. The country was scoured and at about half past twelve Messrs. C. Woolcott and Z. Maynard found the child sleeping in a haystack about three miles out of the town. When asked how she came there, she related how two men came to their house during the absence of her mother and compelled her to enter the residence and attire herself in male clothes and then make her follow. Officers and citizens are now after the scoundrels, and, should they be found, nothing short of lynching will satisfy the indignation that is felt.—Evening News.

The "Great Divide" for October.

Stanley Wood's Great Divide was a local paper when it first appeared in March, 1889. It had become national as to circulation, in March, 1890, and at present it can justly claim international honors. It has general offices in Denver, New York and London, and arrangements are being made to publish this marvelously successful journal simultaneously in Denver and London. The success of the Great Divide is owing, doubtless, to the novel character of its matter and the lavishness of its illustrations. The October number will contain, in addition to two full page photogravures and many other illustrations, a magnificent art supplement, in nine colors, being a replica of a masterly painting in oil of a Southern Ute. This picture is suitable for framing, and is worth fully the subscription price of the Great Divide. Address the publishers at Denver, Colorado, for a sample copy of the paper free.

HALF FARE.—Harvest Excursions via Lake Shore Route.—On Sept. 9th and 23d and October 14th, 1890. The Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R'y Co., will sell Excursion Tickets to points in the South, Southwest, West and Northwest at one fare for the round trip. Tickets will be good thirty days from date of issue. Apply to ticket Agents for full particulars.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

TECUMSEH, MICH., OCT. 9, 1890.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

The HERALD, 3 months, 25 cents.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ayers started Tuesday to visit relatives at Ovid.

Mrs. D. A. Hammond of Charlotte is visiting friends in town this week.

M. E. Conklin and S. P. Hosmer went to Chicago last Tuesday.

The incandescent lamps are being placed in the table factory this week.

Twenty-five cents will pay for the HERALD for three months. Try it.

More seats have been ordered for the primary room in the Addison school.

Mrs. Dr. Peters of Blissfield was in town this week, as a delegate to the Convention.

The Clinton Woolen Mill Company will build an addition on the east end of their mill next spring, 40 by 75 feet.

The admission is only 15 and 25 cents, with no extra charge for reserved seats.

Chauncey Cooper, John Dewey and Norris Morey, of Cambridge, were in attendance upon the S. S. Convention this week.

Don't fail to go and see the popular Maude Oswald Comedy on Saturday eve., Oct. 11. Popular prices, 15 and 25 cents.

William Smith and family thank the kind friends for their help and sympathy during their recent bereavement.

Mrs. A. G. Hall, of Raisin, who has been seriously ill for several months with heart disease, died last Monday morning. Her demise had been expected for several days.

There is a pair of boots at Seelye's marked $1.09. When asked what the figure 9 was for, George replied that it was to represent the McKinley tariff.

The large attendance at the Convention Tuesday and yesterday was very encouraging to Sunday School workers. It was the best County convention that has yet been held.

The Forum for October is another strong number. Among the principal articles are "The decadence of New England," and the "Working of the new Silver Act."

James Hall Morehouse died at the residence of his son-in-law, Wm. Smith, on Saturday morning, Oct. 5th, after a lingering illness of four years and seven months.

The celebrated Elgin Watch Company's military band, which is playing an engagement at the Sioux City Corn Palace, has one member who was formerly a Blissfield boy. Bert Gray plays the Eb clarionet.

The Loyal Temperance Legion will meet at the Temperance rooms Friday, Oct. 9. Below is the program:

Reading—Maude Besemer.
Rec.—Lottie Aten.
Rec.—Letta Young.
Blackboard—Linna Hall.

To-morrow evening, Oct. 10, at the Opera House, the Maude Oswald Comedy Co. will produce Bartley Campbell's "Fate." Our limited space forbids giving an extensive synopsis of the play, but it's a good one and will undoubtedly draw the large house they deserve.

There will be a Grand Ralty of the Friends of Reform at Tipton on Friday, Oct. 10, at 7:30 p. m. sharp, to be addressed by Prof. E. G. Walker and Hon. G. P. Waring, on the great reform issues of the day. Prohibitionists, farmers and friends of reform turn out. Honest money and equal taxes and other needed reforms will be advocated. BY ORDER OF COM.

James H. Morrow, candidate for State Senator on the Democratic ticket, was in town Saturday shaking hands and getting acquainted. His nomination was made in recognition of the claims of the producing classes to be represented in the legislative body of this state, and he accepted the nomination on that basis. Laboring men throughout the county owe it to themselves and their cause to vote for Mr. Morrow.

The Maude Oswald Comedy Co. opens its season at the Opera House this evening, (Oct. 9) in "Kathleen, or The Farmer's Daughter." Too much credit can not be accorded Dion Boucicault, the author, in the construction of this comedy—his masterpiece. It is one of the comedies (which, alas! are altogether too scarce nowadays) which one can witness without fear of being offended. This is in itself an enjoyable feature. During Miss Oswald's engagement in this play at Palmer's Theatre in 1886 87, Boucicault, after watching the piece from his private box, sent a note to the little lady couched in the following flattering terms: "Miss Oswald, there have been actresses of merit play the part of "Kathleen" and give satisfaction, but your rendition of that character this evening has given our friends in front a clearer idea of what I really intended Kathleen to be than ever before. Accept my compliments. Very truly,

DION BOUCICAULT.

The HERALD, three months, 25 cts.

Frank Davidson visited Dundee last Friday.

Mrs. Theo. Crane visited friends in Manchester last week.

Twelve widows reside on one street in the village of Blissfield.

Anderson & Co., of this village, advertise in the Addison Courier.

We claim to have the best lecture course in the state outside of Grand Rapids.

Maude Oswald at the Opera House this evening; also Friday and Saturday evening.

Now is the time to take a three months trial trip with the Herald. Only 25 cents.

There were four sections of the Olin excursion train which passed over the Mackinaw road last week.

The Journalist for Sept. 20th contains a very interesting, gossipy letter from the pen of E. Cora DePuy.

Congressman Allen is devoting this week to Lenawee county. He speaks this evening at Tipton and to-morrow evening at Clinton.

Geo. Heesen & Son began operations in their fruit evaporator last Monday. Business will now be pushed until the close of the season.

Temple, McClure & Co. have dug a well near their office building on Pearl street. It is a splendid well of water and will be a great convenience.

Frank Rose, a former resident of Tecumseh, is now holding down a street car on the Oak street line in East Toledo. He has a lucrative place and is well pleased with it.

The Franklin Celery Company is marketing some splendid celery this fall. They also have a big crop of cabbages. We saw one of their cabbage heads last Monday that weighed 14½ pounds.

Miss Loana Stacy severed her connection with the postoffice the first day of October. Her work has been very exacting for the past few months and she is taking a much needed rest for a few days, visiting friends in Norvell and Brooklyn.

We have received a prospectus of the Michigan Masonic Fair, which will be held at Grand Rapids Nov. 10 to 15. The object of the Fair is to enable the trustees of the Michigan Masonic Home to complete the building. It promises to be the most elaborate affair of the kind ever held in the state.

The Detroit News is out with another of its liberal propositions to its readers. A beautiful picture, a reproduction of that famous painting, "The Russian Wedding Feast," will be given to every reader. The picture alone is worth five times the money it will cost to take the paper for the 60 days necessary to receive a picture.

A company has been incorporated at Chicago with a capital of twenty millions to build and operate a new air ship, which it is claimed will go around the world in six days. Among the incorporators is Warren C. Dewey an old Lenawee county boy, now a resident of Grand Rapids.

Ira Waterman, of Hudson, Democratic candidate for county clerk, was in town Saturday. He is making a thorough canvass of the county, and feels quite sanguine of his election. People who favor Mr. Waterman with their suffrages can rest assured that they are voting for a man who would fill the position most creditably. He is making friends wherever he goes.

The finishing touches are being put on the Tiffany Iron Works building. The oiler is already in position and the engine is being set. Some of the heavy machines have come and will soon be located. Workmen are busy this week putting up the line shafting. The office room is nearly completed. It looks now as though active operations might begin by the first of November.

Extensive repairs are in progress at Smith's paper mill, which amount almost to a rebuilding of the mill. Both floors are being put in new with new sills and joists, a new arch is to be placed under the boilers and all the machinery will be overhauled and reset. Work is progressing on a drive well with the intention of procuring a flowing artesian well if possible. The drill is now down over 200 feet. It will probably take a month to complete the repairs.

The Maude Oswald Comedy Company appears at the opera house three evenings this week, commencing this evening, The repertoire of this Co. comprises the best and purest dramas ever produced on the American stage. Not an unrefined word spoken; not a dull scene depicted. In each play every act is full of interest. A great amount of labor has been expended in securing dramas which show the versatility of this charming young actress. The plays which she now controls are not new and untried, but are reigning successes that never fail to please. Sparkling with wit, bubbling with humor, they are always entertaining. Each member of this Company is an artist, and especially adapted to the parts assigned them. Admission, 15 and 25 cents. No extra charge for reserved seats.

Buy your tickets for the lecture course.

Geo. W. Stacy of East Buffalo is at home a day or two this week.

Twenty-five cents will pay for the HERALD for three months. Try it.

Season tickets for the election courses are on sale at Adamson Bros., and Baker and Hall's.

The first entertainment of our Lecture Course will be given by Adele Aus Der Ohe on Friday evening, Oct. 31st.

Three political meetings the first three evenings of next week. Every voter in Tecumseh ought to attend every one of them.

Mart Whelan is in luck,
For a full inch flow he has struck,
In a 60-foot well;
Go and see, it's no sell.

See James Lowry's new card this week. He is going to give a book of 600 pages, "Stanley in Africa," to cash customers only.

Landlord Patterson has just received a new invoice of elegant cups and saucers. If you don't believe it, ask the waiter girl for a cup of black tea.

Season tickets for the Lecture Course—six admissions—have been placed at $1.50. Single tickets will be fifty cents. Reserved seats without extra charge.

Season tickets for the lecture course are now on sale and may be obtained from any member of the executive board, Dr. Howell, J. H. Smith, C. F. Field, C. A. Shayton, S. W. Anderson, J. D. Shull, or D. McNair.

The Rev. L. C. Chase will talk to the people of Macon at Pennington's Corner's, on Thursday evening, Oct. 16, on the subject of Prohibition. All those that have heard him will come and those that have not had better come and hear him.

Hand bills were issued from the Messenger office for a Reform rally at Tipton on Friday, Oct. 13th. It happens that Friday is Oct. tenth by this year's calendar, which is the proper date for the meeting. Had Bro. Grandon just been out for a glass of beer before reading the proof of that hand bill?

The Democrats of Tecumseh will hold their first rally of the campaign at the Opera House on Tuesday evening of next week Oct. 4th. Hon. Jerome Turner of Owosso will address the meeting. Mr. Turner is an eloquent stump speaker and thoroughly posted on the tariff question. Turn out and hear him.

Last Thursday evening the large barn on the farm of Mrs. Henry Haines, two miles west of the village, was struck by lightning and burned, destroying a large amount of hay and grain, farm implements, etc. The stock in the barn escaped. The property was insured for $1500, but the loss will still be heavy, which Mrs. Haines can illy afford to bear.

Rev. J. M. Reid of Grand Rapids, and Hon. A. S. Partridge, Prohibition candidate for Governor and also President of the State P. of I. Association, will address a public meeting in the Opera House on Wednesday evening, Oct. 15, at 7:30 o'clock. Friends of governmental reform, please extend the notice of this meeting.

BY ORDER OF COM.

Capt. E. P. Allen will address his fellow citizens of Tecumseh on Monday evening next, Oct. 13th, on the political issues of the dry. We hope our citizens regardless of party will give him a full house and a candid hearing. The questions now dividing the parties are vital ones and voters should obtain all the information thereon possible. They can rely upon hearing an able, candid speech from Capt. Allen.

Dressmaking.

Miss Nettie Boyd and Miss Eva Humphrey have opened dressmaking rooms at the home of the latter in Brownville, third door east of Wm. Brazee's. Cutting and fitting a specialty. Satisfaction guaranteed.

HOW IT IS FELT

The Effect of the McKinley Tarriff Bill

ON ENGLISH MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES.

Reports From All Along the Industrial Line in England—Cutting Down Wages There—The Irish Land Purchase Bill and Parliament.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—English industry is now beginning to feel the effects of the new American tariff law. Manufacturers were kept busy up to the latest moment possible in making goods for America, to be shipped in advance of the new law going into operation, and many are now busy in filling orders which meanwhile accumulated from England and from foreign countries other than the United States. This will keep such establishments active for several months to come; but this good fortune is not universal, and from many quarters come evidences of commercial disturbances more or less serious in their effects. In the Staffordshire nail works the employes have been subjected to a ten per cent reduction in wages, and a similar blow has fallen upon the small army of laborers in the steel works of Barrow and Furness. The Yorkshire mining and manufacturing operatives contemplate a considerable reduction in in the number of their employes, and have despatched traveling agents in all directions to endeavor to secure new markets in place of the American. The button makers of Birmingham have sent agents to America to see if it would be practicable to retain their market in that country by establishing factories there in conjuction with their English houses.

There are several Liberal members of parliament now without authority in the party, who, while they are strongly opposed to the principles and policy of the Irish land purchase bill which will form the chief business of the next session of parliament, are disposed to view the probability of its passage with the feeling that it will remove the question from the path of the next parliament, and will so satisfy the view of some who were strongly committed to the bill in 1886. This is a matter not of surmise, but of fact, and Mr. Morley says it ought to be met with the opinion of the main body of the Liberal parts. The bill of the government, according to Mr. Morley, is a bad bill, and has been shown to be a bad bill, offering delusive security and pledging the credit of England for a vast amount of money. It is a bill which is not supported by any great body of the people for whose benefit it is supposed to be put forward, and there is in hand more than 2,000,000 pounds of the money already voted in parliament for land purchase. Mr. Morley further says there is another fact which ought to be present to the minds of those who within two months will be called upon to deal with the bill.

A Chinese imperial decree has been issued legalizing the production of opium.

POOR JOHNSONBURG.

It Falls a Victim to a Conflagration This Time.

JOHNSONBURG, PA., Oct. 6.—Fire broke out early yesterday morning, and at 9 o'clock was still burning fiercely in the business portion of this place. The buildings destroyed were Hagan's large general store, Young's millinery store and Johnson's grocery and dry goods store. The fire was under control at 9 p. m., thought it was feared the frame portion of the town might go. The present loss is $40,000, half covered by insurance. Natural gas started the fire.

So Far Correct.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 6.—The Times-Democrat Baton Rouge special says that an inspection of ex-Postmaster McGregor's accounts has been made by a special government agent and so far as known they were found correct. Mr. McGregor, it is reported, left for New York on the 2nd instant. His bondsmen today placed ex-Postmaster John O'Connor in charge of the office.

Yale Won.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 6.—The Yale and Crescent foot ball teams played at Washington park Saturday. The Crescent eleven is composed of old college players and they gave the Yale eleven all they could do to win. The latter succeeded in winning, however, by a score of 18 to 6.

FOREIGN FLASHES.

By English Syndicate.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—A syndicate has been formed with a capital of £800,000, to secure a monopoly of the commercial and industrial contracts in Great Britain and America.

Wales Joins Them.

LONDON, Oct 6.—The Prince of Wales left for Vienna to take part in the court festivities in that city in connection with the visit of Emperor William and King of Saxony.

Of Course They Can't.

ROME, GA., Oct. 6.—Mrs. A. M. Wimple, of this city, is lying at the point of death from the effects of a dose of poison administered it is charged by Mrs. Doss McKee, a neighbor. Officers are unable to find Mrs. McKee, who disappeared when suspected of the crime. The affair has created a great sensation.

Who's Afraid?

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Standard, commenting on the probable effect of the McKinley tariff bill, says: We need not fear death or even dimunition of the English iron trade with America if we only imitate the avicity of Americans to take advantage of every improvement in manufacturing.

Stanford Talks.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Senator Leland Stanford, in an interview, before leaving, regarding the Huntington attacks said he was unwilling to say anything, except that the people of California knew him and Huntington. He was willing to abide with their decision. Mrs. Stanford said the one great thought of her husband is the university. She expressed the belief that he would leave all his fortune to it, which would meet her entire approbation.

EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND

Will Attend the Thurman Banquet in Columbus.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 6.

Mr. John J. Lentz, president of the Thurman club, who is now in New York to personally invite ex-President Cleveland to be present at the coming banquet to ex-Senator Thurman, to be held on the next anniversary of his birth-day, on November 13, sent the following telegram to Secretary Fritter:

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.

Lincoln Fritter, Columbus, O., Secretary Thurman Club.

Mr. Cleveland accepts invitation to attend Thurman banquet. Inform club.

JOHN J. LENTZ.

The Thurman club people were very jubilant last night over the news. It is hoped also to have Chief Justice Fuller, ex-Secretary Whitney, Governor Hill, Senator Brice and other prominent Democrats here at that time.

AN EXTRA SESSION

WILL BE CALLED BY THE GOVERNOR OF OHIO.

The Proclamation Will Probably Be Issued Monday—Something About the Expense of the Special Session and Breezy Scenes That Are Expected.

COLMUBUS, O. Oct. 6.

Governor Campbell has now decided to call an extra session in the legislature for the purpose of abolishing the present Cincinnati Board of Public Improvements. He will probably issue the proclamation tomorrow, unless Hon. Louis Reemelin files his resignation before that time. As there is no probability of Mr. Reemelin stepping down and out under the present circumstances or in consideration of the governor's decision upon the line of action indicated, it may be regarded as a certainty that the extraordinary session will be held.

The governor was called upon by a representative of this paper last night, and talked more freely than he has at any time since the beginning of the imbroglio. He stated that he would probably issue a proclamation Monday, commanding the legislature to assemble. The action will be taken, he said, in time to have the old board abolished long enough prior to the approaching election to select the new members by popular vote at that time. The governor will recommend that the new board be chosen in that manner. In regard to the Enquirer's statement that an extra session will cost the state $100,000, he said it was ridiculous. He had calculated the expense of the movement and stated that it could not exceed $5,000 or $6,00. The members of the legislature, according to the governor's opinion, will be entitled to no extra pay for attending the extra session. They are paid $1,2000 per year for their duties as legislators, and will be expected to demand nothing additional for the special meeting. The various subordinates in both houses, will of course, be entitled to salaries per week during the session as they are paid in that manner. It will require an expenditure of $1,500 per week for them. That amount will be about all of the expense of the extraordinary session unless the members are allowed mileage, concerning the legality of which there is some question in this case. Should they be allowed mileage, it will bring the expense up to $5,200, In the governor's opinion, if the members receive any more than mileage it will be simply salary grabbing of the worst order.

The governor's proclamation calling the legislature together is expected to be a ringing production, and the message, when they have assembled, still more forcible. In this message to be presented on the first day of the special session, the governor will doubtless make some interesting statements concerning the corrupt methods in the Cincinnati B. P. I. It is also expected that he will call attention to the Storrs township congressional error and recommend that it be corrected.

As Mr. Reemelin will demand a regular trial before the general assembly to prove the charges against him, and be supported in this demand by the Hamilton county delegation and other anti-Campbellites, some breezy scenes may be expected.

The governor said, in speaking of the special session, that it need not continue more than one week.

Shipwrecked Sailors.

NORFOLK, VA., Oct. 6.—Twenty-one of the crew of the steamship Glenrath, which was wrecked several days ago by running on the wreck of the steamship Aberlady Bay, off Cape Lookout, have arrived in Norfolk. The crew all took to the boats after the wreck and reached the life-saving station at Cape Lookout after being at sea eleven hours. Their steamship, which was bound to Pensacola, Florida, sunk before they left her. None of the men saved any of their effects.

To Treat With the Indians.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The president has appointed the following commissioners on Indian matters: A. H. Mahone, Charleston, West Virginia; William Hoyne, South Bend, Indiana, and Isaac Kennimore, Mount Holly, New Jersey, to negotiate with the Turtle Mountain band of Chippewas, North Dakota, and to obtain the consent of the Chippewas in Minnesota according to act approved August 19, 1890.

The Idaho Election.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—President Harrison has received a dispatch from Delegate Dubois, of Idaho, stating that the Republicans had carried Idaho by 2,500 majority. The legislature will stand: Republicans 44, Democrats 10. Delegate Dubois adds: "I congratulate you on the splendid endorsement on home rule and wise policy to our land settlers. The entire northwest endorses your administration."

Disastrous Prairie Fires.

ELBOW LAKE, MINN., Oct. 6.—The greater portion of Lawrence township, in this county, has been devastated by a prairie fire. Dozens of farmers lost their crops, houses farm buildings and machinery, and are in an impoverished condition. It is estimated that the loss will aggregate $40,000 or $50,000. The fire started from cinders dumped on the roadway by a farm engine.

Dishonest Election Officer.

BALTIMORE, MD., Oct. 6.—George Duvall, the Democratic register of voters in Kent district, Prince George's county, has been arrested by Deputy U. S. Marshal Day and brought to Baltimore. He is charged with placing on the register the names of persons not present, and failing to administer the oath to persons put upon the registery of voters. He is also charged with noting 198 voters to be stricken off the list at the October sitting and not sending them notice through the sheriff. Duvall says that he expected the party to stand by him in his trouble, as he had not asked for the office. He was formerly a member of the legislature.

Only Takes a Million.

GALVESTON, TEXAS, Oct. 6.—The engineer in charge of the harbor works here, Major Allen, has gone to Washington to join the board of engineers detailed to consider the contract for the completion of the Galveston harbor improvements as authorized by the river and harbor bill. The amount needed for the first year's work is estimated by Chief Engineer Casey at $1,000,000.

Thousands Poisoned.

In a recent work on Heart Disease, Dr. Franklin Miles—the noted specialist—gives many new and startling facts. Thousands of people are slowly poisoning themselves, weakening their hearts by the use of tea, coffee, tobacco and alcohol. These are Heart Whips, causing it to beat rapidly, thus gradually wearing it out, producing shortness of breath when exercising, pains in side and shoulder, hungry and faint spells. Finally heart failure and sudden death. For weakened and irritated hearts the press everywhere highly recomend the New Heart Cure discovered by Dr. Franklin Miles, which is for sale at Baker & Hall's.

DODD'S CATARRH CURE.

LOCAL AND INTERNAL TREATMENT.

In order to cure catarrh it is necessarry to allay the inflammation of the irritated membranes with a soothing application, cleanse the head of the plugging mucous secretions, and heal the discharging ulcers For cold in the head and nasal catarrh Dodds' local treatment does this without the aid of snuff, douches or fumes. If the disease has extended downwards affecting the bronchial tubes or lungs, digestion and blood, the internal treatment both removes from the system the scattered poison, and by its building-up properties assists nature in restoring the impaired parts. St. Jacobs Oil Cures

PROMPTLY AND PERFECTLY

BRUISES, SWELLINGS, CUTS, &c.

A bruise is a contusion; swellings are inflammations; cuts and wounds are alike disturbances to natural action, through which the veins are clogged, circulation impeded, congestion acts in and pains ensue. Nature is impatient—it tries to right itself and pain intensifies. Bruises and swellings need a soothing influence, but in cuts and wounds hardly any one would pour a liquid remedy into a raging wound. So soon as nature brings the parts together, almost at once,

St. Jacobs Oil soothes, clears away obstructions, heals the injured tissues and restores. Used according to directions, it helps nature and cures

PROMPTLY AND PERMANENTLY.

Mr. Louis Rush, 49 Preston Street, Detroit, Mich., says: "Pitching ball I sprained and bruised my arm; two applications of St. Jacobs Oil cured me."

Mr. Gustav Nauwald, Jr. (Tivydale), Fredericksburg, Texas, writes, August 20, 1888: "I was badly cut with a scythe; half bottle St. Jacobs Oil cured me." It CURES.

The Lottery Law Effects Other Interests

QUITE AS SERIOUSLY AS IT DOES THE OCTOPUS ITSELF.

The Bonds of the City of New Orleans Will Be Excluded From the Mails by Its Provisions, and Their Value Is Seriously Affected.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 6.—It has been discovered that the anti-lottery bill recently passed by congress is likely to affect other interests almost as seriously as it does the institution at which it was aimed. Nearly all the debt of the city is placed in premium bonds, the scheme for the payment of which is a lottery pure and simple. The numbers of the bonds are placed in a wheel semi-annually and a certain number of them drawn out. These are paid with all the accrued interest (about 90 per cent. now), and premiums ranging from $5,000 to $5. The courts, years ago, declared this to be a lottery, by granting the Louisiana company an injunction against the city, prohibiting the drawings, which was afterwards dissolved at the request of the lottery company. Postmaster Eaton has decided that these drawings come under the ban, and officials who have heretofore been sending out circulars giving the result of the drawings are at a loss how to let bond-holders know that their numbers are drawn. It is believed that the value of the bonds will be affected in consequence. The bonds of the cotton exchange and several other corporations are paid in much the same way, and they, too, will be excluded from the mails. No less than fifty-two different papers have been seized at this office for violating the law.

THOSE TIN PLATE MILLS.

The Story That a Number Will Be Established, Discredited.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 6.—The leading representatives of the tin plate trade in this city discredit the story that a number of American tin plate mills are to be established. No one here seems to know anything of the $7,000,000 plant which is reported as about to be located in Baltimore. One prominent dealer, in discrediting the story says: Better tin ore than has yet been found in our mines will have to be discovered before tin plate equal to what we import and what we need can be produced. Several efforts have been made to manufacture the best grades of tin plate, but without success, and only an inferior quality of tin roofing has ever been turned out. The business has been unprofitable because of this inferiority, and it has never been pushed. About 300,000 boxes of tin plates are annually used in the canning industries in and about Baltimore, and the new tariff will add $1.30 to the cost of each box. It is necessary to silence, if possible, the voice of protest against this increased tariff that has been raised in this section. There will be nothing further heard of the new mills after election.

CHEERFUL SQUATTERS

Rushing to Capture the Wisconsin Railroad Indemnity Lands.

ATHLAND, WIS., Oct. 6.—The recent action at Washington in throwing open railroad indemnity lands has brought hundreds of fortune seekers to this region within the last three or four days. Almost every quarter section of railroad indemnity land between Ashland and Marengo, a distance of eighteen miles, is being "squatted" upon by one or more enterprising settlers. All the indemnity lands lying within the city limits is taken up, and also most of that lying just outside of town. These settlers will file "notices" at the land office of their intention to settle on the land and get a "refusal receipt." Just at present the officers of the government, in accordance with instructions, do not recognize the validity of any of these filings. In spite of this the "squatters" are cheerful and believe that the court of last resort will, before long, confirm the titles to their claims.

REVOLTING TALE.

Colored Preacher Sells His Wife's Dead Body for Drink.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., Oct. 4.—Alexander Frazier, a noted colored preacher, was in the police court charged with drunkeness. The testimony gave a sensational color to the case, it being shown that Frazier's wife had recently died in child birth and that he had sold the body of the infant. The purchasers, who are presumably medical students, went to Frazier's house and dissected the body of the woman, leaving pieces of the body of the remains scattered over the room. Warrants have been issued for all the persons implicated.

Michigan Mining Trouble.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., Oct. 6.—An Ishpeming, Mich., special to the Tribune says: The mining companies of Marquette county have returned an answer to the miners' petition asking for five shifts night work for a week and an eight hour day on Saturday, refusing the request. The day shift men here quit at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and the night shift men did not go to work at all. There are four thousand miners in Ishpeming and ten thousand in the county. The relations between the mine owners and the men are somewhat strained.

Increased Pay on the Mackey Lines.

TERRE HAUTE, IND., Oct. 6.—It is learned on reliable authority, that as a result of the conference between President Mackey and the men on his road, assistant telegraph operators will be placed at several stations, which will make the work lighter, and a general increase of from $10 to $15 a month was granted the operators, while the office clerks will be granted a substantial increase as well. No operator will be paid less than $40 per month. The increase places the men on an equal standing with the best paid men on any road.

Edison Endows a Hospital.

DRESDEN, Oct. 6.—The chief physician of the city hospital has received from Thomas A. Edison, the well-known electrician, $1,000, with the request that it be used for the hospital. Edison's daughter was successfully treated in this institution.

MT. VERNON, O., Oct. 6.—At the Democratic convention held here Saturday afternoon they nominated a county ticket as follows: Sheriff, Noah Allen; probate judge, Wm. Robinson; commissioner, Jack Warren; clerk of court, Hugh Neal; surveyor, Jno. McCrory; infirmary director, Robt Hyatt; coroner, George Stofer.

Ballot Box Forgery Report.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 6.—To a newspaper man who asked Governor Foraker why the committee on the ballot box forgery did not report before congress adjourned, that gentleman replied as follows:

"They were very much hurried in the closing days of the session, and it was hard work to get five men together, I suppose. I know they were never delayed because of me. I gave my testimony in the case, told all I knew of it, and have not communicated with any member of the committee since. I have no opinion about the matter at all. I suppose they will report next winter."

MORE BLOOD.

ANOTHER REVOLT THREATENED IN GUATEMALA.

All Does Not Seem to Be Going as Merry as a Marriage Bell Down in the Pugnacious South American Republics.

ACAPULCO, MEX., Oct. 6.—A letter has been received here by a steamer which says that at a banquet and ball given by Barrillas in honor of the diplomatic corps, Senor Anguiano, secretary of foreign relations, arose to pay a compliment. He started in with an ungramatical toast and made admissions not satisfactory to Barrillas, who arose when the toast was made and said that he was not in accord with Anguiano, and contradicted the secretary's words, saying that he made war against Salvador for the good of the country, and had accepted peace after he had gained the principle for which he entered the war. After the banquet Barrillas joined the party of diplomats and members of the cabinet and said:

"As I am in a circle of friends I have no necessity of remaining quiet. I am not satisfied with peace because Ezeta is president of Salvador. There should be no presidents in that republic unless they are agreeable to Guatemala. Ayala has seen me and desires to make war on Salvador. He will make the war good for my country and I am obliged not to look for an excuse to make it."

The letter referred to also states that an early revolution is expected in Guatemala.

THE RACE QUESTION

Seems Likely to Cause Trouble Among Texas Switchmen.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—A special to the Tribune from Houston, Texas, says: The Houston and Texas Central railway has employed colored switchmen in its yards for several years. About two weeks ago a demand was made for their removal, their places to be filled by whites. The demand was refused and the firemen all struck. Grand Master Wilkinson was sent for and has been in the city about two days, trying to adjust matters amicably, but without avail, as the officials of the Central are firm in their position, arguing that if the colored men are good enough to sit in the councils of the Knights of Labor they should be good enough to work with. Grand Master Wilkinson has wired all members of the executive council of the Railway Federation, which recently met in Terre Haute, to come to Houston at once, and the impression is general that a strike is imminent. The Southern Pacific may also be involved, as both roads are in the Huntington system.

Rats Ate Up $5,000.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Oct. 6.—Steve Zenga, a miser, living on the Missouri river near Chamberlain, S. D., has discovered that he lost a fortune in a peculiar manner. It had been his custom for several years past to secrete his surplus cash in a cellar under his house instead of placing it in a bank. The pile had gradually accumulated until the total had reached over five thousand dollars, all in greenbacks, in denominations of from one dollar to $500. On visiting his secret hoard he found that rats and mice had burrowed in and chewed up the bills until they were entirely worthless.

Big Failure.

PITTSBURG, PA., Oct. 6.—The well known firm of Fleming Brothers, wholesale manufacturers and dealers in proprietory medicines, has assigned. Liabilities $500,000, assets $1,000,000.

Text of the Lesson, Luke xxii, 7-20. Commit Verses 19, 20—Golden Text, I Cor. xi, 26—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

We pass by many most interesting incidents in the last days ere the crucifixion, and all His great discourse on the Mount of Olives concerning His coming again and the end of the age, and are brought in this lesson to His last passover with His disciples the night before He was crucified.

7. "Then came the day of unleavened bread when the passover must be killed." Or, as in the first verse, "The feast of unleavened bread drew nigh which is called the passover." This takes us back to Ex. xii, where we have the record of the last night in Egyptian bondage and their deliverance by the mighty power of God.

8. "And He sent Peter and John, saying, Go and prepare us the passover, that we may eat." These two we have found specially privileged on several other occasions: at the raising of the ruler's daughter and at the transfiguration, and we shall find them again in Gethsemane. They also are the prominent two in Acts iii and iv in connection with the healing of the lame man and the conversion of five thousand.

9. "And they said unto Him, where wilt Thou that we prepare?" This is as it always should be with a disciple of Christ. Where wilt Thou? What wilt thou? Not as I will, but as Thou wilt. Thy way, not Mine.

10. "And He said unto them, Behold, when ye are entered into the city, there shall a man meet you bearing a pitcher of water; follow him into the house where he entereth in." As when He told them by His omniscience just where and how they would find the ass and the colt; and as when Samuel by the same omniscient spirit told Saul just whom he would meet and what they would say and do (Luke xix, 30; 1 Sam. x, 2-9). So now knowing all things He directs them.

11. "And ye shall say unto the good man of the house, The Master saith unto thee, where is the guest chamber, where I shall eat the passover with my disciples?" He not only tells us when and where to go and how to act, but He also tells us what to say. In the gospel by John He very often speaks of Himself as sent by the Father, and not only so, He says the Father gave Him a commandment what He should say and what He should speak (John xii, 49). So when He sends His disciples He tells them just what to say (Matt. x, 7, 19; Luke xix, 31). When the prophets were sent forth they, too, were specially instructed to speak only the Lord's message (Jer. i, 7; Ezek. ii, 7; Hag. i, 13). And well would it be for all preachers and teachers if they were always the Lord's messengers, speaking the Lord's message.

12. "And he shall show you a large upper room furnished; there make ready." Forget not from the last verse that He must enter the house as master; and see again the oneness of Christ and His disciples. "Father, I will that those whom thou hast given me be with me where I am" (John xvii, 24). Here is a willing owner of a house; it looks as if he must be a disciple; he will offer a large furnished room, and do it cheerfully. Are our homes as cheerfully placed at the Master's disposal, and is everything excluded from the home that He would not like?

13. "And they went and found as He had said unto them; and they made ready the passover." Prompt and cheeful obedience is our part as His followers.

14. "And when the hour was come, He sat down, and the twelve apostles with Him." With God there is a time for everything, and He is never too fast nor too slow. "When the fulness of time had come He sent forth His Son." "He has appointed a day in the which He will judge the world" (Gal. iv, 4; Acts xvii, 31). Many a time they tried to take Jesus to put Him to death, but they could not touch Him till the appointed time came, and then He gave Himself into their hands. As to our salvation, the time is now; today, if ye will hear His voice; the hour now is, when they that hear shall live (Isa. i, 18; II Cor. vi, 2; Heb. iii, 15; John v, 25).

15. "And He said unto them, With desire I have desired to eat this passover with you before I suffer;" or, as in the margin, "I have heartily desired." We think of Him at the passover, at the age of 12 and at the first passover of His public ministry. We look away back to the first passover in Egypt, and think of the one in the wilderness, and at Gilgal, and the great ones of Hezekiah and Josiah and Ezra; but this one which He desired so greatly to eat with them was the greatest of all, for it was the fulfillment of all, and He who now ate it with them was on the morrow to be Himself slain, the great antetype of all the passovers that were ever kept, the true Lamb of God in whom alone is redemption and deliverance from the great oppressor.

16. "For I say unto you, I will not any more eat thereof until it be fulfilled in the Kingdom of God." If He is the true Paschal Lamb, and His death about to be accomplished, the fulfillment of all the types, then what is this that He says about a fulfillment in the Kingdom of God? If the church is the Kingdom, as so many teach, and the Kingdom has already come, then let some one who so believes please explain this verse. But if the Kingdom is postponed till His return, as He taught in chap. xix, 11-15; and if at His return there is to be a great gathering of Israel, from all the corners of the earth, as all the prophets teach; and if it shall be according to the days of their coming out of Egypt (Mic. vii, 15), then it seems to me all plain.

17. "And He took the cup, and gave thanks, and said, Take this and divide it among yourselves."

18. "For I say unto you, I will not drink of the fruit of the vine until the Kingdom of God shall come." Then shall all Israel's fast days become joy and gladness and cheerful feasts. Then the ransomed of the Lord shall return and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads. They shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away.

19. "And He took bread and gave thanks, and brake it, and gave unto them, saying, This is My body which is given for you, this do in remembrance of Me." Having kept the passover He now institutes a new feast which we call The Lord's Supper, or The Communion.

20. "Likewise also the cup after supper, saying, This cup is the new testament in My blood which is shed for you." In the same sense that He is the door, the true vine, the living bread, in that sense only is the bread and wine His body and blood, and we partake of each in grateful remembrance of His sufferings for us, whereby we become members of His body, and look forward to His coming when we shall be perfected in His likeness. Let us, when we partake of the wine, think of His blood shed for us, and pray to be such faithful witnesses that we shall be willing to seal our testimony with our blood, not loving our lives unto the death.

The Wonderful Tower.

The highest structure in the world is Eiffel Tower, at Paris, 1,000 feet high But the great discovery of Dr. Franklin Miles is certain to tower far above it in promoting human happiness and health. This wonderful nerve medicine builds up worneout systems, cures fits, spasms, headache, nervous prostration dizziness, sleeplessness, monthly pains, sexual troubles, etc. Mrs. John R. Miller, of Valparaiso, Ind., and J. D. Talor, of Logansport, Ind., gained 20 pounds a month while taking it. Finely illustrated treatises on "Nervous Diseases" and sample bottle of the Restorative Nervine, free at Baker & Halls who guarantee it.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. A trustworthy medical writer says: "Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but most of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure cannot be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient.

What Does It Mean?

"100 Doses One Dollar" means simply that Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most economical medicine to buy, because it gives more for the money than any other preparation. Each bottle contains 100 doses and will average to last a month, while other preparations taken according to directions, are gone in a week. Therefore, be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, the best blood purifier.

I had Stone in the Bladder

And my kidneys were affected. None of the means taken produced any benefit until I began the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N.Y.
The pain ceased the stone having been dissolved by the action of the medicine. I am ready in public or in private to testify that my recovery is due to Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. E. D. W. Parsons, Rochester.

Telegraph dispatches some time ago recorded the wrecking, during a storm on Lake Superior, of the schooner Commander, all hands on board being lost. The vessel was commanded by Capt. John T. Pierce, who lived near the blissfield line in Raisin township, and as nothing has been heard of either the vessel or her crew, it is feared the news is only too true. The Captain was a member of Scott Post G. A. R., and a man in whose honesty the utmost confidence could be placed. —Blissfield Advance.

Two years ago Congressman Allen contracted the wool of the district "for future delivery," at 50 cents a pound. The result is, Allen is now "long" on wool, while the farmers demand fulfillment of the contract. Wool is now but little higher than the contract prices, and as the congressman's "margins" are out and he can neither fulfill nor "carry" any longer, the wool growers of the district are calling on broker Gorman to close him out and send him into political bankruptcy. This will be done in November. Some Gorman slips this way, please.—Adrian Press.

The chief operator in the recent horse thefts in this county is known to be George Thompson, who was sent to Jackson ten years ago for a similar crime. The toes of the left foot are cut off and the boot prints in the sand give him away. Very recently he rode into an Ohio town on a Michigan stolen horse, was recognized, stole an Ohio horse, with which he escaped to the woods, and remains at large. A reward of $500 dollars is offered by the Ohio people for this criminal, who can beat old Sile Doty in his palmiest days. The Lenawee county mutual protection is still at work on his case.—Hudson Gazette.

The Prize Drill and Parade

At Detroit next week, October 15th), for The Detroit Journal Prize Flag, promises to be one of the most important military events in the history of Michigan. Half fare over all Michigan Railroads to witness it gives some idea of the wide-spread interest that is felt throughout Michigan. The 4 companies of "regulars" at Fort Wayne, and the 6 companies at Detroit, composing the 4th Regiment, together with about 15 military companies from various parts of Michigan will participate. The whole is to be under command of General Eugene Robinson. Ladies will be admitted free to the park where the drill is to take place, if accompanied by gentlemen, who will be expected to pay 25 cents each. Four companies of British troops, from Windsor, Ontario, will also be present, and participate in the parade.

WILHELM'S IMPROVED CREAMERY CAN.

Unequalled for private Dairies of from one cow to full size Creamery. $5.00 will buy FOUR 3-GAL. CANS making a capacity of 12 gallons of milk, and will PRODUCE ALL THE CREAM FROM 4 TO 8 HOURS, in a vat, tub, or any receptacle the farmer may choose, holding water from 10 to 14 inches in depth, and at a temperature from 40 to 60 degrees cold. IT MAKES A PERFECT CREAM and combines the advantage of deep setting, rapid cooling, protecting the milk from all impurities of the atmosphere which so quickly taints cream. Also preventing souring by thunder storms, from flies, insects, dust, and all bad odors, thus preserving both cream and milk, clean and sweet. Over 200,000 in actual use in the U. S. One setting of milk is all that is needed to prove the merit of the can. Usual size of can, 3-gal., price $1.25. A liberal discount on orders of one dozen Cans and upwards. Write for descriptive circular and testimonials. I also make a specialty of building Creameries and furnishing all the best improved machinery and apparatus. JOHN WILHELM, Wooster, Wayne Co. O.

C. L. Osgood, Samaria, Mich. says—The Milk Cans I bought of you give perfect satisfaction. We can make just as good and just as much butter in the most unfavorable season of the year by the use of your Cans as at any other time of the year. I have 4 Cans. Have used them 3 years and would not be without them.

RIDGEWAY RAMBLES

Jacob Arner is in very poor health at present writing.

Miss Jennie Morrell of Britton visited Clara Temple Sunday.

W. F. Clack drove to Milan Sunday afternoon to see his best girl.

Master Lawrence Rappleye is on the sick list with a sore throat.

T. H. Temple, Republican nominee for County Treasurer, went to Morenci Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McNeal of Dundee visited their aunt, Mrs. John Arner, last week.

G. C. Arner is home for a few days, having been jammed by a car and a rheumatic attack.

Mrs, Dr. Balcom and Miss Morris, of Dundee. were callers on friends in the village Thursdaylast.

W. H. Arner, who has been under the doctor's care for the past three months, is quite feeble at present.

Master Charley Richards of Dundee spent several days of last week at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Sue Clark.

Mrs. Beckler, having sold her farm on the Ridge, has moved into part of Mrs. Cheever's house in the village.

A very pleasant time was enjoyed at the social held at the home of Mrs. J. F. Temple Friday evening of last week.

Herman Bailey, of Hudson, and Mrs. Alonzo Webster, of Pittsford, were in attendance at the funeral of their cousin, G. D. Arner, Tuesday.

Mrs. Marvin Maxon and Mrs. Geo. Cone, who were the guests of Mrs. John Arner last week, returned to their home at Hudson Thursday last.

Those who wish to secure tickets for the lecture course to be given in Tecumseh the coming winter, can do so by calling on Kitty Clark. Single tickets, 50c.; full course tickets, $1.50.

Remember the surprise social to be given by the Epworth League next Tuesday evening, Oct. 21st, at the Church. Supper from 6 to 9. Let everybody attend and enjoy the fun.

Martha Patton of Chicago accompanied her sister, Jessie G. Patton, who was called here by the death of her brother, Geo. D. Arner. She was no relative of George's, but a sister of Jessie's by adoption. They will spend the week with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Arner.

Dr. C. E. Begel of Holloway will give an address at Cottage Hall Saturday night of the present week, on the great reform issues of the day, beginning at 7:30 p. m., sharp. Let all Prohibitionists, farmers, and all friends of reform turn out and hear him. BY ORDER OF COM.

Tuesday afternoon fire broke out in the house of W. P. Cadmus and it would have been an easy prey for the fire fiend, but the neighbors and friends, who were attending the sale of E. T. Smith, a short distance away, succeeded in putting it out after considerable work. It is supposed to have taken fire from a chimney burning out.

Rev. J. M. Kerridge, of Adrian, under the auspices of the Epworth League, will give his popular lecture on "John Bunyan" in the audience room of the M. E. Church on Wednesday evening, Oct. 22d. The League, having undertaken to pay a portion of the Church expenses, has arranged for a course of four lectures, of which this is the first. Single admission, 20c.; season tickets, 50c.; family season tickets, $1.00.

Friday our little village was shocked by the news of the death of Geo. D. Arner, that came over the wire from Potts, where he had gone and located to practice law. From a letter sent by T. W. Thorp, which reached the bereaved parents and sister Monday, we learn that he complained of a dizziness and feeling badly Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 4th and 5th. The following Monday he gave up and went to bed with a fever. A physician was called and succeeded in breaking up the fever. Thursday he was up and around his room. Friday morning when the physician called to see him he was sleeping, Soon after he awoke and a friend gave him a glass of milk and left him alone a short time. When he returned his spirit had taken its flight. The decision of the physician was that he died of heart disease. It is a great comfort to his parents and sisters to know he had won the highest respect of all who knew him in his short stay at Potts and had succeeded beyond expectation in his practice. The remains were sent home, arriving here Tuesday morning. The funeral services were held at the home of his parents on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. J. A. Lowry officiating. The attendance was large and the floral tributes numerous and elegant. The remains were laid at rest in the family lot in the village cemetery. The bereaved family have the sympathy of their many neighbors and friends in their sad affliction.

CARD OF THANKS.

Words fail to express our heartfelt appreciation to the neighbors and friends who so willingly assisted in the arrangements for the funeral services of our beloved son and brother; also for the beautiful floral offering, "Gates Ajar," a gift from the Sunday School Bible Class of young men, of which he was a member, and for other floral gifts.

MR. AND MRS. WM. H. ARNER.

NORMAL NOTES.

Dr. F. W. Gunsolus, the great pulpit orator of Chicago, is booked for Oct. 20th. Subject, "Oliver Cromwell."

Hon. Wm. C, P. Breckenridge, Henry George, Hon. R. G. Horr, and Rev, Geo. Thomas Dowling, D. D., are other names announced for the course.

Edward Baxter Perry, the famous blind pianist of Boston, and Mrs. Edna Chaffee Noble, elocutionist, appeared on the first number of the Normal lecture and music course Oct. 6th.

Prof. Daniel Putnam addressed the Students' Christian Association Sunday afternoon, Oct. 5th. This strong and vigorous association of Christian students is a power for good at the Normal and its influence reaches to every part of the State where Normal students are teaching.

The first number of the Normal News reflects credit on its new editor, H. F. Blodgett, of the class of '91. The paper ranks with the best college papers of the State and speaks well for the talent of Normal students by whom it is controlled and published.

The first public of the year takes place at Normal hall Oct. 31st. A political program will be presented and, although it may not entirely govern the fall election, yet we hope it will provide for the poor Republican farmer a better protection than the Harrison administration, cool the fevered brow of the free trade Democrat, and allow the God-fearing Prohibitionist a chance to prove that prohibition does prohibit.

TIPTON TOPICS.

None can complain of the fall weather thus far.

Miss Lottie Blanchard of Adrian spent Sunday last at C. Vedder's.

Mrs. J. Fridd has been in Adrian during the past two weeks caring for her sister, who is very ill.

Misses Amy and Lena Alexander, accompanied by their uncle, James Hunter, expect soon to visit friends in Chicago.

Two campaign speeches were delivered at the Hall last week—one Republican, one Prohibition. Both were well represented and all enjoyed speeches and music.

The wood bee for the M. E. Church last Wednesday was well attended and a good supply of wood was secured. The ladies also did some good work in cleaning the Church, and now if it were painted it would present a more pleasing sight.

CAMBRIDGE CLIPPINGS.

John Lang has an auction next week Tuesday.

Messrs. J. S. Gorman and Seth Bean are billed to speak at Onsted Oct. 17.

Chas. Vaughan of Springville, who is attending the Normal, was home to spend Sunday.

A social will be held at Mrs. M. Case's Friday evening, Oct. 17. Proceeds to go to the Episcopal Sunday School.

Dr. S. J. Dewey of Kansas City, Mo., brother of C. H. and F. A. Dewey, has been visiting here for the past week.

Parties from Weston were through here last week buying apples. $2.75 for firsts and $1.50 for seconds were their prices.

Miss Ida Culver, who has been teaching in Woodstock, has resigned and accepted a situation as teacher in the Brooklyn school.

Don't say there is no help for catarrh, hay fever and cold in head, since thousands testify that Ely's Cream Balm has entirely cured them. It supersedes the dangerous use of liquids and snuffs. It is easily applied into the nostrils and gives relief at once. Price 50c.

MANCHESTER MATTERS.

Farmers are busy husking corn.

Miss Myra B. Spafard is visiting at Toledo this week.

Wheat is making an unusually large growth this fall.

T. S. Allen, a cousin of the Congressman, is preparing to build a new barn.

The fall term of school in the Iron Creek district closes on Saturday of this week.

J. S. Wood is talking of selling out and moving to the northern part of the State.

Wm. Burtless is at Ann Arbor this week attending the meeting of the County legislature.

A. A. Stringham is attending the reunion of the 20th Michigan regiment at Marshall this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Savery, of Salem, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lehman, of Sylvan, visited in town last week.

J. R. Holmes went to Holly on Saturday to accompany his wife on her return trip from a visit in that part of the State.

Albert D. English, chairman of the township board of school inspectors, has been visiting the County schools the past week.

The Social Club of Iron Creek will hold its first evening meeting Friday evening of this week at the residence of Wm E. Pease.

Wm. J. Gray, a theological student at Hillsdale College, delivered a fine discourse from the pulpit of the F. B. Church last Sunday.

Frank Hall and Erasmus Logan attended the reunion of the Blue and Gray at Knoxville last week. Both were prisoners at Andersonville in bellum days.

Manchester has just one candidate for office on the roll this year. A. F. Freeman, Esq., is trying to "get there" on the office of prosecuting attorney, with small chances of success in this Democratic Gibraltar.

R. W. Wellwood has his new house nearly ready for occupancy. It is a very nice one—as good as any in the town. The carpenter work was by VanWinkle, the Tecumseh architect, and the mason work was by Snooks. of Adrian.

Highway commissioner Henzie has been trying to make the road past J. R. Holmes' passable to travelers. A portion of the road is said to be over a lake and it is probable the work of last week will be so much time and labor to no purpose.

Joseph McMahon, a resident of the northwestern part of the township, died last Friday. The funeral was on Sunday, Rev. G. H. Wallace of Plymouth, officiating. He was 83 years of age, one of the wealthiest citizens of the town and highly respected.

The next meeting of the S. W. Farmers' Club will be at "Riverside," home of Mr. and Mrs. James Weir, Friday, Nov. 7th. The hour for convening will be 10 a. m.; dinner at 12:30; program to follow. The usual exhibit of farm products will take place at this meeting.

A new road has been laid out between the farms of Wm. Burtless and H. C. Gilbert. It extends three-quarters of a mile and will be a more direct route between the northwestern part of the town and the village. We understand an appeal has been taken from the action of the highway commissioner and the town board will pass upon the case.

A Lady's Perfect Companion.

Catarrh Can't be Cured

with Local Applications, as they can not reach the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers acting on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

LINCOLN'S MELANCHOLY.

His Sympathetic Nature and His Early Misfortunes.

Those who saw much of Abraham Lincoln during the latter years of his life, were greatly impressed with the expression of profound melancholy his face always wore in repose.

Mr. Lincoln was of a peculiarly sympathetic and kindly nature. These strong characteristics influenced, very happily, as it proved, his entire political career. They would not seem, at first glance, to be efficient aids to political success; but in the peculiar emergency which Lincoln, in the providence of God, was called to meet, no vessel of common clay could possibly have become the "chosen of the Lord"

Those acquainted with him from boyhood knew that early griefs tinged his whole life with sadness. His partner in the grocery business at Salem, was "Uncle" Billy Green, of Tallula, Ill., who used at night, when the customers were few, to hold the grammer while Lincoln recited his lessons.

It was to his sympathetic ear Lincoln told the story of his love for sweet Ann Rutlidge; and he, in return, offered what comfort he could when poor Ann died, and Lincoln's great heart nearly broke.

"After Ann died," says "Uncle" Billy, "on storm nights, when the wind blew the rain against the roof, Abe would set thar in the grocery his elbows on his knees, his face in his hands, and the tears runnin' through his fingers. I hated to see him feel so bad, an' I'd say, 'Abe don't cry'; an' he'd look up an' say 'I can't help it, Bill, the rain's a fallin' on her."

There are many who can sympathize with this overpowering grief, as they think of a lost loved one, when "the rain's fallin' on her." What adds poignancy to the grief some times is the thought that the lost one might have been saved.

Fortunate, indeed, is William Johnson, of Corona, L. I., a builder, who writes June 28, 1890: "Last February, on returning from church one night, my daughter complained of having a pain in her ankle. The pain gradually extended until the entire limb was swollen and very painful to the touch. We called a physician, who after careful examination, pronounced it disease of the kidneys of long standing. All we could do, did not seem to benefit her until we tried Warner's Safe Cure; from the first she commenced to improve. When she commenced taking it she could not turn over in bed, and could just move her hands a little, but to-day she is as well as she ever was. I believe I owe the recovery of my daughter to its use."

A LETTER TO THE SCHOOL BOARD.

The Board of Education Tecumseh, Mich.—Gentlemen: Your Moderator, Mr. A. L. Brewer, informs me that as Mrs. Hicks has not qualified, I am still legally a member of the School Board and that he was instructed to say that it is the unanimous wish of the other four members that I continue to serve. At the annual meeting of the district I stated that I considered it every man's duty, when called upon, to do a part of such gratuitious work, and that as I had served six years I felt that I had done my share and hoped they would elect some other business man to the place I had held and should consider it a personal favor if my friends would so vote.

I said business man because I know from long experience, the large amount of important business to be transacted and that none but an experienced business person will be of much value to the board or district. If we can add to these qualifications that he is a parent of children in our Schools and so will take a personal interest in them, you have, I think, the right kind of a trustee.

Tecumseh has plenty of men who possess all these qualifications. I still feel as I expressed myself at the annual meeting. I see no necessity and do not think it wise, as a rule, to keep one man in office for a long term of years. Thanking you for the cordial feeling and confidence indicated by your action, I hereby resign any legal right I possess as trustee in School district No. 7 of Tecumseh Mich.

With best wishes for you individually and collectively and especially for Tecumseh Schools I am,

Yours Truly
A. W. MILLS.

TECUMSEH, THURSDAY, OCT. 16.

The people in these parts are not dancing to the McKinley tariff music very lively.

What is Capt. Allen's sober second thought in regard to his vote to tax binding twine?

Gorman stock is going up every day. The Democrats are solid for him and many Republicans will vote his slips.

The tariff has been "revised by its friends" at last. How do the voters like the revision as far as they have gone?

Capt. Allen is making a vigorous fight, and doing his best for a bad cause, but he finds it up hill business to defend the iniquitous Force and McKinley bills.

The prison ring ran the state convention and succeeded in nominating James M. Turner for governor. Will the ring be strong enough to elect him? We shall see.

The case of McElroy vs. Turner is attracting considerable public attention now. The general verdict seems to be that the Professor has got the candidate in a hole.

The McKinley tariff may not be an unmixed evil after all. It will convince the people that the tariff is a tax, and that all taxes come out of the consumer in the long run.

We invite attention to James S. Gorman's letter of acceptance published elsewhere. Although brief, it states his position clearly and unequivocally upon the leading political issues. Does any one know where Capt. Allen stands on these questions?

"Why don't you hush up. The McKinley bill has become a law, now stop talking," say the party organs. True, the bill has passed and the battle is now on for its repeal. This battle will never cease until the obnoxious law is wiped from the statute books

Capt. E. P. Allen put in some effective work while in Congress for the Eastern trusts and monopolies, but what did he do for the benefit of his own constituents in this district? The voters of the district are patiently waiting for information on this point.

Prof. McElroy's rejoinder to James M. Turner's defense leaves the latter in a pitiable plight. The light is turned on to the pettifoging, prevaricating character of Mr. Turner's letter with facts and figures that are unanswerable. Every charge in Prof. McElroy's first expose is driven home and the nail clinched.

If every voter in the State could read and digest both sides of the McElroy-Turner controversy, Mr. Turner would be the worst beaten man who ever ran for governor of Michigan. The Republican party organs make much ado over the Turner defense, but how many of them will publish the McElroy letters?

The one thing necessary to achieve Democratic success this fall is to get out the full opposition vote. There is much disaffection in the Republican ranks and they will suffer from a light vote. If the Democrats have sufficient earnestness to get out their full vote, they will sweep the state ticket and gain three or four congressmen.

There is one feature of the McElroy-Turner controversy which voters should remember and take to heart. The charges come from a Republican of high personal character and unimpeachable business integrity. These charges were urged by Republicans themselves at the State convention in private against Mr. Turner's nomination and he was nominated by a mere scratch.

The public will note the difference in expression between the letters of J. F. McElroy and James M. Turner. The former, in speaking of the Republican candidate for governor, conforms to the amenities of good society, and calls him in a respectful way, by his proper name. But Mr. Turner uses such phrases as "one J. F. McElroy," "Booh Bah," "bounced," "fired," "this man McElroy," "York State, "lie down and let the wagon run over me," "keep his gun loaded," "shooting it off," etc., Choice language for a candidate for Governor.—Detroit Free Press.

UP GO THE FIGURES.

Views of a Few Chicago Merchants on the Inevitable Effect of the McKinley Tariff Bill.

The following, clipped from the Chicago Times, is respectfully commended to the voters of this vicinity who regard the McKinley tariff bill as a business blessing. The manifold beauties of that great and statesmanlike measure, the McKinley bill, are not all apparent at once, But now that the message has become a law its features are coming daily before the masses of the people in a way which will make them fully appreciate the great boon conferred upon them by protection.

To show just how far the consumer is protected by the passage of the McKinley bill, a few interviews are given, coming from the representative business men of the city.

Mr. Furber of the firm of H. J. Furber & Co. said: "We had been advised of an advance in dry goods by parties in New York. Already there has been an advance of 10 per cent, and within thirty days there will be an advance of 5 per cent more in dress goods, especially the lower grades. All 'Pile' goods, such as plush and velvets, will advance 20 per cent. Such as hosiery and underwear will go up 25 per cent. Trimmings and notions will also be affected. The rise is due to the McKinley tariff bill."

"Prices will go up from 10 to 35 per cent," said F. H. Cooper of the firm of Siegel, Cooper & Co., "due to the tariff bill. Of course when prices are higher to us we must place a higher price upon them to our customers. The lower grades of linen goods will be affected 20 per cent. Medium-priced hosiery has advanced $1 per dozen. Hosiery worth from $3 upward has $1 added, and below $3, 50 cents will be added. 'Pile' goods—plush and velvet—have $1.50 a pound added, a raise of about 50 per cent. Dressgoods are affected from 10 to 20 per cent, and it is the cheaper grades of goods that are affected the most."

"Goods will go up from 10 to 25 per cent," said David Mayer of Schlesinger & Mayer.

"The poor people will have to pay the increase. As three-fourths of the silks are manufactured in this country, that class of goods is not affected by the McKinley bill."

E. Mandel of Mandel Bros. said: "Linens will be affected 30 per cent in price by the bill. Woolens will also go up 20 per cent. Silks will not be changed in price at present. Plush and velvet will be higher. I think the advance will be proportionately higher in the better class of goods than in the ordinary grades. Hosiery will increase in price from 10 to 15 per cent. Carpets will not be materially affected, as the best carpets are manufactured here."

"The McKinley bill has sent prices up," was the remark of J. Horner of the Leader establishment. "Of course there is more money for us in big prices, but the people have to pay the difference. Goods will go up from 10 to 20 per cent, velvets and plush 20 per cent, cottons and woolens about the same. Hose that we formerly bought from the importer at $2.25 a dozen will cost $3, and an article of hosiery which we formerly retailed at 25 cents will cost the customer 35 cents under the McKinley bill. Underwear will advance—in fact, all lines. Toys, musical instruments, etc., will also be increased by the new tariff bill."

Otto Young, manager of the Fair, said: "Merchants have anticipated an advance in the price of goods if the McKinley bill became a law, and most of them have protected themselves by putting in large stocks or buying on contract for future delivery. The advance will be about 20 per cent, and it will be upon dress goods, cottons, and woolens. If the price of goods is put up to us we must put it up in turn to the consumer."

Not only will it cost more to the protected workingman to dress his wife and daughters, but it will cost him more to clothe himself. For all of which he should be ready to exclaim: "Blessed be protection!"

The large houses of New York have notified all merchant tailors in Chicago that there has been an advance of from 8 to 10 per cent on cheviots, worsteds, kerseys, meltons, vicunas, and beavers, and that domestic goods are going up in sympathy. Italian linings have already taken an upward shoot of 10 cents, and other linings are jogging along. Half a dozen tailors were interviewed yesterday. The expression uttered by one was the opinion of the others. "Mark my words," he said, "the price of clothing will advance from 10 to 15 per cent. The McKinley bill has sent up imported goods, and domestic goods will go up also. The burden will fall upon the consumer. The public will soon realize that it has been swindled. With everything in the line of trimmings and material going up, the tailor who attempts to sell at the old figures will be ruined. Who is going to benefit by this? Is it the American laborer? Cheap, ready-made clothing will cost the poor man from $2 to $5 more a suit." The remarks quoted were collated from such tailors as William Grus, J. L. Day, J. E. Hardy, S. A. Freeman, and J. A. Johnson.

OUR TARIFF WALL.

The Free Press publishes the following result of an interview with Mr. Richard Sharpe, of London, Eng., who registered last week at the Hotel Cadillac.

"The republican politics of this country," he said, "are the height of absurdity—at least they so strike the on-looker. Take the McKinley bill. Do you know that that bill will do unending damage to the shipping trade of the United States? American securities in London have taken unprecedented fall during the last few months, in anticipation of the passage of the bill.

"The London bankers reason this way: By increasing the tariff, the trade in many lines of English goods is diminished. Hence there will be less carrying on the ocean; hence less carrying on the railroads; hence less dividends—hence, securities must take a sudden drop. Your shipping trade is small enough now, but with the McKinley bill it will become still less. What a comment on American political acumen to say that the triumph of republican ideas has driven the commerce of the United States off the seas!

"Yet such is the fact. In New York city to-day there are hundreds of vessel owners who have been forced to build their ships in England, command them by British sailors and fly the flag of England! Your so-called protection, by placing a heavy duty on the free exchange of the products of labor, drives American goods out of the markets of the world. The few manufacturers are protected at the expense of the people—and their name is legion. Let me tell you something: Why has England been able to keep her great South American trade? Simply because of your own odious policy of protection, thus shutting your goods out of that market, by levying an undue tribute on the product of free labor.

"It will be a black day for England when America removes the tariff wall. Your country is the natural center toward which will one day turn the currents of the world. I say this advisedly. Without that inane protective policy, a few decades would see the United States the greatest trade center in the world. It is bound to come, too. The doom of the republican party is written on the wall. It cannot prevail. Its ideas are too antiquated. It does not adapt itself to the needs of the times. As I understand it, the protective policy is an emanation from the brain of Alexander Hamilton, and as advanced by him, when this country was in its infancy, it had a proper and legitimate place. But times change, and with them men and political ideas. After all, a party is but the expression of the best policy of the times. Once a party is out of joint with the times, its mission is ended.

"The political wisdom of to-day is not that of 1776, nor yet that of 1850. A political issue that has not its affinity in the legitimate needs of the people, perishes by its own folly. What right then has the republican party to live? Every hour of its continuance is a blow to the prosperity of the union. It is a party essentially of aggression, but when it seeks to be aggressive upon issues that died a natural death generations since, it blocks the wheels of progress, and bars the advancing fortunes of your country.

"I place the full weight of my argument on the inanity, the stupidity, of the so-called tariff wall. Yet there is one blessing, and that is the farmers of America (who control the balance of political power) are gradually waking up to the real situation. When that awakening does come, it will mark the dawn of a new era for the United States."

MR. GORMAN'S ACCEPTANCE.

The following letter written by Mr. Gorman is self explanatory.

To Messrs. E. A. Blackman, M. O'Leary, B. Dansard, and T. E. Burlingame, Congressional Committee:

GENTLEMEN—In response to your notification of my nomination by the democrats of the second congressional district of Michigan as their candidate for Congress, I can say that it is only after the most mature deliberation and consultation with my political friends that I yielded to the use of my name. And in doing so I am fully conscious of the situation, and of the grave and serious responsibilities an election to such a high office would impose. Nominated against my earnest and honest protest, I reluctantly accept the distinguished honor such a nomination conveys, and thank my fellow democrats for the confidence reposed. And if I should be elected it shall be my highest aim to represent the interests of this district and the whole people thereof, and to represent them as I feel their immediate interests demand, unbiased by party prejudice, uninfluenced by sectionalism, and uncontrolled by party caucus.

First—I shall urge with my voice and vote, for the immediate relief of the now depressed and almost bankrupt agriculturists of this country, the free coinage of silver, unhampered by any conditions whatever.

Second—That we may open up an immediate market that will furnish a better price for our farm surplus. I shall urge reciprocity with all the nations of the western hemisphere.

Third—The importation of all raw materials free of duty.

Fourth—The highest tax on luxuries and the fine goods used by the rich, and the lowest tax on the necessaries of life and the goods used by the poor.

Fifth—I am in favor of paying the Union soldiers in proportion to the services rendered, call it by whatever name you please.

I believe the ends of justice will best be answered when the government ceases to pass laws to protect capitalists for their further enrichment at the expense of the many, and the enlargement of their powers to control the millions, and more attention is given to the poor—the rich can take care of themselves.

That the people may know, from my own pen, my position on these questions, that so seriously interest them and are of so much importance to this district, I define my position and send it to you for public use if you so desire. Only asking a fair, impartial, and non-partisan consideration, I submit my cause to the sober judgment of the electors of this district. I am, gentlemen, very respectfully, your humble servant,

JAMES S. GORMAN,

Dated Chelsea, Mich., Sept. 30, 1890.

LEAD POISON CURED

I am a painter by trade. Three years ago I had a bad case of Lead Poison caused by using rubber paint. I was cured in a short time by S.S.S. The medicine drove the poison out through the pores of the skin. When I first commenced taking S.S.S., my system was so saturated with poison that my underclothes were colored by the paint being worked out by the medicine through the pores of my skin. I was cured entirely dy S.S.S. I took nothing else, and have had no return since.

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines. Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom. Peculiar in its strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "One Hundred Doses One Dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's. Peculiar in its medicinal merits, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered." Peculiar in its "good name at home,"—there is now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers. Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly.

What a Difference between the WOMAN who is wedded to old-fashioned ideas and she who is bright enough to appreciate a new one. Everybody is striving to get something to make life easier—often it's right beside them—those who are bright enough to embrace it get the benefits, those who don't go backwards—their work grows harder. Pearline makes life easier and cleaner. Washing and cleaning done with Pearline has about enough work in it to make it good exercise—but not enough to tire the body or ruffle the temper.

Not ours, but the word of the millions who use it as to whether it hurts the hands, clothes or paint—probably your neighbors can tell you all about PEARLINE.

Send it back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, the honest thing to do is—send it back. 167 JAMES PYLE, New York.

LUNATIC'S LEAP

From the Central Asylum Roof.

Awful Fall to the Yard Below

WHERE HE LANDS UPON ANOTHER DEMENTED BEING.

One Man Is Fatally Crushed and Mangled, While the Other Is Seriously Injured—Terrible Tragedy At the Columbus Insane Asylum.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 13.—A thrilling tragedy occurred at the Central insane asylum, in which one lunatic was killed and another injured. The victim who met death was Frank Kessler, an inmate of the institution who was received from this county four years ago. Joseph H. Renner, a Belmont county inmate, was seriously injured.

As is the custom at the institution, Kessler, with several hundred other patients at the asylum, were taken out yesterday afternoon for a walk through the grounds. Kessler was an incurable patient and his peculiar form of insanity required very close watching. His mind was almost a total wreck, leaving him in a condition worse than that of an animal. His only thought and only desire was to end his miserable existence. On several occasions he was found eating tacks, crushed glass and such other articles of fatal effect which he could manage sometimes to obtain and secret in his ward. He was found once drinking the contents of a cuspador, thus hoping to fatally poison himself. Because of his dangerous disposition, Kessler was watched closely at all times, but in spite of the utmost precaution, he managed occasionally to elude his attendants. While being taken out walking through the grounds Thursday he escaped from the attendants and fled toward the city. After a hard chase he was captured by Attendant Otto Casper. The promenade through the grounds Saturday was without incident until the end when the entrance to the institution was reached. At that point several of the patients hung back, stubbornly refusing to go in. The attendants in charge of the group in which were Kessler and Renner, were Messers. Edward Wingett, Otto Casper, and J. H. Judkins. They surrounded the rebelling patients for the purpose of taking them in main force. While thus engaged the attention of the attendants was diverted from Kessler, who was in the forepart of the throng, and he took advantage of the opportunity to escape from them.

The stairways and corridors leading to "Ward M" on the fourth floor in which Kessler belonged, had been thrown open for the entrance of the patients. He rushed in, and on through the hallways and up the winding stairs until he reached the apartment in which he was kept. It is situated at the southeast corner of the south wing of the institution. After Kessler had entered the ward, he hastened to a little door at the bottom of and opening upon a small stairway. The stairway leads to a cupola or observatory which rises some 20 feet above the roof of the main building. He found the door closed and securely locked. With the mighty strength peculiar to some forms of insanity he wrenched the door from its fastnings and then ran up the fatal flight of stairs.

Once in the cupola, the lunatic managed to crawl through a small window out upon the roof. There he stood for a moment as if his courage had failed him. His hesitation was for a moment only, however, and then he rushed to the edge of the eaves. He stopped again as though he wished to gain strength for a leap across the precipice. Then he sprung far out into the air.

The attendants below were ignorant of the actions of the man above and were still engaged in getting the unruly patients within. Kessler's body came swirling through the air and down upon the arms and chest of Joseph Renner. The contact with the body of the other patient did not break the force of Kessler's fall in the slightest. He struck the ground with tremendous force, his limbs crushing into the gravel walk.

Both of the injured men were picked up and carried to the hospital ward. Kessler was horribly crushed and mangled, but not dead. Renner's right arm was broken.

The sight presented by Kessler as he lay upon a bed in the hospital was most horrible. Both his legs were broken and his right arm was mashed into a jelly above the elbow, the bone protruding through the flesh. Surprising as it may seem, he was yet conscious. Fearing that his awful attempt to end his life would not prove successful, the dying man drew his uninjured arm across his throat repeatedly, mutely telling Dr. Hamlin, the physician in charge of him, to end his suffering by cutting his throat. Dr. Hamlin attempted to administer stimulants, but Kessler refused to swallow anything. The physician then gave him an hypodermic injection of morphine to ease his pain. The victim of his own mania lingered until shortly after five o'clock last evening, when death ended his agony.

Renner received a very bad fracture of his arm above the elbow, it being splintered off and a portion of the bone penetrating through the muscle. He was also badly bruised. His injuries are not fatal, however.

Campbell Condemned.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 13.

The Hamilton county Democratic central committee held a meeting Saturday afternoon and passed resolutions condemning Governor Campbell for his treatment of Hon. Louis Reemelin and call for an extra session of the legislature. The governor was seen last night by a representative of this paper and asked what he had to say with regard to the action of the Hamilton county Democracy. He said that he knew he was acting perfectly right, and hence did not care what course the supporters of Mr. Reemelin saw fit to pursue. He stated that he would wash his hands of the whole affair when he submitted his message to the Legislature. He would direct them what to do, and if they did not see fit to act accordingly, the responsibility would rest upon the Legislature, and not himself.

THE CARICATURED.

What Reed and McKinley Think of the Cartoons of Them.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—"Oh, I'm callous." That was what Speaker Thomas B. Reed, of Maine, said the other day when he was asked whether he liked or disliked to be caricatured. And he added: "I am so used to seeing myself pictorially misrepresented that I have grown utterly indifferent whether the cartoon is friendly or otherwise."

Next to Speaker Reed, Major McKinley is the most caricatured man of the present day. Said he when the same inquiry was addressed to him: "Caricaturists are great makers and unmakers of public men. The cartoons in the comic papers strike the eye of the comic people, who behold the argument conveyed by them at a glance, where it would not be understood or be convincing in the shape of cold type. Unfriendly cartoons are calculated to do harm to any man, however honest, whom they may attack; the person pictured may have the purest motives in all that he does, and yet the public at large is not acquainted with those motives and may get a false notion of them from the opposition cartoons they see. Undoubtedly the caricatures that meet the view from so large a proportion of the voting population has a great effect on public opinion. As to whether I myself like to be caricatured, I would rather not say."

AN AKRON MURDER.

A PRISONER'S "PAL" ATTEMPTS TO RESCUE HIM

From the Hands of an Officer, but Throws Both Officer and Prisoner Under an Engine, Where Both are Ground to Pieces.

AKRON, O., Oct. 13.—The killing of one man and probably fatal mangling of another at Orrville, Friday night, turns out to be murder. Coroner Solon Boydston, of Orrville, who was acting as policeman during the fair, had John Sweeney, said to be from Cleveland in custody on the depot platform. Sweeney saw a pal in the crowd and made a sign to him. The latter stepped up and just as a switch engine was going by, shoved Boydston in front of it. The coroner was terribly mangled and must have died instantly. He retained his grip on Sweeney as he went, and the prisoner was also run over, being very badly cut up. He will probably die. The man who did the pushing was caught by the crowd and is now in custody. He refuses to give his name. There is great excitement at Orrville, where Boydston was a prominent citizen and highly regarded.

A PECULIAR EPIDEMIC.

Wheeling Factory Girls Become Blind and Helpless While at Work.

WHEELING, W. VA., Oct. 13.—There is a strange epidemic prevailing among the working girls of Wheeling. About two weeks ago, Mrs. Mary Lynch, employed by the West Virginia Tobacco Company, while working at her bench, was suddenly stricken blind and was conveyed to her home, where she still is. She has partially recovered her sight.

Since then several cases of a similar nature have been reported from various parts of the city.

The latest cases are one at the Nail City Lantern Company, which occurred a day or two ago, and that of Miss Lena Niedemyer, at the Hobbs glass works, the latter the most serious of all. Miss Niedemyer was working at her duties in the factory, when she was seized with a sudden and peculiar illness.

Immediately she lost all the power of speech, and gradually sank into unconsciousness, and lay for hours like one dead. When revived it was also discovered that she had been stricken blind.

Doctors are all puzzled about the case, but are prescribing quiet and rest, and in most cases the treatment is successful.

POLICY OF RETALIATION.

France Preparing to Strike Back in the Tariff Matter.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—The French government is decidedly bent upon a policy of retaliation toward the United States. In the cabinet meeting Tuesday Jules Roche proposed to formulate a bill on one of two systems, the first having for a basis a minimum tariff, which could be raised according to circumstances, and the second a maximum tariff, which could be lowered if desired.

The ministers decided on the latter scheme. Roche therefore formulated, with the assistance of the chiefs of customs, a tariff bill absolutely protective. The propositions before the cabinet yesterday, however, contain certain reciprocity clauses relative to friendly nations. Tariffs in conjunction with them are not to be altered. This bill will be introduced by the government as soon as possible. The approaching session of parliament is sure to pass it, as the feeling is very strong.

Wholesale Villainy.

MARION, IND., Oct. 13.—J. F. Williams, who came here last Wednesday representing himself as the agent of the Chicago Loan and Investment Company, was arrested in the morning by the sheriff of Plymouth, Ind., on the charge of fraud. It is charged that Williams was discharged by the above company a year ago, and that he has since been doing business and retaining the proceeds.

In this way he has swindled people at different points in the state out of about $3,000. Williams is also wanted by the Ross House, at Plymouth, for a sixty-five dollar board bill, which he jumped. He is also wanted for bigamy, being charged with having not less than three wives. He was accompanied here by a woman who claimed that Williams is her husband. The prisoner was taken to Plymouth.

Presenting the Pennant.

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—About 3,000 people were at the Brotherhood park when the championship pennant for 1890 was presented to the Boston club. Colonel Taylor made the presentation speech, complimenting the team upon the high standard of their work during the season. Mike Kelly received the flag and immediately hoisted it in the field.

Birchell's Death Watch Sleeps.

WOODSTOCK, ONT., Oct. 13.—John Entwhistle, the guard who has been watching over Birchell since his imprisonment, has been discharged, having been found asleep in Birchell's cell by the jailer. Some of Birchell's friends in England are endeavoring to get up a petition for his reprieve.

The Voice

Is easily injured—the slightest irritation of the throat or larynx at once affecting its tone, flexibility, or power. All efforts to sing or speak in public, under such conditions, become not only painful but dangerous, and should be strictly avoided until every symptom is removed. To effect a speedy cure no other medicine is equal to

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

The best of anodynes, this preparation rapidly soothes irritation, strengthens the delicate organs of speech, and restores the voice to its tone and power. No singer or public speaker should be without it. Lydia Thompson, the famous actress, certifies: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been of very great service to me. It improves and strengthens the voice, and is always effective for the cure of colds and coughs."

"Upon several occasions I have suffered from colds, causing hoarseness and entire loss of voice. In my profession of an auctioneer any affection of the voice or throat is a serious matter, but at each attack, I have been relieved by a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This remedy, with ordinary care, has worked such a that I have suffered very little inconvenience. I have also used it in my family, with excellent results, in coughs, colds, &c."—Wm. H. Quartly, Minlaton, Australia.

"In the spring of 1853, at Portsmouth, Va., I was prostrated by a severe attack of typhoid pneumonia. My physicians exhausted their remedies, and for one year I was not able to even articulate a word. By the advice of Dr. Shaw I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and to my surprise and great joy, in less than one month I could converse easily, in a natural tone of voice. I continued to improve and have become since a well man. I have often recommended the Pectoral, and have never known it to fail."—George R. Lawrence, Valparaiso, Ind.

The figure 9 in our dates will make a long stay. No man or woman now living will ever date a document without using the figure 9. It stands in the third place in 1890, where it will remain 10 years and then move up to second place in 1900 where it will rest for one hundred years.

There is another "9" which has also come to stay. It is unlike the figure 9 in our dates in the respect that it has already moved up to first place, where it will permanently remain. It is called the "No. 9" High Arm Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine.

The "No. 9" was endorsed for first place by the experts of Europe at the Paris Exposition of 1889, where, after a severe contest with the leading machines of the world, it was awarded the only Grand Prize given to family sewing machines, all others on exhibit having received lower awards of gold medals, etc. The French Government also recognized its superiority by the decoration of Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, President of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor.

The "No. 9" is not an old machine improved upon, but is an entirely new machine, and the Grand Prize at Paris was awarded it as the grandest advance in sewing machine mechanism of the age. Those who buy it can rest assured, therefore, of having the very latest and best.

Epoch

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is greatfully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health, to the use of the Great Alterative and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of Kidneys, Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 50c. and $1 per bottle at

Improvement the Promise of Cure.

No array of words can give a dyspeptic one-half the hope that comes from the relief which always follows the use of Burdock Blood Bitters and the promise of cure is never broken.

"Having suffered from Dyspepsia for two or three years, I decided to try B. B. B. and after taking one bottle I found myself so much better I got another bottle and after taking that I had no more need of medicine.

"MRS. G. C. WHITE, Taberg, N. Y."

Don't pay for daily bread and then groan with dyspepsia when a bottle of B. B. B. will give you relief. Repeated tests with uniform success prove that dyspepsia cannot withstand B. B. B.

"I have taken the second bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and it has cured me of dyspepsia with which I suffered for six years.

And the best lamp ever made, like Aladdin's of old, a "wonderful lamp!" A lamp absolutely non-explosive and unbreakable, which gives a clear, soft, brilliant white light of 85 candle power! Purer and brighter than gas light, softer than electric light, more cheerful than either! That lamp is

"The Rochester."

And with it there is no smoke, no smell, no broken chimneys, no flickering, no sweating, no climbing up of the flame, no "tantrums" nor annoyance of any kind, and it never needs trimming. Its founts (oil reservoirs) being tough rolled seamless brass, with central draft, it is absolutely unbreakable, and as safe as a tallow candle.

Only five years old, and over two million of these lamps in use. It must be a GOOD lamp to make such a telling success. Indeed it is, for lamps may come and lamps may go, but the "Rochester" shines on forever! We make over 3,000 artistic varieties,—Hanging and Table Lamps, Banquet, Study, Vase and Piano Lamps,—every kind, in Bronze, Porcelain, Brass, Nickel and Black Wrought Iron.

Ask the lamp dealer for it. Look for the trade-mark stamp: "THE ROCHESTER." If he hasn't the genuine Rochester and the style you want, or if no lamp-store is near, send to us for free illustrated catalogue (and reduced price-list), and we will box and send you any lamp safely by express, right to your door.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

OUR CHICAGO LETTER.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6, 1890.

DEAR HERALD:

Now is the Winter of our discontent:
High tariff rules, and I'll bet you a cent,
The people at large will rue the hour
They gave McKinley and Reed the power
To represent them, and work for their good
As true patriots and honest men should.
They say it is better that we pay more,
And keep foreign goods away from our shore
That, as prices rise, wages will, too—
They tell us such stuff with a great ado.
But the g. o. p. will find, to its cost,
After a few of its "sure" states are lost,
That robbing poor Peter to enrich Paul,
Will not make Pete love the robbers at all.

We, the middle class people of this great republic, ruled by the people for the people, (?) have now got to put our noses to the grindstone with more vigor in order to make our millionaire monopolists a few millions richer. I did not intend to write you a political letter, but this McKinley bill is the all absorbing topic now, and even the World's Fair is put back into the second place. I am interested in the matter for the reason that it is going to be harder for me to earn my bread and butter. Why, do you ask? Because it is evident that any thing that is going to restrict trade is going to effect the men who live by that trade. If the men who are effected by that restriction cannot afford to keep up their patronage with me I am the loser as well as themselves. I have always voted the Republican ticket, thinking that that party had the welfare of the people most at heart, but I can tell you now that I have voted the last Republican ticket that I shall vote until I think the men who compose that party have become divorced from the interest of the plutocracy, alone, against the poorer classes.

Last week I was talking with the manager of one of the large wholesale paint and oil houses now on Randolph street. He spoke of the effect the McKinley law would have on the importation and price of all Windsor and Newton artists materials. He said that he had hoped the bill would put the prices of the imported article away up out of sight, as then the company he represented would enlarge their manufactories and sell the home production at a greatly advanced figure. When asked if they were not making a good profit at the present rates he replied that they could not keep up with the demand and were doing all that they probably could expect, but with the English article barred out they could make enormous profits. It is conceded by all artists that the Windsor & Newton art materials are superior to any other made in the world. We have been able to get them for some years at a very reasonable price, and even the poorest artist could afford to have the best material made. Now it is to be so that we cannot get what we want, but must put up with an inferior home article, in order to further enrich the men who have already made millions out of the trade. Shutting out the imported goods takes away the employment of the people who handle them, and the enlarging of the manufactories at home merely puts the men back at work, with the same loss to the consumer, of his better material.

Taking another line of trade, I will tell you of a little conversation I had with one of the leading men in the great establishment of Mandle Bros. I asked what the effect of the law would be on the company's importations, and he said it would cut them off enormously, and be a great loss to the people. It will affect the employes of the company as well as the company itself. He said that they already felt the effect of the bill and predicted that in less than a year the whole nation would feel the terrible blow aimed at the welfare of this great country, in order to add to the already enormous strength of the American plutocracy.

Can you tell me why it is going to be a good thing for me to have to wear poorer clothes, eat poorer food and enjoy life less in order that Mr. Carnegie, Mr. Armour, Mr. Gould, Mr. Astor, and the rest of that class double the already enormous wealth they now control? I expect that the political stump speakers will make a great effort to prove that the new law is a great blessing, and I shall wait to see how they do it before I accept it as such. If the speeches of Cannon of Illinois is a specimen of what we are to get in that line, I am afraid I shall not be convinced that it is good for me.

The exposition still draws good sized crowds, and although we often hear the remark that it is not as good as it was this or that year. I think that it is better in many ways. There are mechanical appliances that are new and certainly worth seeing. The art collection is one of the best we have had, although there are some things that are not worth spending the time to look at, notably the works of some French artists of the Monat Sisley school. The same fine orchestra gives us all the newest music as well as the standard works that will never wear out.

The parks are beginning to show the wear and tear of time, and soon will be ready for the winter's rest. The world's fair is coming on and we will soon see the work begun in earnest.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Meeker celebrated their fifteenth wedding anniversary on the evening of September 23d. Their hosts of friends were out to help them make merry and a most enjoyable time was the result.

Mrs. G. A. Brand, formerly of Lake Ridge, Mich., now of Cincinnati, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Sheridan Gallagher, 1406 N. Clark St.

G. T. Ketcham and wife are now established as members of the Tecumseh colony in Chicago, and George's friends have the pleasure of seeing him occasionally.

Mr. A. B. Cotton told me not long since that it was possible that an amatuer dramatic club would be formed from members of the Tecumseh colony. You may hear about it some time.

Until the next from me is due,
I'll bid you, my old friend, adeau!
May blessings fall on you like dew—
I'll not make any more ado,
Adeau,

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

ED HERALD—As the time is nearly at hand for the annual raking up of leaves allow me for one to enter my protest against the wasteful practice of burning them.

If they are spread on the garden or flower beds and plowed or spaded in in the spring they would produce both a fertilizing and mechanical effect upon the soil. If put under cover when dry they make nice bedding for the horse or cow. Above all do not burn them in the street where the ashes are more than washed and the smudge nearly stifles those of weak lungs.

They also make a good mulch for the strawberry bed or raspberry bushes, being free from weed seed. Save the leaves.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Ins. Co., of Lenawee County, to elect a President and five directors, and to transact such other business as may properly come before it, will be held at Dean's opera house, in the city of Adrian, on the 27th day of October, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon. Z. Cook, Prest.

GEO COCHRANE, Secy.

A century of progress has not produced a remedy equal to Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh; cold in the head and hay fever. It is not a liquid or a snuff, but is perfectly safe and easily applied into the nostails. It gives immediate relief and cures the worst cases.

PLENTY OF POLITICS.

Politics have been on the boom in this town this week. All three parties have held meetings, all were well attended, and the partizans of all were thoroughly satisfied. This was a good omen, to say the least.

Congressman Allen spoke at the Opera House, on Monday evening. He had a good audience, notwithstanding the rain, and the Logan Glee Club rendered some fine vocal music, which added very materially to the interest of the meeting. Mr. Allen's speech was chiefly devoted to a defense of his record during the session of Congress just closed, and especially his action favoring the McKinley and Lodge bills. The Captain makes a strong speech, as all know, and his hearers were well entertained, but many of them could'nt avoid comparing his speech to the plea of a talented advocate on the wrong side of a law suit. He made a good plea but law, logic and facts were all against him.

The Democrats took their innings on Tuesday evening. They held a fine meeting at the Opera House, which was addressed by Hon. Jerome W. Turner of Owosso. It was his first appearance and he made an excellent impression. He possesses an easy, conversational style and his speech was a fine literary effort. It was confined almost wholly to the tariff question, as he considered that the principal issue now before the people and it was one of the soundest dissertations on that subject ever delivered before a Tecumseh audience. He sowed an abundance of good seed which fell upon fertile soil.

The Prohibitionists took their turn yesterday. The afternoon meeting was not very well attended but, the evening meeting was a hummer. Mr. Partridge was unavoidably absent but his place was filled by J. W. Reid, Chairman of the State Committee. Mr. Reid is a man of striking personal appearance and his oratory is of the sledge hammer kind. He held the audience intact for an hour and a half and poured the hot shot into the old parties without the least compunction or hesitation. The Prohibition glee club assisted with a few vocal selections. Our Prohibition friends feel much elated over the success of the meeting.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Miss Viva Howell visited the A room Monday morning.

The class in Algebra II. have finished factoring and are now devoting their energies to the subject of fractions.

The class in German I. are doing their first work with German script this week. The Political Economy class are now considering the subject of "Over-production and Under-consumption," and are doing creditable work under the very efficient instruction of Professor Kellogg.

Last Friday afternoon the A and B rooms met for the election of Lyceum officers for the year. The election resulted as follows: President, Charlie Bidwell; Vice President, Miss Gertrude Fisher; Sec. and Treas., Arthur Strong. We are very much pleased with this selection of officers and have great confidence in their ability to discharge their duties with honor to themselves and the scho H. R.

THE FITCH—PHELPS WEDDING.

The Marquette Mining Journal of Oct. 9th, contains a glowing account of the marriage of Mr. Peter W. Phelps. The groom's numerous friends in Tecumseh will be glad to learn of his good fortune, and will join the HERALD in extending congratulations to the happy couple.

The most important society event of the year in Marquette was the marriage last evening at St. Paul's church of Mr. Peter White Phelps, assistant cashier of the First National Bank, and Mary, daughter of Mr. William F. Fitch, general manager of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway. The church had been very tastefully decorated for the occasion; a vail of ground pine hung from the vaulted roof of the floor in front of the chancel where it was looped back with mountain ash berries, the rail itself being bedded in the same scarlet hue, contrasting beautifully with the dense green of the evergreen and foliage plants.

At 8 o'clock the organ sounded the opening notes of the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" and the bridal party entered the church. First came the eight ushers and bridesmaids followed by Mr. and Mrs. Fitch, Hon. Peter White, godfather of the groom, with Miss Phelps, and last the bride attended by her maid of honor, Miss Mather. At the chancel rail they were met by the groom with his best man, Gardner Maynard, while awaiting them at the altar were the officiating clergyman, Rev. J. Phelps, of Tecumseh, Mich., father of the groom and rector of St. Paul's for several years prior to 1866, and the Rev. Dr. Wyllys Hall, the present rector, who assisted in the ceremony. The beautiful marriage service of the Episcopal church was never more impressive, the responses being clear and firm while the voice of the officiating clergyman was most naturally vibrant with feeling and Dr Hall's softest spoken word came with bell-like distinctness to the farther-most corner of the sacred edifice. At the close of the ceremony the organ pealed forth Mendelssohn's famous wedding march and the bridal party swept rapidly down the aisle

The number of the bridesmaids and the charming contrast in the colors of their dresses gave a brilliancy and richness to the scene at the alter seldom seen. Immediately after the ceremony at the church there was a brilliant reception at the Fitch residence. No. 455 East Ridge street

And my kidneys were affected. None of the means taken produced any benefit until I began the use of Dr David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. of Rondout, N.Y.
The pain ceased-the stone having been dissolved by the action of the medicine. I am ready in public or in private to testify that my recovery is due to Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. E. D. W. Parsons, Rochester.

You Take No Risk.

In buying Hood's Sarsaparilla, for it is everywhere recognized as the standard building-up medicine and blood purifier. It has won its way to the front by its own intrinsic merit, and has the largest sale of any preparation of its kind. Any honest druggist will confirm this statement. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy anything else instead. Be sure to get Hood's.

The rain fall of last Sunday and Monday afternoon was the heaviest for several months, in this section.

Hon. E. B. Winans and Capt. C. H. Manley will speak at a Democratic rally in Adrian on Tuesday eve, Oct. 21st.

The time for the chicken pie and lonesome oyster church social has arrived, and indications are that the crop will be large.

Lovers of music who failed to hear the McGibeny Family last night missed a treat of the richest kind.—London (Ont.) Advertiser.

Jehiel Davidson and Jas. Aten went hunting yesterday and brought home the wildest turkey in the woods. Both shot him, we suppose, as two shot were found in his gizzard.

The City Band have rented Lovejoy's building on Railroad street, formerly used by S. F. Marsteller, which they will use for a band room. It will be a convenient and good location for them.

The concert given by the McGibeny Family last night was simply immense. Their music is refined and classical. Each of the family is an artist with some special instrument.—Cedar Rapids (Ia.) Gazette.

Is Hudson going mad? Two fakes have been discovered there within as many weeks. One, the child robbery case, and the other the woman beating excitement. They were so considered by the officers from the start.

Daniel Soper, the Democrat candidate for Secretary of State, is a brother of Mrs. William McCowen, of Tecumseh. Mrs. McCowen is not responsible for her brother being a Democrat, and her many friends should not lay it up against her.—Adrian Times.

But Mrs. McCowen is proud of the fact that she owns such a capital good fellow and business hustler for a brother, nevertheless.

The Adrian Times of Monday, says: Mr. Fred Smith, of Woodbridge, England, who is here with Lieut. Elliott Gray, of Tecumseh, to-day, tells us that Minstrel Boy, the famous four year-old English draught horse, brot here a short time ago and exhibited at the county fair, has been sold to E. G. Peters, the lumber king, of Manistee There are two others from the same blood, and they should be purchased in Lenawee. Don't let them get away Nearly all the ninety-two blooded Shropshire sheep have been distributed among the farmers of the county.

Prof. L. S. Brown has opened an Evening School at his Business University in Adrian, and special low rates are offered for the evening session.

Mrs. Prof. Morris and children, of Ann Arbor, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Lee from Friday until Sunday. They drove over with a horse and buggy.

Rev. and Mrs. J. Phelps went to Marquette last week to attend the wedding of their son, Peter White Phelps. Their daughter Louise accompanied them.

Campanini, the famous tenor, has written a striking article on "How to Train the Voice" for The Ladies' Home Journal, and it will appear in the November number of that periodical.

The several celery growers in this vicinity are engaged in quite a strife to see who can produce the heaviest dozen bunches. The last one goes thirty pounds to the dozen, raised by Russell & Palmer.

Hon. E. B. Winans and Hon. Jas. S. Gorman will speak at the Opera House, Tecumseh, next Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 21st., at two o'clock, sharp, as Mr. Winans will go to Adrian on the four o'clock train.

Miss Cora Jordan and Mr. Ed. Henderson of Adrian township were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the bride's home on Saturday, Oct 11th, 1890. Rev. Joslin, Presiding Elder, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate friends of both families.

Rev. W. E. Bigelow, one of the oldest Methodist ministers in Michigan died at Millington last week. He was pastor of the Tecumseh church before the war. His son, Melville M. Bigelow, now a professor in the Boston Law School, completed his High School course while in Tecumseh, and afterwards, went through the State University.

Literary Note—Miss Julia Magruder, a daughter of the late General John B. Magruder, of the Confederate army, who held the "Peninsula" against McClellan in the spring of 1862, begins in the New York Ledger of October 18 a serial entitled "Jephthah's Daughter." The story is an exquisite and artistic adaptation of the Biblical tale.

The Macon Grange will give a 'Shoe Social, Friday Evening, Oct. 24th, '90. A short literary program will be presented. All are invited to attend. As this is the first of these unique socials in this neighborhood an elegant time may be expected. Coffee and cake will be served by the ladies of the Grange. Grange meeting at 7:00; social at 8:00 P. M. By Order of Com.

It was so very unpleasant last Monday evening, and the claims of the political meeting so much stronger, that there were not enough present at the meeting called at the Library rooms, to elect the officers for the ensuing year. It was therefore thought best to try again next Monday evening, at the same place, at half past seven, when we trust there may be a good attendance, more than sufficient to transact the necessary business.

Hand bills were issued from The Messenger office for a reform rally at Tipton on Friday, October 13th. It happens that Friday is October 10th, by this year's calendar, which is the proper date for the meeting. Had Bro. Grandon just been out for a glass of beer before reading the proof of that hand bill?—Tecumseh Herald.

Not so bad as that, Friend Scove. But he had just returned from hearing Capt. Allen make a speech, and he mixes things up enough to make the average man forget his grandmother.—Adrian Messenger.

Supervisor James of Tecumseh, is chairman of the Equalization committee on the county Board and a member of the Judiciary committee.

Mr. Charles Burleson has recently purchased a fine oil portrait of his father. The portrait was made by a N. Y. City artist and secured through Fred Brown of this village.

W. F. Kennedy is now putting up some massive oak doors at the shops of the Tecumseh Coal and Mfg. Co., which are probably the finest specimens of workmanship ever turned out in this village. They are beauties.

The young ladies of the Loyal Legion will give an entertainment in the Opera House, early in November, called the "Milk Maid's Convention." We speak of it thus early, as it will be something out of the usual line of entertainments.

The Republicans will hold a rally at the Opera House in Tecumseh, next Tuesday evening. Oct. 21st., which will be addressed by J. W. Donovan of Detroit. Mr. Donovan is said to be an eloquent speaker and he will doubtless draw a good house.

A Salary—With expenses paid, will come handy to anyone who is now out of employment, especially where no previous experience is required to get the position. If you want a position. see advertisement on another page headed, "A Chance to Make Money."

Gripton Bros.' sorghum mill, east of Britton is crowded to its utmost capacity now. They have been compelled to use a second farm engine to furnish the necessary steam and power. They expect to turn out 5000 gallons before the season closes and will make several hundred gallons more than ever before.

A dispatch to this paper from White Plains, N. Y., states that the wife of Charles Adam(s), who eloped with a Spaniard, had written home from Baltimore that she had been deserted, and wished to be taken back. Can it be that this is Charlie Adam, son of the late Hon. J. J. Adam, of Tecumseh? You know he married a lady from White Plains, N. Y., by the photograph process, and was known to have struck a rich vein in the matrimonial line. We sincerely trust, if such is the case, that all differences have been amicably adjusted.—Adrian Times.

The Maude Oswald Comedy Co. opened the season at Tecumseh last week, playing three nights at the Opera House. There was a change of program each night and all the entertainments were well patronized. Maude Oswald's acting showed that the flattering notices of the press were not in the least overdrawn. The characters of Kathleen and M'Liss were splendidly carried and stamped the little actress as a true artist. Ed. A. Thomas carried his parts well and the minor support was very good. The troupe opened their fall campaign here quite auspiciously.

There will be a meeting of the Tecumseh and Franklin Farmer's Club at the residence of Will J. Waldron, Wednesday evening, Oct. 22d., with the following program:

HIS LIFE OF CHRIST.

DR. TALMAGE'S GREATEST LITERARY WORK.

Foster Coates Gets a Glimpse at the Proof Sheets of "From Manger to Throne"—A Most Interesting Literary Work Is Here Described.

[Copyright by American Press Association.]

Few persons possess Dr. T. De Witt Talmage's most distinguishing characteristic—something to say, and the ability to clothe the thought in language fresh and striking. The great Brooklyn divine has given us another example of his tireless energy, his great study and his matchless word paintings in his life of Christ—"From Manger to Throne"—to be issued in a few days from the press of the Historical Publishing Company, of Philadelphia. Through the courtesy of Mr. H. S. Smith, president of the company, I am enabled to tell something about the work in advance, for I have seen the proof sheets.

ARAB INHABITANTS.

The book differs from all other lives of the Christ in this, that it is a simple narrative in which no theological questions are propounded, no "views" extolled, and there is no straining after effect.

It is made up of 600 pages, with over 400 engravings, copies of famous paintings by the old masters illustrating scenes in the life of Christ and portraits of the Saviour by many famous painters. In addition there is a splendid panorama of the crucifixion in colors, ten feet in length, which is a great achievement of the publishers.

As a literary effort the book is the most ambitious of the great preacher's life. It fulfills all the requirements of literary style and finish. Each fact was carefully weighed and scrutinized before put on paper. Nothing was taken for granted. It is not the work of an idle hour, but rather the life work of a strong man still in his prime. It should meet with a cordial welcome. It is not written above the head of the average reader. On the contrary, it is a series of magnificent word pictures, so simple that a child would be interested in them. The reader is taken to every spot made remarkable in the Holy Land, and the guide is like a delightful elder brother sitting in the twilight rehearsing the old, old story, ever new.

"I have been writing that book for thirty-five years," Dr. Talmage told me recently, and he supplements this in his preface by saying:

"In my American home, on the Atlantic on the Mediterranean, on camel's back, on mule's back, on horseback, under chandelier, by dim candle in tent, on Lake Galilee, in convent, at Bethel, where Jacob's pillow was stuffed with dreams and the angels of the ladder landed; at the brook Elah, from which little David picked up the ammunition of five smooth stones, four more than were needed for crushing like an eggshell the skull of Goliath; in the valley of Ajalon, over which, at Joshua's command, Astronomy halted; on the plain of Esdraelon, the battlefield of ages, its long red flowers suggestive of the blood dashed to the bits of the horses' bridles; amid the shattered masonry of Jericho, in Jerusalem, that overshadows all other cities in reminiscence; at Cana, where plain water became festal beverage; on Calvary, whose aslant and ruptured rocks still show the effects of the earthquake at the awful hemorrhage of the five wounds that purchased the world's rescue, and with my hand mittened from the storm, or wet from the Jordan, or bared to the sun, or gliding over smooth table, this book has been written."

Dr. Talmage is the only author of a life of the Christ who visited the Holy Land for the purpose of seeing for himself the scenes made famous by the birth and crucifixion of the Saviour, and this record of his life is one of the most interesting portions of the book. The writer vividly portrays the visit of Mary and Joseph in Egypt:

"Over the hills and down through the deep gorge they urge their way. By Hebron, by Gaza, through hot sand, under a blistering sun, the babe crying, the mother faint, the father exhausted. How slowly the days and weeks pass. Will the weary three ever reach the banks of the Nile? Will they ever see Cairo? Will the desert ever end? When at last they cross the line beyond which old Herod has no right to pursue their joy is unbounded. Free at last! Let them dismount and rest. Now they resume their way with less anxiety. They will find a place somewhere for shelter and the earning of their bread. Here they are at Cairo, Egypt. They wind through the crooked streets, which are about ten feet wide, and enter the humble house where I have been today. It is nine steps down from the level of the street. It is such a place as no reader of this book would like to dwell in. I measured the room, and found it 20 feet long and 7 1-2 feet high. There are three shelvings of rock, one of which I think was the cradle of our Lord. There is no window, and all the light must have come from lantern of candle. What a place for the king of heaven to live in!"

As he approaches Jerusalem the doctor can hardly contain himself. He is sitting on a patient camel's back writing these words: "Along the route I am amazed beyond expression at the boldness and jaggedness of the scenery of the Holy Land. I expected to see it rough, but not Alpinian and Sierra Nevadian in grandeur. The hills are amphitheatres, piled up galleries of gray rock, with intervals of soil, brown and maroon, until the eye and head and heart surrender, and the lips that for a long while were exclamatory become speechless. Before sundown we will see Jerusalem. I never had such high expectations of seeing any place as of seeing the holy city. I found myself singing 'Jerusalem, My Happy Home,' while dressing myself this morning. I think my feelings may be slightly akin to that of the Christian just about to enter the heavenly Jerusalem."

Then follows a graphic picture of the great city, and the visitor's thoughts as his eyes beheld it for the first time.

Dr. Talmage gives a description of a baptism in the Jordan. He says:

"Yesterday on horseback we left Jericho, and having dipped in the Dead sea we came with a feeling that we cannot describe upon the Jordan, a river which more people have desired to see than any other. On our way we overtook an American, who requested me to baptize him by immersion in the river Jordan. We dismounted at the place where Joshua and his host once crossed the river dry shod. We were near a turn in the river, and not far off from where rocks and sand are piled up in shape of cathedrals, domes and battlements. We pitched our tent, and after proper examination of the candidate for baptism I selected portions of Scripture appropriate. One of our Arab attendants had a garment not unlike a baptismal robe. With that garment girdled around me I led the candidate down under the trees on the bank, while near by were groups of friends and some strangers who happened to be there. After a prayer I read of Christ's baptism in the Jordan and the commission, 'Go, teach all nations, baptizing them.' The people on the bank then joined in singing to the familiar tune that soul stirring song, 'On Jordan's Stormy Bank I Stand.' With the candidate's hands in mine we waded deep into the Jordan, and I then declared, 'In this historical river, where the Israelites crossed, and Naaman plunged seven times for the cure of his leprosy, and Christ was baptized, and which has been used in all ages as a symbol of the dividing line between earth and heaven, I baptize thee in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.' As the candidate went down under the waves and then rose I felt a solemnity that no other scene could have inspired. As the ordinance was observed under the direction of no particular denomination of Christians, and no particular church could be responsible for it, I feel it my duty to report what I did to the church universal."

Dr. Talmage's description of his departure from Jerusalem is characteristic:

"Now we leave Jerusalem for the long journey north through Palestine. A little way out we got on a hill and took the last look at Jerusalem, and I felt and remarked it was the last look at that sacred city on earth, and the next Jerusalem we shall see will be the heavenly. We went on within sight of Mizpah and Gibeon, where Joshua commanded the sun to stand still; on by Rama, connected with Samuel's history; on by the traditional village where the parents of Christ missed their boy, about three and a half miles from Jerusalem. This is the road over which Jesus came and went from Jerusalem to Nazareth. To-night we encamp at Bethel, where was once a school of the prophets, a theological seminary. Elijah and Elisha were here. Near this Abraham and Lot divided the land. Here Jacob, pillowed on a stone, saw the ladder used by angels' feet, and he set up a stone and consecrated it. To-night the heavens were full of ladders—first a ladder of clouds, then a ladder of stars, and all up and down the heavens are the angels of beauty, angels of consolation, angels of God ascending and descending. 'Surely God is in this place,' said Jacob, 'and I knew it not.' But to-night God is in this place, and I know it!"

The doctor has this to say about tradition, history and fact before beginning the real work of the book:

"Are the places that I see in Palestine and Syria and the Mediterranean isles the genuine places of Christly, patriarchal and apostolic association? Many of them are not, and many of them are. We have no sympathy with the bedwarfing of tradition. There are traditions contradicted by their absurdity, but if for several generations a sensible tradition goes on in regard to events connected with certain places, I am as certain of the localities as though pen and document had fixed them. Indeed, sometimes tradition is more to be depended on than written communication. A writer may, for bad purposes, misrepresent, misconstrue, misstate; but reasonable traditions concerning places connected with great events are apt to be true. I have no more doubt concerning the place on which Christ was crucified or in which Christ was buried than I have about the fact that our Lord was slain and entombed. But suppose traditions contradict each other? Then try them, test them, compare them as you do documents. It is no more difficult to separate traditions, true and false, than apocryphal books from inspired books. Do not use the word tradition as a synonym for delusion. There is a surplus of Christian infidels traveling in the Holy Land who are from scalp to heel surcharged with unbeliefs. A tradition may be as much divinely inspired as a book. The scenery of Palestine is interjoined, intertwisted, interlocked with the Scriptural occurrences. The learned Ritter, who has never been charged with any weakness of incredulity, writes: 'No one can trace without joy and wonder the verification which geography pays to the history of the Holy Land.'

"When the brilliant Renan went to Palestine he was stuffed with enough incredulity to make a dozen Thomas Paines, and yet he gives the following experience: 'The marvelous harmony of the evangelical picture, with the country which serves as its frame, was to me a revelation. I had before my eyes a fifth gospel, mutilated but still legible; and ever afterward in the recitals of Matthew and Mark, instead of an abstract being that one would say has never existed, I saw a wonderful human figure live and move.' So said an unbeliever. In this my visit to Palestine, in the year of our Lord 1889-90, I also find the landscape a commentary. The rivers, the mountains, the valleys, the lakes, the rocks, the trees, the costumes of the Holy Land, agree with Matthew and Mark and Luke and John. The geography and topography are the background of the Gospel pictures. They carry a different part of the same song.

GROUP OF MODERN GALILEANS.

Admit Palestine and you admit the New Testament. A distinguished man years ago came here, and returned and wrote, 'I went to Palestine an infidel and came home a Christian.' My testimony will be that I came to Palestine a firm believer in the Bible, and return a thousand fold more confirmed in the divinity of the Holy Scriptures."

Quite as interesting as anything else in the book is this announcement:

"Wandering up and down the chief art galleries of Europe I have looked for a face of the Saviour which I would like to have in my life of Christ. The one I have chosen in preference to all is that executed by a modern artist already widely honored.

"I have no idea that the Fourteenth century, or the Fifteenth century, or the Sixteenth century monopolized all the brain. I think the best music is yet to be composed, the best sculpture yet to be chiseled, the best paintings are yet to be presented to the world. We are almost always disappointed with a picture of Christ. It is the universal criticism of such pictures, 'While I admire the artistic merit of the production, the picture is not my idea of the Saviour.' The picture is apt to represent Christ either as effeminate or severe, weak or awful. To commingle in one picture strength and humility, suffering and triumph, the lionlike and the lamblike, the face that frowned the bestormed lake into a calm, and yet was such an invitation to babyhood that children tumbled from their mothers' arms into his bosom—that was what I was looking for, and that I have found, and that we present to our readers.

"I think it will satisfy more people than any other face that has ever been put on canvas. The cranial development of this picture of Christ is marvelous, and different from anything previously produced. We must not forget that he was not only a Christ of great heart, but also of great head. Most other paintings of our Lord were made from models. This artist had no model. He feels that it was an inspiration, and I believe it was. The German is apt to paint a German Christ, the Italian an Italian Christ, the Frenchman a French Christ, the Spaniard a Spanish Christ. But it was left for our artist, in whose veins commingle the blood of many nationalities, to paint for us 'The World's Christ!' Blessed be his glorious name forever!"

The public will be curious to see the work of this artist.

Perhaps the good doctor has found a new Correggio!

There are a great many other features too numerous to even mention in a newspaper article. The readers will find these for themselves, and will probably lay down the book, as I did the proof sheets, with a new knowledge of the Christ and a higher appreciation of Dr. Talmage's splendid ability.

DODD'S CATARRH CURE. LOCAL AND INTERNAL TREATMENT.

In order to cure catarrh it is necessarry to allay the inflammation of the irritated membranes with a soothing application, cleanse the head of the plugging mucous secretions, and heal the discharging ulcers For cold in the head and nasal catarrh Dodds' local treatment does this without the aid of snuff, douches or fumes. If the disease has extended downwards affecting the bronchial tubes or lungs, digestion and blood, the internal treatment both removes from the system the scattered poison, and by its building-up properties assists nature in restoring the impaired parts. ESTATE OF ALEX. PATTERSON.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee.

At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 15th day of September in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety. Present, Richard H. Robbins, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Alexander Patterson, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of John Linton, Executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, alleging that the funeral expenses and debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration thus far incurred have been fully paid and that he is now ready to render his fifth annual administration account, and praying that said account may be allowed, and for such other order and decree as to this court shall seem proper.

It is ordered, That Monday, the 13th day of October next, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

Attention, Comrade.

DO YOU WANT A PENSION? Do You Want Your Pension Increased.

There is a New Pension Law and nearly every soldier is now entitled to a pension.

DR. J. H. REYNOLDS

Late a member of the Board of Examining Surgeons at Adrian, Mich., and who has examined over two thousand soldiers for pensions, will hereafter devote two hours each day to

PENSION BUSINESS

The Doctor was a soldier and is a pensioner, and with his five years' experience as Examining Surgeon for Pensions, believes he can make it PAY YOU to come and see him.

He knows the RATE on every known disability.

Knows what Diseases or Disabilities are the results of any other.

Knows (as every EXAMINING SURGEON will tell you) that many men do not draw what the law allows them, because their claims are not presented in proper shape.

Knows how to put your claim in such shape that you will get pay for ALL results of the disease or wound for which you are pensioned.

Knows all the recent decisions made by Commissioner and how to give you the advantage of them in dollars.

Knows that some recent rulings are of vital importance to many pensioners, if their claims are only properly presented.

Knows whether you are entitled to Rerating, and how to get it.

I charge just the legal fees because I earn them ALWAYS BRING YOUR CERTIFICATE WITH YOU.

If you want the benefit of a Pension while you live go and see Dr. Reynolds.

I can get you from $2 to $6 more per month under the new law than other agents.

To any person examined by the board, at Adrian, before Aug. 1, 1889, I have something of importance to tell you.

Come and let us examine you (no charge) and I will tell you all about it. About one-third of all the soldiers examined while I was on the board were rated for disabilities not claimed. You had better come and see me about it.

Correspondence solicited, with stamp for reply. 15 East Maumee-st., Adrian, Mich.

ATTENTION, Soldiers & Sailors,

Under the new pension law just passed by Congress all Soldiers and Sailors who served 90 days in the Rebellion, and who are disabled from any cause permanently, (need not have originated in the service,) are entitled to a pension of from $6 to $12. All soldiers' widows, minor children and dependent parents come under this law. Being located at the Capital near the U. S. Pension office, we can give our personal attention to your claim and thus ascertain any defect quickly and supply the same.

Write for blanks. Give full description of service and disabilities.

THE STARTERS.

In Ohio's Congressional Races.

THE LIST OF STARTERS HAS BEEN MADE COMPLETE.

Brief History of the Most Notable Series of Congressional Conventions Ever Held in This State, Showing How Some of the Gerrymander Makers Were Knocked Out.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 13. THIS is the congressional candidate of 1890 visiting the fairs and kissing the farmers' babies.

That "the best laid plans of men and mice gang aft aglee" has never been more forcibly illustrated than by the congressional conventions of this year. The gerrymandered districts were carved out last winter with the intention and for the purpose of electing certain men in those wherein Democratic majorities were placed. The crop of candidates which came forth as plentiful as the flowers in spring and the close races between them made many of the nominating conventions the most notable in the history of the state. The results in numerous districts was unforshadowed and indeed in some cases were in the nature of a surprise to the successful candidates. There was scarcely a contest in a Democratic district in which one or more slates were not broken.

The nominations by both parties being completed, stand as follows:

Democrats—First district, Otway J. Cosgrave; Second, Oliver Brown; Third, George W. Houk; Fourth, Martin K. Gantz; Fifth, Ferd C. Layton; Sixth, D. D. Donavin; Seventh, Wm. E. Haynes; Eighth, D. D. Hare; Ninth, J. H. Outhwaite; Tenth, John Q. Smith; Eleventh, John M. Pattison; Twelfth, Ezra V. Dean; Thirteenth, Irvine Dungan; Fourteenth, James W. Owens; Fifteenth; M. D. Harter; Sixteenth, John G. Warwick; Seventeenth, A. J. Pierson; Eighteenth, Jonathan H. Wallace; Nineteenth, J. C. Hoyt; Twentieth, *Dr. Wadsworth; Twenty-first, Tom L Johnson. *Probable nominee.

Following is a brief summary of each convention:

FIRST DISTRICT.

Democratic, held at Cincinnati, September 12, Otway J. Cosgrave, Hamilton county, nominated on the first ballot.

Republican, held at Cincinnati, September 8, Bellamy Storer, Hamilton county, nominated by acclamation.

This was the first convention in which the Australian ballot system was used.

TWENTY-FIRST DISTRICT.

Democratic, held at Cleveland, October 4. Tom L. Johnson, Cuyahoga county, nominated by acclamation.

Republican, T. E. Burton, Cuyahoga county, nominated by popular vote September 26.

Altogether sixty-nine days were spent in holding the conventions, and 3,364 ballots were taken.

The longest convention was that of the Democrats in the Fourth—eight days. The most ballots were cast by the Republicans in the Tenth—866.

A HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

Dayton Teamster's Leg Torn From His Body by the Cars.

DAYTON, O., Oct. 13.—Daniel C. Hale, a teamster, twenty-three years old and single, in attempt to mount the platform of a passenger train, missed his footing and fell with his legs under the wheels. In an endeavor to get his legs out from their perilous position, and while holding to the platform, his left foot caught between the main rail and that of a switch and the leg was literally torn from the socket at the knee. Still clinging to the platform, his right leg was then thrown under the wheels and from the knee down ground into a shapeless mass. When a moment later the train stopped and he was rescued, he was yet holding to the platform. He was taken to the hospital and his right leg amputated below the knee and the left leg above the torn ligament. Despite his injuries, loss of blood and the shock, he is resting easy, with the chances for recovery.

The First Suit.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 13.

The first suit instituten under the law passed by the legislature last winter, fixing ten hours as a day's work on all railroads within the state, and providing that any employe of a railroad company who performs more than that number of hours' labor in a single day shall receive extra compensation, was brought in Justice Fritchey's court last evening. The plaintiff in the case is Elmer McClain and the defendant the Toledo and Ohio Central Railroad Company. McClain alleges that since the first day of May he has worked 250 extra hours, and prays for a judgment of $52. McClain is a brakeman on the railroad in question.

Extra Session of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—From a source that can be relied upon, it is learned that the subject of an extra session has been considered by the president and cabinet; that a majority are in favor of it; that it is very likely to be called, and that the main object in calling congress together is the passage of a reapportionment bill. The immense amount of unfinished legislation will make a couple of weeks extra time of great importance added to the coming short session, which must be devoted mainly to the appropriation bills.

SPIRIT OF TRUE SERVICE.

LESSON III, FOURTH QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, OCT. 19.

Text of the Lesson, Luke xxii, 24-27. Commit Verses 25-27—Golden Text, Phil. ii, 5—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

24. "And there was also a strife among them, which of them should be accounted the greatest." He had kept His last passover with them, again typically foreshadowing His sufferings and death; He had instituted the supper which would keep constantly before them His humiliation unto death; He had just said that one of them, one of the twelve, should prove false to Him and betray Him; and yet all these things so little affect them that, even at such a time, instead of being in sympathy with Him, and feeling for Him in view of His approaching sufferings, they are selfishly and apparently unfeelingly talking of their own personal advantage and superiority of position in His Kingdom. He had the cross ever before Him, and by plain statement as well as by parable and type was ever referring to it. They could see no cross, but only the restoration of Israel's supremacy as in the days of David and Solomon, and position and honor for themselves with Him. Their thoughts were not His, they understood Him not. He was alone among men, His company with whom He found fellowship was unseen by mortals.

25. "And He said unto them, The kings of the Gentiles exercise lordship over them; and they that exercise authority upon them are called benefactors." The Jews were chosen from among all nations to show unto all the reality of the only living and true God, one who in supernatural ways would guide, protect and care for His people who put their trust in Him; pitying and providing for them as a father, comforting and nourishing them as a mother. They were to glorify Him by an implicit and constant reliance upon Him and by being meekly subject to Him in all things. They were not to be anxious even about food and raiment, for their Heavenly Father knew that they needed such things and would surely provide them (Matt. vi, 32). Let the Gentiles who knew no Heavenly Father have such anxiety, but let Israel not so dishonor their God. And so with position and honor among men, leave all that to those who knew no better.

26. "But ye shall not be so; but he that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger: and he that is chief, as he that doth serve." This was a lesson that He was ever teaching them (Matt. xviii, 3, 4; xx, 25, 27; xxiii, 11), but one so hard for poor human nature to learn.

27. "For whether is greater, he that sitteth at meat or he that serveth? Is not he that sitteth at meat? But I am among you as He that serveth." Or as He said on another occasion: "The Son of Man came not to be ministered unto but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many" (Matt. xx, 28). The incident of the feet washing recorded in John xiii, 4-17, occurred at this time, for it is written that "He rose from supper, laid aside His garments, took a towel and girded Himself," etc.; then when He had finished He said: "I have given you an example that ye should do as I have done unto you."

28. "Ye are they which have continued with Me in my temptations." How kind of Him it was to say so. Outwardly they were with Him; they had left all for Him; they followed Him wherever He went and ministered unto Him; but as we have seen they did not feel for Him in His trials and would not believe that the cross awaited Him.

29. "And I appoint unto you a Kingdom, as My Father hath appointed unto Me." He will wean them from desire for present pre-eminence by assurances respecting their future glory.

30. "That ye may eat and drink at My table in My Kingdom, and sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel." Compare Matt. xix, 28, where the same promise is a little more full. There He says it will be in the regeneration, when the Son of Man shall sit on the throne of His glory.

31. "And the Lord said, Simon, Simon, Behold Satan hath desired to have you that he may sift you as wheat." Satan seems to have a special hatred of those whom the Master is about to use; he had already used the lips of Peter to say tempting words (Matt. xvi, 22, 23), and now, as in the case of Job, he has made special request for Peter to give him a sifting.

32. "But I have prayed for thee that thy faith fail not: and when thou art converted, strengthen thy brethren." If the prayers of a righteous man availeth much, how all prevailing must be the prayer of Jesus; and how quiet and thankful we should be that "He ever liveth to make intercession for us" (Jas. v, 16; Heb. vii, 25).

33. "And he said unto Him, Lord, I am ready to go with thee, both into prison and to death." Have you never, dear reader, been so conscious of the presence of God and the love of God that you, too, have felt just like that, even if you did not say it? But how long did it last?

34. "And He said, I tell thee, Peter, the cock shall not crow this day before that thou shalt thrice deny that thou knowest Me." The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked; who can know it? I the Lord (Jer. xvii, 9, 10). He needed not that any should testify of man, for He knew what was in man (John ii, 25); and He is reading us just as He read Peter.

35. "And He said unto them, When I sent you without purse, and scrip, and shoes, lacked ye anything? And they said, Nothing." No good thing will He withhold from them that walk uprightly (Ps. lxxxiv, 11); much less from those whom He sends forth in His name.

36. "Then said He unto them, But now he that hath a purse let him take it, and likewise his scrip: and he that hath no sword, let him sell his garment and buy one." This sounds strange in view of His former teaching, that if they should seek first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness all necessary temporal things would be added; and also when we remember that Peter a little later used a sword and Jesus told him to put it up, saying, "All they that take the sword shall perish with the sword" (Matt. xxvi, 52). He never contradicts Himself; He never changes. The sense seems to be this: I am now going to be absent from you in person, and if you cannot trust me to take care of you and protect you though unseen then rely upon yourselves. Instead of saying, Lord, here are two swords (which proved to be more than enough), they should have said, Lord, we will rely on Thee still and die with Thee rather than use the sword.

37. "For I say unto you, that this that is written must yet be accomplished in Me, and He was reckoned among the transgressors: for the things concerning Me have an end." Very soon now—in less than twelve hours from that time—would He say on the cross, "It is finished." And just as surely as He finished the work of atonement for sin, making redemption possible, so surely shall He finish the work of redemption in His coming Kingdom.

Great Discoverers.

What Bell and Edison are to the telephone and electricity, says the Pittsburg News, Dr. Franklin Miles, the well-known specialist in nervous diseases, is to the nervous system and nerve fluid. Among his numerous discoveries the Restorative Nervine is undoubtedly one of the greatest. It is unsurpassed in nervousness, dyspepsia headache, epilepsy, neuralgia, backache, melancholy, sleeplessness, change of life, etc. Free trial bottles of it may e had of Baker & Hall. Druggists. All should read his "New and Startling Facts for the Afflicted," a very able, interesting, and finely illustrated book Free to all.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

Village of Tecumseh,
Council Room, Oct. 6, 1890.

Regular session. Present—President Heesen, Trustees Ames, James, Kennedy, Smith and the recorder. Absent, Elliott, Heck.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The chairman of the street committee reported that his committee had effected the purchase of gravel bed of Mrs. Sam'l Holden for $600 and on motion the recorder was instructed to draw an order on the treasurer for $600, in favor of Mrs. Samuel Holden, in payment for said gravel.

REPORTS OF OFFICERS.

The sexton reported five adults and one infant interment for September and three lots sold, together with treasurer's receipt for $20 interment fees and vault rent. Report accepted and ordered filed.

The street commissioner presented the following report of work for September:—

Corporation team, 20 days: hand work, 4½ days; street commissioner, 20½ days, poll tax worked, 8 days. On motion the report was accepted and ordered filed.

PETITIONS.

The petition of W. S. Morse and eight others was presented, asking that the Council do not require a new side walk to be built on VanBuren street this year. On motion said petition was laid on the table.

The petition of George Merritt and 38 other business men and firms within the fire limits, was received, asking the common council to appoint to the position of night watchman Lucius L. Bates, to succeed Delos S. Love, the present incumbent; said appointment to take effect 30 days from Sept. 29, 1890. On motion the petition was granted and Lucius L. Bates appointed night watchman in accordance with petition.

James S. Gilman made request for a street lamp at the north end of Maiden Lane near his residence, he to take care of the lamp, and on motion the request was granted.

On recommendation of the marshal, Lucius L. Bates was, on motion, appointment deputy marshal.

NEW BUSINESS

Hodges, street commissioner, $29,00. Bert Bartholomew, street labor, $1.88.

E. C. Coryell then addressed the council in regard to the tax sale of l t formerly owned by Joseph Wooden, claiming that as said sale had never been perfected, the matter was still open and asking the council to take some action in regard thereto.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The finance committee reported favorably on the above bills as read, and on motion orders were directed drawn for the several amounts.

On motion an order for $20.00 was directed drawn, in favor of W. C. Jordan, to pay him for extra service in rebuilding the cemetery vault.

On motion the marshal's warrant for collection of taxes was extended thirty days from Oct. 1. 1890.

On motion the revision of the village charter, by-laws and ordinance was referred to the committee on ordinance.

The council then adjourned.

WILHELM'S IMPROVED CREAMERY CAN.

Unequalled for private Dairies of from one cow to full size Creamery. $5.00 will buy FOUR 3-GAL. CANS making a capacity of 12 gallons of milk, and will PRODUCE ALL THE CREAM FROM 4 TO 8 HOURS, in a vat, tub, or any receptacle the farmer may choose, holding water from 10 to 14 inches in depth, and at temperature from 40 to 60 degrees cold. IT MAKES A PERFECT CREAM and combines the advantage of deep setting, rapid cooling, protecting the milk from all impurities of the atmosphere which so quickly taints cream. Also preventing souring by thunder storms, from flies, insects, dust, and all bad odors, thus preserving both cream and milk, clean and sweet. Over 200,000 in use in the U. S. One setting of milk is all that is needed to prove the merit of the can. Usual size of can, again, price $1.25. A liberal discount on orders of one dozen Cans and upwards. SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE

RIDGEWAY RAMBLES

There will be no L. C. S. this week.

Election a week from next Tuesday.

G. C. Arner returned to his railroad duties Monday.

B. F. DePuy returned from his eastern trip Friday last.

Mrs. R. H. Nelson visited relatives in Dundee Friday and Saturday.

Miss Minnie Barrett visited friends at Dundee from Friday until Monday.

Esquire W. H. Arner walked out Saturday for the first time in several weeks.

Wiggins and Bachman, who have the contract of reshingling the Church, have begun their work.

Mrs. F., wife of Agent Frank Butler, of Wheelerton, visited Agent A. J. Sutton and family, from Saturday until Monday.

There was a good turnout to hear Dr. C. E. Begel, at Cottage Hall Saturday evening, speak on the political issues of the day.

Ed. Palmer visited the County seat last week Wednesday. We don't remember seeing his license in the Messenger, though.

John Lucas, wife and daughter Eda, of Kalkaska, arrived last week for a visit with their mother, Mrs. Cheever, and other relatives and friends.

E. T. Smith moved his family and household effects to Toledo last week. He will work for his father in the iron business the coming year.

On November 13th the members of the M. E. Church will meet at the Church to take into consideration the voting the ladies the privilege of attending General Conference as delegates.

The attendance at the surprise social given by the Epworth League at the Church on Tuesday evening was good and a very pleasant time spent by all. The society realized nearly $12 through the oddity of the bill of fare.

Remember you can secure tickets for the Tecumseh Lecture and Musical course of Kitty Clark. The first of the course will be given at the Opera House on Friday evening of next week by Adele Aus der Ohe, pianist. Single tickets, 50c.; full course, $1.50.

Miss Mary Kilpatrick, who has been engaged in a work here for several days past and making her headquarters at Mrs. John Arner's, left for Tecumseh Wednesday. She will visit her sister and brother, who are attending the Normal at Ypsilanti, and leave for her home at Marine City the first of next week.

The Library reading circle will meet at the Library next Wednesday, when the following short program will be presented:

Music—Lelia Sutton.
Dec.—James Nelson.
Reading—Ella Pattison.
" —Dr. R. H. Nelson.
Music—Emma Miller.
Reading—Mrs. G. P. Waring.
" —Mrs. H. J. Williams.
Vocal solo—Minnie Barrett.

Lulu Rappleye closed her first term of school in District No. 3 last week Friday with rhetorical exercises. There were a good many visitors in attendance. Justus Lowe and E. A. Palmer made short addresses to show that they appreciate Miss Rappleye. The students presented her with a beautiful plush toilet set. She has been engaged to teach the remainder of the year.

Misses Martha and Jessie Patton returned to their home at Chicago, leaving on the midnight train Sunday. Jessie is still engaged in teaching elocution. She is also acting as assistant in Prof. Lyman's school of Oratory. Without a doubt Miss Patton is one of the finest lady elocutionists in Chicago. By the Chicago press we see her spoken of in the highest of praise. In speaking of our Library the young ladies say it is the pleasantest and most homelike of any library they ever visited.

We clipped the following from the Paragould Press, to which we in behalf of Mrs. Potts' many friends, who have known her so long, extend our best wishes and congratulations:

Mr. Frank E. Potts, book-keeper for the great establishment of the Perkins Mercantile Co. of this city, very quietly left on the north bound train Monday night. Only his most intimate friends knew his mission, which was one laden with orange blossoms of future conjugal happiness. Mr. Potts is a Michigander and came to this city some three months ago, and is now leader of the Paragould band. He hails from Detroit, and it was to that point he hied himself to obtain his bride, and together they returned to Paragould Wednesday morning. His bride's former name was Miss Ella H. Miller. Her father is a planter at Ridgeway, Michigan, while Miss Miller, now Mrs. Potts, was conducting a music school in Detroit. Mr. Potts is a handsome gentleman, and his bride is very beautiful and accomplished, and bears the carriage of being a most amiable and most inestimable lady. We extend our congratulations and wish their pathway through life may ever be strewn with roses of bliss, and that no obstacle may arise to bar their final entrance to a celestial home among the angels.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

WHEREAS, God in his wise providence has taken from us our beloved friend and benefactor, Rufus T. Bush, and

WHEREAS, Ridgeway and vicinity have lost a true friend,—one who had endeared himself to all,—whose sympathies were ever warm toward every enterprise for the ennobling and elevation of society, therefore.

Resolved, That the Hall Library Association has met with a loss which seems to be personal to all, as shown by his studying our various wants, and with a generous hand supplying them in a most unostentatious way.

Resolved, That to the afflicted family in their hours of trial and bereavement, we tender our heartfelt sympathies and would commend them to Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be published in the Tecumseh and Adrian papers.

BY ORDER OF COM.

A SUGGESTIVE MENU.

The Epworth League, connected with the Ridgeway M. E. church, gave a unique entertainment Tuesday evening which was highly enjoyed by those who were wise enough to attend. Supper was served from six to nine in the evening and the tables were filled during the entire time. That the supper was a good one goes without saying, but its chief merit consisted in its financial capabilities and guessing propensities. After the guests were seated at the tables—not before—they were supplied with neatly printed menu cards, in words and figures following, that is to say:

Epworth League; Ten-Cent-Supper.
Ridgeway M. E. Church, Oct. 21.

SUGGESTIVE MENU.

Celebrated Author
An Unruly Member. Women of Grit.
Noah's Son.
Pastry.
Tree cake. Universal Favorite.
Beverages.
Spring Offering. Boston's Overthrow
A Cold Vowel.
Appetizers—5 Cents Extra.
Fruit of the Vine. Impertinence.
What a Boy Calls His Sweetheart.
Skipper's Home. Tears, Idle Tears.
One For All.

It will be observed that the supper cost ten cents while the appetizers were five cents each, a very ingenious device, probably originated by some female financier, for the extras yielded a larger revenue than the supper itself. The entire affair was very nicely conducted and added a goodly sum to the treasury of the League.

NORTH EAST FRANKLIN.

Mabel Miner, of Bridgewater, is staying at present with her sister, Mrs. Abe Hunt.

Vira Taylor returned Saturday from her visit in Hillsdale and Liberty. Mrs. Mary Woods, of Hillsdale, and little son, Carl, accompanied her on her return and will visit at R. Taylor's for a few days.

There will be a Prohibition meeting at Tipton Hall next Friday evening (the 24th) under the auspices of the White Rose Club. Good speakers will be there to address the audience. Let everybody come.

Dr. and Mrs. Blatchford attended the last meeting of the Union Literary and Lyceum. The Doctor was prevailed upon to assist in the debate. We would be glad to see them at all our meetings.

L. E. Taylor has always thought no horse could get away from him. He finds himself mistaken, but it took an old one to accomplish the feat. The animal was nervous over a white cloth that was wrapped around some celery on the buggy seat and when her driver attempted to raise an umbrella her terror was complete. Before Mr. T. could dispose of the umbrella she had him tipped out of the buggy, and then had it all her own way for a while. He was badly bruised and shaken up but no bones were broke He is now nursing a swollen knee as a minder of the episode. The horse ran for a half mile or so, but did no other damage worth noting.

A LEVEL HEAD.

The Advantage of Presence of Mind in an Emergency.

During the late strike on the New York central Railroad, the militia were ordered to be in readiness in case of a riot, but they were not called out.

In an interview, Gov. Hill said the troops were not to be called upon except in case of an emergency. The emergency had not arisen, therefore they would not be ordered out. He remarked that this was the first great strike with which he had experience, and he did not propose to lose his head; the only point at which there had been serious trouble was at Syracuse, and there a deputy-sheriff had lost his head and precipitated an encounter.

The strike continued several weeks and there was riotous actions at various points along the road, but the civil authorities were able to cope without calling on the militia.

The test of a man's real ability comes when an emergency arises which makes a hasty call on his good judgment and discretion. The man who retains his presence of mind, maintains his equipoise and exercises sound discretion at such critical juncture, is it to be relied on and will be put to the front.

Men with level heads have the staying qualities which do not falter in the face of danger. Otis A. Cole, of Kinsman, O., June 10, 1890, writes: "In the fall of 1888 I was feeling very very ill. I consulted a doctor and he said I had Bright's disease of the Kidneys and that he would not stand in my shoes for the state of Ohio." But he did not lose courage or give up; he says: "I saw the testimonial of Mr. John Coleman, 100 Gregory St., New Haven, Conn., and I wrote to him. In due time I received an answer, stating that the testimonial that he gave was genuine and not overdrawn in any particular. I took good many bottles of Warner's Safe ; have not taken any for one ."

Gov. Hill is accounted a very successful man; he is cool and calculating and belongs to a class that do not lose their heads when emergencies arise.

SOME NICE DETECTIVE WORK.

A few days ago A. G. Hall of Raisin, reported to Deputy Sheriff Stevens that Joseph and Seal Smith, aged 17 and 19 years, had forged an order on Mrs. Imerson for $10,00 and had presented the same to him. As Mr. Hall knew Mrs. Imerson's hand writing he concluded to further investigate and found that a forgery had been committed. Complaint was made, a warrant issued and placed in officer Steven's hands, but in the mean time the boys had skipped. He at once telephoned to the Sheriff at Adrian. Officer Laird soon found the boys but in arresting both, Seal gave him the slip, but Joe was lodged in jail Saturday evening. On Monday the prisoner was arraigned before Justice Wightman, waved examination and was bound over to the Circuit Court. While officer Stevens was conveying Joe back to jail he quietly extracted a confession from him that Seal was at the house of a Mrs. Lincoln. Mr. Stevens then drove directly to Mrs. Lincoln's and sure enough, Seal was there. He was at once arrested and brought back to Tecumseh. His plea was a rather peculiar one. He didn't exactly plead guilty for he didn't write the name, but he told Joe how to write it. They had both practised writing Mrs. Imerson's name, but as Joe could write so much better he had Joe do the job.

Catarrh Can't be Cured

with Local Applications, as they can not reach the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. THE ELECTION LAW.

Under the new general election law, we quote from the Detroit Journal. The Secretary of State provides, but need not necessarily print, all the ballots, which must be of the same width and length and headed by a vignette or other device furnished by the party committees to the county clerk ten days before election. Imitations or copying of these official ballots, or imitations containing other names, or the carrying away such official ballots from the polls, is punishable by a fine of $1,000 or a year's imprisonment in the state prison.

Before delivering by the voter to the inspector, the ballot must be folded so that the name on it cannot be seen, and before depositing it in the ballot box the inspector must put a rubber band about it.

The act provides that in all the townships containing 100 or more electors and in all voting precincts in cities and villages, the various officers whose duty it may be to designate and prescribe the places of holding general elections in the several voting precincts, shall, and in all townships having less than 100 electors, may provide for and cause to be erected in the rooms where elections are to be held, a railing or fence four feet in hight, placed through and across the center of the room. There shall be a gate in each railing or fence, which shall be in charge of a gatekeeper appointed at the polls by the board of inspectors, and no persons shall be allowed inside of the railing except for the purpose of voting. As soon as the elector has voted he shall retire, and not again be admitted within the railing, and only as many electors as there are booths shall be allowed within the railing, and one at the same time, and the electors shall be admitted in the order in which they apply.

At least one such booth must be provided at each polling place, and not less than one for each 100 persons entitled to vote thereat, and one booth additional number of votes less than 100 and more than 25, with walls not less than six feet high, and placed in such a manner that as the elector passes in at the gate to the room where the ballots or tickets are taken by the inspectors of election, he shall pass through the booth and be concealed from the view of the inspectors and persons outside the railing.

Before the opening of the polls the inspectors must cause to be deposited within each booth separate packages containing tickets of all the political parties, and posters and slips for the several candidates, if desired and furnished by them.

The gatekeepers shall be the peace officers at polling places, and the act delegates to them power equal to that of constables for the purpose of maintaining peace at the polls on election day. No person is eligible to the office of gate-keeper on any election day when his name appears on any of the tickets to be voted. Gatekeepers must be at the gate from the opening to the close of the polls, and shall receive as compensation $2 for each day's work.

Each of the political parties is allowed a challenger in a position immediately adjoining the inspectors, who shall have a right to witness the canvassing of the votes. No election shall be held in a saloon or barroom or any place adjoining one. No liquors shall be introduced or drunk in the building where the election is held. Violating of this regulation is punishable by a fine of $100, inprisonment for 60 days, or both. Persons furnishing a ballot to an elector who cannot read, and informing him that it contains a name or names different from those written or printed thereon, may be punished by a fine of $100, imprisonment for 90 days, or both.

The great Dr. Boerhaave left three directions for preserving the health—keep the feet warm, the head cool, and the bowels open. Had he practised in our day, he might have added: and purify the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla; for she certainly would consider it the best.

TECUMSEH, THURSDAY, OCT. 26.

The Republicans in old Lenawee are getting badly scared. An effort is making to secure Speaker Reed for a speech at Adrian.

The Republicans will spend a cool $100,000 in McKinley's district to elect him. Major McKinley comes high, but the tariff barons and trusts must have him.

The merchants are all busy now marking up their prices as a consequence of the McKinley tariff law. The outlook for a big fall trade is rather slim.

Will James M. Turner withdraw from the ticket? Hardly. He is not that kind of a man. He will likely "hang on" and drag down the entire state ticket to defeat.

Candidate Turner of Michigan, can sympathise with candidate Delamater of Pennsylvania. They are both having a pretty hard row to hoe this fall and for similar reasons.

The smuggling industry will be greatly stimulated by the passage of the McKinley tariff law. It will require a large addition to the U. S. army to watch the Canadian border.

What is Capt. Allen's honest opinion, at this stage of the game, about his vote to tax binding twine? The voters in this neck o' woods would be glad to hear from him on this subject.

Mr. McAdoo of New Jersey crammed a whole stump speech into a sentence when he said: "Drop a vote into the republican slot and see the taxes go up." It is a good speech to pin in your hat.

Of the McKinley bill, the New York Evening Post says: "It is the wickedest measure that has passed Congress since the Fugitive Slave law." That it will be fully as far reaching in its consequences of evil to the country and people time will show.

Gen. John M. Palmer, of Illinois, declares: "I am satisfied that the actual workings of the McKinley bill, as exemplified in the increased cost on the articles of daily use, are converting the people faster than any arguments that we can bring to bear."

Mr. Yaple is drawing large meetings wherever he speaks and the impression he creates is something remarkable. It is doubtful if there is a more convincing speaker in the United States than Mr. Yaple. One reason for this is that he does not utter a word that he does not conscientiously believe.—Kalamazoo Gazette.

The census recount in N. Y. city reveals the fact that Porter's figures were nearly 200,000 short of the actual population. Under Porter's fraudulent count the city would be deprived of one Congressman and the State of one electoral vote. It seems impossible that such a gross miscount could have been the result of official neglect alone.

The Buffalo Courier says: Politics has become so vociferous down in Pennsylvania that Senator Don Cameron has contributed $100,000 to the Republican campaign fund. This is believed to be the largest individual campaign contribution ever made. Cameron is a candidate for re-election. The floater" business bids fair to be very prosperous in Pennsylvania this year.

The Corn Cob Club is the latest organization to be brought into existence in Chicago. It is composed of a number of bankers, journalists and other professional men. It is intended as a protest against the raise in prices of cigars occasioned by the new McKinley tariff bill, and the only qualification for membership is that those elected must smoke a corn cob pipe on the streets in lieu of a cigar.

Capt. Allen stated, or at least conveyed the impression, in his speech at Tecumseh last week that he voted for free silver last summer. We do not so understand the fact. The Evening News examined the record and stated the contrary, as appears fully in another column. Capt. Allen voted for the bogus silver bill that finally became a law, that is true, but his vote was recorded against the honest free coinage bill that actually passed the Senate. Capt. Allen's treachery to the silver cause will cost him many Republican votes in the district,

TURNER'S BRICK DEAL.

By those who have read the charges preferred by McEloy against James M. Turner, the "defence" of Mr. Turner and the affidavits of Vincent and Jordan, the following facts will be recalled:

Mr. McEloy alleges that when the north and south wings of the School for the Blind were constructed the brick were purchased by James M. Turner, then treasurer of the Board of Commissioners of the School for the Blind; that Mr. Vincent, of the firm of Farr and Vincent, contractor for the mason work, made affidavit that he was required by Mr. Turner to buy Lansing brick for the construction of said wings, and that he was compelled to buy of said James M. Turner, who controlled the Lansing brick manufacture, at the price of $7 per thousand, when he could have purchased outside brick at $5 per thousand; that proposals for the construction of said wings were received in 1883, and that the construction was done in the years 1884-5; that James M. Turner, in his reply to the charges of Mr. McElroy declared that at the time the brick were purchased of the Lansing Brick Company, John Jordan was the proprietor of the brick-yards; that articles of incorporation show that the Lansing Brick Company had then a capital stock of $50,000 in 2 000 shares of $25 each, of which 1,994 shares were owned by James M. Turner, two shares by John Jordan, two by C. P. Teneyck and two by Ira Scott, and that Mr. Turner "proved," by affidavit of said John Jordan, that he, Jordan, upon an investment of $50, was the absolute owner of property worth $50,000, and [illegible] holder of $49,850 of the stock w[illegible] owner, had no voice in the [illegible]ment of the concern and de[illegible] no emoluments from the $5,000 exacted from Vincent and Farr in excess of the sum they would have been obliged to pay for other brick—a remarkable instance of the tail wagging the dog—a $50 stockholder controlling a $49,850 stockholder.

Bear in mind that James M. Turner declares that in 1884-5 John Jordan was the proprietor of the Lansing Brick-yards, and backs this up with the affidavit of John Jordan, the man who had a $50 interest in a $50,000 concern. Then the following receipt, now in the possession of Martin E. Fitzpatrick, a contractor of this city, becomes interesting:

Lansing Brick and Tile Company. Paid up capital, $50.000. James M. Turner, Pres. and Tres.; C. P. Teneyck, Secretary. John Jordan, Superintendent.

LANSING, Mich., Sept. 20, '84.

M. E. Fitzpatrick bought of James M. Turner, September 19, 1884 30,000 brick delivered on Lot on Capitol avenue, at $5 per thousand, $150.

Received payment,

JAMES M. TURNER.

THE FARMER AND THE TARIFF ACT.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat, in spite of its misleading name, is one of the leading Republican papers of the country. In a recent issue it publishes the following from its Washington correspondent relative to the manner in which the farmer was not considered in the McKinley bill.

Somebody once asked Tom Bowen, of Colorado, what kind of a body the United States Senate was. "The Senate," replied the Colorado Senator, "is a body composed of a lot of fellows who dont care a d—n what happens to the rest of the world so long as they don't get hurt." This illustrates exactly the principle upon which the tariff bill was handled in the Senate. It was a case of every Senator for himself and the devil take the hindmosts. Because three Senators declined to fall into line and vote for the bill framed on this principle they are charged with treason to Republican principles.

A party of Kansans were discussing the tariff bill just before adjournment. "What do we get out of it?" Farmer Funston, chairman of the committee on agriculture, asked Senator Plumb. "We get the sublime privilege of being sat upon," replied the Senator.

It is a fact that the banner Republican state of 1888, with its 80,000 majority for Harrison and Morton, can find little basis for enthusiasm in the new tariff law. There is the home market theory, to be sure. Kansas may, with faith, be able to see secondary benefits in the new tariff. Increased protection may mean increased manufacturing, and that may lead to increased demand for agricultural products. Thus Kansas may be able to accept the new law with mingled resignation and hope. But the fact may as well be admitted that this revision of the tariff has been conducted on principles and methods which were wrong. It has been a revision in which the agricultural portion of the great Mississippi Valley virtually had no representation. From beginning to end of this recent legislation the manufacturing states and the manufacturing interests have had things all their own way. The result is not to be wondered at. The only surprise is that the new law is not worse than it is. It is worth while to review briefly the progress of this legislation:

Eight Republicans drafted the McKinley bill. Six of them from manufacturing districts. One is from the Pacific coast. Just one, John H. Gear of Iowa, is from the agricultural heart of the country. For weeks these eight men listened to the statements of manufacturers. The investigation was necessarily ex parte. On this evidence and on the natural bias of the six Representatives from manufacturing districts the tariff bill was made up. It went through the House virtually unchanged under the new rules.

Of the six Republican Senators on the finance committee, to which the bill went when it reached the Senate, only one is from a granger state.—Wm. B. Allison, of Iowa.

CAPT. ALLEN AND FREE COINAGE.

The following extract is taken from a communication in the Ann Arbor Argus, from the pen of Geo. A. Peters, one of the leading greenbacks in this Congressional district.

To the Editor: The Ann Arbor Courier claims that Capt. E. P. Allen, our member of Congress from this district, voted for the free coinage of silver. Will you please print in the News whether he did or not, and oblige many of your readers?

G. A. P.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 6.

The News is pleased to note the general attention that is being paid by the people in the congressional districts to the action of their representatives on the only honest currency bill that was presented to the last Congress. For the information of the gentleman from Ann Arbor, it may be stated that, on June 25, 1890, when the free silver coinage bill came to a vote in the House of Representatives, one of the Michigan men who voted against it was

EDWARD P. ALLEN.

For the information of its readers who are voters in other districts than the second, and who may be equally as anxious to know how their representatives voted on June 25, 1890, without knowing just how to find out, The News will venture that Capt. Allen was not alone in the Michigan delegation in his vote against free coinage. He had the company of the following gentlemen, whose names are printed in good large type, that there may be no mistake in the reading of them, even by people whose eyesight isn't good. These were his colleagues in the vote:

JAMES O'DONNELL,
JULIUS CÆSAR BURROWS,
CHARLES EUGENE BELKNAP,
MARK S. BREWER,
AARON T. BLISS,
BYRON M. CUTCHEON,
SAMUEL M. STEPHENSON.

The voters of Michigan who are interested in the course of their representatives in Congress might paste this list in their hats for reference between now and the 4th of November.

EDITOR ARGUS:—Please print the within slip cut from the Detroit Evening News of October 8th, at the head of this communication to the brother greenbackers of this second congressional district. The writer had the honor of representing in part this district at the national Greenback convention, held in Chicago in 1880, where we nominated that noble, good man and statesman, General Weaver, for President, a man whose name, when the correct history is written of this country, will be placed side by side with such patriots and honored Americans as Geo. Washington and Abraham Lincoln

Then, as now, one of the planks in our platform was, that we demand free silver coinage. Now, brother Greenbackers, many of us, including the writer, thought when the Republican party said two years ago in their national platform, that the party was in favor of the use of both gold and silver as money, it meant free silver coinage. So when Capt. Allen, in the campaign two years ago, said he was in favor of the free coinage of silver, we believed him and, on that platform, we voted for his election. But we find when he had to face the gold bugs, that there was some unseen power which compelled him to vote against its free coinage. (Perhaps it was Speaker Reed and the Republican party whip, as they had a good working majority in both houses of Congress.)

Now, brother greenbackers of this second congressional district, you and I, who have stood up and fought for this financial reform for the past fifteen years against all the ridicule and calumny maliciously made by the Republican party, I think should stand by the greenback flag, and by our votes this fall tell Capt Allen that we have no further use for him to misrepresent our interests in Congress. So when the night of November the 4th comes we may be able to send greetings to our brothers of the west and south that by our ballots we snowed under one more traitor to our cause. Now, brother farmer, to you who do not fully understand the act of 1873, demonetizing silver, let me say, that when the correct history of that infamous legislation is written, the name of John Sherman, the so-called father of that act, will go down in history as a man that has done a greater injury to his country by that official act than the traitor Benedict Arnold ever did. That act, changing from a silver unit to a gold one, has caused a million of farmers to lose their homes, turned into the streets and highway paupers. No wonder that eminent divine, Joseph Cook, sounds the alarm and tells you that two thousand capitalists own more than all the rest of the sixty five millions of our population. Let me tell my countrymen that when a father sees his wife and family turned into the highways, paupers, without any fault of his, except that he failed to gain sufficient knowledge to protect his rights by his ballot, he then and there ceases to be a patriot or to love his country. Is history repeating itself? Proud Rome fell when two per cent. of her population owned all of her wealth. And what is the last silver bill voted for by Capt. Allen? For the government to buy four million and five hundred thousand ounces of silver bullion a month, coin part into silver dollars and issue silver certificates for the whole amount till the first of July next. Then the coinage of the silver dollar is to cease forever. A hundred times more in the interest of the creditor or gold bug class than the silver law of 1878, that we forced Congress to pass over the veto of the President. If the silver law of 1878 had been honestly enforced the secretary of the treasury would have had coined more than five million of silver dollars a month for the past twelve years and long before this we would have been blessed by free silver coinage.

When the Republican orators get fairly started in this campaign they will probably tell you that the advanced price of cereals is caused by the new silver bill, which is simply rot or campaign lies. We farmers this year have met with the calamity of a partial crop failure of all cereals, while Europe is in the same boat and Ireland with the calamity of about a total failure of the potato crop. It simply proves what all writers of political economy will tell you, that the calamity of crop failure will always advance the price of farm products. If we had free silver coinage the purchasing power of the silver dollar would be no greater than the commodity value of 412½ grains of standard silver, unstamped by the government; while the new silver bill, voted for by Capt. Allen, makes the silver dollar circulate as a proxy for a gold dollar containing 25 8-10 grains, giving it the purchasing power of the commodity value of 25.8 10 grains of gold in the gold bullion markets of the world. To-day, under the new silver bill, you would be compelled to sell your wheat for sixty cents or less a bushel, and all farm products in that proportion, if it were not for the calamity of a partial crop failure, as stated above. Is it any wonder, brother farmers, that your boys and mine will not stay on the farm, when we, the fathers, allow our law makers, through vicious legislation, to rob us of at least 25 per cent of the value of all our farm products? Again, let me tell you that there is no other class of men on this green earth, that could honestly and justly advance the price of their products twenty-five or more per cent. but would harmonize their views and unitedly accomplish that purpose, except us farmers. Now I ask you, as you love your home, your wife and family, and hope, almost again hope, to have a competency in your old age, to, at the coming election, fool Shylock and the gold bugs by voting for the Hon. James S. Gorman for member of Congress from this second congressional district, one who, if elected, no unseen power, no Shylock, no party caucus, will control his official acts, contrary to the interests of us farmers, and whom you will find working and voting for free silver coinage until that measure is enforced by proper legislation. TWENTY-THREE YEARS IN THE DRUG BUSINESS.

I have been a druggist twenty-three years, and have sold all the patent medicines that are known in this country, and can truthfully say that I have never known a remedy for Blood Diseases of more value than S. S. S. (Swift's Specific). Mr. A., a customer, was troubled with an eruption of the skin on the back of his hands, and had in vain sought relief of the best local medical talent, also of some of the most noted specialists in New York, and as a last resort spent some months in Paris, France, under treatment of the physicians there, and had secured only temporary relief. After all this treatment he was finally cured, sound and well, by Swift's Specific.

Another customer, Mr. B., had suffered for many years with Blood Poison and thought he had been cured by mercurial treatment, but the disease returned, accompanied by Rheumatism of a bad type. A dozen small bottles of S.S.S. made a perfect and lasting cure.

THE FARMER'S HOPE.

PROTECTION PARODIED AND REDUCED TO AN ABSURDITY.

[SECOND AND CONCLUDING PAPER.]

We now approach the great and supreme interest of the American farmer—wool. The statistics relating to wool are admirably presented by Hon. William Lawrence, of Ohio, in a tract published by the American Protective Tariff league, which every farmer should read. Without troubling the reader with the precise dates to which the figures refer, or with other details which can be found accurately stated in Mr. Lawrence's address, we make free use of his general statements, statistics and arguments.

Mr. Lawrence, whose large personal interest and experience enable him to speak with authority, says: "Without adequate protection annihilation awaits our wool industry." No one but a free trader will dispute this assertion. Let us see what loss awaits the United States in case this adequate protection is denied. The present superintendent of the census has estimated this loss at over $300,000,000, made up about as follows:

Value of 44,000,000 sheep destroyed	$100,000,000
Value of 265,000,000 pounds wool	77,000,000
Wages of shepherds dismissed	100,000,000
Depreciation in value of land, $1 per acre	44,000,000
Total	$321,000,000

But, in the light of Mr. Lawrence's statements, this computation is evidently too small. Taking it as a basis and bearing in mind that all the manufacture as well as growth of wool is to be destroyed by the want of protection, we must add the value of the manufactured goods, the wages of the laborers and operatives, the depreciation of the value of land which is or might be employed in the growth or manufacture of wool. Mr. Lawrence shows that we can and ought to have 100,000,000 sheep, and would now have them had proper protection been given; that these sheep would have produced $100,000,000 worth of wool in excess of what was actually produced, employing shepherds and land in like proportion. Thus revised our losses, either now incurred for want of adequate protection or which would be incurred under free trade, must be reckoned as follows upon the principles laid down by the superintendent of the census:

100,000,000 sheep lost	$225,000,000
600,000,000 pounds wool	175,000,000
Wages of shepherds	225,000,000
Depreciation in value of land at one acre per sheep	100,000,000
Manufactures of wool	267,000,000
Wages of operatives in mills, etc.	47,000,000
Depreciation of mill property	150,000,000
Total	$1,189,000,000

Thus it will be seen that the small tax of a few cents per pound levied upon the foreign wool grower as a condition of the admission of his product into our free American market is all which stands between us and this enormous loss of over one billion dollars per annum! If this vast loss would follow the removal of protection from a single article figuring in the census of 1880 at less than $60,000,000 for the raw wool and less than $268,000,000 for the manufactured product, what might be expected to follow the abolition of protection on all other American industries?

This question admits of a plain answer. Every sound protectionist agrees that manufactures in the United States are absolutely dependent upon the protective tariff for their existence, and that upon the introduction of free trade they would be instantly blotted out. The superintendent of the census has demonstrated that the removal of protective duties from raw wool, of which $77,000,000 worth is now produced in our country, would cause us a total loss of over $300,000,000, and we have shown that on the same basis free trade in both wool and woolens would cause a national loss of near $1,200,000,000 annually.

The present annual value of our manufactures is not less than $8,000,000,000. Their destruction by free trade would, on the basis of Superintendent Porter's calculation, cost the nation more than $30,000,000,000 a year. Think of it! Thirty billion dollars each year to be blotted out by the introduction of this infernal British system at the instigation of the Cobden club!

Let American farmers reflect what this means. Under the beneficent influence of our protective tariff, which diffuses its blessings equally among all classes, every farmer's family now receives its equal share of this wealth, of which free trade would deprive us. There are not quite 10,000,000 families in the United States, and therefore the establishment of free trade would reduce the income of every farmer's family in the land by more than $2,000 every year! How much more tariff tinkering would it take to reduce even the most prosperous Kansas farmer to poverty?

Pardon, reader, this digression from the subject of wool in which we have indulged, because Superintendent Porter's statistics gave such a favorable opportunity to show how free traders seek to pull wool over the farmer's eyes.

While the protective duty on foreign wool pours a steady tide of gold into the farmers' pockets, it does not increase the cost of the workingman's clothing, as both Mr. Robert P. Porter and Maj. McKinley have clearly demonstrated. On Dec. 19, 1887, Mr. Porter stated in a public address that "strictly all wool complete suits were held at $5.50 per suit, good heavy full winter suits at $6.50 and $7.50." (Tract No. 18, American Protective Tariff League.) Shortly afterward Maj. McKinley exhibited in congress an all wool suit purchased in Boston for $10. Who wants anything cheaper than this?

A free trade congressman attempted to use these facts as an argument in favor of free wool, claiming that this cheapness was the result of superior machinery and superior intelligence in the American workman, and arguing that the price of such clothing would be made still cheaper by free wool. But a shrewd Massachusetts protectionist knocked the bottom out of this specious argument by producing in congress a letter from one of the principal manufacturers of the cloth out of which these all wool suits were made, stating that less than one-tenth of the materials from which the cloth was made consisted of wool—the rest being all cotton and shoddy. Clearly no reduction in the wool duty would reduce the cost of all wool goods, and the hypocrisy of the free traders' clamor for cheap wool stands exposed in all its disgusting nakedness.

Moreover, as Census Superintendent Porter shows in the eloquent address from which we have already quoted, "the price of wool has always been higher under a low than a high tariff." He continued: "Why should the farmers be so anxious to retain the tariff, then, I hear my free trade friends ask. Because under a protective tariff the breeds of sheep have been improved."

In the Wharton School of Finance and Economy, attached to the University of Pennsylvania, founded by Joseph Wharton, Esq., for the express purpose of teaching protectionist doctrine, Professor S. N. Patten is in charge of this all important subject. In his masterly treatise in defense of this corner stone of American liberty and industry Professor Patten adduces strong reasons in favor of the total prohibition of woolen clothing by the United States government and the adoption of cotton as the exclusive clothing of the American people. He therefore favors an increase of the duties upon foreign wools and woolens, and under an enlightened and consistent protective policy, applied without hesitation by a Republican congress, free from any taint of mugwumpery, we may look forward hopefully to the day when all the American people will be clothed in American cotton, just as the Chinese are clothed in Chinese cotton.

As Hon. William Lawrence shows in the valuable paper already referred to, there were in the United States in 1880 1,020,728 flock owners, besides numerous owners of sheep ranches. The number must now be much greater. He quotes Hon. Columbus Delano, formerly Republican secretary of the interior, and now president of the National Wool Growers' association, as authority for estimating "the value of lands, barns, sheds and equipments employed in the sheep industry at $408,291,200."

Adopting this careful estimate as the basis of calculation, the destruction involved in the proposition to establish free trade in wool reaches proportions far exceeding those previously stated. On the basis adopted by the superintendent of the census, as we have already shown, the national loss would amount to nearly $1,200,000,000 per annum. But to this must be added the $408,000,000 above mentioned and the income of the more than 1,000,000 flock masters ruined by the mad innovations of fanatics or British hirelings. It would be moderate to put this at $500,000,000 more, making in all over $2,000,000,000 flung away in blind submission to the dictates of the Cobden club!

Many other facts might be adduced to illustrate the absolute dependence of American farmers upon the protective tariff, but enough has been said to give ample food for thought. The American market must be secured for the exclusive benefit of American farmers and manufacturers. A wall of fire must be built, if necessary, to keep out foreign wares. As Senator Evarts has nobly said, we must steadily aim at the policy of selling everything to foreign nations and buying nothing from them; and then, but not until then, will the wall of protection be unnecessary, and free trade be possible without destruction. Yet even then, as Professor Denslow has well pointed out, the tariff should not be reduced, because if any foreign goods would then come in it is necessary to our defense; and if they would not come in in case the tariff were repealed, the tariff can do no harm.

In the language of The New York Tribune, the tariff is "the pedestal upon which American credit and prosperity are founded." That pedestal should never be reduced or shaken. Let it be raised ever higher and higher; let every American arm be raised to fight in its defense; let every foreign intruder be banished from our markets; let this palladium of our prosperity be guarded with sacred care and let our motto be:

"The Protective tariff; it must and shall be maintained!"

JONATHAN B. WARE.

Narrowing the Farmer's Market.

The harm that the McKinley bill will do our farmers by reason of the increased cost of manufactured articles is by no means the only evil it will inflict upon them. The greater evil will be in the damage done to the farmers' foreign market.

This restriction of our foreign market for farm products may not necessarily come in the form of direct retaliation. It will more certainly come as the result of the struggle which we are forcing upon Europe to find markets elsewhere in which to sell, for where a country sells there it will also buy if it can.

That such a restriction of our foreign market will take place is almost an absolute certainty. Already the forces have been set in motion to accomplish that result. The London correspondent of the New York Times writes to that paper about the effect of the bill in Europe. He says of the bill:

"For one thing, it has already made it certain that Europe will take no interest in the Chicago exhibition, and will practically be unrepresented there. Even more important is the impulse it has given here to consolidate capital in an energetic effort to immediately push railways throughout the Indian and Russian wheat belts, and thus render the European market independent of American grain supplies."

Let the farmers keep an eye on "McKinleyism!"

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

The Best Blood Medicine

So say Leading Physicians and Druggists, and their opinion is indorsed by thousands cured by it of Scrofula, Eczema, Erysipelas, and other diseases of the blood.

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla has won its reputation by years of valuable service to the community. It is the best."—R. S. Lang, Druggist, 212 Merrimack st., Lowell, Mass.

Dr. W. P. Wright, Paw Paw Ford, Tenn., says: "In my practice, I invariably prescribe Ayer's Sarsaparilla for chronic diseases of the blood."

Dr. R. R. Boyle, Third and Oxford sts., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "For two years I have prescribed Ayer's Sarsaparilla in numerous instances, and I find it highly efficacious in the treatment of all disorders of the blood."

L. M. Robinson, Pharmacist, Sabina, O., certifies: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has always been a great seller. My customers think there is no blood-purifier equal to it."

"For many years I was afflicted with scrofulous running sores, which, at last became so bad the doctors advised amputating one of my legs to save my life. I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla and soon saw an improvement. After using about two dozen bottles the sores were healed. I continue to take a few bottles of this medicine each year, for my blood, and am no longer troubled with sores. I have tried other reputed blood-purifiers, but none does so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—D. A. Robinson, Neal, Kansas.

The figure 9 in our dates will make a long stay No man or woman now living will ever date document without using the figure 9. It stands in the third place in 1890, where it will remain years and then move up to second place in 1900 where it will rest for one hundred years.

There is another "9" which has also come to stay. It is unlike the figure 9 in our dates in the respect that it has already moved up to first place, where it will permanently remain. It is called the "No 9" High Arm Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine

The "No. 9" was endorsed for first place by the experts of Europe at the Paris Exposition of 1889 where, after a severe contest with the leading machines of the world, it was awarded the only Grand Prize given to family sewing machines, all others on exhibit having received lower awards of gold medals, etc. The French Government also recognized its superiority by the decoration of Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, President of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor.

The "No. 9" is not an old machine improved upon, but is an entirely new machine, and the Grand Prize at Paris was awarded it as the grandest advance in sewing machine mechanism of the age. Those who buy it can rest assured, therefore, of having the very latest and best.

Eupepsy.

W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind. testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at.

Improvement the Promise of Cure.

No array of words can give a dyspeptic one-half the hope that comes from the relief which always follows the use of Burdock Blood Bitters and the promise of cure is never broken.

"Having suffered from Dyspepsia for two or three years, I decided to try B. B. and after taking one bottle I found myself so much better I got another bottle and after taking that I had no more need of medicine.

"MRS. G. C. WHITE, "Taberg, N. Y."

Don't pay for daily bread and then groan with dyspepsia when a bottle of B. B. B will give you relief. Repeated tests with uniform success prove that dyspepsia cannot withstand B. B. B.

"I have taken the second bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and it has cured me of dyspepsia with which I suffered for six years.

And the best lamp ever made, like Aladdin's of old, a "wonderful lamp!" A lamp absolutely non-explosive and unbreakable, which gives a clear, soft, brilliant white light of 85 candle power! Purer and brighter than gas light, softer than electric light, more cheerful than either! That lamp is

"The Rochester."

And with it there is no smoke, no smell, no broken chimneys, no flickering, no sweating, no climbing up of the flame, no "tantrums" nor annoyance of any kind, and it never needs trimming. Its founts (oil reservoirs) being tough rolled seamless brass, with central draft, it is absolutely unbreakable, and as safe as a tallow candle.

Only five years old, and over two million of these lamps in use. It must be a GOOD lamp to make such a telling success. Indeed it is, for lamps may come and lamps may go, but the "Rochester" shines on forever! We make over 3,000 artistic varieties,—Hanging and Table Lamps, Banquet, Study, Vase and Piano Lamps,—every kind, in Bronze, Porcelain, Brass, Nickel and Black Wrought Iron.

Ask the lamp dealer for it. Look for the trade-mark stamp: "THE ROCHESTER." If he hasn't the genuine Rochester and the style you want, or if no lamp-store is near, send to us for free illustrated catalogue (and reduced price-list), and we will box and send you any lamp safely by express, right to your door.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years,

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

A VISIT TO NAPLES AND MOUNT VESUVIUS.

Naples is situated on the bay of Naples, and has a population of about half a million of inhabitants. It has long been renowed for its beggars, and for a degraded condition of a large proportion of its inhabitants. Happily within the last few years beggars are fast disappearing and since a scourge of the cholera about four years ago, the sanitary arrangements of the city have improved, so much so, that Naples at the present writing is not an unhealthy city.

Every thing appears to improve in Naples excepting horses, which are the most miserable set of animals to be found in Europe. It would not be unreasonable to suppose that all the poor, lame, broken down horses of Italy were sent to Naples. The harness is beyond description, and it appears as if the method of making them had not changed since the destruction of Pompeii. All sorts of animals are coupled together. The mule, donkey, and dog will be seen drawing a cart, and not infrequently the observer will see a cart drawn by a woman and a dog. In a wholesale vegetable and fruit establishment, it will be somewhat as follows: On one side of the animal there will be potatoes, on the opposite side there will be a variety of melons; on one side of his neck will be suspended lettuce, while on the other side there will be a large quantity of grapes, and over his tail will be suspended huge bunches of onions, while sundry articles will cover every available space, so that the poor animal will be almost completely enveloped in fruits and vegetables. These are some of the strange scenes observed on the streets of Naples but many more might be added to the list.

When Vesuvius is active, that is, when it is throwing out fire, smoke, and melted lava, it is better to visit the mountain at night, and therefore we left Naples early in the evening for the ascent, returning early the next morning to the city. The ascent and decent occupying about ten hours. A part of the distance to the summit of Vesuvius is made by carriage; the road running in a zigzag direction, which makes the journey long and wearisome. One of the three horses attached to our carriage was balky, and would occasionally stop and back the carriage near the brink of a precipice; this was repeated several times which obliged every one to quickly alight from the carriage. We finally arrived at the railroad station, for as your readers are informed Vesuvius has a railroad. A cable road running at an angle of 45 degrees more or less brings the visitor within a few hundred feet of the crater.

A passenger on this road does not usually enjoy the ride, or it may be stated that the writer did not. The road appears dangerous but no doubt it is perfectly safe. However we arrived at the upper station, which is within a few hundred feet of the summit of the mountain. The remainder of the journey is accomplished by the aid of guides who by pushing and pulling their victim through hot ashes and lava, where every step that is taken the traveler sinks above his shoe tops in this horrid material which Vesuvius has vomited up; add to this the stifling fumes of burning brimstone, and your readers may have some idea of the surroundings. Upon arriving as near the crater as is compatible with safety, we began to look around us, in order to view the immense field which is brought under vision by the burning mountain. From the crater or mouth, whose diameter is about thirty yards, hot lava and stones are thrown to the height of one to two hundred feet; these falling within a short distance of the spectator excites a feeling of danger but this sensation soon disappears, when taking into view the magnificent scene on every side. In front lies the deep blue Mediterranean, while to right lies the city of Naples with its thousands of gas lights marking distinctly a complete outline of the city, with its semicircular form resting on the beautiful bay of Naples. On the left are the remains of Pompeii and Herculaneum partially resurrected from their ruins and to the east lies the plain of Campania covered with the products of a semi-tropical climate.

MISS ADELE AUS DER OHE.

Her Wonderful Power as a Pianiste and Her Latest Triumphs.

The following notices from the New York press will show the high estimation in which Miss Aus der Ohe is held in the metropolis. She will open the Tecumseh entertainment course with one of her concerts on Friday evening, Oct. 31st.

Miss Aus der Ohe's artistic and scholarly interpretation of Beethoven's beautiful concerto in E flat made this number stand equal in charm and importance to the new symphony. Her reading of the concerto was dignified, and even reverential, in its strict attention to marks of expression, and as regards the meaning and spirit of the composer, while her perfect technique enabled her to make telling effects with the different styles of touch, graduation of tone, and management of the pedals.—New York Sun, March 11th, 1888.

A beautiful concert by the Boston Symphony Orchestra.—Next followed Schumann, bright, vigorous, resolute, impassioned, entrancing. Surely no such rendering of this magnificent piano work was ever given in New York as the one to which we listened last evening from the hands (literally) of Miss Aus der Ohe. It was a superb and masterly performance, worthy of every commendation. The artist seemed infused with more than ordinary spirit, and absolutely whirled through the majestic difficulties of this gigantic concerto. At times it seemed as though she were simply pulling the orchestra along with her, so entirely did one lose all sense of effort on her part in a realization of the dash with which she threw herself into her work. Immense force, facile execution, and careful expression were all to be found in Miss Aus der Ohe's playing, and, in addition, a splendid artistic elevation at which she held her piece, and a true fire of enthusiasm that communicated its magnetism to the audience in a very impressive manner.—New York Sun, January 10th, 1888.

The soloist of the evening was Miss Adele Aus der Ohe, who played Schumann's piano concerto in A minor. The fine musical spirit of the evening inspired the pianiste and she was heard at her best. Her performance abounded in beauty and variety of tone quality, in exquisite nuances, and in invigorating warmth.—New York Times.

Miss Aus der Ohe played Schmann's pianoforte concerto in a fine, broad style; with brilliancy so far as the mechanical part was concerned, and with a lofty, poetical sentiment which reflected the greatest credit on her intellectual grasp of the work and her emotional capacity. It was the performance of a musician.—New York Daily Tribune, January 10th, 1888.

A large and appreciative audience attended the piano recital of Miss Adele Aus der Ohe at Steinway Hall last night, and were rewarded with a performance of extraordinary merit and beauty. The programme included the sonata in C sharp minor, op. 2, No. 2. of Beethoven, Schubert's impromptu in B flat, Mendelssohn's spinning song, Schumann's Faschingsschwank, and the Rhapsodie Espagnole of Liszt.—New York Times, January 5th, 1889.

The first public rehearsal of the forty-eighth season of the Philharmonic Society took place at the Metropolitan Opera House yesterday afternoon. The house was crowded, and the audience was extremely attentive. Miss Aus der Ohe, who was the soloist yesterday, played with superb force and abandon. Her octave passages were remarkable in their rapidity and clearness, and some of her tours de force were uncommonly brilliant.—New York Times, Nov. 16th, 1889.

Miss Aus der Ohe's finest previous local success was duplicated in her performance of the solo part of the pianoforte concerto. She gave an intelligent and tasteful exposition of the contents of the piece. Its energy and dash, and the ease with which Miss Aus der Ohe overcame its technical difficulties were inspiriting.—New York Daily Tribune, March 11th, 1888.

DIED.

Died at her home in Raisin, Lenawee County Michigan, Oct. 6, 1890. Mrs. Laura A. wife of Austin G. Hall. Laura A. Wilder was born in Palmyra Mich, Jan. 18th, 1842, she was the daughter of Artemus and Fannie Cooley Wilder. On the 14th., of March 1868 she was married to Mr. Austin G. Hall. Previous to her marriage she was engaged for some time in teaching in Lenawee and adjoining counties. She was a woman of intelligence and mental cultivation, adding to this the adornment of an affectionate nature, she was beloved by those who had the opportunity of her acquaintance. On the 9th. of April 1882 she became a member of the 1st. Presbyterian Church of Tecumseh Mich, since which time she has continued in its communion and been esteemed one of its most consistent and worthy members. For a long time her health had not been good, but no complaint escaped her lips as she discharged with cheerfulness the duties devolving on her, until she was compelled by increasing weakness to give them up to others. Even then she bore the trial of being laid aside from active duty with patience, and if she ever murmured it was not known to those whose privilege it was to visit her in her sickness. Her spirit was that of submission to her Heavenly Father and her hope was in the Savior on whom she had placed her trust. With quiet forethought she made arrangements for her departure. Her funeral was attended by a large concourse of relatives and friends, when the solemn beauty of Autumn's scenery was at its height. Of the two children born to Mr. and Mrs. Hall but one survives the mother—Arthur A. Hall,—who after graduating at Tecumseh High School and taught for several terms, is filling now by civil service appointment a position of honor and trust in the Pension Department at Washington D. C. A happy home circle was broken by the death of Mrs. Hall, but she has simply gone before to the higher home to be ready for the grand reunion of the future.

Died—Beeman, Mrs. Frank S. Beeman died in this village Oct. 10th., aged twenty seven years seven months and two days. Mrs. Beeman, formerly Miss Elnora Clymmer, has been for many years a faithful christian. The triumphant faith in which she conquered the peace of death and which her room seem holy ground was not more beautiful and blessed than the consistency and christlikeness of her daily walk. Of her we may write in its fullness of meaning, blessed are the dead who die in the Lord; for they rest from their labors and their works do follow them.

A FEAST OF REASON.

Grand Democratic Rally, at which Presided a Trinity of Inspiration—Winans, Gorman and Manly.

Tuesday, Oct. 21st, was the date on which the Democratic committee had arranged to present the gubernatorial and congressional candidates to the voters of this and adjoining townships, and at an early hour in the afternoon the Opera House was filled with an enthusiastic audience, composed of our best representative people.

On being introduced by the chairman, Judge Winans was received with great applause. He was there to explain the position he occupied in regard to some of the main questions that interest us as citizens of this great commonwealth. As a farmer, he would say that his class had but little to do with legislation in this country. Neither had the merchant nor the mechanic. It has been controlled by the wealthy classes. The masses are, however, awakening to an appreciation of the fact that class legislation, with all its attendant evils, has been in force, and they are placing themselves in a position to cope with it. Men are thinking for themselves and are preparing to vote for their own interests, rather than in a spirit of blind obedience to party. He was glad to see the dawning of the new era, and prophesied a brighter future for the homes of America. The several great problems before the voters were then briefly touched upon and the speaker's platform presented.

At the conclusion of Judge Winans' remarks Mr. Gorman was introduced and stepped to the front of the platform. He was there on exhibition,—to show himself and views to the people who were to cast their suffrages for or against him. He wished to state his position on the issues of the day honestly and candidly. The first proposition that he would make had reference to the elevation of the wage earner, and the producer of all prosperity,—the agriculturist. They had been too long defrauded of their just dues. The speaker then paid his respects to the silver bill, characterizing as infamous the demonetization of silver, which in 1873 precipitated a financial crisis. Mr. Gorman's handling of the great question of tariff taxation was masterly, and held the close attention of his hearers, whose bursts of applause followed telling points in which he scored McKinley and his adherents in Congress. His grand tribute to the worth of the Union soldier brought the appreciation of his audience to a climax, and amid great applause he enunciated his opinion of the payment of pension claims. The government says in effect to the veteran: "If you will come before our officials and say, 'I am unable to provide for myself; I am a pauper;' why, we'll give you a few shillings, as a matter of charity." If you would not make paupers and beggars of the men who fought to preserve the Union, pay every honorably discharged Union soldier a sum in proportion to his services.

As Mr. Gorman took his seat, loud cries for Capt. Manly brought that gentleman forward, and in a brief discourse he ably seconded the efforts of the preceding speakers.

Our Democratic fellow citizens were all pleased with the meeting from start to last.

TECUMSEH, MICH., OCT. 23, 1890.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

The HERALD, 3 months, 25 cents.

The McGibeny family this evening.

Sheriff Baldwin was in town last Monday.

Politics were blooming in this town last Tuesday.

Geo. L. Burdick, of Weston was the guest of L. M. Waldron last week.

Miss Anna Service has gone to Wheatland to visit relatives.

E. F. Muir of Clinton, was in town Monday and favored the HERALD with a call.

Buy your season tickets for the entertainment course at once or you may get left.

Mr. & Mrs. Geo. Griswold and Miss Emma Kingan visited Chicago last week.

Capt. Fred Wood, of Adrian, was in town Monday looking after his fences. He found them in excellent condition.

Candidates for office are almost as numerous this week as musquitoes in August.

Miss Edith Woodward has gone to Windsor to spend the winter. She will take a course of musical instruction there.

Tom Biggins of Clinton, has leased the Ed. Rowland blacksmith shop on Logan street, and would be glad to see all Mr. Rowland's old customers.

Justice Burridge has been issuing an attachment upon the painter and paper hanger, and his office rooms have greatly improved in appearance by the process.

Season tickets for the lecture course are on sale at Adamson's, Hosmer's, Baker & Hall's, J. J. Orr's, Anderson & Co's. Strong & McNair's, Satterthwaite Bros. & Boyd's, C. A. Slayton's and the News office.

We are indebted to J. D. Tallman for a copy of the October crop report of the Department of Agriculture. This number contains some valuable tables of freight rates charged by different transportation companies.

Prof. Fred R. Hathaway and Prof. Ira Waterman are pretty well matched for county clerk. It will be a neck and neck race between them, and the county will have a tip top clerk, whichever man gets there.

Hon. Thomas F. Moore, the Prohibition candidate for congress, will address a meeting at Macon Grange hall, Monday evening, October 27th. The meeting will be an interesting one. Let everybody come and bring their friends.

It was our pleasure to listen to this highly gifted family last night. Without fear of successful contradiction, we venture the assertion that they are the most remarkable musical geniuses, as a family, the world can produce. Their versatility is astonishing.—Lexington (Ky.) Press.

T. H. Temple of Ridgeway, nominee for Treasurer on the Republican county ticket is making a quiet but thorough canvass of the county. Mr. Temple is held in the highest esteem, as a young man of sterling business worth, where he is known. The more he extends his acquaintance into other sections of the County, the more friends he will have.

Among the numerous attractions that are to appear in the forthcoming number of Harper's Bazar, published Oct. 24th, is a timely article on "The Wedding Season," by Mary Gay Humphreys. Mary E. Wilkins will contribute one of her characteristic stories entitled "A Solitary"; and Lizzie P. Lewis will tell "How I met the Crown-Princess."

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bresle, of Decatur, Ill., came to our village last Saturday to visit their parents. It was "Bill's" 20th wedding anniversary and his 48th birthday, and his father and mother gave them a hearty reception. It was a genuine old fashion family reunion where peace and plenty headed the menu. They left Sunday afternoon to attend a golden wedding at Crawfordsville, Ind., the following day.

C. E. Williamson bought the apple crop of several orchards this fall. Horace Eaton's was the best one, yielding 198 barrels of No. 1 fruit, 45 bushels of windfalls and culls, besides 12 barrels of No. 1 and 6 of culls kept for home use. Sam Boyce's orchard turned out 115 barrels of No. 1 Baldwins. These yielded extra well for this season. But few orchards in this vicinity have produced anything more than culls and cider apples.

The Times, Detroit's bright and newsy penny paper, makes a very liberal offer to all subscribers, old and new. Every person who takes The Times regularly from November 1st to December 23d will be presented with a beautiful 20 page Christmas Supplement full of pictures, stories, poems, jokes, etc. Two large colored pictures for framing will be given with the Supplement, making a remarkably generous three-fold gift. Get particulars from The Times, 68 Congress St. West, Detroit.

Sunday, Oct. 26th, has been recommended as "Prison day" by the Prison Reform Association, with request that sermons be delivered on the subject of the treatment of criminals. A sermon on that theme will be given at the Presbyterian church in the morning and on the "Causes of Crime" at night.

Did you ever meet a college-bred girl who did not love her Alma Mater? And why should not she, as well as her brother, think her own "the dearest and noblest and best?" After reading the charmingly written and magnificently illustrated article on "Student Life at Wellesley College," in Demorest's Family Magazine for November, just received, we do not wonder at the enthusiasm of the Wellesley alumnæ and the students for the "Wellesley blue."

The candidacy of Ira Waterman for county clerk and Bert Chandler for circuit court commissioner should insure for the Democratic county ticket most cordial consideration on the part of Hudson voters. Mr. Waterman's qualifications for the position of clerk are so well known that Hudson will take pleasure in repeating the expression of confidence which he received at the polls two years ago. Mr. Chandler is a bright young lawyer who is in every way worthy of the support of his fellow citizens.—Hudson Gazette.

The W. C. T. U. will hold a meeting at their rooms across the street, north of the Baptist church, on Wednesday, Oct. 29th, commencing at 1:30 P. M. Also a meeting in the evening at the same place at 7 o'clock. This is in accordance with the call of the National officers for that day to be observed as a day of prayer, for the blessing of God upon the National Convention to be held at Atlanta, Georgia, commencing Nov. 14th. Also for the success of the Amendment campaign in Nebraska. Both ladies and gentlemen are earnestly invited to attend.

One merit of the Democratic county ticket is, it has not left soldiers out in the cold like the Republican slate did. Mr. Morrow, the candidate for Senator, and Henry Bowen, named for sheriff, are both boys who wore the blue and did gallant service. The farmers, too, have a very worthy representative on the ticket in the person of Hon. W. H. Wiggins, for treasurer, and no better choice could be made for this responsible place. The young Democracy were handsomely recognized in the selection of Fred B. Wood for prosecutor, Edgar Morse for register of deeds, and Bert Chandler and James Helme, Jr., for circuit court commissioners.—Hudson Gazette.

A BAD SCORCH.

About 4 o'clock yesterday morning fire was discovered in the Lake Shore freight house. The fire was first seen in the north end of the building where the office is located and over the office, and the supposition is that it originated in some defect in the office chimney. It was several minutes before the alarm was sounded and although the steamer responded promptly yet the flames had gained such headway when the steamer arrived that it was impossible to save the building. The department however, did good service in confining the fire to the freight house and protecting the adjacent shops and lumber yards. The destruction of personal property was comparatively small. There were only seventy bushels of wheat and four hundred bushels of oats in the warehouse, and the amount of general merchandise was much less than usual. The chief loss therefore, will be the temporary inconvenience caused by lack of storage room until a new building can be erected. We understand that the Railroad Company will take immediate steps to build a new structure.

The Republican rally on Tuesday evening was well attended and was a fine meeting. Mr. Donovan, the principal speaker, is a fluent, easy orator. His speech was a candid, logical, literary effort upon the economic and general business effects of the protective system. Although many could not agree with his conclusions, yet none who heard him, could avoid being interested in his speech. At its conclusion Henry C. Smith, candidate for Prosecuting Attorney, made a few remarks which were well received. Our Republican friends were highly pleased with the meeting.

H. Martin Williams, of St. Louis Mo., will address the citizens of Clinton on Saturday evening, November 1st., upon Industrial Freedom. Mr. Martin is a fine speaker, one of the most prominent labor leaders in the west, and thoroughly posted upon the labor problem in all its phases. People of all parties ought to turn out and hear him.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. church for Adrian district, will be held at Stony Creek, Oct. 29 and 30. Delegates will be met at Ypsilanti and Milan, as Stony Creek is six miles from a railroad station.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Phelps were the guests of Rev. J. Phelps Saturday and Sunday. They honored Tecumseh with a short visit on their wedding tour. The city band favored the bridal party with brief serenade on Saturday evening.

The River Raisin Quarterly meeting will hold its next session with the F. B. church at Macon, commencing Friday evening, Oct. 31st., and hold over Sunday. Able ministers are expected to be present.

Mr. Isaac Adkins of Newport, Ohio and his son Amos Adkins of Grimsby, Ont., reached here yesterday evening, called by the dangerous illness of the former's brother, Erastus Adkins, D.D.

Seaton W. Anderson has been appointed School trustee to fill the vacancy occasioned by the failure of Mrs. Hicks to qualify. This is a very judicious selection.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. Cook, Mrs. Dewitt Tallman, Misses Elvia and Katie, go to Jackson to-day to attend the wedding of Miss Susie Cook.

Before Dying He Fires at Her Inflicting a Dangerous Wound—Both are Prominently Connected at Quincy, Illinois.

QUINCY, ILL., Oct. 20.—This city was startled Saturday afternoon by a double tragedy which occurred on a crowded thoroughfare. Miss Lillie Booth, daughter of prominent parents of this city, while walking on Sixth street, met Daniel Price, a well known business man, whom she accused of seducing her under the promise of marriage. After a few words the woman shot Price in the region of the heart, death resulting an hour later. As soon as he was shot Price drew a revolver and fired at Miss Booth, the ball taking effect in the left shoulder, inflicting a serious wound.

Foot Ball at Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 20.—The Princeton and Crescent foot ball teams played at Washington Park Saturday before a good attendance. The Princeton boys played rather loosely at first, and when time was called for the first half, neither side had scored. Spicer and Poe played the best game for their side. In the second half Edwards for the Crescents and Homans and Poe for the Princetons did some remarkable running. Poe secured the first touch-down, but failed to kick goal. Shortly afterward another touch-down was secured by Princeton, and this time Poe kicked a goal. This, with a safety score, made the score 12 to 0 in favor of Princeton.

The College Boys Won.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The Rutgers college and the crack foot ball players of the New York Athletic club met at the Polo grounds Saturday. The superior training of the college told and they easily defeated their opponents by a score of 30 to 0.

Harvard Won.

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—The Harvard and Williams college foot ball teams played a very rough game at Cambridge. Four of the Harvard team were ordered out of the game for slugging, Harvard won the game by a score of 36 to 0.

Columbia Defeated.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The Wesleyans defeated the Columbia college foot ball team at Brotherhood park by a score of 4 to 0.

Stamboult's Time.

NAPA, CAL., Oct. 20.—The stallion Stamboult yesterday afternoon trotted a mile in 2:11¼.

CAN'T AGREE.

Pittsburg Wants One Club, but Which One?

PITTSBURG, Oct. 20.—The conference committee of the Pittsburg Players League and National League ball clubs held another conference last night. Both sides agreed that only one club would play in Pittsburg and while both favored a compromise or consolidation, the Player's League would only agree to a consolidation which would give them 70 per cent. of the capital stock of the new old club. This the National League objected to. Both sides then agreed to let the matter be settled in New York next week.

GLADSTONE

Is Not Ready to Commit Himself on the Eight Hour Question.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Mr. Gladstone writes in regard to certain remarks of his concerning the eight hour movement, that they were unofficial, and that he reserves his judgement on that question until he has more carefully weighed the arguments on both sides. The statements imputed to him have been made much use of in the arguments pro and con on this question, and the statement is of much consequence therefor.

Summer Has Come Again.

WILSON, N. Y., Oct. 20.—The rains in this little lake town have given a new start to vegetation. Among the late beans are quite frequently found fresh blossoms and young pods; strawberries are blowing in spots of new bloom can be seen upon pear trees, and apple tree flowers are as fresh and perfect as at any time during the summer. Grass is growing very luxuriantly and as yet we have had no frost to injure vegetation in the least.

Iowa Election.

BOISE CITY, IA., Oct. 20.—Official returns show the total number of votes cast at the recent state election to be 18,008. Majority received by Republican candidates for congress and governor are as follows: Sweet, congressman, 2,175; Shoup, governor, 2,372. Upon a joint ballot the legislature will stand: Republicans 45, Democrats 9.

Shot His Assailant.

BLUFFS, ILL., Oct. 20.—Harry Thompson, a carpenter, was shot and instantly killed by night telegraph operator, James Chenowith. Thompson knocked Chenowith down, and the latter as soon as he got on his feet, pulled a revolver and fired, the bullet striking Thompson between the eyes.

Yale Wins.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 20.—The Yale college and Orange Athletic association foot ball teams played at East Orange before a large audience. The Yale men played a very strong game, but the Orange men did not show up as well as they did recently with Princeton, and Yale won by a score of 16 to 0.

The Farmers Alliance of Georgia

WILL BOYCOTT PAPERS OPPOSING THEIR MOVEMENT.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 20.—On June 23, this year, a secret circular was sent out from the national alliance headquarters in Washington signed by L. L. Polk, president, N. F. A.; C. W. MacCune, chairman executive committee; J. F. Tillman, member executive committee and Alonzo Wardall, member executive committee. This secret circular contains wholesale abuse of the press opposing the alliance officers, men, or measures and orders a boycott of all papers opposing them. In two instances this order has been obeyed in this neighborhood. Two of the resolutions of the secret circular reads as follows:

"Resolved, that we earnestly recommend and urge the brotherhood throughout the country to note carefully and constantly the attitude of the press toward us and when any paper by vicious and malicious misrepresentation of any officer of whatever rank, from the lowest to the highest, in our order, or any member of the same, or by unfair methods against our order shall seek to impair our strength or unite that any and all such papers shall no longer receive in any manner countenance or support of members of our order.

"Resolved, further, that when any body of our order shall decide to withdraw or with-hold its support from any such paper, it should by proper methods notify any all advertisers, who seek their patronage through the advertising columns of said paper that they will withdraw and with-hold their patronage from all such advertisers."

IOWA ORIGINAL PACKAGES.

An Extra Legislative Session May Be Called by the Governor.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—A Herald special from Mason City, Iowa, says: A gentleman in this city who stands in close relation to the state administration, says that if the Supreme Court of Iowa, in its appealed original package cases, holds similar to the Kansas United States Circuit Court, which it doubtless will, the governor is prepared to call an extra session of the legislature. In case an extra session is called, the personnel of the general assembly being unchanged, there would be in the lower house one Union Labor and fifty Republicans who could be relied upon to vote a re-enactment of the present law, and in the Senate a working majority. But should the governor refuse to give the bill his signature it could not be passed over his veto.

King of the Trotters.

RICHMOND, IND., Oct. 20.—Nelson goes from here to his "Pine Tree" state home to rest the remainder of the season, without lowering his record as king of the trotting stallions of the world, but horsemen who saw him get his mark of 2:11¼ at Terre Haute, say his mile Saturday was the greatest feat, considering the conditions, as he went while the wind was blowing a regular hurricane. He made the quarters as follows: First 32¼, second 1:08, third 1:42, fourth 2:14¼. Some horsemen declare it equal to 2:09 under favorable circumstances, and Nelson's owner thinks it equal to 2:10.

Train Robber Sentenced for Life.

TEXARKANA, ARK., Oct. 20.—The Bowie county district court has adjourned for the term. Just before the announcement was made the jury in the McDaniel case brought in a verdict condemning the train robber to the penitentiary for life, after having been out four days. The verdict averts a tragedy, wherein the principal and the alleged corrupted jurymen would have been the victims, as indignation ran very high over the threatened miscarriage of justice. The result was a surprise to McDaniel. He received his sentence coolly. Application for a new trial was denied.

Crushed His Skull.

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., Oct. 20.—Andrew Jones, a civil engineer at the Tredegar Iron Works, of this city, boarded a passenger train on the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, at Bridgeport, Ala., on his way here.

He was standing on the platform of a car, evidently examining the geological formation of the rocks it was passing, when his foot slipped and he was killed, his skull being crushed and his body badly mangled. His remains were brought here and a coroner's jury rendered a verdict in accordance with the facts.

Shot While Resisting Arrest.

PITTSTON, PA., Oct. 20.—John W. Davis, a retired hotel keeper, was shot dead by William Weathers, a night patrolman. Davis, while under the influence of liquor, became engaged in an altercation with a man on the sidewalk and Officer Weathers attempted to arrest Davis. To do this he had to call the assistance of another officer. Davis, who is a strong muscular man, broke away from both officers and felled Weathers with a blow from a billy. As he lay on the ground the officer drew a revolver and shot Davis, killing him almost instantly. Weathers may also die from his injuries.

Shot While Running.

PEORIA, ILL., Oct. 20.—While drunk, Henry Bacon attempted to assault two little girls. Later in the day he entered the house of Mrs. Fannie Case, but she drove him away after a terrible struggle in which he cut her on the arms and legs with a hatchet. He broke away from the policeman who had arrested him, and was shot through the spine while running. He will die. He is an ex-convict.

By His Grandfather's Side.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., Oct. 20.—By an action of the Lincoln Monument Association here yesterday, the remains of young Abraham Lincoln, son of Minister Robert T. Lincoln, who died in England during the summer, will be interred beside those of his illustrious grand parent. Mr. Lincoln has written friends here that he will be home during the month of November, and the interment will likely then take place.

ANOTHER RAILROAD WRECK.

Number of Passengers Reported Killed in a Lake Shore Collision.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 20.—A collision on the Lake Shore, near Hamburg, between two passenger trains, occurred about noon. A number of passengers are reported to have been killed.

LAID TO REST.

Funeral of Justice Miller at Keokuk, Iowa.

KEOKUK, IA., Oct 20.—The train bearing the remains of the late Justice Miller arrived at 8 a. m. The whole city was draped in mourning and presented an appearance of deep gloom, indicating the great regard of the people for the distinguished citizen. The weather was correspondingly dark. The train was met by a committee, including old friends of the dead justice. The procession moved to the Unitarian church, where a brief and simple service was performed. A great crowd from the surrounding country and distant points was present.

HANGED TO A TREE.

SUMMARY PUNISHMENT OF A GEORGIA RAPIST.

An Armed Mob Takes a Prisoner From the Jail and Hangs Him—His Victim is a Lady of High Standing.

MACON, GA., Oct. 20.

ILLIAM SINGLETON, a negro hackman, was taken from jail at night by an armed mob and hanged to a tree. His body was not cut down until three o'clock in the afternoon. Five weeks ago Singleton committed a rape upon a young lady, whose name is suppressed because of her social prominence. She is a grand-daughter of the late Chief Justice Lumpkin of this state. After committing the crime Singleton effected his escape but was captured at Eufaula, Ala., and brought to this city and lodged in jail with the result as stated.

Original Packages.

BOONE, IA., Oct. 20.—The original package business will open again in this city on Monday. The agencies have ordered beer by telegraph.

EMPORIA, KAS., Oct. 19.—In consequence of the original package decision rendered at Topeka, prohibition is already virtually dead in Emporia. Several original package saloons are preparing to open as soon as the goods can be brought in.

KANSAS CITY, MO., Oct. 19.—The liquor men are jubilant over the decision of Judge Phillips. With the coming week there will be established saloons all over Kansas, with full-fledged bars, where drinks will be sold without the formality of going through the original package ruse. The wholesale whisky dealers say that they have no fear of molestation and will not be afraid to run "wide open."

THREE BULLETS.

An Old Quarrel Leads to a Murder at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 20.—At one o'clock Saturday afternoon Albert Whitefield killed Grandison Jones, putting three bullets from a revolver into his body. The shooting took place on board the steamer Baton Rouge, lying at the foot of Market street. Charles Newton was shot through the neck by a stray bullet. Whitefield was arrested. All the parties concerned in the affray are colored. The murder was the result of an old quarrel between the men.

Congressional Nominations.

FALMOUTH, KY., Oct. 20.—W. W. Dickerson, of Kenton county, has been nominated for congress by the Democrats of the Sixth district. Three hundred and forty ballots were taken.

MAYSVILLE, KY., Oct. 19.—Captain Alexander Bruce, of Lewis county, was indorsed by the Republican convention as the nominee of the party of the Ninth Congressional district. The convention adjourned at 2:30 p. m.

FOOLED THE COOK.

Six Prisoners Effect a Clever Escape.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Six prisoners have broken jail here and escaped. They were imprisoned for burglary and larceny, and one for rape. The escape was effected by gaining access to the jail yard, where they knocked on the cook's gate. When it was opened they rushed through and escaped to the country. The sheriff and posse are in pursuit.

After the Dagoes.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 20.—The meeting of the committee of fifty last night was secret, but the committee announced that it would pursue the investigation to the end, being the murderers of Chief Hennessy to justice and break up the Italian assassination leagues in this city.

The custom house officers have determined to meet the ship Elysia, on board of which there are 700 Italian emigrants, and unless the emigrants can satify the officers that they are desirable financially and morally they will not be allowed to land.

A New York Conflagration.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—A fire in the five story, brown stone apartment house at 222 Lexington avenue, gutted the two upper floors. The loss is placed at $3,500. The coffin and casket factory of J. Stoltes, Nos. 193 and 195 Christie street, was gutted by fire, causing a loss of $150,000, comprising $50,000 on building, $25,000 on machinery and $75,000 on stock. The loss is fully covered. One hundred and twenty-five men are thrown out of employment.

Scrofula

Is the most ancient and most general of all diseases. Scarcely a family is entirely free from it, while thousands everywhere are its suffering slaves. Hood's Sarsaparilla has had remarkable success in curing every form of scrofula. The most severe and painful running sores, swellings in the neck or goitre, humor in the eyes, causing partial or total blindness, yield to the powerful effects of this medicine. It thoroughly removes every trace of impurity from the blood and builds up the weakened system.

"My little daughter's life was saved, as we believe, by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before she was six months old she had 7 running scrofula sores. One physician advised the amputation of one of her fingers, to which we refused assent. When we began giving her Hood's Sarsaparilla, a marked improvement was noticed and by a continued use of it her recovery was complete. And she is now, being seven years old, strong and healthy." B. ESTATE OF HUGH HEANEY.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss

At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 20th day of October in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety. Present, Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Hugh Heaney, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Alexander Richard, administrator upon the estate of said deceased, alleging that the funeral expenses and debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration thus far incurred have been fully paid and that he is now ready to close said estate and to render his final administration account, and praying that said account may be allowed, and that the residue of said estate may be assigned and distributed to those entitled thereto according to the statutes in such case made and provided, that he may be discharged and his bond cancelled and for such other order and decree as to this court shall seem proper.

It is ordered, That Monday, the 17th day of November next, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered. That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

EVERY SYMPTOM GONE,

Probably no disease inflicts so much continuous pain as rheumatism. Over no single complaint has Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., won more cures than Rheumatism. By its use the agonized patient can once more use his limbs and be freed from years of pain.

Mr. Frank Strait, a well-known merchant of New Hamburgh, N. Y., says: "I suffered tortures from Sciatic rheumatism.

My case was a very bad one, and none of the means taken gave me relief. I use Dr David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y. and am entirely rid of every symptom of my trouble. Only three bottles brought about this wonderful result. It has built me up and been of great benefit to me in other ways. I heartily recommend it to other sufferers."

Attention, Comrade.

DO YOU WANT A PENSION? Do You Want Your Pension Increased.

There is a New Pension Law and nearly every soldier is now entitled to a pension.

DR. J. H. REYNOLDS

Late a member of the Board of Examining Surgeons at Adrian, Mich., and Who has examined over two thousand soldiers for pensions, will hereafter devote two hours each day to

PENSION BUSINESS

The Doctor was a soldier and is a pensioner, and with his five years' experience as Examining Surgeon for Pensions, believes he can make it PAY YOU to come and see him.

He knows the RATE on every known disability.

Knows what Diseases or Disabilities are the results of any other.

Knows (as every EXAMINING SURGEON will tell you) that many men do not draw what the law allows them, because their claims are not presented in proper shape.

Knows how to put your claim in such shape that you will get pay for ALL results of the disease or wound for which you are pensioned.

Knows all the recent decisions made by Commissioner and how to give you the advantage of them in dollars.

Knows that some recent rulings are of vital importance to many pensioners, if their claims are only properly presented.

Knows whether you are entitled to Rerating, and how to get it.

I charge just the legal fees because I earn them. ALWAYS BRING YOUR CERTIFICATE WITH YOU.

If you want the benefit of a Pension while you live go and see Dr. Reynolds.

I can get you from $2 to $6 more per month under the new law than other agents.

To any person examined by the board, at Adrian, before Aug. 1, 1889, I have something of importance to tell you.

Come and let us examine you (no charge) and I will tell you all about it. About one-third of all the soldiers examined while I was on the board were rated for disabilities not claimed. You had better come and see me about it.

Correspondence solicited, with stamp for reply. 15 East Maumee-st., Adrian, Mich.

ATTENTION, Soldiers & Sailors,

Under the new pension law just passed by Congress all Soldiers and Sailors who served 90 days in the Rebellion, and who are disabled from any cause permanently, (need not have originated in the service,) are entitled to a pension of from $6 to $12. All soldiers' widows, minor children and dependent parents come under this law. Being located at the Capital near the U. S. Pension office, we can give our personal attention to your claim and thus ascertain any defect quickly and supply the same.

DODD'S CATARRH CURE.

LOCAL AND INTERNAL TREATMENT.

In order to cure catarrh it is necessary to allay the inflammation of the irritated membranes with a soothing application, cleanse the head of the plugging mucous secretions, and heal the discharging ulcers. For cold in the head and nasal catarrh Dodds' local treatment does this without the aid of snuff, douche or fumes. If the disease has extended downward affecting the bronchial tubes or lungs, clogs the and blood, the internal treatment both removes from the system the scattered poison, and by its building-up properties assists nature in restoring the impaired parts. EUROPEAN NEWS

How John Bull Behaves in a Campaign

WHEN THE PARLIAMENTARY CONTESTS ARE WARM.

Stanley's New Book Selling Fast—How the Prince of Wales Will Stand on the Question of Home Rule—He Leans to Liberalism.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Mr. Balfour's entire speech at New Castle was devoted to an attempted overthrow of Mr. Morley's statements in regard to the Tipperary riots. The speaker was in his most offensive humor, and insultingly declared that he would rather believe Colonel Caddell than Mr. Morley. He reminded his hearers that in 1888, at the time of the Ennis riots, Mr. Gladstone made a statement in reference to those troubles which afterward turned out to be incorrect. Now Mr. Morley had made statements in regard to the Tipperary affair which were disproved by the official reports. Yet neither Mr. Gladstone nor Mr. Morley had been honest enough to admit their error, or make any apology for their mis-statements.

The Parliamentary campaign at Eccles is a very lively one. A leading feature of the contest is the display of pictorial banners. The Conservatives are parading a banner entitled "The Patriot Stowaways." It represents Messrs. O'Brien and Dillon fleeing from justice. They are pictured as stowaways, huddling frightened in the hold of a ship, amid casks, rats, etc. The Liberals are exhibiting pictures of members of Parliament being shadowed by villainous looking detectives.

The officers of the British fleet which was obliged to put to sea from Scarboro to avoid being driven on shore, leaving the admiral and his subordinates in town, are being made the target for considerable ridicule and censure. It is freely asserted that they must have imbibed too freely at the ball which they were attending, else they could not have failed to realize that the tremendous gale that was blowing threatened disaster to the vessels of which they were supposed to be in command. The admiralty has, it is stated, requested the unlucky officers to forward such excuses as they may have for their unseamanlike conduct.

Mr. Jephsons' book on the Stanley African expedition has been published only a week, yet the first edition is already exhausted. A second edition is in press, and will contain a preface written by Mr. Stanley. This co-operation secures a copyright for the work in America.

In the Halle Socialist Congress a motion to reveal the identity of the writer on Socialist topics who signs himself "The Man in the Iron Mask," was withdrawn after a general expression that such action would be inopportune. It is privately stated that the mysterious writer is a high official of the police who is inclined toward socialism.

Large detachments of Russian soldiers have been ordered to the German and Austrian frontiers, on the pretense of enforcing the customs laws and preventing smuggling. It is believed, however, that they will also act as parties of observation for military objects. By far the greater portion of the active Russian army is at present concentrated near the Austrian boundary, and, in the event of war, an immense force could be thrown across the line in an incredibly short time. Russia possesses in this respect a decided advantage over both Austria and Germany, and it is to promote German ability for similar concentrations that the emperor will ask the Reichstag to increase the military appropriations. Austria, following Russia's example in strengthening her garrisons in Galicia, besides establishing several new posts near the Russian boundary.

Lord Salisbury has cooly informed the new Portuguese Cabinet, in reply to a respectful communication, that there would be no use sending an envoy to re-open negotiations, and England will adhere to the terms before arranged; that is, Portugal can take England's dictation or not; England will have her own way, anyhow. An appeal to Germany by Portugal has proved futile, and there is no other power that could be of any assistance. While European sympathy is with the weaker state, yet it is pointed out, with some force, by the English press, that Portugal has had a monopoly for two centuries of the field in Central and Southern Africa, about which her people now express so much solicitude, and has utterly failed to improve it, and should not attempt to obstruct Great Britain in her work of development and colonization. Meantime the crisis in Portugal has not been overthrown by the appointment of a compromise ministry, and republican agitation is none the less energetic, and perhaps dangerous, because compelled to be less demonstrative.

The Prince of Wales is very circumspect, and has not himself given any known cause for the prevalent rumor that he is favorable to the settlement of the Irish question upon the basis of home rule, but in domestic politics the sympathies of the heir apparent have generally inclined to the liberal side. There are members of the government party who are certainly of the opinion attributed to the prince, that some measure of home rule is inevitable, and that, therefore, the truest wisdom is to arrange the matter as speedily as possible. Reasoning thus, they desire that the terms should be arranged between the two parties, and that the legislation be proposed by the government, in accordance with the precedent of 1885, when Lord Salisbury was taken into the councils of Mr. Gladstone's administration for the purpose of arranging the Seat's bill. But the idea finds no favor in high political quarters, because the ground work of Mr. Gladstone's policy involves a principle of government which the front benches could not possibly accept. The cause of home rule must go to the country at the next general election, and if compromise be possible it must be thereafter. The confident opinion of Liberals is that their cause is rapidly gaining because of the failure of the government to put forward any alternative to the system of coercion, or even to propose a land purchase bill presenting the elements of security and popularity.

SAMUEL GOMPERS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has issue a call for the tenth annual convention of the organization, which will meet at Clausen hall, Detroit, Mich., on December 8. In his call Mr. Gompers reviews the recent movements begun to reduce the hours of labor, and says that the trades unions have received such an impetus by recent victories that the toilers of the country have become convinced of the necessity of gathering within the fold of the organization. He asserts that the forthcoming convention will be the most important gathering of labor's hosts in the annals of history.

Went Home.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 20.

At the afternoon session of the House yesterday Mr. Price, (D), of Hocking, created a sensation by administering a scorching rebuke to Governor Campbell, because no specific charges had been preferred against the members of the Cincinnati board. The question under consideration was the substitute for the compromise caucus bill, which provided for the appointment of a new board by the sinking fund commission. Mr. Price opposed the substitute, as in fact, he declared he would oppose any measure to deprive the members of the board of their offices without some specific and palpable charges of corruption having been first preferred and the accused having been given opportunity for defense. He said that to abolish the board without first having investigated and proved the charges of its alleged corruption, would be in contradiction to the spirit of our free institutions and in violation of all precedent and established law. He said that the governor had been asked repeatedly and urged time and again to specify his general charges, but without avail. "I will vote to condemn no man," said Mr. Price, "until he has been given a hearing."

Mr. Gear, (D.) of Wyandotte, Mr. Haggerty, (D.) of Williams, Mr. Geyer, (D.) of Paulding-Defiance, also spoke upon the measure, the discussion being confined entirely to the Democratic side.

When the vote on the substitute bill was finally taken, it resulted 24 yeas to 56 nays, and the bill was lost. A motion to reconsider was immediately made by Mr. McMakin, and it having been carried, he offered another amendment to the bill, pending which the House adjourned until 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The Senate waited listlessly about until 4 p. m. to hear the result of the House, and then adjourned until 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

MICHIGAN RELIGIOUS FANATICS.

An Aged Lady Killed by Forcible Baptism at Her Son's Hands.

PERRY, MICH., Oct. 20.—Last summer William Fillinger and his wife, who live three miles from here, attended a series of revivals and became religious in a mild way. With them lived Fillinger's mother, who has long been physically frail. It worried Fillinger and his wife that the elder woman was unbaptised, and they decided that the necessary religious rite should be performed although the poor woman was confined to her bed, unable even to rise. Taking water to her room they began the ceremony by dashing water in her face, and continued it until from shock and exhaustion their victim died. Fillinger and his wife were arrested and taken to jail at Corunna.

A REVOLUTIONARY RELIC.

Daughter of a Soldier of '76 Given a Pension.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The Commissioner of Pensions recently issued a certificate to Lucy Hale, under authority of an act of Congress, granting her $20 a month from September 25, 1890. Nathaniel Wallace, the father of Lucy Hale, was a private in the fourteenth regimenz, New York volunteers during the war of 1776 at the time of his death he was helplessly blind. The records show that Lucy Hale is 66 years of age and the only surviving relative of the deceased. The case did not come within the jurisdiction of the pension office, by resaon the provisions and limitations of thi pension laws and was disposed of by a special act of Congress.

Wholesale Murder.

BERLIN, Oct. 20.—A terrible tragedy occurred at Reinikendorf, a suburb of this city. A builder named Schaaf, who at one time was wealthy, but who lost his money and is now heavily in debt, attacked his wife and five children with a hatchet, and hacked their heads in a terrible manner. Three of the children have died from their injuries, and Frau Schaaf and the remaining two children are unconscious and are dying. The murderer has fled and has thus far eluded the efforts made to capture him.

JESUS IN GETHSEMANE.

LESSON IV, FOURTH QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, OCT. 26.

Text of the Lesson, Luke xxii, 39-53. Commit Verses 40-43—Golden Text, Isa. liii, 3—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

39. "And He came out and went as He was wont to the Mount of Olives; and His disciples also followed Him." After the last lesson we must listen to His most gracious words as recorded in John xiv, xv, xvi, then we hear them sing a hymn, and then bow our heads and hearts in deepest adoration as we hear Him pray as never man prayed before (John xvii). He prayed so earnestly for them, and for us who believe on Him through their word, and again as He thinks of His finished work the glory fills His vision, and He asks that for us, too. Then they follow Him, no doubt silent and wondering, having heard such strange things about another to take His place as their comforter, teacher, friend. He had often gone to this mount before in the evening (chap. xxi, 37; John viii, 1), but perhaps never so late as this; and now it was the last time, and He was more alone than ever as far as human sympathy went. His disciples follow, but they do not understand.

40. "And when He was at the place He said unto them, Pray that ye enter not into temptation." They had all joined Peter in saying that they would never deny Him (Mark xiv, 31), and now they are about to have a little test of how far they can go with Him and how much they can bear for Him. According to Mark, He left the eleven (perhaps just inside the garden), and took Peter, James and John, and began to be sore amazed and very heavy, saying, "My soul is exceeding sorrowful unto death." As He enters into the deepening shadows of the cross only these three are privileged to come near.

41. "And He was withdrawn from them about a stone's cast and kneeled down and prayed." The shadows still deepen, and these, too, must be left.

42. "Saying, Father, if thou be willing remove this cup from Me; nevertheless, not My will but Thine be done." He cannot mean the cross and His being made a curse thereon, for to that He steadily and unflinchingly journeyed; but this is another cup, a sore conflict with the enemy of which we can understand but little. Let me state it as I see it and then prove it. In His great atonement which He came to accomplish He was to be made a curse by being hung upon a tree (Gal. iii, 13). His hands and feet were to be pierced (Ps. xxii, 16); yet not a bone was to be broken (Ex. xii, 46). Thus His death by crucifixion was plainly foretold and must be fulfilled. Now if Satan could manage to kill Him in this Gethsemane conflict, then the work that He came to do would be undone. This seems to have been the aim of the adversary. And if the Father should so will it, Jesus would submit.

43. "And there appeared an angel unto Him from heaven strengthening Him." One of those blessed ones so ready to wait upon Him and upon all who are His; who announced and heralded His birth, and who waited upon Him at His resurrection, and spoke to Mary and the other women so kindly.

44. "And being in an agony He prayed more earnestly; and His sweat was, as it were, great drops of blood falling down to the ground." Being strengthened He continues the conflict and is victor; but who can tell the agony which caused this sweat like drops of blood?

45. "And when He rose up from prayer and was come to His disciples He found them sleeping for sorrow."

46. "And said unto them, Why sleep ye? Rise and pray lest ye enter into temptation." It was a poor fulfillment of their readiness to die with Him; but as He said, "while their spirit was willing their flesh was weak," and He pitied them.

47. "And while He yet spake, behold a multitude, and he that was called Judas, one of the twelve, went before them, and drew near unto Jesus to kiss Him." He has been contending with the adversary in person, and now He is about to meet him in one of His professed disciples, who while professing friendship has murder in his heart. From the supper Judas went out, Satan having entered into him (John xiii, 27). And having received from the chief priests a band of officers and men, they came with lanterns and torches and weapons to arrest Jesus (John xviii, 3). From being treasurer of the twelve, and outwardly a disciple of Christ, he has now come out in his true colors as an adversary, a devil. While of the number of the twelve he had never been a truly chosen one (John xiii, 18).

48. "But Jesus said unto him, Judas, betrayest thou the Son of Man with a kiss?" Mark says that Judas said, "Master, master," and kissed him.

49. "When they which were about Him saw what would follow, they said unto Him, Lord, shall we smite with the sword?" Had He not spoken of sword and advised their obtaining them? This, then, was surely the time to use them. But ah! they knew Him not, they understood Him not, they had not much of His spirit; while we may lawfully defend, we must not attack.

50. "And one of them smote the servant of the high priest and cut off his right ear." The servant's name was Malchus, and it was Simon Peter who blundered (John xviii, 10). Had Peter been watching and praying instead of sleeping he had not acted thus rashly and unbidden.

51. "And Jesus answered and said, Suffer ye thus far, and He touched his ear and healed him." Suffer ye thus far is not as if He said to Peter, You have gone far enough, be content, for Peter had gone too far and Jesus gently rebukes him, and also adds, "Thinkest thou that I cannot now pray to My Father, and He shall presently give me more than twelve legions of angels?" (Matt. xxvi, 51-53). But He says to those who would apprehend Him, who were probably making noise enough about Peter's act, and ready to kill Peter, "Bear with this, suffer this much, for I will remedy it," and at the same time He restores the man's ear. His last act of healing is upon an enemy who has suffered at the hands of one of His disciples.

52. "And Jesus said unto the chief priests, and captains of the temple, and the elders, which were come to Him, Be ye come out as against a thief, with swords and staves?" Had He been some robber chief they could hardly have made greater preparation to take Him. But when we consider that He was the Prince of Peace, the meek and lowly Jesus, harmless as a dove, how strange it all seemed!

53. "When I was daily with you in the temple ye stretched forth no hands against Me: but this is your hour and the power of darkness." The triumphing of the wicked is short (Job xx, 5), yet he often has his triumph over the righteous here in this world for a little season.

Fifty Spasms a Day.

Had Mrs. H. A. Gardner, of Vistula, Ind., lived two thousand years ago she would have been thout to be possessed by evil spirits. She was subject to nervous prostration, headaches, dizziness, backache, palpitation and forty tofifty spasms a day. Though having been treated by eight physicians for years without success, she was permanently cured by one bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine. A trial bottle of this new and wonderful medicine, and a finely illustrated treatise free at Baker & Hills Drug store, who recomends and guarantees it.

—Aching teeth are an abomination and a nuisance. Have them filled at Dr. B. F. Snyder's dental office, before they commence to ache, thereby saving much valuable time, trouble, pain expense.

THE LADIES DELIGHTED.

The pleasant affect and the perfect safety with which ladies may use the liquid fruit laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions make it their favorite remedy. It is pleasing to the eye and to the taste, gentle, yet effectual in acting on the kidneys, liver and bowes.

ONE ENJOYS

Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

WILHELM'S IMPROVED CREAMERY CAN.

Unequalled for private Dairies of from one cow to full size Creamery. $5.00 will buy FOUR 3-GAL. CANS making a capacity of 12 gallons of milk, and will PRODUCE ALL THE CREAM FROM 4 TO 8 HOURS, in a vat, tub, or any receptacle the farmer may choose, holding water from 10 to 14 inches in depth, and at temperature from 40 to 60 degrees cold. IT MAKES A PERFECT SKIM and combines the advantage of deep setting, rapid cooling, protecting the milk from all impurities of the atmosphere which so quickly taints cream. Also preventing souring by keeping both cream and milk, clean and sweet. Over 200,000 in use in the U. S. One setting of milk is all that is needed to prove the merit of the can. Usual size of can, 3-gal., price $1.25. A liberal discount on orders of one dozen Cans and upwards. Write for descriptive circular and testimonials. I also make a specialty of building Creameries and furnishing all the best improved machinery and apparatus. JOHN WILHELM, Wooster, Wayne Co. O.

C. L. Osgood, Samaria, Mich. says—The Milk Cans I bought of you give perfect satisfaction. We can make just as good and just as much butter in the most unfavorable season of the year by the use of your Cans as at any other time of the year. I have 4 Cans. Have used them 3 years and would not be without them.

PECULIAR INFATUATION.

Different Methods of following the Injunction "Love One Another."

Do men ever fall in love with each other?

Women do. Not long ago a young woman in New Jersey was married to a youthful laborer on her father's farm. Sometime afterward it was discovered that the husband was a female; the young wife refused, however, though earnestly entreated by her friends, to give up her chosen consort. The strangest part of the discovery was the fact that the bride knew her husband was a woman before she was led to the altar.

If men do not exhibit this strange infatuation for one of her own sex, they at least often-times give evidence of the fact that they love one another. There are many more instances where men have given life to another.

It is a proud possession—the knowledge that one has saved a precious human life. Meriden, Conn, is the home of such a happy man. John H. Preston, of that city, July 11th. 1890, writes; "Five years ago I was taken very sick, I had several of the best doctors, and one and all called it a complication of diseases. I was sick four years, taking prescriptions prescribed by these same doctors, and I truthfully state I never expected to get any better. At this time, I commenced to have the most terrible pains in my back, One day an old friend of mine, Mr. R. T. Cook of the firm of Curtis & Cook, advised me to try Warner's Safe Cure, as he had been troubled the same way and it had effected a cure for him. I bought six bottles, took the medicine as directed and am to-day a well man. I am sure no one ever had a worse case of kidney and liver trouble than I had. Before this I was always against proprietary medicines but not now, oh, no."

Friendship expresses itself in very peculiar ways sometimes; but the true friend is the friend in need.

Catarrh Can't be Cured

with Local Applications, as they can not reach the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers acting on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

A VISIT TO VANBUREN COUNTY.

On a beautiful October morning we left our pleasant, cherished farm home at Cambridge Junction, with two sons and carriages for Jackson. Our company was my brother and wife of Kansas City, also myself and wife. At Jackson we took the cars and arrived at Decatur at four o'clock in the afternoon. We met with kindly greetings. Here was the residence of my esteemed sister; also the productive plantation or cherished home of my son and other relatives. The school building here is a stately brick edifice with large public grounds for surroundings, Prof. Pierce, Superintendent, whose intellectual attainments and sanguine theory give general satisfaction to scholars and parents. Among those we visited was Hon. A. B. Copley, who has been a member of the legislature several sessions and President of the Decatur bank, a generous and cordial friend, whom we have annually met for fifteen years at the State Capital as one of the historians; also by his aid and others I was appointed, March 20th, 1876, as delegate to the U. S Centennial exhibition in Philadelphia.

One bright and cheerful morning, with two carriages and relatives, passed over the excellent road to Paw Paw village, distant fifteen miles. We stopped at the Dykeman Hotel, kept by M. Longwell. In the large and well-furnished dining room there were over fifty at dinner. Among the number were Hon. Julius C. Burrows and a number of other statesmen. We called on many esteemed friends of former days, not omitting Dr. Maynard, who has had eminent success as surgeon and physician for thirty years. In our review near the jail stands the romantic and historic mansion, where many years ago my wife attended a wedding; also the writer of these notes had special invitation and was delighted to be in the company and was married there January 15th, 1863. The priest who performed the ceremony had his residence and landed possessions near a beautiful lake in Lenawee County. Many will remember with gratitude this truly virtuous man, Rev. William N. Lyster.

Five days we were admirably and sumptuously entertained at Decatur; then my brother and wife left for Kansas City. We with son and wife went to Schoolcraft and there took cars for Brooklyn. At White Pigeon, we remember, fifty-eight years ago I was a soldier in the regiment encamped at this place, in pursuit of Black Hawk Indians, who annually received pay from the British government. Black Hawk was a chief of about two thousand Indians. This war lasted just seventy-nine days. The men in our regiment were all familiar with Indian tricks and Indian warfare and a better class of Indian fighters did not exist. After one hour's delay at White Pigeon the cars started east. Our route passed over many fertile and productive plantations, with independent farm homes,—the same variegated land and genial atmosphere which we had traversed sixty years ago. We are pleased to say that in our pleasant home all seems cheerful and contented.

GOOD ADVICE.

Several years ago I was covered with Boils to such an extent that my life was a misery. After trying a number of other remedies without any benefit, I was advised by a wholesale druggist at Columbus to try S.S.S. (Swift's Specific). One bottle of S.S.S. cured me entirely. I have not had a Boil since. To those afflicted with Boils or skin Eruptions I give the same advice my wholesale druggist gave me take S.S.S.

A PROMPT CURE.

I was cured sound and well of a case of Blood Poison by S.S.S. As soon as I discovered I was afflicted with the disease I commenced taking Swift's Specific (S.S.S.), and in a few weeks I was permanently cured. GEORGE Stewart, May 7, 1890. Shelby' Ohio.

TECUMSEH, THURSDAY, OCT. 30.

Vote for Farmer Winans and honest politics next Tuesday.

The campaign is drawing to a close. What will the harvest be?

James M. Turner will be beaten and the votes of honest Republicans will do the job.

Let every friend of tariff reform and honest politics go to the polls next Tuesday and cast a ballot. If they will do their duty in this regard victory will be assured.

The McKinley tariff bill was enacted to protect American labor. We fail to note any advance in wages thus far. Will Capt. Allen please favor us with a few statistics on this point.

Capt Allen is beginning to discover that his work for the Eastern trusts and monopolists and his neglect of his own constituents during the last session of Congress is not helping his canvass any this fall.

For President—Jay Gould,

For Vice-Present—Willam McKinley.

Platform—Get along with one coat

We are willing to admit that the McKinley tariff outrage does protect one American industry. Additions will have to be built to every poorhouse in the land, and that will keep some people busy, and it may put up the wages of bricklayers.

The McKinley bill is stimulating the immigration of factory operatives from continental Europe. They come in free of duty. The most ultra-protectionists and monopolists are believers in free trade in men and the fullest competition in hired labor.

The McKinley bill has put up every thing except salaries and wages, which have been put down accordingly, since when everything else goes up and wages do not, they are reduced by the percentage amount of the rise in which they do not share.

The total average labor cost is 17 per cent in production in this country. The average tax in the McKinley bill is 60 per cent. This is to enrich the men who give the money to control the elections. And a great many people seem to like to be plundered in this way.

The assertion that the tariff follows us to the grave is no campaign invention. The St. Louis Republic includes in its list of trusts a Coffin Trust, which is protected at the rate of 35 per cent. on wooden coffins and 45 per cent. on metallic burial cases. Great is McKinley!

What a pity it is that Thomas Bracket Reed was not appointed superintendent of the census. With a man of his mathematical talents at the head of the census bureau, every man, woman and child would have been counted, including cats, dogs, hats and umbrellas.

The protection organs are gloating over the effects of the new tariff laws on the industries of Europe. Will they kindly demonstrate how ruining European industries and throwing European workmen out of employment will help the sale of our surplus corn, wheat, beef and pork in European markets? Will they also explain how compelling European workmen to come here to find employment protects American labor?—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Among the instructive contrasts in the McKinley tariff are these: Duties on woolens used by the poor are advanced from 80 to 100 per cent, while fine broad-cloth, used by the rich, is increased from 50 to 60 per cent. The import tax on cotton velvet is doubled, being raised from 40 to 80 per cent. Cotton laces and handkerchiefs are marked up from 40 to 60 per cent. while fine laces and handkerchiefs are advanced from 50 to 60 per cent., only. Cheap alpacas are put up from 60 to 100 per cent. Black silks remain at 50 per cent. On sealskin sacques the duty remains 20 per cent., while silk plush, used for imitation sacques, goes from 50 to 110 per cent. These changes are what the tax advancers call 'equalizing duties to reduce revenue.'

THE FARMER AND TARIFF TAXES.

The following article taken from the Philadelphia Times gives the tariff situation in the most compact and forceful shape that has yet fallen under our notice. It fits the case of the Michigan farmer just as nicely as it does the case of the farmer in the Keystone State. They are both rowing against a strong current in the same boat this fall.

Our foreign market for breadstuffs grows narrower. Great Britain is exerting every nerve to secure her bread supplies from India, and the rapid expansion of the wheat area in Russia gives us a powerful competitor in the markets of Europe. It becomes us, therefore, to use every opportunity for the extension of our market on both of the American continents.—Secretary Blaine's letter to Senator Frye.

There is not a section or a line in the entire (McKinley) bill that will open a market for another bushel of wheat or another barrel of pork.—Secretary Blaine's letter to Senator Frye.

The foregoing extracts from Secretary Blaine's letter to Senator Frye on the McKinley tariff bill, may be accepted as settling the question that the new tariff will furnish no new demand or markets for the farmers' products. Now let us see how the monopoly tariff enables the farmer to revel in taxes.

Under the new McKinley tariff the Pennsylvania farmer luxuriates in taxes from the cradle to the grave. He rises in the morning, shakes his farmer's mane in vigor, as he emerges from his 45 per cent taxed bed-sheets; his 60 per cent taxed blankets; his 40 per cent taxed pillows; his 30 per cent taxed mattress; his 35 per cent taxed bedstead, and he lands triumphantly on a 100 per cent taxed carpet, tacked down with 43 per cent taxed tacks. He strips off his 40 per cent taxed night-shirt; puts on his 80 per cent taxed underclothing; follows with his 40 per cent taxed shirt; his 80 per cent taxed pants; his 80 per cent taxed socks; his 30 per cent taxed shoes. He next takes up his 60 per cent taxed tumbler; applies his 30 per cent taxed tooth-brush; pours out his water from a 60 per cent taxed pitcher into a 60 per cent taxed wash-bowl; takes up his 35 per cent taxed toilet soap to aid his refreshing ablutions in free water; brings the blood to glow in health on his cheeks by a 60 per cent taxed towel; combs his hair with a 30 per cent taxed comb; gives it the finishing touch with a 30 per cent taxed brush. He next turns to his 60 per cent taxed necktie; ties it around his 40 per cent taxed collar stiffened by 100 per cent taxed starch; adjusts his 35 per cent taxed suspenders; and if a 30 per cent taxed button is missing he replaces it with a 30 per cent taxed pin; he then puts on his 80 cent taxed vest; follows with his 80 per cent taxed coat; supplies it with a 45 per cent taxed handkerchief, and is then ready to survey himself in a 100 per cent taxed mirror on his 35 per cent taxed bureau, when he is ready to emerge from his chamber.

As farmers are ever interested in the weather, he will always brush aside his 60 per cent taxed curtains and take an early look out of his 35 per cent taxed window sash and 100 per cent taxed window glass to see how the free air—and the only thing free that he can see—looks and promises for the day. If his digestion is a little unsettled, he regulates it by a 40 per cent taxed draught of magnesia from a 60 per cent taxed glass; or he may prefer a dose of 189 per cent taxed castor oil; or a "nip" of 300 per cent taxed whiskey, mixed with a 40 per cent taxed spoon. He then takes his 70 per cent taxed pocket knife to clean his finger-nails, takes up his 80 per cent taxed wool hat and is ready for a survey of his manor. If he is a prudent observer, he takes a survey of his kitchen and inspects his 40 per cent taxed oilcloth his 58 per cent taxed crockery; his 40 per cent taxed stove and pans; his 80 per cent taxed tinware; his 25 per cent taxed broom: his 35 per cent taxed buckets; his 45 per cent taxed jars containing his 100 per cent taxed rice; his 35 per cent taxed tables and chairs. The kitchen inspected as the fountain of the farmer's health, he next steps out on his 17 per cent taxed porch floor, by opening his 40 per cent taxed door latch, airs himself under the protection of his 17 per cent taxed shingles, and if storm confronts him he wisely takes up his 50 per cent taxed umbrella and starts for a survey of the farm. He inspects his 35 per cent taxed wagons; looks to the 54 per cent taxed shoes on his horses, and the 76 per cent taxed nails in them; takes a peep at his 44 per cent taxed chains; sees that his 40 per cent taxed saw, his 63 per cent taxed files and his 50 per cent taxed screws are all in place: inquires about his 30 per cent taxed harness; puts his 35 per cent taxed wheelbarrow in place, and carefully examines his 45 per cent taxed reapers; his 45 per cent taxed plows; his 45 per cent taxed harrows; his 45 per cent taxed rakes; about which time he pulls out his 35 per cent taxed watch attached to a 60 per cent taxed guard, and discovers that it is breakfast time.

If devotionally inclined he enters his house, calls his household around him, puts on his 60 per cent taxed spectacles, takes up his 26 per cent taxed Bible, sits down on his 35 per cent taxed chair, leans back against his 25 per cent taxed wall paper that covers his 20 per cent taxed lath, lays his Bible on a 35 per cent taxed stand on which there is a 60 per cent taxed cover, and proceeds to read the solemn morning lesson. That done he sits down to 35 per cent taxed table, covered with a 40 per cent taxed cloth, laden with 60 per cent taxed plates and dishes, 80 per cent taxed glasses, 80 per cent taxed tinware, 60 per cent taxed knives and forks and takes his 25 per cent taxed fish, seasons it with 49 per cent taxed salt and 50 rpe cent taxed spices, and eats it from a 60 per cent taxed plate. Breakfast over, he takes up his 70 per cent taxed pipe and his 200 per cent taxed tobacco, lighted with a 35 per cent taxed match, to soothe his nerves and aid his digestion. He next disposes of his correspondence with 25 per cent taxed paper, 40 per cent taxed envelopes, 30 per cent taxed ink and 40 per cent taxed pen and writes to his friends on political and agricultural economies.

His 80 per cent taxed clock finally admonished him to superintend his out-door operations. He has just threshed his wheat, bound with 35 per cent taxed twine, on a 45 per cent taxed machine; he bags it in 40 per cent taxed bags and he bales his hay for market in 35 per cent taxed ties. He then hauls his produce with a team that is taxed from horse-whip to wheel and bed, to the railway depot, where he employs a railway that has 60 per cent taxed rails, 35 per cent taxed cars, 102 per cent taxed trucks and 35 per cent taxed coal, and he emits a flood of eloquence against railways as he studies the tariff of freights. He passes his 25 per cent taxed school house, his 25 to 35 per cent taxed church, and his 25 to 40 per cent taxed bridge, all partly built by his earnings, and he is disturbed and confused because of the high railway taxes. That is the one tax he doesn't love, and he concludes to read up for a broadside against railways at the next Granger gathering. He takes up The Times, printed on 20 per cent taxed paper, with 25 per cent taxed types, 30 per cent taxed ink and 50 per cent taxed machinery, and the clouds speedily pass from his face as he reads that his universal farmer taxes are multiplied to him by the blessings of extra taxes by the jute trust, the steel trust, the soap trust, the linseed oil trust, the envelope trust, the cordage trust, the paper-bag trust, the salt trust, the rubber trust, the crockery trust, the nail trust, the glass trust, the sugar trust, the lead trust, the lumber trust, all of which are the creation of high war tariff taxes, and he smiles serenely as a bridesmaid as he contemplates the profusion of tax blessings this great free land showers upon the farmer. He rejoices that the blessings of farmer taxes never cease from the 35 per cent taxed cradle and 40 per cent taxed diaper of infancy to the 35 per cent taxed coffin and 80 per cent taxed shroud for the grave. Such is the luxury of the farmer's tariff taxes in Pennsylvania.

A TERRIFIC ARRAIGNMENT.

Rev. J. S. Valentine Gives Lansing Opinion of James M. Turner. A Testimony of a Life-Long Republican.

Rev. J. S. Valentine, the writer of the letter which is given below, is a well-known and highly esteemed Methodist minister of Lansing. He was compelled to relinquish active work in the pulpit on account of failing eye-sight. As the letter discloses, Mr. Valentine is a G. A. R. man, and is and always has been a Republican He resides at Mr. Turner's own home, and what he says is of his own personal knowledge. Mr Valentine sent a copy of his letter to the Detroit Tribune Monday morning, it being his desire to let that paper and its readers know what the sentiment is where Mr. James Turner lives. The Republican papers dare not publish "the other side of the story," though given every opportunity, and it is therefore safe to say that they will keep back the truth, as they have with reference to the McElroy charges.

"Rev. J. S. Valentine is a member of the Michigan Methodist Episcopal Conference," said Rev. James H Potts, D. D., editor of the Michigan Christian Advocate, when seen last evening at his residence, No. 279 Lincoln avenue. "He is a gentleman of excellent character, upright, and bears a splendid reputation. I have known him since 1869 and I would believe him as quickly as any other honest man. He has been pastor at Berrien Springs, Plainwell North Lansing and other places and at each of them made an enviable record. He retired from the active ministry about eight years ago on account of failing eyesight."

Mr Valentine's letter is as follows:

To the Editor of The Detroit Free Press:

I have been a Republican for thirty years, and know write as a Republican—not a disgruntled, but a disgusted Republican. I am disgusted with the Republican party for placing such a man as James M. Turner at the head of the ticket. No candid and intelligent Republican in the City of Lansing, who has known Mr. Turner in his moral and business life, would make him a first choice for Governor and the party organ of the city, which now so feebly defends him, does it not "for conscience sake," but for party considerations.

I heard a gentleman who is closely connected with the business interests of the state say: "It will be a shame to the Republicanism of Michigan to have James M. Turner elected Governor." Another citizen well known in the party throughout the state said: "In the nomination of Turner the Republican party has sown to the wind, and it may reap a whirlwind." Another, whom Lansing is pleased to honor as one of its purest citizens, said: "Turner is unfit for the place, and ought to be defeated." At an other time the same gentleman said: "The business men in the City of Lansing who are acquainted with the facts as they relate to the Turner, 'per Jordan,' brickyard, are well satisfied that the statement of Turner in the case is not true." A business man connected with one of the chief manufactories of our city said: "I would as soon vote for the devil as for Jim Turner." I heard a prominent state house employe say: "I have always been a Republican, and have stood by the party nomination, but I can't do it this time. I will not vote for Turner." Another gentleman, widely known in business circles, said: "I would rather see a good, clean Democrat elected than to see Turner elected; and I don't know but the party needs the reproof of defeat for its nomination." A prominent business man said: "Any man who rents houses to women of ill repute as Turner has, and is bondsman for saloon keepers, is not fit to be Governor."

It is well known by the citizens of Lansing that Mr. Turner has rented buildings to women of questionable character, and when spoken to concerning them has replied: "They pay their rent." In 1884 Chas. T. Foster Post No. 42, located in Lansing, occupied a room on the third floor of a building for which J. M. Turner was agent. The room on the second floor was occupied by a women of objectionable character, and her presence was very annoying to the G. A. R. and the Woman's Relief Corps, which also occupied the post room. A committee was appointed by the post to ask Mr. Turner to remove the women in question. I was chaplain of the post at the time, and heard the report of the committee, which was in substance as follows: "Mr. Turner says she pays her rent, and if you Grand Army boys don't like your neighbors you can move out."

This insult to the boys in blue, and to the members of the Woman's Relief Corps, ought to be resented at the ballot box by every soldier in Michigan.

Mr. Turner admits having signed three saloon bonds for friendship's sake, while the Treasurer of Ingham County makes a sworn statement to the effect that from time to time the name of James M. Turner had been on 28 different saloon bonds. One of the most widely known Republicans of this city, in speaking of these facts and Turner's nomination, said: "Does Michigan want a man for Governor who signs the bonds of saloonkeepers and rents houses to women of ill-repute?" The pastor of one of the churches of Lansing recently said: "In the interest of morality and common decency Turner ought to be defeated." Another pastor said: "I do not know but it is a Christian duty to vote for Winans in order to defeat Turner." And another said: "Mr. Turner is a self-seeking man, and all his purposes and plans are formed in selfishness. He seems to be destitute of those finer intellectual and moral qualities which constitute a true gentleman." Still an other pastor of Lansing said: "I was once in Mr. Turner's company at a social gathering, and I was disgusted with his utter want of refinement and his coarseness, and cannot understand how any intelligent Christian who knows him can for a moment entertain the thought of voting for him."

These are a few of the many expressions of disapprobation heard in this city concerning the Republican candidate for Governor. Two of these statements are the words of prohibitionists; others are the utterance of Republicans who are well known and highly respected citizens of Lansing, and have known candidate Turner for years. I have been a resident of Lansing most of the time for eight years, and for three years have been pastor of a church in the city, and I know what I am talking about. Mr. Turner's unfitness for the office of Governor is town talk among the most moral and intelligent people of all parties in the city.

WESTWARD, HO!

THE FARMERS' HOME MARKET PROSPERITY.

The Home Market Argument Goes West to Grow Up with the Country—Its Failure in the East and West Alike Exasperating to Protectionists.

The era of high protection in the United States began with magnificent promises to our farmers. It was pointed out to them that they would be amply repaid for bearing the burden of increased prices for manufactured goods for a limited time—always "for a limited time." That repayment was to come in the shape of a home market for home products. This market was to have special advantages—was to be so much nearer to the farmer than the foreign market; there were to be no large bills of freight charges, no long voyages at sea, no "thralldom complete and perpetual" to foreign nations.

The one thing that was not set down in all these brilliant promises was that the prices to be paid for the farmer's produce in this home market should be higher than in the foreign market. It was not "so nominated in the bond," and our farmers go on selling from year to year in this home market and in the foreign market at precisely the same prices. And yet they are still being stuffed with the protectionist talk that the home market has some special excellence over and above the foreign market.

The results of this system were first seen and felt in the east. It began in the decline of New England farming villages and the desertion of New England hill farms. Right in the midst of the greatest manufacturing communities this decline of farming has gone on. The census just taken shows that the townships adjoining the principal manufacturing cities of Connecticut have lost about 10 per cent. of their population in ten years.

In New York state the decline has been equally marked. In 1887 Mr. J. R. Dodge, the high protectionist statistician of the department of agriculture, reported as follows: "New York farmers are more in debt than they were ten years ago. The average depreciation of farming lands is fully one-third in ten years. Probably one-third of the farms in the state would not sell for more than the cost of the buildings and other improvements. Thirty per cent. of the farms are mortgaged for two-thirds of their estimated value."

The protectionists have one stereotyped answer to these facts. It is western competition, they say; farming has gone west.

But it is becoming clearer and clearer that this answer will not hold water. Take Ohio, for instance. A correspondent of that high tariff organ The New York Tribune writes a letter to break the force of the recently published facts as to the decline of the farming population of Ohio, but he has to make admissions which damage his case fatally. He had to admit that the farm values of Wayne county had fallen off 6 per cent. in ten years, and that the loss of population is still greater.

Every county in the western reserve, he says, shows a loss of population in the agricultural districts. In view of these facts The Tribune's correspondent makes this sorrowful admission: "No one denies that there has been a depreciation of the farm lands of the state in the last decade." Then comes the cut-and-dried explanation, "the attraction of the cheap lands of the west."

Apparently we are not far enough west yet to find prosperity on the farm. Let us try Iowa. The commissioner of labor statistics in that state has just made public some facts of a startling character. He has received answers from 720 farmers "recommended to him as reliable persons."

From these reports he finds that "76 per cent. of the farmers of the state are prevented by pressure of their debts from holding their grain and other products for the best market prices. Eight per cent. have lost their farms by mortgage foreclosure since 1880." Thirty-eight per cent. of farmers' children are kept out of school fifty-eight days each school year to do farm work; 663 of these farmers report that since 1885 farm products have been sold below the cost of production. And so on and on.

Kansas and Nebraska are still further west. Do the protectionists find their paradise of home market prosperity for farmers in these two states? Is it not here that the mortgage companies are rapidly acquiring possession of farms and establishing a system resembling Irish landlordism? Is it not here that the Farmers' Alliance has gained its greatest strength as the direct outgrowth of the hard times which bear so heavily upon the farmers?

Where is the home market paradise of the farmer, anyway? Has it gone still further west to hide itself away among the Rockies, or to spread itself out very thin upon the wind swept plains of Wyoming?

To Escape McKinley Duties.

In the general movement which was inaugurated during the summer to ship large quantities of merchandise from Europe in order to avoid the heavy duties of the McKinley bill, the dealers in tin plate were not behind merchants in other departments of business. The Metal Worker, of New York, reports that in July there were entered 261,574 boxes of tin plate, and in August 226,001 boxes, making a total of 487,575 boxes, against 390,977 boxes during the corresponding period last year.

By hurrying their tin plate into the country, before the McKinley bill goes into effect the importers escape paying McKinley duties. They have not yet discovered that the foreigner pays the tax. Somehow the experience of the importers does not confirm this pet theory of the protectionists, which was recently stated by McKinley in a speech in Maine in the following words: "By putting our duties on foreign products the like of which we can produce in the United States we make these competing foreign producers bear the burden and supply the revenue to the public treasury."

American Beef in Germany.

In Germany people who want protection are in the habit of working up false pretenses just as much as our own protected classes are. Now that we have begun to sell live beef cattle in Germany an outcry has already commenced in that country against our cattle. Curiously enough it is complained that our cattle are too fat, and then some say that "pleuro-pneumonia and other contagious diseases are rampant among American herds," and protection is invoked from such infection.

But who is it that makes these complaints? Not the German workingman, not the people of the cities who want to eat our fat beef, but the German cattle growers. Of course the cattle growers will not need to eat our beef in any case, and therefore they need have no dread of "pleuro pneumonia and other contagious diseases rampant among American herds;" nor even should the fatness of our beeves be objectionable to German cattle growers, for they are not going to eat that fat any way.

Oh, no; it is not that they are thinking about themselves—they have only the good of the beef eating public at heart! The German cattle growers are an unselfish race like our protected classes—never concerned so much about their own interests as about the welfare of other people.

One touch of protection makes the whole world akin. Your protected classes in Germany are precisely the same sort of folk as our own. The German cattle growers simply hold the mirror up to nature, and our own protected classes see themselves as they are. Protected classes in both hemispheres put their demands for government aid on high moral grounds—not for themselves; oh, no. They are not such selfish fellows as to see everything colored by their own narrow self interests. Not for themselves do they seek protection; they seek it for labor or for the dear public generally.

If protection goes on much further we shall soon need a new kind of protection—one that will "protect and encourage the infant industry" of truth telling.

Twenty Years After.

Our protectionist citizens—for we can't consistently call them friends, believing as we do that their theory results in its practice in a positive injury to every commercial industry of the Union—our protectionist citizens are always willing to credit any prosperity of this country to a protective tariff which was then existent; but with their usual lack of logic they will not admit today that the prosperity that existed under a low tariff was the result of it, and even go so far as to call such an application of their law of cause and effect a folly "too incredible for belief," and denounce a low tariff as necessarily an evil. We are sorry they cannot agree with Senator William B. Allison, who said in congress on March 24, 1870:

"The tariff of 1846 although confessedly and professedly a tariff for revenue was, so far as regards all the great interests of the country, as perfect a tariff as any that we have ever had. When we compare the growth of the country from 1840 to 1850 with the growth of the country from 1850 to 1860, the latter decade being entirely under the tariff of 1846 or the amended and greatly reduced tariff of 1857, we find that the increase in our wealth between 1850 and 1860 was equivalent to 126 per cent., while it was only 64 per cent. between 1840 and 1850, four years of which decade were under the tariff of 1842, known as a high protective tariff, but the average rate of which was about 70 per cent. below the existing rate (i. e., in 1870), or 27 per cent. under the tariff of 1842, against 44 per cent. upon all importations under the present tariff."

Mr. Allison may not talk this way today, but Mr. Allison today is not seeking for the best interests of the country; he fixes his eyes on a presidential nomination. His opinions may not have changed, but his very soul has, and a self serving partisan has now taken the place of the honest, patriotic statesman.

A Sick English Trust.

Mr. Blaine made himself ridiculous two years ago by asserting that England was plastered all over with trusts. The fact is that there are only a few trusts in that country. The subject has been investigated on the ground by two gentlemen of national reputation, Hon. William L. Wilson (Dem.), of West Virginia, and Hon. Benjamin Butterworth (Rep.), of Ohio, who traveled in England together.

In congress last spring Mr. Wilson asserted that there were no trusts in England except where there was a natural monopoly. This statement was assailed by the Republicans, but Mr. Butterworth came to the rescue and put his fellow protectionists to silence by confirming Mr. Wilson's statement.

But there is one trust in England which was not caused by having a natural monopoly, and which was apparently overlooked by these gentlemen. This is the English Salt union. But this trust illustrates admirably the very point that the two congressmen made—that trusts could not succeed in England whenever foreign competition came into play.

The Salt Union was formed somewhat more than two years ago. The first year of its existence its dividends were 10 per cent.; this year they were only 6 per cent.

Why the decline? The London correspondent of The New York Times gives the answer: The trust had to spend so much money to buy off the salt companies on the continent of Europe that the profits were swallowed up. At last reports the trust showed signs of speedy death.

It needs a McKinley bill. That is the panacea for trusts!

Here is a chance for Maj. McKinley to reap new honors. A company has been formed in London, with American headquarters in Chicago, for the purpose of forming trusts in the United States. McKinley ought to be made an honorary member.

The Liver

When out of order, involves every organ of the body. Remedies for some other derangement are frequently taken without the least effect, because it is the liver which is the real source of the trouble, and until that is set right there can be no health, strength, or comfort in any part of the system. Mercury, in some form, is a common specific for a sluggish liver; but a far safer and more effective medicine is

Ayer's Pills.

For loss of appetite, bilious troubles, constipation, indigestion, and sick headache, these Pills are unsurpassed.

"For a long time I was a sufferer from stomach, liver, and kidney troubles, experiencing much difficulty in digestion, with severe pains in the lumbar region and other parts of the body. Having tried a variety of remedies, including warm baths, with only temporary relief, about three months ago I began the use of Ayer's Pills, and my health is so much improved that I gladly testify to the superior merits of this medicine."—Manoel Jorge Pereira, Porto, Portugal.

"For the cure of headache, Ayer's Cathartic Pills are the most effective medicine I ever used."—R. K. James, Dorchester, Mass.

"When I feel the need of a cathartic, I take Ayer's Pills, and find them to be more effective than any other pill I ever took."—Mrs. B. C. Grubb, Burwellville, Va.

"I have found in Ayer's Pills, an invaluable remedy for constipation, biliousness, and kindred disorders, peculiar to miasmatic localities. Taken in small and frequent doses, these Pills

The figure 9 in our dates will make a long stay No man or woman now living will ever date document without using the figure 9. It stands in the third place in 1890, where it will remain years and then move up to second place in 1900 where it will rest for one hundred years.

There is another "9" which has also come to stay It is unlike the figure 9 in our dates in the respect that it has already moved up to first place, where it will permanently remain. It is called the "No 9" High Arm Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine

The "No. 9" was endorsed for first place by the experts of Europe at the Paris Exposition of 1889 where, after a severe contest with the leading machines of the world, it was awarded the only Grand Prize given to family sewing machines, as others on exhibit having received lower awards of gold medals, etc. The French Government also recognized its superiority by the decoration of Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, President of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor.

The "No. 9" is not an old machine improved upon, but is an entirely new machine, and the Grand Prize at Paris was awarded it as the grandest advance in sewing machine mechanism of the age. Those who buy it can rest assured, therefore, of having the very latest and best.

And the best lamp ever made, like Aladdin's of old, a "wonderful lamp!" A lamp absolutely non-explosive and unbreakable, which gives a clear, soft, brilliant white light of 85 candle power! Purer and brighter than gas light, softer than electric light, more cheerful than either! That lamp is

And with it there is no smoke, no smell, no broken chimneys, no flickering, no sweating, no climbing up of the flame, no "tantrums" nor annoyance of any kind, and it never needs trimming. Its founts (oil reservoirs) being tough rolled seamless brass, with central draft, it is absolutely unbreakable, and as safe as a tallow candle.

Only five years old, and over two million of these lamps in use. It must be a GOOD lamp to make such a telling success. Indeed it is, for lamps may come and lamps may go, but the "Rochester" shines on forever! We make over 2,000 artistic varieties,—Hanging and Table Lamps, Banquet, Study, Vase and Piano Lamps,—every kind, in Bronze, Porcelain, Brass, Nickel and Black Wrought Iron.

Ask the lamp dealer for it. Look for the trade-mark stamp: "THE ROCHESTER." If he hasn't the genuine Rochester and the style you want, or if no lamp-store is near, send to us for free illustrated catalogue (and reduced price-list), and we will box and send you any lamp safely by express, right to your door.

DR. A. TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Prices 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

REPUBLICANS AGAINST ALLEN.

TECUMSEH, Oct. 28, 1890.

EDITOR OF THE HERALD:—I ask you as a favor to the many Republicans in this section, who cannot conscientiously vote for Capt. E. P. Allen this fall, to give place in your columns to the following communication taken from the last issue of the Ann Arbor Register:

EDITOR REGISTER:—I am asked why being a Republican, I decline to vote for E. P. Allen for congress.

The following are a few of the reasons which influence me, and which, it seems to me, are sufficient to cause any republican who desires the best interest of his party, to decline to vote for him.

1. Mr. Allen is asking for a third term, and I do not believe in third terms.

Unless a man has proved himself of commanding importance, it is better that he should retire, or be retired, at the end of the second term and make room for younger, and possibly better, men.

During the four years he has held a seat in congress, what has he said or done, that any one of the thousands of republicans who voted for him could not have done equally well, and many of them better, except possibly to tell the wheelbarrow story and shout order! Gentlemen, Order! Is it not better if such men are to be kept in congress for life that the democrats send them there? The republican party should send men to congress whose political training was not had in that school of politics that masters the art of manipulating primaries and forcing nominations against the will of the people, but in that broader, nobler school that teaches the fitness for and competency to discharge the duties of the office.

2. In the administration of the affairs of the district he has weakened the party by an attempt to belittle and drive into obscurity its prominent men, while he grows red in the face in the hopeless struggle to make great men out of nature's remnants. He has promoted dissension and feeling among the active working members of the party, and embittered them against each other, by engendering useless struggles for appointments, holding out false promises, thereby dividing the party into factions and cabals.

3. He retains democrats in office in order to secure to himself democratic votes at the expense of the balance of the ticket, while the republicans who bore the burden of the campaign are insulted by the remark, "there wasn't offices enough to go around."

4. He has ignored the claims of the party and appointed men to important offices, whose politics is a subject of guess with their intimate acquaintances, and openly boast that they are under no obligation to the republican party for their appointment.

5. He has abused the trust imposed in him by appointing to office men whose competency for the place is found alone in the fact that they wear Allen's collar.

6. He has insulted the men who saved us a country by answering their petitions with the fling "the old soldiers can't have everything."

7. In the canvass he has always proved false to his party and disloyal to the rest of the ticket. And when the votes are counted this fall, this election will not be found an exception.

8. He has attempted to perpetuate himself in office, by packing caucuses and conventions, and forcing his nomination upon the party. And bases his hopes of election upon the ability of his appointees to whip into line the honest intelligent voters of the party.

REPUBLICAN.

Every word of the above criticism upon Capt. Allen's political record is strictly true, as many Republicans in this vicinity know to their sorrow. And I wish to add two or three more pointers which have come under my own personal observation.

Capt. Allen made a positive pledge to the old soldiers of this district that he would vote for and support the per diem bill. He violated that pledge outright and his vote was recorded against the same.

He has secured the appointment of men to office who were not living in the district two years ago and did not vote for him, at the same time displacing men who were his active friends in the last campaign, although he promised fairly and squarely not to appoint any man to office who did not vote for him. Such was the case here. A cyclone is brewing that will sweep Capt. Allen into his political grave next Tuesday.

REPUBLICAN NO. TWO.

TURNER'S CASE BRIEFLY SUMMED UP.

Mr. James M. Turner, Republican candidate for Governor, is the type of a class found at every state capital—a class who make money out of public jobs, public offices, public funds and who are not at all scrupulous as to the means employed for that purpose.

It is a notorious fact, recognized by persons who have had opportunities to know about this class of money-makers, that, as politicians, they are the most corrupt of any that exist.

The chances for plunder are greatest at state capitals. Where the carcass is there the vultures gather.

Brought into contact with legislators from all parts of the state; experts in all the arts of persuasive lobbying; having great faith in the efficacy of money to buy votes and obtain legislation; dealing with men of various degrees of ambition and avarice—they become shrewd and unscrupulous operators in furthering their personal interests.

With them there is but one maxim—whatever is legal is right. The sense of justice, equity, honor, is limited to the scope of a "Be it enacted."

Mr. Turner, we repeat, is a type of the class that infests every capital.

During the years that the State Land Office had charge of large quantities of public lands running up into millions of acres, donated to the state for various purposes, like the swamp, internal improvement, agricultural college and other grants, that office was filled and surrounded by land sharks.

Articles of impeachment were brot against one commissioner, named Edmunds, for malfeasance in office, and another one, Cyrus Hewitt, the Republicans refused, in the better days of the party, to renominate for a second term because of alleged official crookedness.

For many years, so long as there were any lands worth grabbing, it was an easy matter, and it was practiced, for officials and their outside pals to make money by entering these lands on the maps as purchased, paying no money, and then selling them above the state price to persons wishing to buy them, and pocketing the difference.

The records of Circuit Courts in Allegan and Eaton Counties and of the State Supreme Court show that Jas. M. Turner was one of the operators during the era of land sharks and official crookedness.

Questions were sometimes raised as to whether lands belonged to the state under some grant or to the national government.

Some of these lands had been obtained of the general government by private citizens, were improved farms, and yet state officials claimed them under some sort of pretense, sold them, and gave title to them.

In this way James M. Turner obtained shadowy titles to improved farms and tried to dispossess their rightful owners of them, or make them pay him for his bogus title.

He thus obtained for $100 an alleged title from the state to a farm in Allegan County, worth $4,000, which had been occupied by its rightful owner, George Krauss, for nineteen years, under a certificate of purchase from the United States Land Office, and brought an ejectment suit to obtain possession for himself, or to scare Mr. Krauss into paying a large sum of money for the bogus title derived from the state.

He did the same thing in Eaton County, and tried to eject Gilbert Dale, the rightful owner, from land that had been purchased of the general government, claiming it under the same sort of a state title, but was beaten in our Supreme Court.

Such were among the methods tried by Turner to make money.

For nominal sums he attempted to obtain improved farms that others had made valuable. In short, he endeavored to get farms away from the men who had purchased, improved and made them valuable.

It was a sharp game, but a foul wrong.

The railroad coupon case, also decided against him by the Supreme Court, was an instance where he endeavored to collect $10,500 that did not legally or equitably belong to him, and the court so held only last December.

Then come the charges against him by Prof. McElroy, a Republican, that as a member of the board of managers and as treasurer of the State School for the Blind, he mixed the money of that institution with his own private bank account, sold brick and slate to the institution—all contrary to law—which has not been answered or refuted.

He made denial of the charges, of course, but if such denial is of no more value than were his denials of the charges against him in the courts, it is not entitled to confidence or respect.

James M. Turner's record was known by Republican leaders before he was nominated, but these manipulators of state politcs politics believed in the abject reliability of Republican voters, as voters for the ticket under any and all circumstances, and did not hesitate to nominate him by reason of his bad record. He is rich and that is enough.

It really seems as if so clean a man as Edwin B. Winans, of good ability and excellent character, ought to be elected Governor in preference to a man always on the make, like James M. Turner, and not over scrupulous as to the means used, as court records prove; but Republicans confidently expect that Turner will win.

If he does receive the most votes, it will be because honor, justice and right are of no account in politics. If he is elected, it will be because party, right or wrong, is the rule of action in Michigan. If true, and Turner's election will prove that it is, is it not evident that a Republican form government does not contain the elements necessary for self-purification?

With a "land-title shark" and an unscrupulous money getter for Governor Michigan will sink as low in political degradation as has Pennsylvania under the leadership of that embezzler of public money and arch corruptionist, Boss Quay.—Jackson Patriot.

ANOTHER REPUBLICAN CONVERT.

An Adrian Miller Gives His Views Upon the McKinley Bill and its Effect Upon the Milling Business.

The following spicy letter is clipped from the Detroit Free Press of yesterday.

Seldom does one see a more logical er convincing statement of the evils of protection than are contained in the letter below, which is in response to a circular sent out by the Northwestern Miller, of Minneapolis, Minn., the organ of the milling interest, and which comes from James H. Milne, owner of the well known Crescent roller mills, of Adrian, in this state. Mr. Milne has never voted any but a Republican ticket, but he makes no mention of this fact in his reply. THE FREE PRESS quotes the inquiries and his answer, commending it to every farmer. It will be seen, that having tired of protection and its logic, Mr. Milne goes to the other extreme and demands absolute free trade, regardless of securing sufficient government revenues. The earnestness of his utterances proclaim how keenly he feels the injustice of the protective theory when it is put into practice. The circular and letter are as follows:

CIRCULAR QUESTIONS.

1. Do you as a miller favor a protective tariff?
2. If so, wherein does it help your business, and why do you favor it?
3. If not, why?
4. Do you think the McKinley bill will affect the milling business favorably, or otherwise?
5. What is your opinion of Mr. Blaine's ideas on reciprocity?

Kindly favor us with any remarks you may make on the subject of the tariff, viewed from a miller's standpoint, without reference to the political aspect of the situation.

REPLY.

Editor Northwestern Miller, Minneapolis, Minn.:

DEAR SIR—Replying to your tariff inquiries, would say:

1. I do not.

3. Any obstacles by which the freedom between nations or between individuals is restricted, or hampered, is necessarilly hurtful to business.

Individuals will trade more freely with those with whom they can interchange products. So will nations and communities.

4. I don't see where it can, by any possibility, favorably affect the milling interests. On the contrary, it should have the reverse effect; certainly it cannot promote business.

5. The idea of reciprocity is correct. It is unquestionably true that reciprocity promotes business between individuals and binds them closer together in trade relations. Why not as between nations and communities? Nor should reciprocity be restricted to any particular people or section of the world, but should be extended to every nation that accords us like privilges. Free trade is simply reciprocity in its broadest and most enlightened sense; therefore.

6 I am in favor of unrestricted free trade, because I believe it sound policy and that it would greatly benefit not only the agricultural, but every commercial and industrial interest of the entire country.

We produce more than we can consume and must seek a foreign outlet for our surplus.

Already the bars have been placed against our pork product in France and Germany. It matters not what reason they assign for their action; the fact remains that these markets are closed against us for that important product of the farm, and the same is almost true as to our cereals in those countries.

The public press of England is also urging that government to devise means for placing a tax upon American farm products entering that country. Were England to take such a step where would it land the American farmer? In the soup. I imagine, and the tariff would prove a poor salad for his woes. It in no sense benefits the American farmer, or miller, and cannot by any ingenuity be made to do so.

Nor does it confer the benefits that its advocates claim for it upon American workmen. Unristricted free trade would so develope the industries of this country of every branch of manufacture, so broaden the field of enterprise in every quarter of the globe, that employment would be furnished to every mechanic the entire year round, and would so increase the carrying trade that the flag of the nation, now scarcely to be seen upon the high seas, would fly from the peaks of American ships in every port of the world.

Why shouldn't America, with her indomitable energy and the illimitable wealth bestowed upon her by "mother earth," be able to stand up and compete in the markets of the world with any nation on the broad earth, asking no odds against any one? American manufacturers are no longer in their infancy and in need of paternal support, but full fledged and perfectly able to stand alone, and fight their own battles against all comers.

The talk of protecting the workingmen against the so called pauper labor of Europe is the sheerest twaddle, and, moreover, is a cowardly libel upon the European mechanic, who, no one will deny, is as a rule equally as the rough a workman and (expense of living considered) nearly equally as well paid as the American.

Beside, is it not the fact that the American workman is not protected against his European brother workman? Do not the latter come here by thousands and tens of thousands every year to compete with him on equal terms in his restricted home market and does not the "well protected employer" engage the foreigner quite as readily as he does the unprotected American mechanic?

The American tariff is productive of wealth to the few, creating a moneyed aristocracy, contrary to the genius of our country, and an unequal struggle at the best for the many for a bare existence.

It is an unjust and unrighteous tax on every consumer for the benefit of the few, renders possible the formation of trusts and combines, organized for the extortion of high prices for the prime necessaries of life, and centralizes in the hands of powerful organization the principal industries of the country, against whom weaker corporations must fail.

These trusts restrict production at pleasure and hold the people of this great country in the hollow of their hand, to be squeezed at will and be ground between the upper and nether mill stones.

Adrian, Mich. JAMES H. MILNE.

PROF. DAVID A. HAMMOND.

We clip from the Free Press the following biographical sketch of the Democratic nominee for member of the State Board of Education:

Prof. David A. Hammond is a native of Michigan, having been born in the Township of Augusta, Washtenaw Co, December 16, 1855. His early boyhood was spent upon his father's farm. His parents not being overly stocked with this world's goods, he early in life learned the meaning of "paddle your own canoe." From the time he was 10 years of age he largely supported himself. After he became 13 wielded his own paddle, working on a farm by the month in summer, and attending a district school in winter, doing chores for his board. In this way he earned the money that paid his expenses at the Normal School, which institution he entered in 1872, but was unable to pursue his studies there continuously on account of lack of funds. When his money gave out, he had to leave school and go to work to earn more. His vacations at the holidays were usually spent in chopping wood by the cord, and his summer vacations in the harvest field. As soon as he had advanced sufficiently to get a teacher's certificate, he began teaching in the country schools.

In June, 1878, he graduated from the Normal School, and in September following became principal of the graded schools of Blissfield, Lenawee Co. Here he remained four years and during a part of that time served as township superintendent of schools. When the law establishing the County Board of school Examiners went into operation, he was elected a member of the first board. The following year he became secretary of the board and was also elected the superintendent of schools at Tecumseh. At the expiration of his term as examiner he declined a re-election During his years of service as a teacher in the district schools, as township superintendent, and member of the School Examiners, he became thoroughly conversant with the condition and needs of the district schools.

He continued in the superintendency of the Tecumseh schools for six years and had been re-elected by the unanimous vote of the board for a seventh, when he was called to the superintendency of the Charlotte city schools and has but recently entered upon his third year there. He is also at the present time secretary of the State Teacher's Association and president of the State Association of City Superintendents.

He was married to Miss Cora E. Folwell, of White Pigeon, in 1880, and has a boy 6 years old and a girl baby 1 year old.

Mr. Hammond has always been a strong believer in the principles of the Democratic party, and cast his first vote for Gen. Hancock for President. Writes Mr. Hammond:

"The grand old Detroit Free Press has been my constant companion from my youth up. It was the first paper I ever saw in my boyhood home; the first that I ever read, and it is a daily visitor to my home at the present time."

Mrs. Chas. Williamson, mother of C. E. and Geo. A. Williamson, was stricken down with a paralytic stroke on Saturday last. She continued growing worse until Tuesday evening, when she quietly passed away. The funeral services are held at two o'clock this afternoon.

The Young Ladies Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church will hold its annual praise service at 3:00 o'clock next Sunday afternoon, in the lecture room of the church. A general invitation is extended to ladies to be present. A pleasant program has been arranged.

Chas. Everett has leased the Comfort mill property of the present owner, and will run the concern hereafter on his own hook. Mr. Everett is a fixture in that mill, having worked there twenty-three years in all, and he knows every nook and corner of the establishment. He is a first-class practical miller, and will doubtless succeed in his new venture.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

TECUMSEH, MICH., OCT. 30, 1890.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

There were two inches of ice on the Brownville pond last Monday morning.

Hon. Thomas F. Moore, the Prohibition candidate for Congress, is making an active canvass and is making friends wherever he goes.

The finishing touches are being rapidly put upon the Tiffany Iron Works and the concern will soon be in readiness to begin business.

The Muskegon Chemical Fire Engine gave a fine test last Saturday afternoon, near Brewer's foundry. The test was a very satisfactory one in every respect.

Expectant brides and their friends will be interested in the series of papers on "The Wedding Season," by Mary Gay Humphreys, now being published in Harper's Bazar.

The eleventh volume of Harper's Young People will close with the number to be published October 28th. Numerous attractive features are announced to appear in the new volume.

Mr. F. A. Dewey, of Cambridge, has recently purchased a fine oil portrait of himself. The work was done by a New York artist and secured through Fred Brown, of this village.

We have made arrangements by which we can furnish the Ohio Farmer, the leading weekly agricultural, live stock and family journal of this country, and the HERALD both one year, postage paid, for only $2. This is a bargain that every farmer should accept.

The November number of "Godey" has reached us, and we must congratulate the publishers upon the fine appearance of the book. The illustrations are good, the story matter excellent and contributed by able authors. Price, $2. Address, "Godey Publishing Co.," Philadelphia, Pa.

The McGibeny Concert at the Opera House last Thursday evening was well attended and a splendid program was presented, as all knew would be the case. The fifty cent admission fee kept many people away, but the house was well filled, nevertheless, and the entertainment given was well worth the money. The family travel in their own parlor car now.

Scribner's Magazine for November contains three remarkable illustrated articles of travel and adventure of widely differing characteristics, embracing Elephant hunting in Africa, a perilous voyage through the Canyon of the Colorado (the first trip ever made from the source to the mouth of that river) and cruising with the White Squadron along the coast of France.

Campanini's first and exceedingly readable article on "How to Train the Voice," in which the famous tenor gives many a good hint to singers, leads a bewildering number of good things in the November Ladies' Home Journal. "Liberties of our Daughters" is a very good article by Mrs. Admiral Dahlgren, while another on "Can Women keep a Secret?" by Junius Henri Brown, is as keen as it is entertaining.

On Monday evening all the students already in the city were registered on the faculty books and for the first time this year the University authorities gave out the figures. The attendance is as follows: literary, 1,045; law, 523; medical, 383; pharmacy, 93; dental, 130; homœopathic, 73; total, 2,246. The enrollment at the same time last year was 1,943, distributed as follows: literary, 866; law, 468; medical, 366; pharmacy, 76; dental, 100; homœopathic, 67.

Mrs. General Custer was called upon at the Fifth Avenue Hotel by a STAR reporter, just before leaving for Brunswick, Nova Scotia.

"I shall not lecture this season," said Mrs. Custer. "My health is very poor and I do not feel equal to the occasion. I shall return to New York in about three months. During my travels in the far West I was within a mile of where General Custer met his death.

"I took dinner with General Sherman's family to-day, and the meeting with my old friends added greatly to the pleasure of my trip. The next three months will be occupied in the completion of my book."

The meeting of the Union Literary and Lyceum was held October 17th, at L. E. Taylor's. The night was fine and, as you might have expected, the house was soon well filled. The program was as follows:

Music—Ruth Taylor.
Rec.—Nina Allen.
Dia.—Alma and Hoyt Whelan.
Dec.—Alton Whelan.
Chip basket—Cecil Billington.
Reading—Bertha Taylor.
Paper—Alma Whelan and Rena Allen.
Speech—G. W. Allen.

The next meeting will be held at Mr. A. D. Hunt's, Oct. 31st. The question, Resolved, that "The railroads should be owned and controlled by the government," will be debated. Leaders, Hollis Taylor, aff; Mrs. A. B. Wisner, neg.

Goat Robes and Horse Blankets at ANDERSON & Co's.

The township board of registration will meet next Saturday at the council building.

Miss Allie Warren has on hand a full assortment of trimmed hats. All are invited to call and see them.

The monthly social of the Baptist church will be held on Thursday, Nov. 6th. Supper served at 5:30 sharp.

A special train runs from Clinton to Adrian to-day, to accommodate all who wish to hear Speaker Thomas B. Reed.

Walter Thomas Mills, "the little giant," speaks in Croswell's opera house, Adrian, this week Friday evening, on prohibition.

The Tecumseh entertainment course will be brilliantly opened to-morrow evening. Enough tickets have already been sold to fill the opera house.

The Prohibitionists of Tecumseh and vicinity are requested to meet at their club room next Monday evening at 7:30 sharp, for the transaction of important business. Let everyone be present.

Remember that the polls will be open at seven o'clock this year. The booths must be provided with tickets and slips at that hour, but both tickets and slips can be peddled outside of the booth also.

Devotional exercises.
Recitation—Jessie Case.
Song—Ella Fowler.
Reading—Florence Primrose.
Recitation—Willie Grayson.
Blackboard exercise.

Zack Cook, Esq., retires from the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co., with a splendid record behind him. He has filled the place for many years with signal credit and the prosperity of the company is due in a large measure to his disinterested labors in its behalf.

The reserved seat chart for Miss Aus der Ohe's Concert was opened Wednesday morning, and before ten o'clock every available seat on the main floor had been taken and the best ones in the gallery. Such a rush for reserved seats has never been known in this town before.

The Friend's Quarterly meeting will be held at Raisin Valley, next Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 1st. and 2d. A Gospel Temperance meeting will be held Sabbath afternoon. On account of the quarterly meeting, there will be no meeting at the Friend's church of this place, neither morning or evening.

The Good Templar's Lodge of Clinton held a Demorest Medal contest at the Town Hall last Saturday evening. The exercises were very interesting and enjoyed by a good sized audience. Several Tecumseh people attended, and by request, Prof. Kellogg, Mrs. Dr Stewart and M. P. Brown acted as judges. Miss Bertha Gibson was awarded the medal; her recitation was entitled "A Voice from the Poorhouse."

The Farmers' Social Club will meet at the home of A. P. Coddington, Wednesday evening, Nov. 5th. As it has been a long time since we have met let there be a large attendance.

PROGRAM.

Inst. Duet—Etta Coddington and Rhoda Benedict.
Rec.—Mrs Remington.
Charade—Will Fisher.
Song—Grace and Ora Gillespie.
Riddle—I. H. Schreeder.
Conundrum—Mr. Griswold.
Recitation—Lovisa Schreder.
Question—What plan of work will give most interest to the club the coming winter? Opened by O. B. Finch and followed by every member of the club.

Dr. Bennett will be at the Lilley House, on Wednesday, Nov. 5th. He who flatters himself that chronic ailment will be cured by change of climate, tonics, plasters, baths or electricity, is like that man who expects to get his watch regulated by replacing hands and dial-plate when the mainspring needs repairing. There is a power which serves as main-spring to the human mechanism. Dr. Bennett aims to set this right by his method of rectal treatment. Headache, Backache, Rheumatism, Asthma, Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Uterine troubles are permanently cured, because he deals with the Cause, not certain symptoms of it. Consultations free in German and English. Go and see him.

The Marine Concert will be given in the Opera House on Friday evening of next week, Nov. 7th. Below is the program, as now prepared:

1. Orchestra.
2. Nancy Lee—Full Chorus.
3. Break, break, break—Dora Heck.
4. Bobby Shafto—Chorus of Children.
5. Lady of the Lake—Tableau.
7. The Tar's Farewell-Full Chorus.
7. The Storm Friend—Walter Heck
8. Jolly Sailor Boys—Male Chorus.
9. Dream—Tableau.

1. Orchestra.
2. O'er the Rolling Sea-Full Chorus
3. Grace Darling—Tableau.
4. The Three Fishes—Mrs. J. J. Orr.
5. We sail the Ocean Blue—Male Quartette.
6. My Lover is a Sailor Lad—Dora Grayson.
7. Midshipmight—Male Chorus.
8. My bark is on the sea—Tableau.
9. Sailing—Full Chorus.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The days are cold, and dark, and dreary.

Rev. Mr. Stansfield, of Wyandotte, favored us with a call last Friday afternoon.

Miss Anna Osborne has been obliged to leave school on account of ill health.

Frank Gillespie of Clinton township, entered school this week.

The class of Natural Philosophy are proving, by experiment, the laws of the wheel and pulley.

Last Friday was examination day. About one-third of the pupils were excused.

Next week Friday will occur the first meeting of the High School Lyceum. The question for debate is, Resolved, that Protection is more advantageous to the country than Free Trade. Affirmative, Emilie Gulwits, leader; Gertrude Fisher and Willis Finch. Negative, Garland Gillespie, leader; Ida Pilbeam and Clarence Holdridge.

The exercises will be varied by music, recitations, etc. H. R.

TWICE A WEEK FOR A DOLLAR A YEAR.

The St. Louis Republic is always doing something new and enterprising, and its latest announcement will make the readers of its weekly edition feel that they are in great luck. During November and December the subscribers of The Weekly Republic will get two papers every week. The management of The Republic recognize the eagar desire its subscribers will necessarily feel after the State and Congressional elections for prompt intelligence as to the results, as well as for equally prompt news of the exciting political struggle certain to take place over the Force bill and other issues when Congress convenes. To meet this desire The Weekly Republic has been increased in size to 12 pages, and will be issued twice a week in two separate sections of six pages each, during these two months, one being mailed on Tuesday and the other on Friday. By this plan, the readers of The Weekly Republic will get all the news of the week from one to five days earlier than heretofore. In fact, there is no State in the Union where the readers of The Weekly Republic will not get at least part of the news of the week earlier than any weekly paper printed can bring it to them. Notwithstanding the heavy increased expense involved by this notable stroke of enterprise, there will be no change in the subscription price of The Republic, which will remain as heretofore, One Dollar a year, with the usual commissions to agents.

To insure obtaining all the benefits of a great semi-weekly, during the exciting and interesting period, at the price of a weekly, subscription orders should be sent in at once. Address, THE REPUBLIC, St. Louis, Mo.

A temporary building has been erected for a freight house at the depot, just north of the former building. A new permanent structure will be erected on the old foundations.

—Poultry, Poultry.—Wanted at L. D. Dewey's, on railroad street, and the highest price paid. Ten thousand Turkeys wanted. Bring all your good turkeys and hold your poor ones till later on.

—Call and see our 10c Broom. We will also give you a ticket with every 50c cash purchase entitling you to one chance for drawing the elegant $25,00 Swiss Music Box, at Montague's Novelty Store.

—Brown's Cough and Bronchitis Syrup is called by those that have used it, the best remedy known for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, in fact, all throat and lung trouble. Prepared by W. A. Brown, Tecumseh, Mich. For sale by Avery & Ellis, successors to W. F. Anderson.

—Look out for bargains. A genuine sale of Pianos, Organs and Sewing Machines at Brown's Art-Gallery, Tecumseh.

NOTICE TO THE FARMERS.

Thousands Dying.

Ravages of the Dreaded Cholera.

EPIDEMIC INCREASING IN EXTENT AND INTENSITY.

Its Constant Spread and Increasing Fatality as Reported to Marine Hospital Bureau by United States Consuls in Asiatic and Other European Cities.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Advices received by the Marine Hospital Bureau from the United States consul at Nagaski, Japan, report 1,095 new cases of cholera and 742 deaths from this disease during the period from August 18 to September 11. From the outbreak of the epidemic until September 14 there have been 3,188 cases and 2,031 deaths.

Advices received at the bureau from the United States consul at St. Helena report the appearance of cholera at Meskene and Aleppo. Advices from Spain state that the cholera epidemic continues, but its presence in Barcelona is not officially confirmed.

Reports from Abyssinia say that the epidemic is intense in the localities occupied by Italian troops, and at Massowah about sixty deaths occur daily from the disease.

Reports from Russia state that, the actual presence of cholera is not reported but some cities in the south are suspected but nothing definite is known. Reports from France state that the sanitary condition is very satisfactory and no cases of cholera have been reported.

The report from Italy states that according to information received from private sources, many fatal cases of cholera have occurred in Venice. The Italian government has deferred the return of troops from the Red sea colony. Advices from Constantinople say that the late cholera reports are very unfavorable, and show that the epidemic is increasing in extent and intensity. The appearance of the disease at Aleppo, to which place it was imported from Meskene, is very serious. On September 11 and 12 nine deaths were reported out of fifteen cases.

MISAPPROPRIATING MONEY.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Application was made to Judge Barnard in this city, on behalf of the people of the state of New York, to dissolve the corporation known as the Woman's Hospital of Brooklyn. Misappropriation of moneys and the use of the institution to promote private interests, are the grounds for complaint.

The institution was established by Dr. Mary Jones and her son, and with the assistance of a few gentlemen who allowed their names to be used, it became incorporated. These gentlemen claim to have had nothing to do with the institution since then, and the people charge that Mrs. Dr. Jones and her son have been running the establishment, receiving and appropriating to their own use the moneys appropriated by the state, as well as charging enormous sums for treatment.

INTERNATIONAL ATHLETICS.

Preparing for the Greatest Meeting Witnessed in Years.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Extensive preparations are well under way for the international joint meeting of athletes, to be held at the Madison Square on next Saturday night. It has been formally announced that an American, English, Canadian or world's champion man will be scratchman in each event. The contesting athletes of the Manhattan club and the Salford Harriers of Manchester, England, are in the best of condition, and this meeting is expected to be the best witnessed in years. Thomas P. Conneff, who has been absent from the metropolis for some time, will take part in the races at the meeting.

ANOTHER INTERPRETATION

Of the Original Package Law in Iowa.

BLOOMFIELD, IOWA, Oct 27.—Judge Leggatt has instructed the grand jury that it was not illegal to sell liquor imported from another state in the original package until the passage of the Wilson law, but now it is necessary to obtain a permit. Bottles of liquor imported and sold as received are original packages.

SNOW IN NEW YORK.

Three Inches Fall at Saratoga.

SARATOGO, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Snow lay to the depth of three inches in Greenfield, about two miles from here, yesterday morning.

The Mountains White.

AMPERSAND, SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Oct. 27.—From two to six inches of snow fell in the Adirondacks Friday night. This is the first snow this fall, and the mountains present a wintry aspect.

The Recount of Omaha.

WASHINGTON, Oct 27.—The census office officials said today that on account of the great mass of business now pending before the office, they have been unable to reach a conclusion on the application for a recount of Omaha. No formal investigation has yet been made of the alleged padding of the census figures there, but steps will be taken at an early date to dispose of the application.

Brutal Treatment of the Insane.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—J. M. Dougherty, who was indicted for the murder of Surgeon Lloyd, of the Flatbush insane asylum, Long Island, has written several letters to Secretary Noble, requesting that he be transferred to the St. Elizabeth asylum, near this city, alleging that he has been brutally threated while incarcerated in the Flatbush asylum.

At a Revolver's Muzzle.

DONGEVILLE, WIS., Oct. 27.—While walking from Picketts, on the Illinois Central road, to Browntown, a Chicago travelling man, whose name is unknown, was met by two men, who held him up at the muzzle of a revolver while they robbed him of $400 and a gold watch. The robbers have not been caught.

Ex-Governor Noble Dead.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Ex-Governor B. G. Noble, of Wisconsin, who was stricken with paralysis some days ago, died yesterday.

A PLEASANT AFFAIR.

Informal Reception at the Executive Mansion Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The reception at the executive mansion Saturday afternoon to the visiting delegates of the iron and steel convention was a pleasant affair. It was of an informal character, and the foreign delegates were surprised at the Republican simplicity which characterized it throughout. The Marine band was in attendance, and at 3 o'clock, to the air of "Hail to the Chief" the President and Mrs. Harrison led the way into the East room, where the delegates and their wives had assembled, drawn up in a semi-circle. The President's party, consisting of Secretary and Mrs. Windom, Attorney General and Mrs. Miller, Secretary and Mrs. Noble, Secretary and Mrs. Rusk, and Secretary Proctor and Mrs. Dimmick, formed a line on the left of the president and Mrs. Harrison. At the president's right was Major Ernst, of the army, in full uniform. The delegates then filed by, each being introduced by name by the president of the various organizations, composing the steel convention. President Harrison shook hands with each person present. The visitors passed along the line bowing to Mrs. Harrison and the others of the receiving party, and went out of the west door into the corridor, and scattered through the conservatory and other portions of the executive mansion, which was thrown open to their inspection. In this way a half hour was passed.

A pleasing incident of the reception was the playing of foreign airs by the Marine band, Professor Sousa, the leader, so timing them that when the English delegates were passing through the line, God save the Queen was rendered, and when the German delegates passed through the "Watch on the Rhine" was played, and American airs sounded through the building as the American delegates were greeted by the President. The East room was tastefully decorated with potted plants and evergreens. After leaving the Executive Mansion, the delegates visited the various points of interest about the city.

WOMAN BEATEN

BY BURGLARS WHO FORCE ENTRANCE TO HER HOUSE

And Attempt to Steal Her Money and Valuables—She Discovers Them and Resists Their Operations —She is Fatally Wounded.

READING, PA., Oct. 27.—Early Saturday morning two masked men entered the residence of Mrs. Amanda Drebler, a wealthy widow, residing on the outskirts of Lebanon, and demanded her money. She refused, when the set upon her with a knife and brutally stabbed her in ten places on her head, besides cutting her on her body and arms. The woman resisted and a terrible fight ensued, until finally, scared by her screams, the men dashed out of the window and escaped without getting her cash. The struggle with her assailants took place in Mrs. Doebler's sleeping room and this had the appearance of a regular slaughtering pen. The walls were covered with blood, the carpet torn up and the bed and floor red with blood. The woman is now in a critical condition and not expected to live many hours. The assailants have not yet been arrested

REBELLIOUS CONVICTS

Make Things Lively in the Jackson, Michigan, Penitentiary.

JACKSON, MICH., Oct. 27.—William Smith, a colored convict, choked convict Cafey in the prison blacksmith shop for some imaginary offense. On being ordered into the hall master's office Smith grabbed an iron sledge and smashed six iron working machines valued at $2,000. The wagon shops had to shut down in consequence. Smith was placed in a cell and yesterday taken out and the warden talked to him. Smith was rebellious, said they had treated him badly, and fought four keepers and the warden. He was placed in the solitary for six months. Before the Smith affair Convict Burke attempted to put out Foreman Boyle's eyes by pouring a gallon of green paint over his head as he came up the stairs. Boyle had reported Burke the day before for not doing his daily task.

PILFERING PREACHER.

A Pennsylvania Pastor Sent to Jail —He Weeps Bitterly.

READING, PA., Oct. 27.—Rev. Martin L. Fritich, for twenty-five years a respected minister of the Reformed denomination, during which time he was pastor of some of the largest congregations in Berks county, has been sentenced to three months in jail and to pay $10 fine and costs, amounting to $250, for stealing. Fritich was detected while pilfering small articles in a hardware store in this city several months ago. He gave up preaching after the detection of his crime. When the judge pronounced his sentence Fritisch wept bitterly.

Noble Will Refuse.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Secretary Noble did not go to the interior department Saturday, but remained at home, giving his entire attention to several important matters now pending before the department. It was confidently expected that the secretary would answer Mayor Grant's letter demanding a recount of the population of New York City, but the late arrival of Superintendent Porter at New York precluded this. It is understood that on Monday the secretary will send a letter to Mayor Grant denying the application.

"Hoo—yah—hee—boom—boar—Michigan—Michigan—ninety four," is the barbaric yell designated as the official screech of the several hundred 'varsity freshmen.

Muskrats along the lake shore are building large houses this winter with hot air furnaces, gas; bath and all modern conveniences. The old residents say that this is a sure sign of a long, cold winter.

It is said that there is practically no enforcement of the game law in the northern part of the state, and that deer are slaughtered without regard to the protection which the law aimed to throw around them.

The Grand lodge Independent Order Good Templars is holding its thirty-seventh annual session at Lansing. The report of the secretary shows a net gain in membership of 1,750, and that of the treasurer a balance of $233.86 in the treasury.

NOT JACK'S WORK.

The Latest London Murder is Not From the "Ripper.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The body of a woman, found murdered in the South Hampstead locality, shows the crime bears no resemblance to those committed by "Jack the Ripper," and a medical examination of the remains proves the woman did not belong to the White Chapel class from which the Ripper selected his victims. The body is that of a woman about thirty years old and was well clad. The throat had been cut and the skull fractured, and all the pockets in the clothing were emptied. A perambulator containing a blood-stained fur rug was found near by, which, it is supposed, was used to convey the body from the spot where the crime was committed to where it was found.

France Will Retaliate.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—The Figaro in a leader on the McKinley tariff says reprisals are easy. The question of retaliation is being examined with reference to American insurance companies. The business done by them in France amounts to 150,000,000 francs yearly. This large interest can and should be made amenable for the injury done French trade.

Crispi and Caprivi

Their Meeting Will Be of Importance.

ITALY WILL SEEK THE AID OF GERMANY

In Putting an End to the Austrian Cabals Against Italian Unity—An Insult to Von Moltke—News From the Strikers—Other Foreign Matters.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Advices from Rome state that the coming meeting between Chancellor Von Caprivi and Signor Crispi is regarded as of the greatest importance. Signor Crispi will, it is understood, endeavor to procure the powerful assistance of Germany to put an end to Austrian cabals against Italian unity. One of the things that Signor Crispi will have to contend against, however, and one not to be lightly regarded, either, is the feeling created in military and other circles in Berlin by the action of the Italian minister of war in prohibiting the general officers of the Italian army from presenting Count Von Moltke with a sword in honor of the venerable field marshal's 90th birthday. This act, which is regarded as an insult to Von Moltke, and through him the empire which showers honors upon him, has provoked a storm of criticism in Berlin of the severest character, and it will be a long time before the Italian government hears the last of it.

A dispatch from the Melbourne labor unions denies that the strike has collapsed. Other dispatches state that while the strikes still cause much inconvenience, the supply of free labor is increasing and receives ample police and military protection. The inter-colonial trade is going on almost as before the strike, but in the more remote towns and mining centres the work is as yet at a standstill.

President Manor, of the London Dockers' Union, proposes, as a solution of the trouble at the docks, that vessels be unloaded on the co-operative method, the men charging a lump sum for the work and dividing it between them. The proposal does not meet with favor among the dock laborers.

The Plymouth ship owners have won the day in regard to employing non-union workmen. They refused to bind themselves to a bargain to employ only unionists and the attempt to create a strike has failed.

A pastoral letter has been issued by the Catholic bishops of Ireland on the condition of the country as the result of the failure of the potato crop. The letter declares that if the crisis is not dealt with immediately and effectively the results will be fatal and far-reaching in the future.

The Czar's Uncle Sick.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 27.—A bulletin issued regarding the condition of the Grand Duke Nicholas, uncle of the czar, says that since he was taken to Alupka, in Crimea, he has been subject to convulsions and loss of memory. The action of his heart is feeble. Temperature is 38 degrees centigrade, pulse 90.

Balfour as a "Mixer."

How Does Canada Feel?

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The Times says: "Should congress offer Canada reciprocity we cannot blame Canada if they succumb to the temptation. But that seems unlikely. The McKinley act has had precisely the reverse effect on Canada to that which the Americans intended.

Death-Blow to the Strike.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Oct. 27.—Miners of Lithgow collieries will resume work Monday. This means a death blow to the strike.

Arbitration.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—State department officers say the published statement that the Behring sea fisheries question has been submitted to arbitration, is untrue, as the arbitrators have not yet been selected. Correspondence is still passing between the United States and Great Britain on the subject, and a conclusion is not yet in sight.

Diamonds in a Distillery.

CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 27.—Five thousand dollars worth of diamonds in a satchel, lost Thursday night in an omnibus by Mrs. G. E. Benson, of Montreal, have been found in the chute of Lynch's distillery on the north side. The thief evidently placed them there when frightened by an approaching policeman.

Maryland's Population.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The population of the state of Maryland, as shown by the census office is 1,040,303, an increase over the census of 1880 of 105,360.

Scrofula

Is the most ancient and most general of all diseases. Scarcely a family is entirely free from it, while thousands everywhere are its suffering slaves. Hood's Sarsaparilla has had remarkable success in curing every form of scrofula. The most severe and painful running sores, swellings in the neck or goitre, humor in the eyes, causing partial or total blindness, yield to the powerful effects of this medicine. It thoroughly removes every trace of impurity from the blood and builds up the weakened system.

"My little daughter's life was saved, as we believe, by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before she was six months old she had 7 running scrofula sores. One physician advised the amputation of one of her fingers, to which we refused assent. When we began giving her Hood's Sarsaparilla, a marked improvement was noticed and by a continued use of it her recovery was complete. And she is now, being seven years old, strong and healthy." B. ESTATE OF HUGH HEANEY.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 20th day of October in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

Present, Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate

In the matter of the estate of Hugh Heaney, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Alexander Richard, administrator upon the estate of said deceased, alleging that the funeral expenses and debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration thus far incurred have been fully paid and that he is now ready to close said estate and to render his final administration account, and praying that said account may be allowed, and that the residue of said estate may be assigned and distributed to those entitled thereto according to the statutes in such case made and provided, that he may be discharged and his bond cancelled and for such other order and decree as to this court shall seem proper.

It is ordered, That Monday, the 17th day of November next, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

BLAINE

Joins McKinley in the Canton District.

TOGETHER THEY ADDRESS A VERY LARGE ASSEMBLAGE.

Summary of Mr. Blaine's Speech in the Interest of McKinley's Candidacy.

JAMES G. BLAINE.

CANTON, O., Oct. 27.—Hon. James G. Blaine and party arrived in this city at noon Saturday. A special committee met the distinguished party at Alliance. Upon arrival, Mr. Blaine was escorted to the residence of Hon. William McKinley, jr., whose guest he will be while in the city, by the reception committee of 100 carriages. Excursion trains brought strangers to the city to the number of about 15,000 from all directions. The city was gaily decorated in honor of the distinguished guest, a heavy rain, however, soon defaced their attractiveness and seriously interfered with the contemplated parade for which special preparation had been made. The rain also necessitated a change in the programme and the mass meeting in the fair grounds was abandoned. At 3 o'clock Mr. Blaine and Major McKinley addressed a tremendous audience in the Tabernacle, while Congressman Dalzell addressed an overflow audience in the opera house.

During Mr. Blaine's speech, a seat in the gallery broke down, and its occupants were pretty well shaken up, but were not seriously hurt. The crash created intense excitement, and the utmost effort was required to prevent a panic. One man whose name was not learned jumped from a second story window, receiving painful injuries.

Mr. John C. Dueber, the millionaire watch manufacturer, presided, and introduced Mr. Blaine, who was received with shouts of enthusiasm.

Mr. Blaine said: "MR. CHAIRMAN AND FELLOW CITIZENS OF OHIO—The contest that is now waging for membership in the next United States Congress is not properlp a contest between the Republican and Democratic parties. It is a contest between protectionists and free traders. It is a root of the matter as to the national property, end on that issue I think we can afford to forget party lines while we settle the question in favor of home interest, good wages, and a sound prosperity."

Mr. Blaine referred to the speech of Mr. Carl Schurz delivered in Boston last week, and pronounced it a very able speech on the free trade side, saying: "Like all free traders, Mr. Schurz goes back for the golden era of American prosperity to the tariff of 1846."

In answering Mr. Schurz assertions, Mr. Blaine used the argumtnts that he employed in the North American Review controversy last January with Mr. Gladstone. He claimed that the prosperity between 1846 and 1856 was due to the Mexican war, the famine in Ireland, the discovery af gold in California, and the revolutions in Europe, Mr. Blaine asserted that if like circumstances as convulsed the world in 1846 could be produced today, Americans would all quit talking tariff and go to supplying the vacancy thus created. In 1856, the war in Europe came to an end and so did the prosperity under the tariff of 1846. This with the panic of 1857, left the people beggars.

No one ever heard of a protective tariff breaking down and a free trade tariff coming to the people's relief. Five times the people of the United States have tried a free trade tariff and five times it has been a failure. We cannot again dare to experiment or take the dreadful chances of the effects of free trade on our industries, where there are millions of mouths to be fed. An accident now would hazzard vast interests that would not put the country where it stands again for ten penitential years thereafter. Well Mr. Schurz says that the Republican party could not even try to have reciprocity without getting into trouble. Now the free traders have been telling us always, if you take their theory, that we would have a new era in this country. On that form of settlement I will not differ from them. They say that it would be an era of prosperity. Well, the last congress, or this congress rather, at the last session concluded to adopt a new policy which effects a certain phase of our exports and imports. They looked at South America and they found we were receiving from those people several hundred millions and not getting back anything like a third part of it, and the question was shall we repeal the duty on sugar and give that to those people in addition to the coffee and the hides, and the dye and the rubber, and the thousand other things, or shall we ask those men, as the boys would say, to play fair. If we give you our markets for for a pound, let us into yours for a shilling. Oh, no, Mr. Schurz says that won't do at all. You must resort to free trade. I would like to ask Mr. Schurz before this Ohio audience how free trade is going to let us into their markets with our markets. When we wake them up to the necessity of the situation I am sure they will want this just as we do, and that two nations dealing with each other, fairly honestly and liberally, so that the advantage shall not be on the side of the one man, or on the side of the one nation—that is reciprocity. They say it is a complex problem. I will tell you how complex, strange and mysterious reciprocity is. It is just as strange and mysterious as if a Stark county farmer brought up 100 bushels of wheat into Canton, got his money for it, bought his supper at a store, and went back in the afternoon. That is a mysterious process, isn't it? That is very difficult to understand, and yet I am sure that Brazil and all the South American states understand it, the moment it was mentioned, and I have not seen an approval from any free trader in the land; I mean an approval that stood the test of three months, because when reciprocity first started all free traders said: "Why, that is very well." At that time they thought it was going to divide the protectionists in congress, and they urged it very hard as long as they thought that there might be some division, as long as they could believe it would lead to a disturbance in—

Mr. Blaine did not finish this sentence, as the crowd in the gallery at his left hand became excited and started half panic stricken for the exit. Mr. Blaine and Hon. William Walter Phelps discovered at a quick glance that the gallery was in no danger of failing, and both shouted to the crowd and waved their hands to reassure the excited throng. When quiet was restored Mr. Blaine resumed his remarks as follows:

Now, as I was saying, these free traders thought they heard a little crack; they thought the Republican party would be stamped. Now the Republicans are not frightened by a crack. The ranks closed up and the reciprocity provision was adopted by the Republican congress. Just as soon as the free traders found that reciprocity could not be used to divide the Republican party they were all against it. Well, it is never wise to predict either way before an event. It is never wise for the free traders to proclaim it a failure at present. I do not propose to say anything about its success. We are given a year in which to try it. Just lets wait one year and see what can be done. I am not here to boast of it, but I am here to condemn the course of the free traders, who, as long as it promised to divide, protectionists were in favor of it, but who are dead against it the moment they find protectionists will not divine your duty. Gentlemen, if I may suggest, it is to elect a protectionist to congress. That is your interest; that is the interest of every manufacturing district in the country, and I appeal to this district, not only on the grounds of its interest, but the interest of your doorsill and fireside. I appeal to every man in Stark county, and in the three other counties that make up the district, I appeal both to your interest and to your pride to send Major McKinley back again, that he may be useful, not merely to this district, not to his state alone, but to the United States."

After Mr. Blaine had finished Major McKinley was introduced and spoke at length. During his speech, in referring to Mr. Blaine, he said: "I drove forty miles to get here to meet the great chieftain of the Republican party; they said he would not come here, but he is here."

General Leggett, of Cleveland, then spoke briefly, and after he had finished, Rev. D. H. Mullen, pastor of the wealthy M. E. church was introduced and spoke briefly advising his hearers to vote for Major McKinley.

This closed the meeting at the Tabernacle and Mr. Blaine and Major McKinley proceeded to the opera house where Congressman John Dalzell, of Pittsburg, was addressing a large auaudience. Here Mr. Blaine spoke briefly complimenting Major McKinley highly. Mr. Blaine and his party left for Chicago Saturday night.

TRAIN ROBBERS.

TWO COW BOYS HOLD UP THREE PULLMAN COACHES.

They Enter the Coaches and Compel The Porter and onductor to Fasten the Doors—They Rob the Passengers and Skip.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 27.—The Sante Fe passenger train was held up and robbed near San Antonio south of this city. Two cowboys entered the sleeper and after compelling the conductor and porter to fasten the doors of the car, began robbing the passengers. When they had gone through three coaches, securing about $250 and several watches the train started to pull out, when the robbers jumped off. One of the men was captured in Sorocco and is now in jail. The company has offered $500 reward for the capture of the other.

SENATOR SHERMAN

Addresses a Large Political Meeting at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, PA., Oct. 27.—Twenty-eight hundred enthusiasts greeted Senator John Sherman, of Ohio, at Old City hall, in this city, Saturday night. Mr. Sherman was introduced by William Martin, ex-secretary of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers, who presided at the meeting. The reception accorded Mr. Sherman when he stepped to the front, amounted to an ovation. Mr. Sherman stated that the issue of the day was the levying of taxes. He was profuse in his praise of the course pursued by Speaker Reed, and expressed confidence that Mr. Reed's policy will soon be adopted by all legislative bodies. He spoke at length upon the tariff and McKinley bill, claiming and endeavored to prove its tendency to cheapen articles of daily consumption.

Mr, Sherman spoke very plainly against the third party, claiming that no good had ever come from the Prohibition party and never could. Referring to the Republican candidate for governor, Senator Sherman said that had he the doing of it, he would have nominated his friend General Hastings; but in view of the fact that Delamater was the regular party nominee, he advised his hearers to support him.

SCHAEFER AND SLOSSON.

Another Championship Billiard Match Arranged.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Arrangements for a championship billiard match between Schaefer and Slosson have been completed. It will be a fourteen inch balk line game, 800 points up, and will be played in Chickering hall on December 1, for $500 a side and the net gate receipts.

Suicided for Shame.

ERIE, PA., Oct. 27.—Lizzie Salowa, aged 16, daughter of a prominent contractor, committed suicide. She left her home at midnight against her parents wishes with her brother-in-law George Blum, to go to his home at Meadville. Her father had him arrested at the depot. The girl disappeared and was found drowned in the bay. Sensational developments are expected.

JESUS ACCUSED.

LESSON V, FOURTH QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, NOV. 2.

Text of the Lesson, Luke xxii, 54-71. Commit Verses 66-70—Golden Text, Isa. liii, 5—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

54. "Then took they Him, and led Him, and brought Him into the high priest's house. And Peter followed afar off." John says that they took Him and bound Him, and led Him away to Annas first (John xviii, 12, 13). Matthew and Mark both say that then all the disciples forsook Him and fled, but John adds that Peter and another disciple (no doubt himself) afterward followed (Matt. xxvii, 56; Mark xiv, 50; John xviii, 15). When Jesus surrendered Himself to them He asked that the disciples might be allowed to go their way (John xviii, 8), but yet by their forsaking Him what became of their assertion that they would die with Him rather than deny Him (Mark xiv, 31)?

55. "And when they had kindled a fire in the midst of the hall, and were set down together, Peter sat down among them." This is surely a down grade. For a few verses now we leave our Lord in the hands of His captors, and consider Peter being sifted. And what a contrast between the disciple and his Master! The one faithful unto death, the other in the company of those who hated Him and were seeking His life.

56. "But a certain maid beheld him as he sat by the fire, and earnestly looked upon him and said, This man was also with Him." We are observed when we least think it, and by those whom we think see nothing. Let a person go from home, and being among strangers, and unknown (as he thinks), let him do the least thing that he would not do if at home, and it will surely be carried abroad and at some time brought home to him. But Peter was here accused of nothing wrong, he was simply pointed out by this maid as a follower of Jesus, and judging from his previous confessions in Matt. xvi, 16; John vi, 68, 69, we would have expected him to stand by his colors and rejoice to own Jesus as his Lord. But he was alone now and in the midst of scoffers. How have you acted under similar circumstances?

57. "And he denied Him, saying, Woman, I know Him not." Did you act that way when you found yourself among the scoffers? Or if you did not openly say that you were not a Christian, did your silence when He was ridiculed, or the Bible sneered at, give consent? Or do you always by word and deed proclaim yourself on the Lord's side?

58. "And after a little while another saw him and said, Thou art also one of them. And Peter said, Man, I am not." Another opportunity of confessing Christ is given to this poor erring man, but again he loses it and adds sin to sin.

59. "And about the space of one hour after another confidently affirmed, saying, Of a truth this fellow also was with Him, for he is a Galilean."

60. "And Peter said, Man I know not what thou sayest. And immediately, while he yet spake, the cock crew." Matthew says that he now began to curse and swear (Matt. xxvi, 74). What a sink of iniquity is the heart of man! How desperately wicked!

61. "And the Lord turned, and looked upon Peter. And Peter remembered the word of the Lord, how He had said unto him, Before the cock crow thou shalt deny me thrice." The Lord had seen and heard it all, and no doubt it grieved Him to His heart, and Peter had added to His much sorrow, but He loved His sinning one through it all, and this look now turned upon him must have been full of enderest love, mingled with deepest sadness.

62. "And Peter went out and wept bitterly." That loving look pierced his heart and brought him to his senses.

63. "And the men that held Jesus mocked Him and smote Him." We now turn from Peter, who failed, to Peter's Lord, who faileth never. Peter they only spoke to and accused of being with Jesus; but Jesus they mock and even smite.

64. "And when they had blindfolded Him they struck him on the face, and asked him, saying, Prophesy, who is it that smote thee?" Lose not sight of the fact that this ill treated one is God manifest in the flesh. The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, the mighty one of Jacob, the only Redeemer of men, and thus is His treatment from those whom He came to save. Not for Israel only did He suffer thus, but for you too, dear reader, and for every scholar in your class.

65. "And many other things blasphemously spake they against Him." Buffeted, mocked, spoken against, but He fails not.

66. "And as soon as it was day, the elders of the people, and the chief priests and the scribes came together, and led Him unto their council." The fearful night had passed and the more fearful day had come.

67, 68. "Art thou the Christ? tell us. And He said unto them, If I tell you, ye will not believe; and if I also ask you, ye will not answer me nor let me go." He knew that they meant to kill Him, and that their question was an idle one. He knew that His hour had come to be offered up, and that this was the way to the cross.

69. "Hereafter shall the Son of Man sit on the right hand of the power of God." Matthew adds, "And come in the clouds of heaven" (xxvi, 64). He has not yet been brought before the Roman governor. He has been before Annas and Caiaphas, and now He is still before the Jewish council, and He reminds them of the words of their prophet Daniel (vii, 13) concerning the coming of the Son of Man in glory.

70. "Then said they all, Art Thou then the Son of God? And He said unto them, Ye say that I am." He acknowledges that it is even so. He is the Son of Man and the Son of God, the Divine human Messiah, the God man to sit in due time on David's throne. He has by word and deed proved Himself to be the one foretold by the prophets, and now they are by their conduct fulfilling other prophecies concerning Him, as Peter afterward told them on the day of Pentecost (Acts ii, 22, 23). They will not believe it now, but some will later, and many never. Whosoever will may. All unbelievers must perish.

71. "And they said, What need we any further witness? for we ourselves have heard of his own mouth." So because He said He was what He truly was, and what God the Father had on two occasions said from heaven that He was (Matt. iii, 17; xvii, 5), He has in their judgment committed an unpardonable sin and must be put to death. Well, let us not wonder if to this day the wrong is often uppermost and right goes to the wall; it will be so till He come. But let us overcome by the Blood of the Lamb and by the word of our testimony, not loving our lives unto the death.

They all Failed.

The following letter from Mr. W. A. Thomson, of Columbus, Wis., is peculiarly interesting: "My wife," say he, "has been treated for her head, stomach and nervous prostration by three doctors in New York, two in Chicago, one in Philadelphia, one in Cincinnati, and at the large institute in Buffalo for 16 months. They all failed. But one bottle of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine helped her wonderfully." This should be used in all headaches, backaches, changes of life, nervous disturbances, fits, rheumatism, etc. Ask at Baker and Hall's drug store for a free trial bottle and Dr. Miles' new book on the Nerves and Heart.

—Aching teeth are an abomination and a nuisance. Have them filled at Dr. B. F. Snyder's dental office before they commence to ache, thereby saving much valuable time, trouble, pain expense.

THE LADIES DELIGHTED.

The pleasant affect and the perfect safety with which ladies may use the liquid fruit laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions make it their favorite remedy. It is pleasing to the eye and to the taste, gentle, yet effectual in acting on the kidneys, liver and bowes.

Physical Slavery.

We are all free American citizens, enjoying our personal liberty; but most of us are in physical slavery, suffering from scrofula, salt rheum or some other form of impure blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great blood purifier which dissolves the bonds of disease, gives health and perfe lib- erty.

Beauty is said to be only skin deep but to possess and preserve a beautiful skin, pure, vigorous blood is essential. This is best secured by taking Aye r's Sarsaparilla in small but frequent doses. It is the most reliable of blood-purifiers.

As a family medicine, Ayer's Pills excel all others. They are suited to ev ery age and, being sugar-coated, are easy to take. Though searching and through in effect, they are mild and pleasant in action, and their use is atended with no injurious results.

If that lady at the lecture the other night only knew how nicely Hall's Hair Renewer would remove dandruff and improve the hair she would buy a bottle.

Of course it's pleasant to travel for your health, if you can afford the time and money, if you can't just stay at home and use Dr. Craig's Kidney and Liver Cure. It is infallible.

M. L. Blair, Alderman, 5th Ward. Scranton, Pa., stated Nov, 9, '83: He had used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for sprains, burns, cuts, bruises and rheumatism. Cured every time.

THE SUN

FOR 1891.

Some people agree with THE SUN'S opinions about men and things, and some people don't. But everybody likes to get hold of the newspaper which is never dull and never afraid to speak its mind.

Democrats know that for twenty years THE SUN has fought in the front line for Democratic principles, never wavering or weakening in its loyalty to the true interests of the party it serves with fearless intelligence and disinterested vigor. At times opinions have differed as to the best means of accomplishing the common purpose, for which not THE SUN'S fault it has seen further into the millstone.

Eighteen hundred and ninety-one will be a great year in American politics, and everybody should read THE SUN.

WILHELM'S IMPROVED CREAMERY CAN.

Unequalled for private Dairies of from one cow to full size Creamery. $5.00 will buy FOUR 3-GAL. CANS making a capacity of 12 gallons of milk, and will PRODUCE ALL THE CREAM FROM 4 TO 8 HOURS, in a vat, tub, or any receptacle the farmer may choose, holding water from 10 to 14 inches in depth, and at a temperature from 40 to 60 degrees cold. IT MAKES A PERFECT CREAM and combines the advantage of deep setting, rapid cooling, protecting the milk from all impurities of the atmosphere which so quickly taints cream. Also preventing souring by thunder storms, from flies, insects, dust, and all bad odors, thus preserving both cream and milk, clean and sweet. Over 200,000 in actual use in the U. S. One setting of milk is all that is needed to prove the merit of the can. Usual size of can, 3-gal., price $1.25. A liberal discount on orders of one dozen Cans and upwards. Write for descriptive circular and testimonials. I also make a specialty of building Creameries and furnishing all the best improved machinery and apparatus. JOHN WILHELM, Wooster, Wayne Co. O.

C. L. Osgood, Samaria, Mich. says—The Milk Cans I bought of you give perfect satisfaction. We can make just as good and just as much butter in the most unfavorable season of the year by the use of your Cans as at any other time of the year. I have 4 Cans. Have used them 3 years and would not be without them.

Mrs. Mary Arner arrived Monday from Hastings and will spend the winter with her sister, Mrs. Maurice Kelley.

Mrs. A. J. Sutton, Mrs. Maurice Kelley and Mrs. Daniel Linn attended the W. C. T. U. county convention held at Addison Wednesday.

Remember the L. C. S. will be held at the home of Mrs. Ella Waring on Friday evening of the present week, Refreshments will be served and 10 cents pays the bill.

Ambrose C. Arner left Monday in company with Daniel Felton, of Manceiona, as advertising agents for James Pyle, of N. Y, to advertise the Pearline washing compound.

A. R. Arner, who has been relieving the agent and operator on the T. A. A. & N. M. R. R. for the past three months, arrived home Saturday for an indefinite stay.

Misses Hattie Davis and Carrie Jackson, of Dundee, were the guests of Belle Barlow Friday and Saturday, also enjoying the Aus der Ohe concert at Tecumseh on Friday evening.

Those who failed to hear Miss Adele Aus der Ohe, the renowned pianiste, Friday evening—the first entertainment of the Tecumseh Lecture and Musical Course, missed one of the finest musical entertainments ever given in Tecumseh.

The attendance at the Library reading circle on Wednesday evening of last week was very good and the program passed off very pleasantly. The circle will meet but once in four weeks. Their next meeting will be held Nov. 26th; Ed. Palmer and Clara Temple committee to furnish the program.

MANCHESTER MATTERS.

Nicholas Stringham is sick.

George Heimendinger has bought a Eureka windmill.

Addis Berger of Francisco was on the streets last Friday afternoon.

The German school connected with Emanuel's church began Monday.

Fred Hall will teach in the stone school house the coming winter.

Mrs. Wallace of Saline is in town making her son, Mr. B., a long visit.

Samuel Davis and wife of New Carlisle, Ind., visited friends here last week.

B. G. English raised a Burbank Seedling potato that weighs three pounds.

Miss Maud Lapham begins her school in district No. 2, fractional in Franklin, Nov. 10th.

Report says that John McMahon has rented his farm to Michael Wurster and is going to California.

The S. W. Farmers' Club meets at the residence of James Weir in Bridgewater Friday of this week.

Dr. E. N. Palmer of Brooklyn passed through Manchester on Thursday last, on his return from Bridgewater.

There is to be an entertainment by a violinist Monday evening, Nov. 10th, at Arbeiter Hall, for the benefit of our Union School.

The town board meets to-day to take action in regard to the proposed road to run centrally through Section 10 from north to south.

J. H. Kingsley and Co. are putting in a furnace for E. B. Clarkson, of Jackson, in his store in Manchester, now occupied by Geo. H. Kempf.

Do you notice how, in foggy, wet or changeable weather the breathing becomes disturbed? The use of Old Saul's Catarrh Cure remedies this condition. Price 25 cents, sold everywhere

"In time of Peace, prepare for war," you may not be sick just now, but make yourself sure with a bottle of Dr. Craig's Kidney and liver Cure.

LAKE RIDGE LACONICS.

A daughter of W. A. Philips is quite sick with inflamation of the lungs.

Lenna Miller, who has had a tough pull of typhoid fever, is convalescing.

The fall term of school closed last week Friday. The winter term commenced Nov. 3d with Ed Palmer, of Ridgeway, at the helm.

Henry Karcher has rented and moved onto the Houseman farm east of Ridgeway. Lon Sisson has moved into the house that Karcher vacated.

Arthur Hoagland was severely kicked in the abdomen by a horse last Wednesday. He is now able to turn over in bed, with hopes of recovery.

Grandma Easlick was surprised by friends the 23th inst., it being her 81st birthday; and in connection with other tokens presented with a $12 rocking chair.

Abe Harrington is about closing out his store business. He says that he has bnt little custom except on rainy days, and that is mostly politics. Strange that protectionists will not support an infant industry right at home where goods of the same quality are as cheap as elsewhere, who are anxious to help gigantic monopolies, the money power and the liquor traffic. But such is life. Lake Ridge postoffice pays a salary of $25 a year with a daily mail and a clerk to wait upon customers the year around. Still many patrons go right by the office and post their mail at the market places. Capt Allen agreed to see that provision was made for such postoffices, but he forgot it; at least a bill never materialized. He did not forget to help the railroads procure a bill to tunnel Detroit river which is estimated to cost $300,000,000; nor did he forget to vote against the free coinage of silver and the substitute, which expires next spring. There are many strange things.

CAMBRIDGE CLIPPINGS.

Chas. Cole is on the sick list again.

A. T. Graves went to Adrian last Friday.

E. B. Culver and daughter Ida went to Jackson last Saturday.

Fresh fish have been scattered around through here by two different wagons this fall.

A. P. Coddington gave the Cambridge people a talk last Friday night from the Prohibition standpoint.

Prof. Sill, President of the State Normal, will fill Rev. Mr. Eichbaum's place in the Episcopal church next Sunday.

The ladies' church society of the Episcopal church held a social at the residence of F. A. Dewey Thursday of last week.

Last Thursday night some one broke into Marvin Ladd's blacksmith shop at Springville and stole two chisels. From there they went to Jessup's store and broke in there and secured about 17 cents in spare change which happened to be in the postoffice till, and disturbed nothing else. The same night some one broke into the store of C. H. Dewey & Son and pried open three drawers which were locked, but contained nothing but papers of no account to them. In the postoffice till they secured about $2. They also took a handful of cigars to have a good old smoke over their night's success. No clew to the robbers.

I. O. G. T. DISTICT MEETING.

Notice is hereby given to subordinate lodges of the I. O. G. T. in the counties of Lenawee and Monroe, that the next session of Excelsior District Lodge No. 7 will be held with Clinton Lodge No. 22, I. O. G. T., on Tuesday, November 18th, at 10 a. m. FRANKLIN FACTS.

The White Rose Club at L. E. Taylor's Saturday.

Miss Ula and Wallace Burroughs return to their home in Athens this week after an extended visit with Franklin friends.

In the HERALD of—(some date or other in the distant past)—the item that Minnie Wisner received $70 per month for teaching in Nebraska should read, $40 per month.

Who says real estate is dull in Franklin? Recently Brunson Knapp bought of Frank Larnard the old Fox farm, which he has now sold to A. D. Hunt and Walter Osborne. Mr. Hunt takes the north one-half, with the buildings, and Watson Hunt intends to move into the house as soon as it is vacant. Mr. Larnard has made a trip to Kansas, where he owns a fine farm, and intends shortly to move his family there to reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisk Beebe and Lily returned home from Nebraska Saturday. Mr. Beebe has been West ever since the 4th of last August, caring for his brother Banker. He reports his broken limb better, but a cough has set in and the doctor as well as himself is apprehensive about his lungs. Mrs. Fisk Beebe joined her husband in Nebraska about three weeks since. Mr. Beebe says the weather was very fine up to the time he came away, but no rain to speak of since he went there and so dry it is impossible to plow. Potatoes were shipped in from the irrigated lands of Utah and readily sold for $1 per bu., retailing at $1.25 to $1.50.

NORMAL NOTES.

Another grist of new students will come in this week as it is the last week of the first ten weeks' term.

The seniors who have been teaching in the model school this first ten weeks will be assisted by a new corps that has been detailed for duty the next ten weeks.

The Cleary Business College and Normal athletic associations held field-day exercises on the fair ground, Saturday, Nov. 1st. About $70 in prizes were donated by the business men of the town and the boys did their best to win them.

The first "Public of the year was held in Normal Hall, Friday evening, Oct. 31st. Rousing speeches, followed by campaign quartette and octette songs, were delivered by advocates of Women's Rights, Union Labor, Prohibition, Republican party and Democratic party. It is needless to say the Prohibition speaker carried away the laurels. He had something to talk about. Hence he could talk.

Rev. Gunsolus filled his appointment on the lecture course Monday evening, Oct. 27th. His subject was "Jerome Savonrola" and a better lecture has not been heard at the Normal in some time. By his pleasing address, commanding oratory and vivid word-picturing the speaker held the best attention of his audience for nearly two hours. The next on the course will be the Boston Symphony Club, Nov. 10th.

TIPTON TOPICS.

The M. E. society will hold a cake and coffee social at the home of Geo. Poucher, Friday evening, Nov. 7th. All are cordially invited.

Last Friday occurred Miss Lydia Simmons' 21st birthday and on that pleasant evening a goodly number of friends gathered to help her celebrate t event. She received some very choice presents, among which was a band ring from her Sunday School friends. At a late hour they withdrew, wishing her many happy returns of the day.

The West Franklin Farmers' Club will meet at the home of Mr. Clarence Cook, Friday evening, Nov. 21st, '90.

The following program will be given:

Music—F. Gray and Nellie Smith.
Dec.—James Osborn.
Song—M. D. Alexander.
Dec.—Arthur Joseph.
Music—Jennie Pawson.
Select Read.—Clarence Cook.
Chip basket—W. Crittenden.
Music—Frank Gray and Nellie Smith.
Rec.—Ruby Cook.
Essay—Mrs. John Osborn.
Dec.—Claude Crittenden.
Music—Mrs. J. Keeney.
Paper—Nellie Smith.

Question for discussion—Which one of the three should be most prominent in society—intelligence, integrity, or industry, not discarding the other two?

Committee on program for next meeting—Mr. and Mrs. James Osborn, Mr. John Osborn.

Every body knows scrofula to be a disease of the blood, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best remedy for all blood diseass.

WOMAN'S INTUITION.

Nearly Always Right in her Judgment in Regard to Common Things.

An old gentleman over seventy, came into the city from his farm, without his overcoat. The day turned chilly and he was obliged to forego his visit to the fair.

To a friend who remonstrated with him for going away from home thus unprepared, he said; "I thought it was going to be warm; my wife told me to take my overcoat, but I wouldn't. Women have more sense than men anyway."

A frank admission.

Women's good sense is said to come from intuition; may it not be that they are more close observers of little things. One thing is certain, they are apt to strike the nail on the head, in all of the ordinary problems of life, more frequently than the lords of creation.

"According to Dr. Alice Bennett, who recently read a paper on Bright's disease before the Pennsylvania State Medical Society, persons subject to billious attacks and sick headaches, who have crawling sensations, like the flowing of water in the head, who are 'tired all the time' and have unexplained attacks of sudden weakness, may well be suspected of dangerous tendencies in the direction of Bright's disease."

The veteran newspaper correspondent, Joe Howard, of the New York Press, in noting this statement, suggests: "possibly Alice is correct in her diagnosis, but why dosen't she give some idea of treatment? I know a man who has been 'tired all the time' for ten years. Night before last he took two doses of calomel and yesterday he wished he hadn't."

A proper answer is found in the following letter of Mrs. Davis, wife of Rev. Wm. J. Davis, of Basil, O., June 21st, 1890:

"I do not hesitate to say that I owe my life to Warner's Safe Cure. I had a constant hemorrhage from my kidneys for more than five months. The physicians could do nothing for me. My husband spent hundreds of dollars and I was not relieved. I was under the care of the most eminent medical men in the stute. The hemorrhage ceased before I had taken one bottle of the safe cure. I can safely and do cheerfully recommend it to all who are sufferers from kidney troubles.

SPRINGVILLE SIFTINGS

Prof. Sill of Ypsilanti will occupy the Episcopal pulpit at the Junction next Sabbath.

Cambridge S. S. Institute will be held at the M. E. Church Nov. 8th.

Groger Hall is nearly completed and will be occupied Saturday evening by the Debating club.

The Reed-Alger combination at Adrian was attended by a majority of the Republicans in this vicinity, none prizing the privilege more than patriotic Mrs. Jessup, who enjoyed a hearty hand-shake with the renowned Speaker.

Thursday night the general store of C. E. Jessup was broken open and entered by robbers, who obtained two cents. A considerable amount in close proximity to the money drawer was undiscovered.

The members of the Farmers' Club were pleasantly entertained at the home of Will Raven Nov. 1. Themes discussed were: Less work and more reading for women, and the aim of farmers' clubs. The broader culture and less work theory of course prevailed and the social features were decided to be the main objects of such organizations. Presumably the farmers' financial interests are considered safe in the hands of McKinley. The next meeting will be held at C. A. Blackmar's Dec. 6, Mrs. Marshall Reed furnishing the principal paper.

Life is Misery.

To thousands of people who have the taint of scrofula in their blood. The agonies caused by the dreadful running sores and other manifestations of this disease are beyond descr ptions. There is no other remedy equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla for scrofula, salt rheum and every form of blood disease It is reasonably sure to benefit all who give it a fair trial. Be sure to get Hood's.

The consciousness of having a remedy at hand for croup, pneumonia, sore throat, and sudden colds, is very consoling to a parent. With a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, one feels, in such cases, a sense of security nothing else can give.

This page of the HERALD goes to press before the result of the election is known. Full election returns up to Thursday noon will be found on the 4th page.

The importers of New York city have taken steps to test the validity of the McKinley tariff bill. Most people have considered it a bad law and the question now arises whether it is a law at all.

President Gates, of Amherst, is evidently another of those college chaps who don't know anything about practical political economy. What does he mean by calling attention to "the blundering hand that has reached in among our delicate wheels of taxation machinery, and set them all wrong."

Where the McKinley bill helps one it injures ten thousand. It makes no claim to justice in its distribution of benefits. It taxes the poor to increase the wealth of the rich. It makes the workingman's family a greater burden to him, but offers him no compensation. Since slavery was abolished, this Government has sustained no system as cruel, as oppressive, as inequitable and as unexcusable as the new tariff.—Utica Observer.

A Herald special from Indianapolis says: The lounge manufacturers of this city held a meeting Saturday night and unanimosly decided that prices should be raised. It was said that Brussels, velvets and other kinds of carpets had advanced materially in price under the McKinley bill, as well as other material used in the manufacture of lounges, and they could not sell at the old prices. The trade will be notified at once of the advance and the price list will be arranged at another meeting.

This, from the Alta California, contains a whole sermon in a nut shell: The Republicans carried Wyoming because Congress permitted the Mormon vote. The Republicans carry Idaho because Congress forbade the vote. The Mormons of Idaho are the same as the Mormons of Wyoming so far as Mormanism goes, but the Idaho Mormons are Democrats while the Wyoming Mormons are Republicans, and the same Congress disfranchised Democratic, Mormons and enfranchised Republican Mormons. Net result, four Republican Senators. In this way does the grand old party manifest its devotion to the principle of equality, a free ballot and a fair count.

No protected interest doubts that it will profit by the raised rates of the tariff. It is equally undeniable, as already appears, that prices will be generally increased. But how is the tariff to raise the wages of those who must pay the increased prices? Will the interests which are to profit most largely raise the wages of their workers, or are their workers to get their share of profit by reflecting that except for the tariff they might be receiving the pauper wages of Europe? If that be a sound argument, it was as sound last month before the tariff became a law. But if the tariff be their protection against low wages, how is it that this month the higher tariff lowers wages by heightening the price of necessaries? Unless wages are raised, where is the advantage of wage-earners in the highter tariff, and how can it be truly said to be passed in their interest?—Harper's Weekly.

Mr. Lowell has been savagely criticized in certain quarters for his estimate of Grover Cleveland. Here is an extract from a speech made at a dinner in New York the other night by Mr. Depew:

"If I were asked to name the most forceful character in American life, the most forceful character in American life, the man who best represents the energy, the unswerving determination and the courage of the true American; the man who knows duty, and it alone, when public service commands it; the man who wars in war and is for peace in peace, I would name Gen. W. T. Sherman. But if I am to name the typical American, the man who loves and believes in his country beyond everything else; the man who, determining once in what direction his duty leads, cannot be swerved from the path—the man who is doggedly persistent in what he believes to be right—the man who thinks not of self, but of his country and its needs, I would name Grover Cleveland."

Perhaps those who object to Mr. Lowell's idea had better study Mr. Depew's.

THE WOMEN ARE INDIGNANT.

The Gentle Sex Much Troubled by the Increased McKinley Prices. Some Amusing Experiences of Dry Goods Men with their Customers.

"If McKinley has an ambition to be President he will have to realize it before woman suffrage is secured; that is certain," said a clerk in a large dry goods store yesterday. "The author of the much discussed tariff bill," he continued, "is very unpopular with the ladies. If they had the right to vote at the coming election the Republican party and its tariff policy would receive a blow which would knock them both out of existence."

"And what do the ladies think about the tariff?"

"Why, bless me," he replied, "I do not believe they think about it at all, they simply express themselves. It would be real amusing if we did not get so much of it, but really I am beginning to have serious fears that before lovely woman makes up her mind that the payment of increased prices is inevitable and that she is not outrageously swindled by the proprietor of the store, my hair will be gray and my nervous system shattered."

"Women, as a rule, you know, are close. When they go out shopping they take a certain amount of money, with them and they figure out, even to their car fare, just what they will have to spend. Now, just imagine the trouble that will be provoked by informing such a woman that an article which she has purchased is 25 to 50 cents or $1 more than she has been accustomed to paying for it."

A MATTER OF PRINCIPLE.

The other day a lady came in the store to buy some buttons on which prices had been advanced. She selected what she wanted, and when informed of the price I just wish you could have seen her face. I knew what was the matter in a moment. She had just enough in her pocketbook to get the buttons at the old price and ride home. Of course she would not have the fact that she did not have enough to pay for the buttons known for the world. That she was short of the purchase price I knew from the fact that her kick—excuse the term—was all out of proportion to the increase.

"How much did you say?" she asked when I had announced the price.

"'Seventy-five cents madam,' I replied.

"How is that? I bought those same buttons a week ago for sixty.'

"'Yes, but the price has been increased since then.'

"'Why?'

"'The new tariff, you see, has necessitated an increase in the price of imported goods.'

"'What new tariff?'

"Why, the McKinley bill.'

"'Well, you can just keep your buttons.' she said with great indignation.

"'I have some buttons nearly as good which I can sell you for sixty cents,' I said soothingly.

"'Oh, the difference in the price is no great matter,' she said. 'I don't care about that But I do object to being robbed. I would rather do without a thing all my life than be swindled, and to ask me fifteen cents more this week than I paid last week for the same buttons is a swindle, and I—will—not—be—swindled.'

"A most amusing case was that of an old Irish woman who wanted to buy some blankets and found the price was considerably higher than she had anticipated. I explained to her that the increase was due to the new tariff bill framed by McKinley. It was not without some little difficulty that I made it clear to her."

"'McKinley did you say his name was?' she said.

"'Yes, he was the framer of the bill.'

"'Well, it's sorry I am,' she said, 'that a man with an Irish name should be responsible for robbing the poor. He is a disgrace to his race.'"

THE LADIES SAY IT'S AN OUTRAGE.

"There are very few of the ladies who understand anything about the tariff," said one of tee floor walkers in a dry goods emporium, "and they do not care for any explanation. "They declare it emphatically an outrage and no amount of argument could change their minds.

"Since the McKinley bill has really gone into effect the ladies can grasp the meaning of the McKinley bill and blame Mr. McKinley for all the mischief he has done, instead of the innocent merchants and their clerks."

SHE READ THE RIOT ACT.

Standing in on of the large dry goods emporiums last week a looker-on noticed a tall, beautiful young lady come in, enter the elevator, ascend to the second floor, and, stepping off, seek the credit department. She held a piece of paper in her hand, evidently a bill, and bit her lips in vexation as she studied the various items and compared them with an itemized account of a month ago. She paused before the credit department with the bills still held in her hand, and a dapper old fellow stepped forward to ask the young lady what he could do for her.

"In the first place you have charged me with articles last month at a certain price; this month, not two weeks afterward I purchase some more of the same article, and it is twenty cents higher than that I bought in August and September."

The poor fellow gave a sigh of despair. He began to see plainly the gulf yawning before him and his fellow clerks all hid a smile behind their hands as they bent over their account books.

"Well, Miss, it is not my fault—I expect I had better send you to the gentleman of whom you bought those articles and he can explain why those things have been marked higher. I only get the bills, enter them and send them out at the proper time. I have them all correctly entered upon my ledgers; the gentleman at the department can tell you about the advance in those goods;" and he bowed smilingly, thinking he had escaped.

"Mr. B—," said the young lady, "I did ask the clerk who sold me the goods and I can't understand why they are advanced in price since last month and I don't believe he does either. He commenced telling me a rigmarole about some of these things being bought since the 6th of October and a lot of nonsense about something happening in Congress and a lot of things that were perfectly irrelevant and had nothing to do with his charging me 70 cents for the same articles I bought for 50 cents last month."

The credit clerk began to scratch his bald head. He had not been able to understand the why and wherefore of the advance, clearly himself, and was quite sure of his inability to explain it to anybody else.

Finally he said: "I'll tell you Miss, I cannot do anything about it. I cannot take the extra 20 cents off because it is the tariff.

"Your clerk never told me anything about tariff when I bought those articles, and I consider your charging me what you have, under the circumstances, is nothing less than obtaining money under false pretenses."

"That young lady does not know how accurately she has sized up the tariff," said the gentleman whom she had been addressing, sadly, as she disappeared from view in the elevator. "Obtaining money under false pretenses? I say that's good. That sums up the whole protective business in a nutshell."

SOME OF THE ADVANCES.

A prominent dealer in dry goods said a day or two ago in an interview:

"The era for good articles at reasonable figures may safely be regarded as a thing of the past, as the new tariff bill imposes its heaviest burdens upon the various articles universally required by people of moderate means, especially the great army of workingmen and women. Scarcely an item belonging to every day need which has not increased in cost very largely to the consumer, whose daily wages and monthly salary continue at the old tariff rates, nor will the wages of the people be advanced in proportion to new tariff rates. A dress which would have cost a poor girl 50c a yard under the old system will cost her 62c under the new, making a difference of $1.44 in a whole dress pattern, which means a serious difference to the poor girl.

"Goods that cost 60c last fall will cost 75c a yard this fall, while those who dress in silk and velvet will get them at the same figures that they have heretofore given.

"The stockings that cost 25 cents last winter and the summer just passed will cost hereafter 32 cents and 48 cents for the present 35 cent article. Another proof of the leniency of this bill upon the wealthy classes is that the same rates of advance prevail in all boys', misses', children's and infants' stockings and underwear.

"The underwear known as ribbed jersey-fitting balbriggan and cotton, which was purchased last spring and summer for 25 cents, will now be 40 cents each, and the 35-cent article can't be bought for less than 50 cents. Those who wear the dainty silk underwear can buy them at the original reasonable figures. It seems that the Republican party intend to make all classes feel able to wear silk attire. It is like poor Marie Antoinette asked in her ignorance when the populace begged for bread and there was none: "Why not eat cake?"

One of the small articles most generally in use, and of which thousands are bought every day, is the pearl button. They seem to have been the butt of the lawmakers' heaviest attacks. Instead of getting buttons for 5 cents a dozen, they will cost 10 cents; the 8 cents a dozen, 15 cents, and so on until you reach the finer goods. It is the same way with housekeeping linen. Damasks generally bought at 50 cents a yard will be 63 cents, and napkins bought at $1 a dozen will now cost $1. 25 In handkerchiefs the increase will be in the same proportion. One article that will advance as much as 25 cents and 50 cents a pair will be the lower grades of kid gloves. This will touch the ladies very nearly and again bring down their ire upon the heads of the merchants.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

THE WOOL TARIFF IN MICHIGAN.

It appears from the sheep tables of the Michigan farm statistics for 1889-90, that out of 138,170 farmers in the state 59,400 own sheep, the average number apiece being thirty-two. The present population of Michigan is 2,089,972. It appears therefore that the higher duties on raw wool are imposed for the nominal benefit of less than one-sixth of the total population. If these higher duties had the promised effect, and the fleeces of the thirty-two sheep each, owned by 48 per cent of the farmers, were to be advanced in price two cents a pound each sheepowner would be the gainer to the tune of $3 a year. But every person who does not own sheep, whether he be farmer or artisan or middleman, has to pay much more than $3 per year additional for his clothing, blankets, carpets, hats, and other articles of which wool is the whole or part. If the loss to each consumer were but two dollars a year, that would amount to over $4,200,000 for the entire state as against the petty gain of nearly $180,000 by the sheepowners. As each of the latter is a wearer of woolens, however, as well as wool-grower, and has to pay the clothing bills of about five persons, he would lose a good deal more by dear clothing than he would gain by two cents a pound on his wool.

But the wool grower will not have an increased price for his fleeces. They have gone down instead of up, because the higher cost of woolen goods will check consumption. That will lessen the demand for American fine wool, and that will lower the price of wool. So the sheepowner who was meant to be the chief gainer will be the chief loser, for he will pay more for his woolen goo s and get less for his wool. He will feel worse than the consumer who has no sheep and who loses at one end only. Mr. Burrows will have his hands full a few months hence explaining these interesting facts to his constituents, he being one of the most active and persistent members of Congress in forcing the double blunder on the country.—Chicago Tribune, (Republican.)

After all, it begins to look as though Chicago would not need to put up all of the ten-million-dollar fund that it has promised for the World's Fair. McKinley's crazy-quilt tariff enormity is so effectual in scaring off foreign manufacturers that it will not cost a great deal to take care of the few exhibits that are likely to come from abroad. The Fair will have to depend upon "the home market."

Failures in Life.

People fail in many ways. In business, in morality, in religion, in happiness, and in health. A weak heart is often an unsuspected cause of failure in life. If the blood does not circulate properly in the lungs, there is shortness of breath, asthma, etc; in the brain, dizziness, headache, etc.; in the stomach, wind, pain, indigeston, faint spells, etc.; in the liver, torpidity, congestion, etc.; heart strain. For all these maladies Dr. Miles' New Cure for the heart and lungs is the best remedy. Sold, garanteed and recommended by Baker & Hall. Treatise free.

AN OLD SORE HEALED.

I had a painful, annoying sore on my leg, near the knee, that troubled me for over two years. I tried various remedies, but the sore, instead of healing up, continued to grow larger, and to cause me more pain until I began to look for a crutch. Through the advice of a friend, who was cured of a similar trouble, I took S.S.S., and a few weeks was cured entirely. The sore healed up, and there is not even a scar left to mark the place.

Less House-Cleaning More Health
Less Annoyance More Comfort

Such is the experience of women who use Pearline for house-cleaning, and the degree of health and comfort is largely due to the way they use it. Directions for saving labor on every package. Delicate women can clean house by its aid; children will be a help, and husbands will never know the work is going on—out of the way, and they will be ignorant of it. It is bosh to say that Pearline hurts the clothing, the paint or the hands. Numbers of people clean their teeth with it; many babes have been washed with it from their birth; the most delicate of laces and linens have been subjected to the severest of tests. Everything washable, and everybody who must do this work is benefitted by reason of the use of Pyle's Pearline. It's the modern soap. You'll know it and use it sooner or later. Your grocer keeps the goods.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers are offering imitations which they claim to be Pearline, or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—they are not, and besides are dangerous. 164 JAMES PYLE, New York.

SOME M'KINLEY PRICES.

A FEW FIRST FRUITS OF THE NEW TARIFF LAW.

Dearer Clothing for the Masses—Foreign and Domestic Goods Go Up—Just What McKinley & Co. Wanted—But No Rise in Wages.

The McKinley high tariff law is getting in its work. On all hands there is a marking up of prices. For weeks the trade papers have been full of reports of increased prices. The circulars of large wholesale dealers, in which they inform their customers that they have been compelled to advance prices have been printed in large numbers in the papers.

These circulars have given great offense to the protection organs. A few of them are here given entire or else quoted:

NEW YORK, Sept. 29, 1890.

DEAR SIRS—Under new tariff advance will be about, velvets, plain, 12½ to 17½ cents; velvets, croise, 5 to 10 cents; plushes, 12½ to 20 cents. We hope you are, like ourselves, raising prices. Yours truly, H. A. CAESAR & Co.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1, 1890.

GENTLEMEN—Owing to change in tariff we are obliged to advance the price on plushes, velvets and velveteens, of which please take notice. Yours respectfully,

GOLDSCHMIDT, BACHRACH & Co.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29, 1890.

DEAR SIRS—The new tariff advances the duty on many lines of goods carried by us. We are compelled in consequence to advance our prices and hereby withdraw all quotations. We will make our new prices as low as possible, and will send you, on application, a price list of such goods in which you are interested. Yours truly,

J. B. RYER & Co.

The firm of Ottenheimer Brothers, of New York, announce the following advances in corsets: "The style known as C. P. a la Sirene No. 350, formerly selling at $1.50 at retail, will sell hereafter at $1.75; No. 263, formerly $2.25, now $2.50; No. 473, formerly $2.50, now $3; No. 1, formerly $2.75, now $3.25. Children's sizes and styles are advanced in the same ratio."

Here is another circular:

NEW YORK, Oct. 8, 1890.

DEAR SIRS—On and after Oct. 9, 1890, the price of our 26-27 inch French serge twill flannel will be 52½ cents per yard (present price 42½ cents), 26-27 inch French plain printed striped and dotted flannel 57½ cents (present price 52½ cents), 26-27 inch French fancy printed striped flannel will be 60 cents per yard (present price 55 cents). Yours truly, ARNOLD, CONSTABLE & Co.

The American Carpet Manufacturers' association has sent out a statement saying that the advance in the tariff rates on raw wool made in the McKinley act will necessitate the following advances in the cost of carpets:

On Wiltons, 33 cents per running yard.
On Brussels, 22 cents per running yard.
On tapestry, 9 cents per running yard.
On velvets, 14 cents per running yard.
On two-ply ingraine, 12.67 cents per square yard.
On three-ply ingrains, 16.50 cents per square yard.

Ordinary worsted cloths for men's wear have recently advanced in price. The following letter from a Philadelphia merchant will explain why:

"I have paid this week on an importation of worsted cloths for men's wear the first amount of duty calculated under the new McKinley tariff law, and give you the following details:

Foreign invoice value of the goods reduced to United States money	$3,074 00
Amount of duty paid on same	2,452 00
Excess of duty over foreign cost	878 00
Percentage of duty on foreign cost, 116⅔

"These are medium quality of goods, such as are worn by working people; and it seems a high tax on such an article as clothing, which people are compelled to wear by law."

The McKinley prices for pearl buttons are an enormous advance, as the following paragraph from The New York Commercial Bulletin will show:

"Buyers of pearl buttons are very much dissatisfied with the present price conditions. They say that the recent 25 per cent. advance born of the new tariff, coming as it did right on top of previous advances, amounting to 100 per cent. in certain popular lines, almost prohibits the handling of the goods. They are looking around for a satisfactory substitute for the pearl article. Agate buttons are being very carefully considered, and are improving steadily in demand. Pearl button importers announce another advance of 25 per cent. on goods to arrive.'"

The reason for these McKinley prices on pearl buttons is seen in the following, which is an invoice with the duties as actually paid on Oct. 7:

1,473 gross pearl buttons, value in Vienna	$623 00
25 per cent. duty	157 00
Additional duty under McKinley tariff	754 80
Total	$1,539 80

Invoice of pearl buttons received in New York Oct. 7. None of the goods were of the low grades; had they been, the difference would be much greater.

This heavy increase of duty has already 'encouraged' the manufacturers of our home market bone buttons, as seen in a circular issued by Emil Wadal, president of the "Fancy Bone Manufacturing company," of Philadelphia. The advance happens to be dated on the day that the McKinley bill passed, viz., Oct. 6. Here are some of the new quotations:

REGULAR BONE BUTTONS.	Old Price.	McKinley Price.
27-line A, per great gross	$1 35	$1 85
23-line A, per great gross	1 10	1 20
MONOGRAMS.
27-line, per great gross	1 35	1 60
23-line, per great gross	1 20	1 25
STUDS.
27-line, per great gross	2 25	2 50
23-line, per great gross	1 80	2 00

Handkerchiefs have also taken on McKinley prices. Oliver H. Durrell, of the firm of Brown, Durrell & Co., of Boston, says: "The 60 per cent. tariff means that handkerchiefs which previously sold for 15 cents will be sold at 20 cents, and those sold at 25 cents at 33 cents. The two or three manufacturers who have instigated this increase have already given notice that all prices will be advanced."

The McKinley prices on collars may be seen from the following notice which a New York dealer hung up in his windows:

"The new tariff bill and its effects upon our celebrated four-fold imported collars compels us to make the following announcement: That on and after the 1st day of November the price will be $2.75 per dozen, $1.38 per half dozen. Former prices ($2.50 and $1.25 respectively) will rule till Nov. 1."

The New York Journal of Commerce is an impartial business paper with protectionist sympathies. In its review of the dry goods market for the week ending Oct. 10 it says:

"It is taken for granted that the general tendency of values under the new law will be upward, an important movement in which direction has already taken place in imported goods, in anticipation of which large importations were hurried into the country during the past month and up to the date of the law. The operation upon domestic fabrics will be slower, but prices will doubtless be higher where increased protection has been afforded, and all fabrics must more or less sympathize in the advance. Buyers who have been holding off, waiting for the expected panic in merchandise, got frightened at the last moment, and did their best to supply not only present but prospective wants before the new prices went into effect. While the full tariff advances have not been asked by all, but few buyers were able to get goods at anything like the values of two weeks ago. The conservative buyer of two weeks ago was the most pronounced speculator today. Velvets and plushes in broad goods are fairly active, with almost the full tariff advances obtained on lower grade goods."

The New York Dry Goods Economist, another protectionist paper, notes the same advance in prices, and prints interviews with a large number of merchants on the subject. Some of the details given are very interesting. One large importer said that dress goods were fully 10 to 15 per cent. higher. Another merchant reported that cotton prints had gone up 10 per cent., and said further: "Among the articles which have been most affected are ginghams, which contain some silk. The price of these goods has gone up fully 50 per cent., the old duty being 35 per cent. ad valorem, while under the new law they will pay 35 per cent. and ten cents per square yard." The Journal of Commerce notes that a large dealer in domestic Amoskeag ginghams has advanced his prices.

The following are sentences selected from the interviews of The Economist: "Low priced corduroys will cost 40 per cent. more. The actual advance on corduroys and on velveteens this week has been 25 per cent." "All low grades of textile fabrics have been materially affected." "The level of values will rise about 10 per cent. all round on dress goods, and people will have to get accustomed to it." "Mr. John Sloane thought the advance on all descriptions of carpets would be from five to ten cents a yard." "Linen goods of every kind have careered upward, also hosiery, underwear, etc." "Millinery goods in the piece, like velvet, crepe, fancy silken and other fabrics, have climbed right into the clouds." "Ribbons are a cent or two higher for the standard goods." "The retailers have been preparing us for this for several months by the 'gradual rise,' at the same time they acknowledge that the customers complain justly that all goods are higher, domestic as well as foreign."

These facts are a sufficient answer to the foolish and stupid document sent out by the Republican congressional committee about the time the McKinley bill went into effect. The writer of that astounding campaign document says: "All this Democratic talk about 'increased taxation to the people' is nothing but downright falsehood;" and "the consumer will appreciate the existence of the new tariff law only by its results in the reduction of his necessary household expenses."

These McKinley prices are not popular with the people, and the printing of them throws the protectionist organs into a "state of mind." The New York Tribune scolds, calls the whole thing "the most disreputable journalism ever seen in this country," and denounces "dealers who make new duties a pretext for extortion."

But this advance in prices ought not to make the high tariff organ lose its temper. Higher prices were the very thing that the McKinley bill was made for. Did he not defend it himself on the very ground that he wanted "no return to cheap times in our own country," and that "where merchandise is cheapest men are poorest?" Did not Burrows say, "Into this struggle for cheapness the Republican party does not propose to enter?" And has not Henry Cabot Lodge just told us that "the cry for cheapness is un-American?" And there, too, is President Harrison's famous remark: "I cannot find myself in full sympathy with this demand for cheaper coats, which seems to me necessarily to involve a cheaper man and woman under the coat." Why should The Tribune go back on the teachings of the party by making such wry faces over the existing higher prices? Is it not patriotic and American to pay higher prices? Is it not in the interests of labor that goods should be costly? That is what the protectionists teach.

Our Trade with England.

If our protectionists would give a little study to our trade with England they would find how utterly absurd are their efforts to strike a blow at that country. For example, 52 per cent. of our exports are bought by England, while only 24 per cent. of our imports come from that country.

On an average we sell every year $216,000,000 worth of commodities in England over and above what we buy there. About one-fourth of our wheat crop is sold abroad, most of this in England; and two-thirds of our cotton finds a foreign market, nearly all of this in England.

Can we afford to drive so large a buyer from our ports? McKinleyism threatens to do that. The London Economist, in a very temperate discussion of the McKinley bill, says: "Many of the staple commodities we now import from the United States we can buy elsewhere, and if the cost of production in the States is enhanced, as it must be under the new tariff, these other markets will become the cheapest for us to buy in."

The figure 9 in our dates will make a long stay. No man or woman now living will ever date a document without using the figure 9. It stands in the third place in 1890, where it will remain 10 years and then move up to second place in 1900 where it will rest for one hundred years.

There is another "9" which has also come to stay. It is unlike the figure 9 in our dates in the respect that it has already moved up to first place, where it will permanently remain. It is called the "No. 9" High Arm Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine.

The "No. 9" was endorsed for first place by the experts of Europe at the Paris Exposition of 1889, where, after a severe contest with the leading machines of the world, it was awarded the only Grand Prize given to family sewing machines, all others on exhibit having received lower awards of gold medals, etc. The French Government also recognized its superiority by the decoration of Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, President of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor.

The "No. 9" is not an old machine improved upon, but is an entirely new machine, and the Grand Prize at Paris was awarded it as the grandest advance in sewing machine mechanism of the age. Those who buy it can rest assured, therefore, of having the very latest and best.

"Seeing is Believing."

And the best lamp ever made, like Aladdin's of old, a "wonderful lamp!" A lamp absolutely non-explosive and unbreakable, which gives a clear, soft, brilliant white light of 85 candle power! Purer and brighter than gas light, softer than electric light, more cheerful than either! That lamp is

"The Rochester."

And with it there is no smoke, no smell, no broken chimneys, no flickering, no sweating, no climbing up of the flame, no "tantrums" nor annoyance of any kind, and it never needs trimming! Its fonts (oil reservoirs) being tough rolled seamless brass, with central draft, it is absolutely unbreakable, and as safe as a tallow candle.

Only five years old, and over two million of these lamps in use. It must be a GOOD lamp to make such a telling success. Indeed it is, for lamps may come and lamps may go, but the "Rochester" shines on forever! We make over 2,000 artistic varieties.—Hanging and Table Lamps, Banquet, Study, Vase and Piano Lamps,—every kind, in Bronze, Porcelain, Brass, Nickel and Black Wrought Iron.

Ask the lamp dealer for it. Look for the trade-mark stamp: "THE ROCHESTER." If he hasn't the genuine Rochester and the style you want, or if no lamp-store is near, send to us for free illustrated catalogue (and reduced price-list), and we will box and send you any lamp safely by express, right to your door.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it cures readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

THE ELECTION IN TECUMSEH.

The election passed off very quietly in Tecumseh, although there was much work done on all sides. All parties were well organized and a full vote was polled. Gorman ran well ahead in this precinct and Capt. Fred Wood made a phenominal run, as an inspection of the figures below will show. The total poll was 686 votes. Considerable interest centered in the working of the new election law, and so far as this precinct was concerned, it worked very smoothly and successfully. There is no question but what the booth system will prove to be a decided check upon bribery and intimidation. The method of counting the ballots is very tedious and there is a question whether this part of the law could not be modified to advantage. There seems to be more red tape than necessary to protect an honest count.

The arrangement of the room was like this. Eight booths were constructed along the middle of the east room of the council building, each one about four feet square. These booths had a door on both front and back sides. A railing was built in front of the booths about two feet distant. The voter passed through a gate in this railing, entered one of the booths where he prepared his ticket, passed through the booth into an alley behind and then along to the open window, where his ballot was handed to the inspector, and then passed without the railing through another gate. Each booth was supplied with all the regular official tickets and with whatever slips private parties chose to provide. Within the booth the voter could prepare his own ticket exactly as he desired, unseen or uninfluenced by anyone. Parties had the right, however, to prepare their tickets outside of the polling place, but only official ballots could be used, and party committees were provided with regular tickets to accommodate those who wished to fix their tickets outside. But in this case the voter had to pass through the booth in the regular channel, and a large majority of the tickets were prepared in the booths.

Several printed cards were tacked up about the polling place containing this legend: "WARNING.—$1000 fine or one year in state prison, or both, for destroying or carrying away from booths any ballots except for one's own use in voting."

Owing to the new machinery the election board had to be increased. Regular board of inspectors consisted of Supervisor James, Justice Burridge, clerk Walter Burridge and extra clerk Dr. Steinhoff. Levi C. Hayden attended the entrance gate leading to the booths, and Henry Keyser the exit gate. J. D. Shull and Gus Cummins appeared as challengers for the Republicans, A. P. Coddington for the Prohibitionists, and Don Bowen for the Democrats. After the polls closed Justice Wightman took a place on the board to assist in the count. Two full tally sheets were kept, one by each clerk.

The counting process was very slow and tedious. The tickets were taken from the box one by one. One inspector took out one ticket, unfolded it and read it through from top to bottom. He then handed it to a second inspector for examination, who passed it to a third man and the latter strung it on a cord. The two clerks then tallied one for each name on the ticket. This process had to be repeated with every ticket. About forty tickets an hour were counted. The board finished the count at 12 o'clock yesterday forenoon. The old method of counting the votes was just as safe and much less cumbersome.

Two years ago this fall the total vote in Tecumseh was 749, divided as follows: Harrison 340, Cleveland 324, Fisk 85. Captain Allen received 348 votes, eight more than the electoral ticket. This year the Republicans have suffered most from the light poll, the vote on state and county tickets being almost exactly the same. The Prohibs poll five votes more than in 1888; Winans gains slightly; Gorman scores a plurality of 38 over Allen; John D. Shull makes a splendid run, and Capt. Fred Wood leads the procession. But here are the figures, and you can make your own comparisons. Below is the vote in detail, taken from the clerk's tally sheet. The first name following an office is Democrat, second Republican, third Prohibition.

THE ELECTIONS ELSEWHERE.

The returns were so tardy in coming in that we are unable to give more than a brief outline of the result in general before going to press, but it has been a veritable Democratic land slide. In this county the Democrats have captured Prosecuting Attorney and clerk. Sheriff and Treasurer are yet in doubt. The Republicans take the rest of the ticket.

Winans is elected Governor and also the entire Democratic State ticket. Allen is snowed under by a heavy majority. The Democrats have five members of Congress with three more in doubt.

Massachusetts elects a Democrat Governor with a gain of three Congressmen.

New Hampshire ditto, with one Congressman.

Connecticut shows a gain of one Congressman.

Ohio scores a gain of eight Congressmen.

New York adds a gain of six.

Even Pennsylvania chooses a Democrat governor.

The Democrats sweep Indiana by over 15,000.

Wisconsin wins not only the State ticket but also the Legislature.

Iowa shows a gain of four Democratic Congressmen.

Minnesota is in doubt with both parties claiming it.

The Democrats gain two Congressmen in Nebraska.

McKinley and Foster of Ohio, and Cannon of Illinois, are all snowed under.

The Democracy get their own in Montana.

The solid South is solider than ever. The Republicans will lose at least three-fourths of their present membership in that section.

The most remarkable feature of the result is the unparalelled revolution in the Lower House of Congress. The Democratic majority cannot be less than 50 and may reach 80.

The people have responded to the McKinley tariff robbery and the Force bill iniquity in tones that cannot be mistaken.

Glory enough for one day.

Catarrh Can't be Cured

with Local Applications, as they can not reach the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this counrry for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers acting on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

IN MEMORIAM.

The following is clipped from the ElDorado Republican, published at Placerville Cal. The parties have many acquaintances among our older residents who will learn of Mrs. Tindall's death with the sincerest regret.

The sudden death of Mrs. G. P. Tindall on last Sabbath has cast a deep gloom of sadness over our whole community. She was seized with a sudden illness, from a trouble of many years' standing, on Saturday night. The physicians soon saw that the only possible hope of saving her life was by a surgical operation. Word was immediately sent to her husband, Rev. G. P. Tindall, in Sacramento, and he, with his daughter, Anna, started at once by carriage and arrived in Placerville at eleven o'clock Sabbath morning. On account of her extreme pain Mrs. Tindall had been kept under the influence of opiates, but she aroused sufficiently to know and talk with her husband and daughters. She r ed the uncertain result of the operation, but spoke calmly about it, and about certain arrangements for her funer and other matters, should she not survive. The operation was successfully performed at about one o'clock, but Mrs. Tindall's vitality was so low that, though she rallied to full consciousness for a short time, she soon began to fall.

She grew constantly and rapidly weaker, until at half-past ten o'clock, as the Sabbath was drawing to its close, "the silver cord was broken, "and she sank quietly into the sleep that knows no waking. Business was generally suspended for the funeral services which were held at the Academy, her home, at half past four o'clock on Monday evening. Her Pastor, Rev. James Curry, preached a brief discourse from 2 Cor. 5:1, and the choir, composed of Mrs. T. H. Ralston, Miss Susie Stewart, and Messrs E. Congdon and C. E. Merrill, sang beautiful and appropriate hymns very touchingly. The remains were followed to the Union Cemetery by citizens whose large number and sorrowful countenances showed their love and respect for the deceased, their appreciation of her worth, and their sympathy for the bereaved husband and daughters. Messrs James Blair, H. S. Morey, John Pearson, H. L. Robinsen, F. F. Barss, and A. J. Lowry acted as pall bearers. A large number of Mrs. Tindall's former pupils attended the funeral in a body, and at the grave a number of them came forward and placed their offerings of beautiful flowers upon her coffin. The body was lowered in the grave just as the sun sank down behind the western hills, the choir sung softly and sweetly, "Thy will be done" and the Pastor read the simple burial servie and pronounced the benediction. And thus, amid scenes and circumstances of wondrous beauty, calmness and peace, was ended the earthly career of one greatly respected and loved.

Mrs. Louise (Brown) Tindall was born in the State of NewYork, and was married to Rev. G. P. Tindall, the presen Pastor of the 14th Street Presbyterian Church, Sacramento, in 1858. Their lives were spent for many years together in connection with the Presbyterian Church in Dayton, Ohio, Indianapolis, Indiana, and Ypsilan i and Flint, Michigan. In 1881 they came to California, accompanied by their daughters, Lizzie H. and Anna L. Tindall and purchased and took charge of the Placerville Academy.

Here they did good service in the cause of higher Christian education. One year ago the school was left in charge of Mrs. Tindall and her oldest daughter, where she continued her labors until last June. She was a woman of superior intellect, education, refinement and social qualities, who did much good and gained many warm friends. In early life she united with the Episcopal Church, and had been connected with the Placerville Presbyterian Church since 1881. Her life was devoted to the master's service, and she labored to make others better, wiser, more useful and happier, and what better eulogy could any desire? She now "rests from her labors, and her works do follow her." "Absent from the body, present with the Lord."

JAMES CURRY.

ERASTUS ADKINS, D. D.

The death, at the residence of his son, on Monday, October 27th, of Doctor Erastus Adkins removes a figure that was long prominent in the Baptist denomination of the North-west. His service to his Church terminated only when he became totally blind. Previous to that time he was the peer of any of the good and able men who for years had been planing the growth and prosperity of that denomination. When he came to Tecumseh four years ago he was totally blind and felt that his work was done, and that during the few remaining years that were his he could serve the Lord only in a passive way. He was then full four score years old and knew that nearly all his associates had passed away and that a new generation of workers had in charge the great cause to which he had given the whole of his active life. With that new generation he was able to hold but little intercourse on account of his blindness and declining strength. Yet was he never heard to complain. Patiently he waited the summons that he knew could not be long delayed. By his Tecumseh acquaintances he was generally regarded as one of the patriarchs. His great age, his tall but stooping form, his long white beard, his gentleness of speech, and his Godly life, all made him seem like one of the heroes of ancient Israel. So he was loved, respected, and venerated to a degree seldom attained by one so old and feeble, in a new community, in four short years.

For the past 17 years he has been an inmate of the home of his son Frank. For the faithful care and attention that he there received, he was always most grateful. His last illness was of but few weeks duration, but was accompained with much suffering. At its beginning he said, "I do not wish to live longer: I have lived long enough, but the Lord's will be done." His mental faculties remained clear till a few hours before death came to his relief. At the hour of 10-30 of the evening above mentioned, without a struggle, the pure spirit took its flight and only the tenment of clay was left to his mourning friends.

Among the effects an envelope was found with the inscription, "To be opened immediately after my death." Within it were found a letter to his son Frank, some "Reflections," evidently written since the passage of his eightieth birth day, and quite full directions for his funeral and burial. The latter are characterized by great simplicity and the preceding by repeated expressions of gratitude for the blessings that have followed him all the years of his long life.

The funeral was held at the Baptist Church at 2 o'clock on Wednesday Oct. 29th 1890. In the absence of Pastor Arnold, the sermon was preached by Rev. Fred Clatworthy of Adrian. Bro. Clatworthy first read the "Reflections," (above alluded to) and then used them as the text of some very interesting and affecting remarks. His remains were taken for interment to Newport, near Marietta O. where most of his life was passed.

Erastus Adkins, D. D., was born in Greenfield, Saratoga Co., N. Y., Dec. 17th, 1805. His parents moving to what was then the wilderness of Western New York, he was deprived of the advantages of an early education, but impelled by his thirst for knowledge, at the age of 27 he entered an academy at Rochester, N. Y., graduating finally from Marietta College, O., in 1839. For three years after his graduation he was tuitor at Marietta, where he also studied law, having taught in Tennessee and Peoria, Ill, where he was baptised. He accepted in 1847 the chair of Belles-Lettres in Shurtleff College, Ill., remaining in the faculty nine years at great personal sacrifice, and giving himself to the interests of the college with unwearied devotion. The latter part of his time at Shurtleff, Prof. Adkins had the chair of Languages. Having become profoundly interested in Bible revision, he resigned at Shurtleff and moved to New York, were he devoted his entire time to this work. After a year's service he was, however, obliged to desist on account of failure of sight. In 1857 he took a position in Marietta College, resigning this in 1859 to accept the Professorship of Greek in Richmond College, Va., a post which he held but a short time on account of the war. Returning, he accepted a pastorate Brimfield, Ill., where he was ordained. In 1863 he again entered the faculty of Marietta College, where he remained until partial blindness compelled him to retire.

In 1840 he was married to Miss Martha Shaw, of Bridgewater. She was at the time a teacher in the public schools of Marietta. Several years ago the Doctor and his wife came to live with their only son Rev. Frank Adkins of Elyria O., where in the summer of 1885 she passed over to the better land. He continued to live with his son at Elyria till the latter's removal to Tecumseh in the Autumn of 1886.

Dr. Adkins has been an industrious writer. In his early life he published "What is Baptism?" and in his latter years "Ecclesia; The church. Its polity and Fellowship," and "The Ages to Come, or the future states." He has also written largely for newspapers and magazines.

OBITUARY.

Phebe Ketcham, the subject of this humble tribute, was born in Ithica, Tompkins Co., N. Y. Nov. 24, '14. Her father Jacob Ketcham moved his family to the then "far West" and settled in Tecumseh on the farm now owned by Jos. Tilden in the year of the original settlement, 1824. Here the deceased continued to reside, except during two short intervals, until her death. In January 1847, she was united in marriage to Chas. W. Williamson, with whom she has lived a happy domestic life for over forty years and who now survives her. Two children blessed this union, George A. and Charles E, both of whom survive a devoted and beloved mother. In 1864 her husband moved to Monroe county where the family lived for fourteen years. They then moved to Franklin and resided in that township for seven years. Five years ago this fall they came back to Tecumseh village and have since made their home with their son, Chas. E. Williamson. On Saturday evening, Oct. 25th, the deceased was stricken with a paralytic shock from which she never rallied. She gradually failed until Tuesday evening when her spirit took its departure to the better land. The funeral obsequies were held at her son's residence on Thursday afternoon last, and were attended by a large concourse of friends and neighbors, many of whom had known and respected her for more than half a century. Rev. J. S. Joslin officiated, assisted by Rev. W. H. Babbitt. She was a woman of quiet unassuming disposition whose whole heart was bound up in her home. She was a true wife, a devoted mother, an exemplary christian. The husband who shared her joys and sorrows for so many years must now finish his journey through this vale of tears alone. The sons are bereft of a mother's love and care. But they may gather consolation from the thought, that the family will again be united in the realms of the blest.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

The saddest days of the year have come.

The election passed off very quietly in this town.

A full stock of brick now on hand and for sale at Comfort's yards.

The first snow storm of the season came just in time for election day.

Anderson & Co., now close their store at 7:30 P. M., Saturday evenings excepted.

John J. Orr has an elegant new window sign, one of the 'tripple view" kind. It is a daisy.

We will take subscriptions for the HERALD and Christian Union, both papers one year, for $3 00. Read the prospectus.

The "Old Roman" banquet to be held at Columbus, Ohio, on the 13th, promises to be a grand affair. It will be in honor of Ex-Senator Thurman.

Peterson's Magazine is still the favorite with many ladies. See the prospectus on the eighth page. It will be clubbed with the HERALD again this year at reduced rates.

The Forum for November is an extra strong number. Every article is one that appeals to current events and challenges popular interest. It is rapidly becoming the leader among high class magazines.

Miss Loana Stacy has taken a position in the HERALD Counting Room. She will keep the books, wait upon customers and assist in local editorial work. We can congratulate the HERALD patrons as well as ourselves, upon our good fortune in securing her services.

Mrs. M. A. Freeman has now received a full stock of Millinery goods suitable to the season, which she offers at prices that cannot fail to please. The latest styles of hat trimmings are exceedingly tasty, of which she carries a very full assortment. Give her a call.

From the Great Falls Daily Leader, published at Great Falls, Montana, we learn that a new M E. church has been started at St. Clair, and that our old Tecumseh friend, James M. Erskine was the man who donated the lot on which to erect the church. Jim is forging ahead in that new western country.

Scove Walker came home from Ann Arbor to vote. He left Ann Arbor about ten o'clock P. M., Monday, via the Toledo road, arrived at Britton about midnight on the Wabash, and then took the "walker" line to Tecumseh, arriving here at two A. M. Tuesday morning. Quite a trip for the sole purpose of casting a ballot.

Mr. John Caldwell and Miss Susie M. Cook were united in marriage at the residence of the bride's parents in Jackson, on Thursday evening, Oct. 23d. The bride has many acquaintances in Raisin and Adrian where she formerly resided, who will unite in congratulations to the happy couple. They will make their permanent residence at Oak Park, Illinois.

There will be no evening meeting at the Friend's church of this place next Sabbath, on account of a Union meeting in the interests of Foreign Missionary work, to be held at the Friend's church at Raisin Valley, at 3 o'clock, P. M., that day. David J. Lewis expects to be here as usual to preach the Sabbath following at 7 o'clock P. M., Nov. 16th.

The following is clipped from the Grand Ledge Independent of recent date, an item of news that will interest many of our readers: "Fay DePuy, of DePuy Bros., proprietors of the Bank of Grand Ledge, last Tuesday effected the purchase of the lot south of the postoffice building, upon which he intends erecting a building next spring expressly for their banking business. It is among the possibilities that the new building may be put up three stories high and the postoffice building raised to the same height, both to be under one roof and the third story converted into lodge rooms for some fraternal organization. This will be an important improvement to that side of the street.

The November Magazine of American History is particularly rich in material reminding one that the events of our own day have a definite understanding with the events of the past, and also with those before us, beyond our own horizon. The well known eloquent devine, Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst, D. D., contributes the opening chapter "Divine Drift in Human History, in which he says "it is the consummating glory of history that it spells out thoughts and purposes hundreds and thousands of years long;" and that "we are so endowed with inquisitiveness and with intelligent sympathies that we enjoy knowing what has transpired in the World—whatever man has done appeals to us as being to some degree our our matter."

Bert Tribou was home from Detroit over Sunday.

Mrs. A. D. Hall visited friends in Adrian yesterday.

The campaign is over and politics will now take a rest.

Hilarity at the Opera House next Wednesday evening.

Chas. Thomson has accepted a clerkship with Alva Spayde.

The H. McClure Co., have put in three incandescent lights.

Lynn Hardenburg has been on the sick list for the past two weeks.

Dr. R. B. Bush of Salem, Ohio, was the guest of John Heck's family last Sunday.

The Tecumseh Table Co., have enlarged their dry kiln, doubling its capacity.

Mrs. DeMott of Flint, is spending a few weeks with friends in Tecumseh and Raisin.

Mrs. F. P. Coder of Norvell spent a couple of days with friends in Tecumseh this week.

Wilmot Jacobs, a cousin of J. H. Osborn's from Massachusetts, is visiting the latter this week.

Special communication of Tecumseh Lodge, F. & A. M. to-morrow evening for work in the second degree.

Miss Bertha Laths and Florence Kimball of Manchester, are spending a few days at W. J. Arnold's.

The next entertainment in the Lecture Course will be the Musin Concert, on Saturday evening, Dec. 13th.

The new Tecumseh orchestra will make their first public appearance at the Marine Concert to-morrow evening.

Lon VanAntwerp arrived from Denver, Col., last Saturday night, where he has been living for the past three years.

Mrs. H. R. Clark returned to her home at Norvell last Saturday, after a few weeks visit with her sister, Mrs. C. A. Stacy.

Poultry is wanted by L. D. Dewey at his rooms on Railroad street, for which the highest market price will be paid.

The Chas. A. Loder troupe of Comedians will appear at the Opera House next week Wednesday evening, Nov. 12th. Go and hear the fun.

Henry Heesen arrived home from Atlanta on Monday, where he has been attending the Exposition with Brewer & Co's tile machinery.

If counting election tickets in a town of this size requires twenty-four hours continuous labor, a plan should be provided for a double election board.

A Steinway grand piano was used by Miss Aus der Ohe at her recital, which was sent here expressly for her use. A tuner came up from Toledo to put it in proper tune.

The advertisement of Powell Bros. which appeared in the HERALD last spring gave their address as Springboro, Crawford Co., Pa. Their address has been changed and is now Shadeland, Crawford Co.

The Republicans held their final rally at the Opera House last Monday evening. The weather proved very unpleasant but still enough of the faithful turned out to make a fair audience, and Hon. Frank Plumley of Vermont, gave them a good speech.

The first dance of a series, given at Armory Hall last Tuesday evening, was a complete success. The Tecumseh orchestra furnished excellent music and the dancing was continued until the wee small hours admonished the dancers that it was time to trip for home.

The greatest club offer ever presented to the readers of the HERALD is that of "The Great Divide." People may be slow to accept it as bona fide, but it is so. Full particulars are given on the first page, and a sample of the gem stone cabinet can be seen at our Counting Room.

The New York Sun is one of the best among all the big New York papers. It is always newsy, always able and always independent. It is among the most welcome exchanges that visit our sanctum. Read the Sun's prospectus elsewhere. The weekly Sun is clubbed with the HERALD.

The HERALD job department has turned out some superior printing lately. We have recently got a lot of new material, and our job foreman knows how to use it to the best advantage. The HERALD has never been as well equipped for superior work as now. Bring on your job printing.

Harper's Young People will enter upon its twelfth volume with the number to be published November 4th. Among the attractions announced for the new volume are serial stories by Sophie Swett, Howard Pyle, and others; "Travel Notes" by Sophie B. Herrick; a series of articles on our principal colleges written by recent graduates; and a tempting variety of short stories and practical articles.

THE AUS DER OHE RECITAL.

The Tecumseh Entertainment Course had a brilliant send off last Friday evening. The piano recital by Miss Aus der Ohe was the finest piano concert ever listened to by a Tecumseh audience, the nearest approach to it being the Sherwood recital given last winter. We confess our inability to give an adequate description of the affair. The words of praise which have been lavished upon Miss Aus der Ohe by the musical critics in the land seem to have been strictly within the bounds of truth. We can not attempt any musical criticism of her selections, but one feature of her playing challenged our special admiration. Although her execution evinced musical skill of the very highest order, which could not fail to enlist the enthusiasm of musical scholars and amateurs, yet it was also of a character which ordinary people, unacquainted with music, could appreciate and admire. The musical expert and the musical ignoramus were alike fascinated with her brilliant execution. She is rather tall in stature and possessed of plain but intellectual features. She was richly attired and seemed to be perfectly at home before the foot lights. Below is the program as presented. She was recalled several times after the last selection, but she simply acknowledged the compliment by appearing before the curtain.

PROGRAMME.

4. (a) Spinning song, from "The Flying Dutchman," Wagner-Liszt; (b) Tarantelle di Bravura. Liszt.

THE MARINE CONCERT.

The Marine Concert to be given at the Opera House to-morrow eve, by the Young People's Society of the M. E. Church, promises to be a very enjoyable entertainment. It is something new and will doubtless draw a good audience. The admission fee has been placed within the reach of all, ten and fifteen cents.

Below is the program in full:

1. Orchestra.
2. Nancy Lee—Full Chorus.
3. Break, break, break—Dora Heck

ALBERT J. SLAIGHT, EXECUTOR.

The Plumed Knight

Hon. James G. Blaine at Philadelphia.

HE IS WELCOMED BY AN ENTHUSIASTIC AUDIENCE.

He Speaks of the Pennsylvania Election and Its Influence in Other States and Defines His Own Position on the Tariff and Reciprocity Questions.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—In his speech at the Academy of Music, Mr. Blaine said: The Congress of the United States has lately passed a new tariff bill. Do you suppose that the great free trade papers of New York and elsewhere throughout the Union would care to follow up Mr. Delamater on personal charges if they did not have the great purpose beyond? If they can elect Mr. Pattison and defeat Mr. Delamater, is is a prodigious gain to the free trade cause, and it is a prodigious loss to the cause of protection. Pennsylvania is not only the Keystone State of the Union, but even in a greater sense, she is the Keystone of the cause of protection. If she falls back now, when the tariff is on its severest trial, the free traders see, or think they see, an easy road to the presidency in 1892. Pennsylvania, with the surrounding states, the six states that border upon her, can settle the presidency.

I want to remind you, especially you Republicans who differ from the great body of your party, that every one of those states at present is in Democratic hands—Ohio, Indiana, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia. The decisive point of the struggle of 1892 may be in Pennsylvania and in these states; and how any true friend of the Republican party, how any honest believer in the doctrine of protection can put to hazard the strong position of Pennsylvania at this critical time I fail to discover. I impute motives to no man, and yet I must remind every man that he is morally responsible for the plain results of his actions.

If Pennsylvania, under a pretext, can at this time be drifted from her life long allegiance to the doctrine of protection and elect a gentleman of whom I know nothing politically, except that he is ranked with free traders—if they can elect as governor of Pennsylvania as ardent a free trader as President Cleveland himself, there may be no balm in Gilead that can heal that wound.

During the consideration of that tariff law a discussion grew up of the question of attaching to the bill or incorporating with it a principle of reciprocial trade. (Cheers.) As I have said before, elsewhere, for the little part I took in that, for the first four or five weeks, I was the most popular Republicon with the Democratic party in this country. (Laughter). They thought I was trying to devide the Republican party on the doctrine of protection. Well, I could stand that sort of thing while I was laboring, as others were laboring more earnestly than myself, to bring the Republican party together and finally, as one man we incorporated the doctrine of reciprocity in the tariff bill. Just as soon as the Democrats found that that had been done, they did not want any reciprocity at all. They said in effect, reciprocity is an excellent measure if it will divide the protectionists; but if you go to incorporate it into the Republican platform and make it a part of the political system, we do not want any of it—and, besides that, it is unconstitutional."

Did you ever stop to reflect, my friends, what this country would have been today if we had been balked by the cry of unconstitutionality every time it was made by Democrats? We should not have not been able to defend the Union when it was assaulted; we should not have been able to issue greenbacks for its support; we should not have been able to organize a National bank; we should not have been able to improve a river that did not have salt water in it: we should not have been able to improve a harbor in the interior states; we should not have been able to give freedom to a slave, and, as the next point, we should not have been able to secure reciprocity in our international trade.

It is not generally considered in the best taste for a member of the administration to eulogize the president under whom he serves; but in Pennsylvania, where, you will excuse me for saying, I always feel at home—you will pardon me for saying that the administration of President Harrison, so far as that eminent man controls it, has been a modest administration, a working administration, a conscious administration, an efficient administration. The country has been peaceful, industrious and prosperous. It has gone forward in a quiet career, such as a republican government should always exhibit.

After his speech at the Academy of Music, Mr. Blaine went to the Union League, where he held a reception for two hours.

SAVED BY A DOLLAR.

A Bullet Turned Aside by a Dollar of Our Dad.

CLARKSBURG, W. VA., Nov. 3.—An altercation occurred on the street between W. F. Richards, of the Clarksburg Telegram, and Mr. Edward Bassel, son of Hon. John Bassel, a member of the West Virginia bar, in which the latter was seriously if not fatally wounded, shot in the back at the base of the spinal column. Bassel, it seems, opened fire on Richards, the ball grazing his side, which would have proved fatal had not the ball struck a silver dollar in his vest pocket, which changed the course of the bullet. Richards shot Bassel after Bassel had fallen to the ground. The affair grew out of an attack of Richards through the columns of his paper upon the private character of Mr. Bassel, Sr.

Incendiary Fire.

WHEELING, W. VA., Nov. 3.—An incendiary fire in the evening destroyed the drying sheds of the McGinley & Co.'s brick yards just east of town. The yards were the largest in this section, employing a large number of men. The loss is about $15,000.

Want Their Money.

NEWARK, O., Nov. 3.—An injunction suit has been filed by the Cleveland Construction Company against the Electric Railroad Company for not paying the balance $6,800 due on the building of the road.

TRADE MARKS.

Circular Giving Information of the New Tariff Regulations.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The treasury department has issued a circular letter to all customs officers concerning trade marks. The circular withdraws the department circular of August 10 on this subject, calls attention to the provisions of the new tariff act and prescribes the following regulations: Applications for the recording of names or trade marks in the treasury department will mention the name and residence of the domestic manufacturer and furnish a description of the mark and the name of the ports to which the fac similies should be sent. No such name or trade mark will be received unless accompanied by the proper proof of ownership.

On the receipt by a customs officer of any such fac similies, with information from the department that they have been recorded, he will properly file and record them, and will exercise care to prevent the entry at the custom house of any articles of foreign manufacture copying or simulating such mark. No fees are charged for recording trade marks in the department and custom houses.

STARVATION

IS THREATENED THE PEOPLE OF OKLAHOMA.

General Merritt Says the Corn Crop There is a Failure, and Without Outside Assistance the People Will Come to Want.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—In his annual report to the war department of the operation of the army in the department of the Missouri, Brigadier General Merritt states that on several oacasions during the past year, troops have been called out to suppress threatened Indian outbreaks, but upon their appearance their services were not required; they were returned to their posts without going into action. The presence of troops at the polls in the Oklahoma elections was requested by the authorities, but their arrival seemed to have a quieting effect, and the anticipated riot did not occur.

General Merritt says that the cattle men in the Cherokee strip show no disposition to violate the conditions governing their stay in that territory.

The condition of the people in Oklahoma is represented by General Merritt is bad in the extreme. The severe drought has rendered the corn crop a failure. Investigation has satisfied him that about one third of the people are without food or money, and will need assistance from outside the territory or starve. It will also he says, be necessary to supply about half the farmers with grain for seeding purposes.

General Merritt encloses the report of the medical director which says the sanitary condition of the department without exception is most excellent and the general health of commands very good.

Want Armed Protection.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The people at Kingfisher, Oklahoma, have petitioned the war department not to remove the United States troops now stationed there. The department, in the absence of any need of soldiers at that point, had determined to transfer them, but in view of this request have deferred action for the present.

Will Not Return to Work.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., Nov. 3.—Of the 4,000 miners in the Springfield sub-district, but few will return to work on Monday, most of the operators being unwilling to concede an advance from 50 to 62½ per ton for mining.

FOREIGN FLASHES.

Will Relieve Minister Lincoln.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Mr. H. White has returned to the American legation in this city and will assume the directions of affairs there during Minister Lincoln's absence. Canon Newbolt has been appointed to succeed Rev. Henry Liddon as canon of St. Paul's cathedral.

Lohengrin.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—The third act of Lohengrin was performed entire at the Grand opera house. The audience preserved absolute silence throughout, but at the close the applause burst forth and was loud and long continuing. Leading morning newspapers rejoice over this "Triumph of Common Sense."

A Fierce Battle.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Official despatches from Zanzibar concerning the recent capture of Nitu by forces sent to avenge the murder of a number of Germans by the natives, report that the town was utterly destroyed. The British lost four men and four were wounded during the engagement. Over fifty natives were killed and many wounded.

The Behring Quarrel.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—A report has been circulated here, based on statements in despatches from America, that the British foreign office has made overtures in regard to the Behring Sea, but the foreign office officials deny it. It is understood however, though not officially stated, that England is awaiting the action of the American government on the proposition to arbitrate, and in the meantime England will see that British vessels are protected from molestation.

American Beef Will Be Barred.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—A very determined effort will be made during the coming session of Parliament to secure the removal of restrictions upon the importation of American cattle, but there is little chance of a repeal of the law affecting the question, owing to the retaliatory feeling engendered by the McKinley bill. Mr. Chaplin, minister of agriculture, is decidedly opposed to any alteration, and the whole agricultural population would resent the introduction of American cattle so long as the provisions of the McKinley bill remain unrepealed and unmodified.

Von Moltke's Presents.

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—Count Von Moltke's birthday presents are increasing in number daily, and the collection is now large and very valuable both in respect of cost and quality. The suggestion has been made that the presents be placed on exhibition here, it is believed this will be done, the proceeds being devoted to the public charities.

A semi-official denial has been given at Stuttgart that the King of Wurtemburg is supporting the Baroness Von Beck, convicted of fraud in Vienna. The King is represented as much irritated by the statement, and notice of prosecution for Lese Majeste has been given, in the event of the publication of the story in any Wurtemburg newspaper.

Ex-City Clerk of Youngstown Makes a Pathetic Plea For Mercy.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 3.—Ex-City Clerk John S. Rallie has been sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. Before sentence was pronounced he made a pathetic plea for mercy, which brought tears to the eyes of every one in the court room, including Judge Robinson. Rallie embezzled many thousand dollars from the city on account of drink.

A Kentucky Romance.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 3.—A peculiar double wedding was celebrated in Jeffersonville, Indiana, mother and daughter standing side by side in a magistrate's office. Mrs. Susan Alcorn, a pretty young widow, who keeps a boarding-house, found, when she had arranged for a wedding with one of her boarders, that her daughter, aged sixteen, had followed her example, and to-day Magistrate Hall made the mother Mrs. Herman Yealer at the same time that Miss Mary Alcorn became Mrs. Henry Lucas.

A DEADLY CRASH.

A CHICAGO GRIP CAR COLLIDES WITH AN OMNIBUS

Which Was Loaded With a Party of School Children, and of the Seven Who Were Injured Three May Die.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—While a number of scholars of the Marquette school were returning in an omnibus from a Holloween party, the bus was run into by a grip train and seven persons injured, three it is feared fatally. When the bus reached the corner of Kedzie avenue and Madison street, the horses stopped squarely upon the track and refused to move. At the same moment a grip car, running at a furious rate of speed approached from the east. The grip car driver set the whole brakes but could not stop the train which dashed into the omnibus, hurled it from the track and almost completely wrecked it.

Several persons were injured, three so badly as to cause much apprehension as to their condition. They are Grand Vernell, aged eighteen, concussion of the brain, probably fatal; Bessie Brisbol, scalp torn and injured internally; Fred Johnson, teeth knocked out and hip crushed.

Persons who saw the accident say that the driver of the grip car did not take prompt measures to bring his train to a standstill.

LOSS OF THE VIZCAYA.

A Survivor Tells the Story.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—As soon as they reached this city the survivors were taken to the office of J. M. Ceballos & Co., No. 90 Wall street, the owners of the Vizcaya. The firm had received notice of the loss of their vessel from the maritime exchange but a few minutes before the survivors walked into the office.

None of the survivors could talk English and for some time it was impossible to obtain from any of them a correct account of the wreck. From Dr. Rico the best account was obtained. Dr. Rico said: "It was about 8 o'clock when I was on deck and took a few turns back and forth. I did not see any vessel near us. The ship was in charge of the first officer. I went down to the saloon. Suddenly I heard the gong in the engine-room ring the "stop" signal. Before I could even wonder what it was for, there came an awful shock, a crashing sound on the deck over our heads, and the steamer rolled well over on her port side. Everybody in the saloon was thrown down. All was excitement; men, women and children shrieking for help. I started up to the deck.

"When I got out of the companionway, a terrible scene met my eyes. The bridge deckhouse and forerigging were all torn away; there was a great gash in the starboard side just abaft the coal bunkers, and through this opening the water was pouring in. Close by, on our starboard beam, was a big four-masted schooner, her bowsprit and forerigging gone, and her bows stove in. She too, was filling rapidly. Men were running here and there all over our decks shouting all kinds of orders, and I can remember seeing the crew of the schooner doing the same thing on their vessel. The next thing I knew the water was making over our decks. The steamer was fast sinking.

"Several of the crew and myself scrambled up the port forerigging. Down, down, went the steamer, and up we climbed. We reached the foregallant yard, and just then the hull reached the bottom. This left us just out of water, but a very large swell would wet our legs. There were twelve of us on the yard. The schooner had sunk almost as quickly as had the Vicaya. In the hope of attracting attention from some passing vessel or some one on the shore (we were only six miles off the coast), we cut the tarred ropes on the yard into pieces a foot or two long, and lighting these waved them in the air. But no one came to our aid, and all through the long night we clung to that yard, growing colder and stiffer as each hour passed. Toward morning a cold fog settled on us and matters grew worse. Then a boat made its appearance and we were taken on board the Humboldt. We could not have held out much longer."

Several theories are advanced as to the cause of the collision, but as none of the survivors, according to their statements, saw the schooner before she struck the steamer, it is not, and probably will not, be known just how the affair happened. An investigation will probably be made by the company. Mr. Bennice, of Ceballos & Company, was sent to Barnegal as soon as word of the disaster was received, to see what he could learn there. It is expected that some of the bodies will be washed ashore at that point.

Scrofula

Is the most ancient and most general of all diseases. Scarcely a family is entirely free from it, while thousands everywhere are its suffering slaves. Hood's Sarsaparilla has had remarkable success in curing every form of scrofula. The most severe and painful running sores, swellings in the neck or goitre, humor in the eyes, causing partial or total blindness, yield to the powerful effects of this medicine. It thoroughly removes every trace of impurity from the blood and builds up the weakened system.

"My little daughter's life was saved, as we believe, by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before she was six months old she had 7 running scrofula sores. One physician advised the amputation of one of her fingers, to which we refused assent. When we began giving her Hood's Sarsaparilla, a marked improvement was noticed and by a continued use of it her recovery was complete. And she is now, being seven years old, strong and healthy." B. ESTATE OF HUGH HEANEY;

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 20th day of October in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety. Present, Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Hugh Heaney, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Alexander Richard, administrator upon the estate of said deceased, alleging that the funeral expenses and debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration thus far incurred have been fully paid and that he is now ready to close said estate and to render his final administration account, and praying that said account may be allowed, and that the residue of said estate may be assigned and distributed to those entitled thereto according to the statutes in such case made and provided, that he may be discharged and his bond cancelled and for such other order and decree as to this court shall seem proper.

It is ordered, That Monday, the 17th day of November next at 9 o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

DON'T GIVE UP

the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. One bottle may not cure "right off" a complaint of years; persist until a cure is effected. As a general rule, improvement follows shortly after beginning the use of this medicine. With many people, the effect is immediately noticeable; but some constitutions are less susceptible to medicinal influences than others, and the curative process may, therefore, in such cases, be less prompt. Perseverance in using this remedy is sure of its reward at last. Sooner or later, the most stubborn blood diseases yield to

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For several years, in the spring months, I used to be troubled with a drowsy, tired feeling, and a dull pain in the small of my back, so bad, at times, as to prevent my being able to walk, the least sudden motion causing me severe distress. Frequently, boils and rashes would break out on various parts of the body. By the advice of friends and my family physician, I began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla and continued it till the poison in my blood was thoroughly eradicated."—L. W. English, Montgomery City, Mo.

"My system was all run down; my skin rough and of yellowish hue. I tried various remedies, and while some of them gave me temporary relief, none of them did any permanent good. At last I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, continuing it exclusively for a considerable time, and am pleased to say that it completely

Cured Me.

I presume my liver was very much out of order, and the blood impure in consequence. I feel that I cannot too highly recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla to any one afflicted as I was."—Mrs. N. A. Smith, Glover, Vt.

"For years I suffered from scrofula and blood diseases. The doctors' prescriptions and several so-called blood-purifiers being of no avail, I was at last advised by a friend to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I did so, and now feel like a new man, being fully restored to health."—C. N. Frink, Decorah, Iowa.

A Double Tragedy

After Killing the Woman He Loves,

A COLUMBUS MAN SHOOTS HIMSELF THROUGH THE HEART.

An Early Morning Scene of Bloody Horror in the Buckeye Capital—Two Lifeless Bodies Tell the Tale of Love's Most Tragic Ending.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 3.—A most horrible murder and suicide occurred at 113 East Rich street, at 6:15 Sunday morning. Tunnis Amack shot and instantly killed Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson, a woman who has separated from her husband and of whom Amack had become enamored. Amack is a divorced man with three children, one of whom a lad twenty years of age lives with his father at 73 E. Rich street. Mrs. Anderson has also three children, one son twenty living with her at 113 E. Rich. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were separated as is stated above, the husband living on his father's farm with his two little girls at Huntsville, Ohio. Amack has known Mrs. Anderson for some time and has been greatly smitten with her. She signified her intention of going back to her husband some days ago, and Amack threatened to kill her and himself too if this was done. In the morning Mrs. Anderson got up in her night clothes to split some kindling with a hatchet preparatory to cooking breakfast. Amack came to the rear door of the house and immediately the nighbors saw the two scuffling and then both disappeared into the house. Harvey Colt the landlord, from whom Mrs. Anderson rents, started to separate the combatants, but before he could reach the house, three shots rang out and Amack darted out of the side yard. He was asked what was the matter and replied, "nothing in particular." Colt entered the house and found the body of the woman sweltering in her blood, one shot having passed clear through her, ranging from the breast bone and coming out between the shoulder blades. Another went through her brain, while the third went wild. The right side of her head was mashed in, probably with the hatchet. Policemen Reib and Culler pursued the murderer to his boarding house, but he was too fleet for them and rushing upstairs he roused his son, told him what had been done and ordered him from the room, saying that he was going to kill himself. Soon afterward a shot was heard and the officers bursting in the door found Amack lying on the bed clad in his shirt, pantaloons and shoes, shot through the right side, dead, and a 38-caliber pistol by his side. A young man sleeping in the room was not awakened by the shot nor knew nothing of the affair until the arrival of the officers.

Amack works for an installment house while Mrs. Anderson owns a fine farm west of the city.

Slick Ohio Swindler.

MUNCIE, IND., Nov. 3.—A rather tall, fine-looking man with a black mustache went to the home of Aaron B. Leakey, a prominent farmer residing five miles southwest of this city, and represented that he was a relative, and that he was sent on a mission from Dayton, Ohio, relatives to get his signature for an order for $6,090, that amount being due him from an unsettled estate that was located in that city. Leakey signed his name to the order, but is now nearly scared to death for fear the order will turn up a note for the above amount. He has telegraphed to Dayton to ascertain whether he was actually an heir to the estate, but was informed he was not.

The slick gentleman obtained $4 from Leahey on the strength of the order racket and then left for parts unknown.

Says She Saw the Virgin.

VIENNA, Nov. 3.—News has just reached here of a remarkable condition of excitement which is prevailing at Huttenberg at the present time. A young girl in that town declares she has witnessed a manifestation of the Virgin Mary in a tree, and exhorted by thousands of the excited country people she has gone with her foster mother to Marburg in order to demand permission of the archbishop for the people to witness the miracle. Seven gendarmes have already been posted around the tree in order to keep away the people, who are anxious to get close to it in the hope of being able to see the manifestation.

Stabbed in the Back.

GRAYSON, KY., Nov. 3.—Henry Drake, a shoemaker, and Abe Rupert, son of a prosperous farmer, became engaged in a quarrel. Albert Rupert had disarmed Drake of a large knife and taken refuge in a store, he was followed by Drake and Wylie Litteral. During the fracas that ensued the former plunged a knife twice in Rupert's back and three times in his breast, one of the cuts penetrating the lung. W. D. Malone was badly cut while attempting to part the men. Rupert cannot live through the night. Drake escaped.

Lost His Lottery Money.

MAYSVILLE, Nov. 3.—John M. McDowell, one of the leading business men of Mt. Olivet, has assigned to Dr. J. E. Walls for the benefit of creditors. The liabilities are placed at not less than $40,000. The assets consist of 160 hogsheads of tobacco, two hundred acres of good land and other property. Cincinnati parties are the principal creditors. Five years ago McDowell drew $7,500 in a lottery. He began speculating in tobacco and live stock and was successful until the past year, when he was caught on tobacco.

A Gambler in Trouble.

CIRCLEVILLE, O., Nov. 3.—In the Police court Felix R. Robertson, the Newark gambler, was arraigned for stealing $1,150 from Nancy M. Allen. The prosecuting witness failed to appear and he was discharged, but immediately rearrested on the charge of adultery. To this he entered a plea of guilty and was remanded to await sentence, which will be pronounced next Monday.

Tramp's Bloody Deed.

IRONTON, O., Nov. 3.—S. T. Field, aged 64, who lives just above this city, went out to the barn and was struck on the head, presumably by a tramp, and his skull was badly fractured. He is alive, but still unconscious and will die.

JESUS IN COURT.

LESSON VI, FOURTH QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, NOV. 9.

Text of the Lesson, Luke xxiii, 1-12. Commit Verses 11, 12—Golden Text, Luke xxiii, 4—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of J. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

1. "And the whole multitude of them arose, and led Him unto Pilate." It is written in Ps. ii, 1, 2, that the Gentiles rage and the kings of the earth set themselves and the rulers take counsel together against the Lord and against His anointed; so that to fulfill the Scriptures Jesus had to pass through the hands of Gentiles as well as Jews. And there we find Him in this lesson.

2. "And they began to accuse Him, saying, We found this fellow perverting the nation, and forbidding to give tribute to Cæsar, saying that He Himself is Christ a King." Thus the rulers of the Jews accused Jesus before Pilate. What an accusation! Two lies and one truth in that which is here written.

3. "And Pilate asked Him, saying, Art Thou the King of the Jews? And He answered him, and said, Thou sayest it." The accounts in Matthew and Mark agree with this, but John gives the additional information that Jesus said to Pilate, "Sayest thou this thing of thyself, or did others tell it thee of Me?" (John xviii, 34).

4. "Then said Pilate to the chief priests and to the people, I find no fault in this man." According to the account in John, Pilate said these words three different times (John xviii, 38; xix, 4, 6), thus giving a threefold direct testimony to the innocence of Jesus. And this from the Roman governor, who was certainly supposed to be capable of forming a somewhat correct judgment concerning a person's guilt or innocence.

5. "And they were the more fierce, saying, He stirreth up the people, teaching throughout all Jewry, beginning from Galilee to this place." Afraid of losing their prey, they lie more vehemently concerning Him.

6. "When Pilate heard of Galilee, he asked whether the man were a Galilean." He saw himself in a difficult position and was glad of the possibility of escape from it. He had before him an innocent man, and also a cruel and bloodthirsty people crying for the death of that innocent man. How could it be that from Galilee to Jerusalem all the people were stirred up against Cæsar by this man's teaching and the Roman governor never have heard of it. Pilate sees how foolish and ungrounded this accusation is and he pays no heed to it. He is only anxious for some way out of his difficulty.

7. "And as soon as he knew that He belonged unto Herod's jurisdiction, he sent Him to Herod, who himself also was at Jerusalem at that time." In chap. iii, 1, we read that Pontius Pilate was governor of Judea and Herod tetrarch of Galilee. Herod's being in Jerusalem at this time was no doubt of God, that he, too, as another Gentile ruler, might see and testify to the innocence of Jesus, thus providing two witnesses from among the Gentile rulers.

8. "And when Herod saw Jesus he was exceeding glad, for he was desirous to see Him of a long season, because he had heard many things of Him; and he hoped to have seen some miracle done by Him." In chaps. ix, 9, we learn that after beheading John, Herod heard of Jesus and desired to see Him. In Mark vi, 14, we read that Herod thought that Jesus was John the Baptist risen from the dead, and that that accounted for His mighty works. Jesus the Nazarene was evidently talked about even at Herod's court, but it must have been as some wonder worker among the poor, of whom the rich and the great knew very little. If Herod wanted much to see Him why did he not see Him? Jesus did not keep Himself hid. As this verse indicates, his desire was only to see the wonder worker and some of His wonders, but it was not worth his while to put himself out for it. He really wanted nothing from the poor Jew of Nazareth, for what could a poor despised Nazarene do for so great a Roman citizen as Herod? But now at last they are face to face; let us observe and listen.

9. "Then he questioned with Him in many words, but He answered Him nothing." Jesus is quietly going forward to His death. He is in the hands of His enemies, and neither in the heart of Herod nor in the heart of any one of His accusers is there the least desire to hear the truth to which He came to bear witness. So He is silent. Herod would like to be entertained; the Jews want only His death; entertainment Jesus will not give; He came not for that purpose; He came to give eternal life, but that Herod does not want.

10. "And the chief priests and scribes stood and vehemently accused Him." Representatives of the great accuser from whom all the followers of Jesus suffer, the father of lies, the accuser of the brethren, let us not fear either Him or His, nor be in the least moved; they can only go as far as God permits, but a hair of our heads they cannot hurt beyond this present time.

11. "And Herod with his men of war set Him at naught, and mocked Him, and arrayed Him in a gorgeous robe, and sent Him again to Pilate." Thus is His meekness rewarded by these cruel ones. He will not gratify their curiosity nor entertain them with His wonders, and this is their revenge, and He suffers it meekly, like all the rest of their ill treatment. Is there not something like this on the part of many today, who will not say anything good of such as refuse to provide entertainment for the curious in the house of God, and prefer the truth and the truth alone to draw and keep the people, believing that Jesus lifted up is sufficient to draw and save and keep; in fact, that the old, old story of Jesus and His love is all our need, and even though we be set at nought and mocked and despised for it we will meekly keep on our way? Be not discouraged, dear teachers and preachers, if the Herodians (the worldly ones) despise you for your narrow ways when you join not with them. Think of Jesus despised and crucified, and let the cross be all your glory. There are many with whom it is useless to argue; the only way ofttimes is to say nothing.

12. "And the same day Pilate and Herod were made friends together: for before they were at enmity between themselves." It is not strange that two such as Pilate and Herod should be at enmity, for they knew not the Prince of Peace; but it is strange indeed when those who bear the name of the Prince of Peace are at enmity among themselves and will not unite in His service; yet such things are often seen. They will unite against Him, and often be brought together by some scheme which dishonors Him, and is on the side of His enemies; but to humble before Him for united effort for His glory, some will not do it. Blessed are all such as are made friends on His behalf

An Important Matter,

Druggists everywhere report that the cases of the Restoritive Nervine a nerve beat and medicine— are astonishing exceeding anything they ever had, while it gives universal satisfaction in headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, sexual debility, backache, poor memory, fits, dizziness etc. L. THE GREELEY COLONY.

From the N. Y. Tribune of Sept. 17th we clip the following review of David Boyd's history of the Greeley colony in Colorado:

It is not necessary for Mr. Boyd to apologize for the time and space he has devoted to this history of Greeley and the Union Colony, and he is too modest in supposing that it will be read only by such as have been directly or indirectly interested in the colony. Any honestly and carefully written chronicle of the founding and growth of a community must be full of interest and instruction; and in this case circumstances contributed to give a more than common significance to the events described. Moreover this is the history of a successful colonizing enterprise, and one which won its success in the face of discouragements and misunderstandings such as have repeatedly wrecked similar experiments. The enthusiasm which the preliminary discussions by Horace Greeley and N. C. Meeker had created in the minds of nearly all who joined in the enterprise carried the colonists over many painful obstacles. The want of guiding experience was felt. Colorado required a kind of agricultural knowledge which the Eastern States could not supply. It was a land of artifical irrigation, and a vast amount of information on this widely ramified subject was at once demanded.

Now, while there is no room for doubt as to the value of irrigation in such regions as Colorado and Southern California, the framing of systems to utilize the available water on the largest scale, without waste and without monopoly, is a task which has proved too hard for hundreds of veteran lawmakers and jurists. The Greeley colonists were not long in realizing the extent of the irrigation difficulties. In the first place, the men whom they had chosen to lay out a system of canals had so little understanding of the subject that the canals they made or proposed were wholly indequate to the work. Hence trouble arose almost at the outset, the expenses were incurred in doing over again work which should have been well and thoroughly done at the beginning. One wise principle adopted at the outset perhaps saved the colony. Its founders saw clearly that it would imperil the undertaking if they admitted to it people wholly without funds. Some few men of moderate capital there, must be, and the rest must be at least supplied with enough money to carry them well over the first year. That was an eminently sound provision, and it lightened the general burden in the end. Greeley was avowedly a temperance colony, but somehow—Mr. Boyd apparently does not know exactly in what way—drinking men found their way into the settlement after a time, and of course made trouble. In regard to denominationalism the colony showed the diversity of views common to nearly all American communities, and the engraving in this volume of the many places of worship at present existing do not seem to indicate the near approach of that unity in an American Church Universal which is the dream of some enthusiasts and the hope of others.

Mr. Boyd's conscientious and minute record necessarily brings into merciless prominence the various dissensions, bickerings and misunderstandings which are unhappily but too certain to arise even in the most carefully ordered community. Experience, however, had to be paid for, and if it was often expensive at the time its lessons proved profitable enough. "The Greely Tribune," the colony newspaper, was of very great help, and enabled the colonists to mature schemes of improvement with the rapidity obtainable only by organization and discipline. Mr. Boyd's illustrations, taken from various points in the town, and showing the most important buildings, public and private, are in themselves the most striking evidence of the extent and importance of the development achieved in less than twenty years.

The history of Greeley will of course be most prized by the colonists and their friends, and in years to come their descendants, and students of American nation-making generally, will be thankful and greatful to Mr. Boyd for the fulness and detail which he is afraid will militate against the value of his book. Mr. Boyd gives nearly all Horace Greeley's correspondence about Greeley, together with portraits of the men who were the most concerned either in founding or developing the colony. The author has some aversions, and now and then airs them rather too persistently, but as a rule he tells his story straightly, with cautious minuteness and a clear sense of his responsibility. The record, while exterminating nothing, is greatly to the credit of the colony, which has plainly earned its prosperity by hard work, good judgment and self-control, and which has not only been well advised, but has had the wisdom to recognize and follow good counsel.

Chas. A. Leder's Hilarity Co.

This popular organization will appear at Tecumseh Opera House on Wednesday Nov. 12th, presenting a musical farce-comedy, "Hilarity," that for genuine merit, originality, and the acme of refinement, has never been excelled. The comedy, Hilarity, is without doubt the best and funniest of all musical comedies. The company is constantly originating what is new in songs, dances and clever specialties, and new and novel effects. And they have educated the public to understand that whenever they appear the people are sure of seeing something new. Their entertainment is managed with tone and good taste, thus appealing to the refined and cultured, in fact they make a feature of catering to the better classes. The company this season is under the management of Messrs. Brady & Garwood, which is a sufficient guarantee that it is a first-class company.

A LUCKY LADY.

MILAN, Tenn, Sept. 23rd.

Mrs. G. W. Combs, Humboldt, Tenn., a former resident of this place, has recently fallen heir to half a million dollars left by her Scotch grandfather. She has forwarded proof of her relationship to the lawyers and will receive her inheritance to-day.—Evening Mail and Express, New York, Sept. 23rd, 1890.

We are Mrs. Combs' lawyers and by her seeing our advertisement became the agents of her good fortune. We have a number of similar claims in our hands and expect to gain them. If your ancestors came from the old country write us and inclose 25 cents for reply. There are more than half a billion dollars in Great Britain alone, unclaimed, which rightly belong to people in the United States.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark, says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample, bottles free.

The Christian Union

$3 a year

Do you know The Christian Union? We have made a special and exclusive arrangement to send to each of our mail subscribers a copy of this crisp and popular Family Paper, by way of introduction. Let us tell you about it in advance. Only a hint or two—the way to know it is to read it every week.

The "Outlook" is a week's world-history. Supplements the daily paper—sometimes supplants it.

Each issue is made up on the issues of the week. The best writer to be found gives his best thought on each vital topic.

Sermons by America's foremost preachers. Sunday reading for people of every faith.

Pictures nearly every week—not for art's sake, but to make clear the text.

Railways and Pleasure Resorts of America. Any time-table or descriptive circular sent free to any Christian Union reader, on application.

It's a woman's paper—helpful, entertaining, suggestive in all home matters.

It's a man's paper—virile, inspiring, in the forefront of all great movements.

Boys and girls watch the mail for it. There is good fun in its pages every week—bright stories and practical talks.

"She Loved a Sailor," a powerful drama story by Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, begins in late October, and runs four months.

Ex-President R. B. Hayes says: "The Christian Union is a paper of progress. Its ideas, spirit, and aims are excellent. It is hopeful, generous, effective."

By special arrangement we offer to extend your subscription to this paper for one year, and send The Christian Union one year to a new subscriber, for the very low combination price named above. No other paper in town is able to make this offer. Don't miss this opportunity to secure two papers that you want, at so low a price. Address this office.

WILHELM'S IMPROVED CREAMERY-CAN

Unequalled for private Dairies of from one cow to full size Creamery. $5.00 will buy FOUR 3-GAL. CANS making a capacity of 12 gallons of milk, and will PRODUCE ALL THE CREAM FROM 4 TO 8 HOURS, in a vat, tub, or any receptacle the farmer may choose, holding water from 10 to 14 inches in depth, and temperature from 40 to 60 degrees cold. IT MAKES A PERFECT CREAM and combines the advantage of deep setting, rapid cooling, protecting the milk from all impurities of the atmosphere which so quickly taints cream. Also preventing souring by the germs, from flies, insects, dust, and all bad odors, thus producing both cream and milk, clean and sweet. Over 200,000 in use in the U. S. One setting of milk is all that is needed to prove the merit of the can. Usual size of can, 3-gal., price $1.25. A liberal discount on orders of one dozen Cans and upwards. Write for descriptive circular and testimonials. I also make a specialty of building Creameries and furnishing all the best improved machinery and apparatus. JOHN WILHELM, Wooster, Wayne Co. O.

C. L. Osgood, Samaria, Mich. says—The Milk Cans I bought of you give perfect satisfaction. We can make just as good and just as much butter in the most unfavorable season of the year by the use of your Cans as at any other time of the year. I have 4 Cans. Have used them 3 years and would not be without them.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE

RIDGEWAY RAMBLES

The first quarterly meeting service for the present conference year will be held next Sunday morning.

The attendance at the L. C. S. held at Mrs. Ella Waring's on Friday evening was very good, considering the unpleasantness of the evening. A pleasant time was spent by all present.

Ed. Palmer began his first term of school in the Easlick Dist. Macon, Monday morning.

Lulu Rappleye visited relatives at Dundee last week several days.

Mrs. Lavinia Jackson of Macon, was called here Friday by the sickness of her brother, Jacob Arner, who at present writing is failing very rapidly.

Mrs. Geo. Frost and Sarah Jackson of Macon were in the village calling on relatives Friday.

Fannie Schwab of Monroe called on friends Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Schreder of Clinton visited their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Arner, last week Friday.

Lottie Arner was called home from Detroit Saturday by the rapid failing of her father.

Waring and Eaton finished digging their potatoes last week. They had in about ten acres and received upwards of 1,500 bushels, which they disposed of at 50c per bushel.

There was a report started that the body of Mrs. Lydia Miller Canfield, who died at the Kalamazoo asylum a few weeks ago, was seen at the University in Ann Arbor. We ha been requested to say through the HERALD that such is not the case.

Theodore Allison is on the sick list with blood poison in his right hand, caused by using a brass husking pin.

Mrs. Bush and son Irving and Miss Ella Hall arrived from Brooklyn Saturday for a few days' stay with their mother, Mrs. Hall.

The frescoers began their work in the audience room of the church Thursday of last week.

Cemetery Sexton Smith is improving the drives in the cemetery by doing some scraping, etc.

Last week's issue of the Adrian Press has no files on it but several Republican representatives. We told you so.

Some of our Republican friends wonder if Capt. Fred Wood has got through running yet.

Master Willie Fletcher arrived last week to spend the winter with his aunt, Mrs. Wm. Larkin, and attend school.

The annual box social for the Hall Memorial Library Association will be held at the parlors of the library on Wednesday evening of next week. The ladies are respectfully requested to each furnish a box with eatables for two, which will be sold at auction to the gentlemen. Those who have attended them heretofore know that a grand time is expected and it is hoped a good attendance will be had and that it may prove to be the most enjoyable occasion of the season.

We were awakened from our peaceful slumbers at the hour of midnight Saturday by the cry of fire, and were soon on our way to the scene of destruction, which proved to be the barns of Charles Pocklington, south of the village on Pickerel hill. We were among the first on the ground and witnessed the fine barns, filled with hay, stalks and grain soon reduced to a heap of ashes. The west barn, which was 22x89 feet, with 14-foot posts, was used used for horses, cows and sheep, also tools of all kinds used on a farm, buggy, top buggy, wagon, cutter, road cart, single and double harnesses, etc., and filled with hay above and 100 bushels of corn. On the north-east, cornering on this, stood a stock and hay barn, 32x46, with 18-ft posts, and filled with choice hay. A reaper and mower stood on the floor. 12 feet to the southeast stood a 28x46 ft., with 16-foot posts, grain barn, with 10 acres of stalks in the mow and nearly 300 bushels oats and 200 of wheat in the granary. A large strawstack stood in the center of the circle of barns. His fine brood mare, which was in the stock hospital at the south end of the yard, was saved with great difficulty. There was no stock in the barns. The corn crib, hog pen and hospital were saved. The loss on buildings and contents is estimated as $4,000. insured for $2,000 in the Farmers' Mutual.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to thank the kind neighbors and friends who lent such valuable assistance in saving our property on the night our barns were burned.

MR. & MRS. CHAS. POCKLINGTON.

BRITTON BUDGET.

Muddy roads.

Edgar Daykin is studying law at Ann Arbor.

Will Babcock returned from Lansing last Friday.

George Gifford is happy and paid out the cigars like a man.

E. E. Burnham shipped a carload of hogs from here last Saturday.

There is a good deal of sickness in town, mostly amongst the Republicans.

A large number of Democrats went to Manchester Tuesday. They report a good time.

Persons having items of interest for publication are requested to leave them with Herbert Cranshaw.

Will Taylor paid Britton a visit last Sunday. He is checker in the Union ews office at Detroit and is doing well.

Will Clark returned from Colorado Springs last week and may again be seen hustling business at the Union depot,

The Britton Dramatic Club will meet in a few days for the purpose of putting a new play on the boards. Further particulars later.

Bridge men are busy working on the Wabash. They are boarding at the Exelby House and say they can get a better meal there than at any other hotel on the road.

The young Democrats of Britton had a jollification last Thursday eve. Giant powder and a bonfire were their principal amusements. No damage was done and everything was conducted in an orderly manner.

Fred Chappell, who has been attending to the drug business of Will Babcock left here last Saturday for Mud Lake, Mich., where he has secured a position in a drug store at a higher salary. We wish him success.

F. Brown & Son are doing a rushing business. They carry a good line of boots and shoes of superior quality and at a moderate cost; also a good stock of dry goods. Anyone in want of such had better give them a call.

Mr. Strong is still a fixture at the Exelby House. The wiseacres shake their heads and whisper that next spring will bring to light some of the finest detective work of modern times. Can it be possible that we have an adder amongst us watching our every movement and patiently waiting month after month till the time arrives to spring upon us when we least expect it. Let us beware. Justice is sometimes slow, but is is sure, and who can tell but that Mr. S. may yet turn out to be Jack the Ripper, or some other detective of high ability and standing.

NORTH EAST FRANKLIN.

School closed on Tuesday in Dist. No. 3.

Hollis Taylor began teaching Monday in the Wolfberg district.

Fred Davenport visited at his mother's near Jackson last week.

Mrs. Rodman Taylor has been very sick for the past week or ten days.

Hudson and Dora Davenport drove out to Reading Friday to visit an uncle.

Mrs. Munger was quite ill last week. Pneumonia was feared but it is hoped the danger is passed.

Mr. and Mrs, John Griswold, of London, Monroe county, were visiting friends in Franklin Saturday.

But few members of the White Ro e Club were able to get out Saturday, o ng to the rain, so it was decided to postpone the meeting until the 15th, when it is hoped the weather may be more propitious.

THE TARIFF AND THE MILLERS.

We find the following item in a late number of the Northwestern Miller. It shows that the millers are investigating the subjects of free coinage and the tariff for themselves.

Heck Bros., Tecumseh, Mich.: "In reading your comments on the tariff, I was reminded that when I was in Scotland last September a Scotch miller remarked to me: 'We Scotch millers can always undersell you Americans. I buy two cargoes of India wheat at 30s per qr, and one of American red at 36s per qr, and we mix the three grades and make a good fair grade of flour, with which we can undersell you 75c per bbl and still make a fair profit. Why, said he, 'take the exchange on silver in India and gold in Scotland; the difference has been as much as 27c per bu in my favor.' Now, how is it that we did not have free coinage? Would it not benefit both farmer and miller? We ought to have free trade with countries which useAmerican products, by all means."

McComas of Maryland, one of the ablest Republicans in the House, is the man who first started the Force bill scheme, and championed the Lodge bill. He was beautifully laid out last week.

LAKE RIDGE LACONICS.

A young son at L. Gregory's.

Corn husking in the mud is progressing very slowly.

Samuel Steel has moved into Lew Miller's house.

Mrs. Tommy Watkins has been quite sick with malarial fever.

Elmer Hunter has bought the goods and rented the store of Abe Harrington. He will fill up with a new stock and everybody's patronage is solicited.

Mary and Jennie Osgood met with quite an accident Monday afternoon in the village of Ridgeway. The horse became frightened at a bicycle and ran away. The girls were thrown out and Jennie was quite severely injured. The road cart is a total wreck.

The Prohibs of Macon will open the campaign for 1892 with a musical entertainment at Grange Hall in about three weeks—next full moon— assisted by Tecumseh and Ridgeway, embracing vocal and instrumental music, recitations, essays, etc, with supper and social. Time and particulars announced later.

One might as well look on an auction bill for returns on the Prohibition vote, as in the old party papers. Still they doubled their vote in this State and nearly doubled the Fisk vote in the nation, while the Union Labor and Farmers' Alliance have carried three States and have a good foothold in many others.

The election passed off smoothly and quietly, with considerable still hunting on special candidates. The booths gave general satisfaction but the canvassing was tedious. We would suggest a special canvassing board and three ballot boxes. When 100 votes are polled close the box and open another, and the special board proceed to count the votes.

TIPTON TOPICS.

Election passed off quietly here and the Democrat rejoiceth.

Charlie Simmons is moving back to his own place at Batavia.

The social at Geo. Poucher's last Friday eve. was well attended and all enjoyed a pleasant evening.

Last Wednesday the wedding bells, for which we have been listening some time, pealed forth. By 12 o'clock a goodly number of friends and relatives had assembled at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Crittenden to witness the marriage of their daughter Josephine to Mr. Lucien G. Lerch of Clayton. Promptly at one o'clock the couple were ushered in, attended by Miss Nettie Camburn and Mr. Stephen Lerch of Chicago, brother of the groom. After receiving congratulations all removed to the dining room, where a bounteous repast awaited them. They received many costly and useful presents, as tokens of the love and friendship which their many friends bear towards them. Thus another of our brightest and best young ladies has left us, but Franklin's loss is Clayton's gain. As they journey together over life's rugged pathway the best wishes and hopes of their many friends go with them, and "may their lives have just enough cloud to make a glorious sunset."

CAMBRIDGE CLIPPINGS.

I. A. Dewey is having fresh fish shipped from Toledo every Friday.

Farmers in this vicinity are mostly through husking and have their stalks hauled.

C. H. Dewey went to Adrian one day last week and got carpets for their new house.

Prof. Sill, who preached in the Episcopal church last Sunday, drew out a large crowd.

The Sunday School Institute at Springville last Saturday was well attended, although it was rather a poor day for it. The next one will be held at Onsted some time in January.

UNION LITERARY AND LYCEUM.

The above society met at Mr. A. D, Hunter's, Oct. 31, 1890. Notwithstanding there were lots of mud there was a good crowd present and the following program was well recited.

Dec.—Williard Hunt.
Rec.—Cora Burtless.
Rec.—Mabel Mudget.
Rec —Ella Munger.
Dia.—Bert and Bertha Francisco.
Sel. Read.—Hoyt Wheelan.
" " —Alton Whelan.
Paper—Edith Taylor.
Dec.—Howard Whelan.
Speech—S. N. Munger.

The next meeting will be held at Lou Mudget's, Nov. 14, 1890. The same question, Resolved that railroads should be owned and controlled by the Government, will be discussed

The revised returns from this county give the Republicans State Senator, Sheriff, Register and Surveyor. The Democrats take the rest.

GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC.

Commander Coddington of Beers Post, G. A. R., has furnished for publication the following Circular letter from headquarters, which will be of interest to the general public:

COMRADES: The Grand Army of the Republic was never in better condition than at the present time. Its strength and power are commensurate with its numbers, now nearly one-half million Comrades. But its mission is not complete. We are comrades not for personal benefit to ourselves, but to enable us individually the better to do good to others who stood at our side in the shock of battle. There are far too many such, not enrolled with us and therefore not within the reach of the full benefits of our order. They lose the advantage and inspiration of fraternal associations which the Post room, the only club room of the average veteran, affords. The relief fund of the Post is not sure to reach them in their distress. They do not go with us to visit the sick, to feed the hungry, or to bury the dead comrade. Our badge, which Grant and Sheridan prized and Sherman wears, does not decorate their breasts as the insignia of honor for their valiant service.

No veteran joins the Grand Army of the Republic and enters into its work in the spirit of true comradeship, without being lifted to a loftier manhood and to the plane of better citizenship. We therefore fail in duty if we fail to do our utmost to bring all who offered their lives for flag and country within our organization. They all now know that such membership cannot infringe the free exercise of political inclination or religious faith.

The Commander-in-Chief therefore appeals to Posts and comrades to bring upon our rolls all worthy veterans of the Union army and navy, who are not there already, and to let none be dropped therefrom for inability to pay the small dues incumbent upon membership.

He also solicits from Department Commanders and all comrades frank suggestions upon matters within administrative jurisdiction pertaining to the welfare of the order. By vigorous co-operation along our lines they are sure to be greatly advanced, and our countrymen will ever rise up to bless us for true devotion to "Fraternity, Charity and Loyalty," even as they hold us in honor for brave deeds on the battle-fields of the Republic.

UNDISPUTED MERIT.

The great success of the Royal Baking Powder is due to the extreme care exercised by its manufacturers to make it entirely pure, uniform in quality, and of the highest leavening power. All the scientific knowledge, and skill, attained by a twenty years' practical experience are contributed toward this end, and no pharmaceutical preparation can be dispensed with a greater accuracy, precision and exactness. Every article used is absolutely pure. A number of chemists are employed to test the strength of each ingredient, so that its exact power and effect in combination with its co-ingredients is definitely known. Nothing is trusted to chance, and no person is employed in the preparation of the manufacture of the powder, who is not an expert in his particular branch of the business. As a consequence, the Royal Baking Powder is of the highest grade of excellence, always pure, wholesome and uniform in quality. Each box is exactly like every other, and will retain its powers and produce the same and the highest leavening effect in any climate, at any time. The Government Chemists after having analyzed all the principal brands in the market, in their reports placed the Royal Baking Powder at the head of the list for strength, purity and wholesomeness, and thousands of tests all over the country have further demonstrated the fact that its qualities are, in every respect, unrivaled.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

Send to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass., for a free sample copy of the Cottage Hearth, a beautiful illustrated magazine, and so realize what an extraordinary offer we are making when we offer to send both the Cottage Hearth and this paper for a full year for only $2.00, when the price of the Cottage Hearth alone is $1 50 a year. The Boston Transcript says of the Cottage Hearth:—

"Setting aside its literary contents, which are of a high order of merit, the collection of receipts for the kitchen and for the sick-room, its practical suggestions and advice for the raising and care of plants and flowers, its instruction for beautifying homes by simple means, and other practical features, make it invaluable to every household."

TECUMSEH, THURSDAY, NOV. 13.

The new booth system has come to stay, but the new counting system must go.

Capt. Fred. B. Wood made the banner run on the county ticket, his majority being 394.

The Messenger claims that the Prohibitionists have about doubled their vote in this State.

The latest returns make the Democratic majority in the next House over one hundred. It may reach even 140.

The tariff reformers suffered their Bull Run defeat two years ago, but they won their Gettysburg last week.

Indiana indorses the administration with a Democratic majority of 18,000 and eleven Congressmen out of thirteen.

The most skeptical Republicans are beginning to realize the fact that it was a good deal of a Democratic deluge.

Grandfather's hat was carried up out of sight in the recent whirlwind. Not a vestige of it has been discovered since.

The McKinley bill has done one good service anyway. It has knocked the Republican majorities higher than Gilderoy's kite.

Wm. E. Russull, the Governor elect of Massachusetts, is only thirty-three years old and one of the most brilliant men in the State.

New Hampshire, New York, Illinois and Wisconsin will each send a Democrat to the U. S. Senate after the 4th of next March.

The revised returns from this county give the Republicans State Senator, Sheriff, Register and Surveyor. The Democrats take the rest.

The Prohibitionists of Lenawee county certainly have good cause for satisfaction. They increased their vote a square 400 over two years ago.

The Adrian Times thinks that the tariff alone did it. The tariff had its influence that is true, but Turnerism had a good deal to do with it in this state.

The Messenger says that the tariff question is settled till the next election. Not quite, neighbor. The tariff question can never be settled until it is settled right.

McComas of Maryland, one of the ablest Republicans in the House, is the man who first started the Force bill scheme, and championed the Lodge bill. He was beautifully laid out last week.

If Congressman Allen is satisfied with his record during the last session of Congress, and with the verdict of his constituents thereon, there is no reason why the voters themselves should complain.

Henry Smith said, in a brief speech at the Opera House in Tecumseh, that it would take twenty-five years to change the complexion of the U. S. Senate. Well, Henry, we got a pretty good start on it last week, anyhow.

The result in Kansas is enough to to take one's breath away. The Farmer's Alliance elect their State ticket, five out of seven Congressmen, and an opposition majority in the legislature, which will end Senator Ingall's official career.

Capt. A. P. Coddington made a fine run here at home on the Prohibition ticket. Had he stood the least show of an election he would have got a much heavier vote. The slips he received were bestowed as a personal compliment.

John D. Shull made a "home run" sure. He ran 88 ahead of his party ticket in Tecumseh, and his plurality in the district was 59. A few friendly votes from "tother side" come mighty handy sometimes.

The Democrats should not lose their heads over the recent victory. The possession of political power will bring with it political responsibility. A wise, cautious, conservative course will enable them to hold what they have gained.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY ABOUT IT.

A POLITICAL REVOLUTION.

More than all, this is not a sudden spasm, such as that which led to the election of Governors Gaston and Butler; but is, on the contrary, one of those changes which Massachusetts has made in times gone by, in advance of her sister States, but in the line of true political development. The vote of yesterday is a rebuke which, as it may not be heeded in the manner that it should be, will not only tend to put Massachusetts into the list of Democratic States in the Presidential election of 1892, but will also have the effect of greatly influencing the political action of other States, which, consciously or unconsciously, have been accustomed to copy her example.—Boston Herald.

SKIES ARE CLEARING.

The voting throughout the country shows that the impulse which carried Pennsylvania back into the Democratic column is not singular nor accidental. She still stands side by side with Massachusetts.—Philadelphia Record.

THINGS THAT ARE SETTLED.

Various things are settled by the glorious results of yesterday's elections. The "educational campaign" is a success. The country will not tolerate McKinleyism nor Reedism either. Reed, McKinley and Harrison are repudiated as party leaders. The probabilities now are very strongly against either of them being nominated for President two years hence, and Blaine is still the "uncrowned king" of the Republican party. The Presidential campaign of 1892 will be fought mainly on the tariff question, and it will not be a question between a 60 per cent and a 42 per cent tariff. The next Democratic candidate will be a man thoroughly identified with the tariff reform cause. The next President will be a Democrat.—Boston Globe.

BLAINE AND CLEVELAND.

Cleveland is a certainty for the Democrats. The Republicans can't help taking Blaine. He is the only prominent Republican who has a spoonful of political brains; the only one with sense enough to anticipate the ruin brought on the party by Reed and Harrison. Republicans cannot help admiring him. They forgive him his record for dishonesty when they compare his "brilliancy" with the blockhead stupidity of his rivals for party leadership—or rather those who were his rivals, for just at present he has no rival in his party. They have all gone down and under, leaving him alone on the wreck-strewn surface of Republican politics.—St. Louis Republic.

POOR TOM REED.

McKinleyism is routed. Reedism is knocked into smithereens. Tom's present grasp on the gavel is nerveless. He mourns McKinley and Cannon, who might have been counted in if the senate had but done its duty. He bewails Mason. Casting his eye abroad he sees, O woeful vision! a Democratic governor in Massachusetts, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania. He beholds New Hampshire sending up a Democratic senator to Washington. He notes Democratic gains throughout all Hail Columbia's happy land. He sees the President powerless to save Indiana, though journeying 900 miles to accomplish that result. He rends his sash. He tears what hair he has. And if he were not another Marius amid the ruins of Carthage he would be the elder Weller reproaching Samivel because the governor had not resorted to that force-bill of the Old Bailey, a halibi! Poor Tom Reed! These be days of affliction for him. Can not the Union League Club of Chicago comfort him in his affliction by forwarding him a case of Schlossvollradser cabinet? He needs to drown his sorrows.—Chicago Times.

WHY THEY GOT LEFT.

Our Republican friends have been demanding free ballot and a fair count for years. They got it Tuesday in Michigan, and they got left at the same time. This looks as though the buying of votes heretofore had been by Republicans and the selling had been done by Democrats. The Prohibitionists got only what belonged to them and they are doubling their vote all along the line. There was no chance to bulldoze, boycott, or keep people from voting as they desired.—Michigan Messenger.

THE RULE OF THE PEOPLE.

"The indorsement"—of democratic protest against republican misrule, comes stronger and stronger and more unmistakably clear and plain. It is easy to account for remarkable manifestations in localities, but when a cyclone sweeps over the country, like that of Tuesday, there is a deep significance underlying it all. It is the majestic voice of an awakened people, proclaiming that they are still the sovereigns in the land which has named itself the home of liberty. The "campaign of education" will not stop here; it is just begun. The people who have been admonished by their self-instituted mentors to "leave the tariff question to experts, they could not hope to understand it," are every day proving the falsity of such assertion, as well as the motive of the advisers. The tax question, which involves that of equal rights, is the one issue and it will not down until something like justice is done the masses of laboring people who are the producers of the wealth of our wonderful country. The chimneys of factories darkening the air, while in their shadows are the huts of poverty-pinched toilers, do not stand for true prosperity. A hundred men paying tribute from their pittance that one man may live in luxury and amass wealth to purchase power to still further press his exactions, is not a spectacle for Americans to rejoice over.—Toledo Bee.

SETTLED!

That the people of this country will not have a Force Bill to rule over them and transform their equal Republic into a consolidated despotism.

That the plan of converting the Congress of the United States into a mere form of mechanism for the purpose of recording the fiat of Thomas Brackett Reed, or of any other ambitious individual, might now be profitably abandoned in favor of older methods of legislation.

Those not sufficiently enlightened on these subjects by the lessons of last Tuesday, may, if they choose, seek further instruction in the same manner; but we warn them that if they do this, what is now only an autumn gale will swell into the dimensions of a destroying earthquake. Then they will pray to the mountains to fall and hide them, and they will pray in vain.—N. Y. Sun.

TRICKS WILL BE IN VAIN.

The politicians at Washington will take their sticky fingers out of the people's business affairs, and keep them out. There will be a hasty retreat by some of the Republicans, and by others there will be a stampede to oblivion. All the arts of James G. Blaine and other astute servants of monopoly will now be called into requisition to devise new tricks for the befoolment of the people, but they will be in vain. The light of the morning is upon the country. The sun of truth, of decency, of fair play, of unshackled commerce, of equal rights and of honest government has risen. Its welcome rays will serve to illumine the glorious pathway of reform during the two years remaining of an administration whose election was bought and whose degradation seems the more profound now that it stands in striking comparison with the majestic reawakening and reinspiration of the people.—Chicago Herald.

A REVOLUTION IN MASSACHUSETTS.

Whatever might be expected of a State less strongly bound to the traditions of the Republican name and a people less strictly educated to the shibboleth of the Republican party, it certainly was not anticipated by the most sanguine that two years of misgovernment at Washington would suffice to breed in Massachusetts a revolt like that which caused the overturning of yesterday. In no other State in the Union could the repudiation of this party have such deep significance. For here is not the result of a changing population, of the introduction of controlling local issues, or of the successful marshaling of a Democratic vote which in other years has not been brought out. It can hardly be called an uprising of the people. It is simply a transfer of the intelligence, the loyalty and the public spirit of the Republican party to another allegiance.—Boston Post.

THE VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Whatever excuse there may be in special cases, here and there, in local elections for misunderstanding or misrepresenting the meaning of yesterday's result, there can be no such excuse in respect to the congressional elections. The overturning of the Republican majority in the House of Representatives and its replacement by a good working Democratic majority is the voice of the people protesting in thunder tones against the abuse of power which has been the most noticeable feature of legislation for two years past. It is a protest, not only against that gigantic wrong, the McKinley tariff, enacted for the profit of the few, to whom it has given license to rob the many, but against the pretense that a free people can not be permitted safely to cast their ballots without the supervision of the military arm of the government. It is no less a protest against the tyranny which has come to be fully and accurately described as "tomreedism."—Detroit Free Press.

IT IS REVOLUTION.

Only one word in the language is at all adequate to describe the magnitude of the Democratic victory won yesterday. It is revolution. The country has not seen such a clean sweep for any party in this quarter of the century. The Democrats have carried Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Indiana, New York and Nebraska. Kansas is claimed by the Republicans, but is in doubt. The full returns promise to add Illinois and Wisconsin to the Democratic column.

The country has risen en masse in protest against the return of the Reconstruction period and the increase of war taxes above the war rate. The Democratic party has not won such a victory since 1856. In 1884 it won the Presidency on the old lines, playing the New York combination. Now New York scarcely figures in the overwhelming Democratic wave which has swept the country, though in New York, too, there has been a signal Democratic victory.

Harrison and Reed, Quay and Dudley, Mailed Hand and Blocks of Five, are buried past resurrection. The country has passed through a great crisis, and it is once more demonstrated that no despotism of money or force can crush the free spirit of America. Yesterday's work means peace, prosperity, union. It is the dawn of the Twentieth Century, full of hope for united America, North, South, East and West. The lines of civil war sectionalism are broken at last. The country is once more fully reunited, and from Massachusetts to Texas all Americans who are not Radicals or Plutocrats may well join in the "Te Deum Laudamus" of patriotic thanksgiving.—St. Louis Republic.

THE PERIL TO PROTECTION.

Let none misinterpret the emphatic voice of the voters on Tuesday last. It is against monopoly taxes; it is against the McKinley bill; it is for tariff revision even below the standard of the Mills bill; and if the friends of protection would save it as the continued policy of the Republic, they must at once retreat from every feature of monopoly taxes and from every needless tax on the necessaries of life, or the retributive stroke against wanton oppression of labor will absolutely and for ever overthrow the whole policy of protection.

New England is more in favor of free trade to-day than is Virginia or Tennessee; the Western Republican States are more in favor of free trade than is Alabama or Georgia and if the battle of 1892 shall be fought on the McKinley bill, or even on the tariff of 1883, there will be a sweeping verdict against tariff taxes that won't pause at judicious protection. It was midsummer madness that overthrew slavery when the whole country was willing to let it alone; but slavery wouldn't let the country rest, and its insatiate greed for mastery made it the colossal suicide of political history.

It is wanton, wicked taxes on the necessaries of business and of life that now threaten, and most gravely threaten the overthrow of protection. The country is more than willing to protect the wages of labor; it is more willing to let just protection alone; but it can't, it won't submit to the increase of taxes on consumers in the name of protection, when all parties are pledged to reduce taxes. The policy of protection to the wages of labor has been prostituted to the most rapacious greed; it has bred hated combines and trusts until nearly all that labor buys must pay tribute to this organized robbery of the masses under color of law; and if the friends of protection refuse to eliminate the honest protection of labor wages from the monopoly taxes of the McKinley tariff they will destroy protection and entomb it with slavery as another monumental suicide.—Philadelphia Times.

THE MODERN ISSACHAR.

EX-CONSUL SCHOENHOF LETS IN LIGHT UPON McKINLEYISM.

A Tariff Duty Like a Snake in the Grass—An Increase Which Looks Like a Reduction—The Farmers' Dwindling Income.

Nothing exemplifies so well the tactics of the advocates of the new device for increasing the burdens of the consumer, under the guise of a tariff for protection, as the statement of Senator Aldrich in reference to cotton velvets. Senator Carlisle had pointed to the new rates on cotton velvets as oppressive to the poor people. The old rates were 40 per cent. ad valorem all around. The new rates change this very radically. "Cotton velvets: if not bleached, dyed, colored, stained, painted, or printed, 10 cents per square yard and 20 per cent. ad valorem; if bleached, 12 cents per square yard and 20 per cent. ad valorem; if dyed, etc., 14 cents per square yard and 20 per cent. ad valorem; but none of the foregoing articles in this paragraph shall pay a less rate of duty than 40 per cent. ad valorem." No great danger that under the revised edition of this tariff any class of cotton velvets will ever reach a basis upon which the proviso will become effective. The sponsor of the new tariff bill in the senate, however, proved to his own satisfaction, and probably that of the senators on his side of the senate chamber, that the change did not mean an increase. He stated that he or his agents had been visiting the retail dry goods stores in Washington, and found the cheapest cotton velvet sold there to be 70 cents a yard. This statement seems to have settled the question. Duties, however, are not levied on retail prices as ruling in Washington shops, but on the foreign export prices, which, under the circumstances, could not be above 35 cents, or half the retail selling price according to the following formula:

Cost abroad	35c. net
40 per cent. duty	14 cents
Expenses, say 10 per cent	3.5
7 per cent. cash discount on wholesale selling price at 62½ cents	4.375
Importers' commission	5.625
Retailers' profit	7.500
Total	70 cents

He would have to be a retailer doing business on a large scale who would buy directly from the importer. If he buys from an importing jobber he would have to pay a higher profit rate. No jobbing house can afford to do business on so small a margin as 9 per cent. gross profit on an imported article and pay expenses. Nor can a retailer afford to do business, unless on a very large scale, on a 10 per cent. rate on what is called fancy dry goods in the trade. Thirty-five cents, an intelligent farmer will see, is the highest estimate I can place as the foreign cost of a cotton velvet that the learned Rhode Island senator had in view when he stated it to sell at Washington at 70 cents a yard.

This 35 cent velvet would cost under the tariff, revised for the benefit of the farmers, 14 cents a square yard and 20 per cent. ad valorem. This sort of velvet would be twenty-four inches wide, i. e., two-thirds of a square yard.

Specific duty therefore:

$$\frac{14 \times 24}{36} = 9\ 1\text{-}3 \text{ equal to } 26.66 \text{ per cent.}$$

Ad valorem	20.00
Total	46.66 per cent.

Cotton velvet and velveteen would have to be of a higher cost abroad, about 50 cents, and sell in the places where the senator obtained his information on the values of foreign dry goods as high as $1 a yard if, under the new tariff, it came under the proviso of 40 per cent. ad valorem.

Large quantities of a cheap kind of cotton velvet are imported for undertakers' use. They are known under the name of undertakers' velvet. They cost on the other side 4½d. a running yard. On these the duties will now stand as follows:

Fourteen cents per square yard is 7 cents per running yard; as these goods are about eighteen inches wide:

$$\frac{7.100}{8\frac{1}{4}} = 82.35 \text{ per cent.}$$

Plus ad valorem	20
Total against the former 40 per cent.	102.35 per cent.

So after being tax ridden to death's door, the very trimmings of the coffin in which the poor farmer is carried to his place of rest are raised from 40 to 102.35 per cent. If a man of means he pays lower rates, of course, according to the views of his heirs. The bulk of importations would average in cotton velvets about 7 pence a yard, about twenty-one inches wide, and the new tariff taxes them as follows:

$$\frac{14 \times 100 \times 21}{14 \times 36} = 58.3$$

plus 20
against the old 40 per cent. rate.	78.3

Now, these medium grade velvets are used for different purposes of wear, and form the material for a variety of domestic manufactures. They are not manufactured in this country. Efforts have been made, but have invariably failed. The elements which would make a cotton velvet industry successful are wanting in this country. Undoubtedly somebody who wanted to try his hand has worked the "infant industry" in Washington and succeeded. But until a tidal wave shall have swept from power the makers of this iniquitous tariff the consumers will have to pay an average of 80 per cent. instead of a 40 per cent. duty. The rich, high priced goods are always taken care of by the provisos, and the poor and cheap goods have to pay the blunt, brutal, heavy weighted specifics. The people who dictated this new tariff deal know very well what hugger-mugger can be accomplished under the cover of an innocent looking specific rate. Who knows what 14 cents a square yard on cotton velvet means outside of the dry goods trade? Who knows what 5 cents, 7 cents, 10 cents and 14 cents a pound on wood screws means who is not familiar with the iron trade and prices?

These covert increases of duty need explaining. Under the cover of darkness which these specific duties carry with them so much dawing on the stump can be practiced on the agriculturist that they are most valuable auxiliaries. One hundred per cent. duty on so common an article of use as black cotton velvet would seem a hard load to carry. Fourteen cents a square yard and 20 per cent. does not look much like an increase over 40 per cent. ad valorem. I am not sure whether it would not be made to appear as an actual reduction by the skilled apologists and arithmeticians of protection. Huger morsels than this were presented to our friend from the country, and were swallowed without causing any visible signs of uneasiness. This is a fair example of how the tariff increase has been carried. It is a law, and the farmer will have to pay for the luxury of belonging to and voting for the grand old party. I could bring dozens of examples how the people are being swindled by these specific duties, but this one will suffice for the present. In this way the outgoings of the farmers are taken care of by a paternal government.

I want to show now the converse, the income side of the farmer's ledger account. A grand total statement will be the most impressive. It will work with all the brutal force of a knock down fact:

Statement of the quantities and values of the principal cereal crops in 1890 and 1889. Illinois average of prices taken from the report of the department of agriculture, December, 1890 (quantities and values in millions):

1890.	Bushels.	Price.*	Value.
Wheat	459.5	95 cts.	$436.5
Corn	1,754.6	36 cts.	631.7
Oats	407.8	29 cts.	118.3
Totals	2,622.0		$1,186.4
1889.	Bushels.	Price.	Value.
Wheat	490.5	70 cts.	$343.35
Corn	2,112.9	24 cts.	507.00
Oats	751.5	19 cts.	142.78
Totals	3,355.0		$993.13

Crops of 1890	Bu. 2,622,000,000
Crops of 1889	Bu. 3,355,000,000
Salable value of crops of 1890	$1,186,000,000
Salable value of crops of 1889	$993,000,000
Increase of crops of 1889 over 1890	Bu. $733,000,000
Decrease in value of crops of 1889 from 1890	$193,000,000

* Both ranges of prices are Illinois prices.

I have here taken the leading crops. All other cereals, and adding potatoes and sweet potatoes, do not form more than 10 per cent. of the above. Both crop years have been years of abundance. Per capita of the farming population the crop of 1889 has, perhaps, not yielded more than that of 1880 in bushels. While the crop in aggregate has given an increase of 733,000,000 bushels, or 28 per cent., the salable value is actually by $193,000,000, or 16.30 per cent., less than in 1880.

Now, as at least 20 per cent. more farmers have to share in this lessened money product, it is easy to imagine whether the complaints we hear from the agricultural districts have any real basis of facts behind them. If the farmer flatters himself that the distress of low values is a temporary one I am sorry to say that I can give him but cold comfort. From an earnest study of the situation in Europe, Asia and America I cannot see but that the influences which contribute to these results are destined to be permanent.

They are spreading over wider and wider areas. The limitations of this letter prevent my pointing out the factors that operate so strongly toward a low price level in foreign markets. For the present I only want to point to results as expressed in the most stubborn of all facts, prices. The American crops of 1890 are less by many hundred million bushels than those of 1889. The English and French crops also have been partial failures. Under apprehensions of scarcity, prices of wheat and oats, which were a year ago in the London market 29s. 1d. and 16s. 11d. respectively per quarter (88⅛ cents and 51⅛ cents per bushel), rose last August to 36s. 5d. and 20s. 1d. per quarter respectively ($1.10 and 61 cents per bushel). This gave a very hopeful situation to the farmer, and would, if these prices had been realizable, have compensated him for his shortened crops.

But in spite of freshets, inundations and other disasters Austro-Hungary, Russia, the Danubian principalities have been doing so well that no scarcity scare can be maintained. In consequence prices are quoted now at 31s. 6d. and 17s. 8d. a quarter respectively (95 cents and 54 cents a bushel), or but a very slight advance over the very low prices of a year ago. In view of the coming congressional election I want briefly to draw attention to these facts in the hope that they may help the farmer realize his position. He may possibly see the importance of taking the care of his interests into his own hands instead of confiding it to the tender mercies of the representatives of monopolies and protectionism.

Justice Miller on Protection.

The death of Justice Miller, of the United States supreme court, who was the last surviving justice appointed by Lincoln, recalls the famous decision of that eminent jurist in the so-called Topeka case, which involved the right of the city to levy taxes to foster manufactures. This is the heart of the "protection principle," and here is what Justice Miller thought of that "principle:"

"To lay with one hand the power of the government on the property of the citizen, and with the other to bestow it upon favored individuals to aid private enterprises and build up private fortunes, is none the less a robbery because it is done under the forms of law and is called a taxation. This is not legislation. It is a decree under legislative forms. Nor is it taxation. A 'tax,' says Webster's dictionary, 'is a rate or sum of money assessed on the person or property of a citizen by the government for the use of the nation or state.' Taxes are burdens or charges imposed by the legislature upon persons or property to raise money for public purposes.

"We have established, we think, beyond cavil that there can be no lawful tax which is not laid for a public purpose.

"If it be said that a benefit results to the local public of a town by establishing manufactures the same may be said of any other business or pursuit which employs capital or labor. The merchant, the mechanic, the innkeeper, the banker, the builder, the steamboat owner, are equally promoters of the public good and equally deserving the aid of the citizens by forced contributions."

Epoch

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is greatfully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health to the use of the Great Alterative and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of Kidneys, Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 50c. and $1 per bottle at

For the cure of the inflammation and congestion called "a cold in the head" there is more potency in Ely's Cream Balm then in anything else it is possible to prescribe. This preparation has for years past been maknig a brilliant sucess as a remedy for cold in the head, catarrh and hay fever. Used in the initial stages of these complaints Cream Balm prevents any serious development of the symptoms, while almost numberless cases are on record of radical cures of chronic catarrh, after all other modes of treatment have failed.

The figure 9 in our dates will make a long stay. No man or woman now living will ever date a document without using the figure 9. It stands in the third place in 1890, where it will remain ten years and then move up to second place in 1900 where it will rest for one hundred years.

There is another "9" which has also come to stay. It is unlike the figure 9 in our dates in the respect that it has already moved up to first place, where it will permanently remain. It is called the "No 9" High Arm Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine.

The "No. 9" was endorsed for first place by the experts of Europe at the Paris Exposition of 1889, where, after a severe contest with the leading machines of the world, it was awarded the only Grand Prize given to family sewing machines, all others on exhibit having received lower awards of gold medals, etc. The French Government also recognized its superiority by the decoration of Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, President of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor.

The "No. 9" is not an old machine improved upon, but is an entirely new machine, and the Grand Prize at Paris was awarded it as the grand est advance in sewing machine mechanism of the age. Those who buy it can rest assured, therefore, of having the very latest and best.

And the best lamp ever made, like Aladdin's of old, a "wonderful lamp!" A lamp absolutely non-explosive and unbreakable, which gives a clear, soft, brilliant white light of 85 candle power! Purer and brighter than gas light, softer than electric light, more cheerful than either! That lamp is

"The Rochester."

And with it there is no smoke, no smell, no broken chimneys, no flickering, no sweating, no climbing up of the flame, no "tantrums" nor annoyance of any kind, and it never needs trimming. Its founts (oil reservoirs) being tough rolled seamless brass, with central draft, it is absolutely unbreakable, and as safe as a tallow candle.

Only five years old, and over two million of these lamps in use. It must be a GOOD lamp to make such a telling success. Indeed it is; for lamps may come and lamps may go, but the "Rochester" shines on forever! We make over 2,000 artistic varieties,—Hanging and Table Lamps, Banquet, Study, Vase and Piano Lamps,—every kind, in Bronze, Porcelain, Brass, Nickel and Black Wrought Iron.

Ask the lamp dealer for it. Look for the trade-mark stamp: "THE ROCHESTER." If he hasn't the genuine Rochester and the style you want, or if no lamp-store is near, send to us for free illustrated catalogue (and reduced price-list), and we will box and send you any lamp safely by express, right to your door.

DR. TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

RESULT OF THE ELECTIONS.

The returns were so tardy in coming in this fall that the result is still in doubt in some districts, and it will require the official count to settle it, but enough is known to indicate its general character. The storm center of the conflict was the Lower House of Congress. The people were evidently determined to revolutionize that body and their wonderful success is almost enough to take one's breath away. The Republicans now claim the election of their Governor in New Hampshire. They make a clean sweep in California, electing all the Congressmen. The Farmers' Alliance will control the legislatures of both Kansas and South Dakota. The new U. S. Senators from those two States will be anti-Republican and they will undoubtedly act with the Democrats on the tariff and silver questions. The Democrats have the legislatures of New York, Illinois and Wisconsin beyond any question, which will give them a gain of three U. S. Senators. The legislature of New Hampshire is still in dispute. The following tables will show the result in this County and the complexion of the next House with approximate accuracy.

VOTE ON CONGRESSMAN.

We give below the vote on Congressman in the four counties contituting the Second district. No comment is necessary. The figures speak for themselves:

	ALLEN.	GORMAN.
Lenawee	5,066	5 364
Hillsdale	3.844	2 625
Monroe	2,456	3 379
Washtenaw	3.625	5.036
Total	14,491	16 404
Majority		1,913

The returns given are complete, with the exception of Wright township to hear from in Hillsdale county, which will undoubtedly give Gorman 75.

THE NEXT HOUSE.

It is impossible to give an accurate table yet of the complexion of the next House, as the figures are constantly changing. It is entirely safe to place the Democratic majority at 125, and it may reach 140 upon the completion of the official count.

A VISIT TO KANSAS.

EDITOR HERALD:—On September 23d I boarded the train at Britton for Kansas over the Wabash route at 10 a. m. for Kansas City and crossed the Mississippi River about midnight and saw it by electric light, and reached Kansas City at 9:20 next morning. When it came daylight we were taravelling through Missouri on the Missouri bottoms. We found what little corn they had had been killed by the frost about September 12th, and it seemed as though corn was about all they had. Leaving Kansas City at 11 a. m. west, 150 miles to my brother's. Found the frost had killed the corn in Kansas the same as in Missouri; in fact there is hardly any corn in Kansas that is new. Old corn is selling for 42 to 44 cents per bushel, where it sold last year for 11 to 12 cents per bushel. They are haying now and the prairie grass is very light. Horace Greeley used to say "go west, young man," but what I have seen of Kansas I would advise him to stay where he can raise something to eat. I find in talking with different parties that most all want to sell out. They have about one good crop in three or four years. Potatoes are a total failure and are worth $1.25 to $1.50 per bushel, and small at that. The prairies about here seem to be rolling and water scarce. They have to drill through rock after getting down about 7 to 10 feet, for from 80 to 90 feet, and some have to go even deeper than that. My brother has been drawing water for some two or three months for 40 head of cattle. He draws it about two miles, as his well gave out. Some have ponds they scrape out and catch water when it rains, but the water don't look fit for a hog to drink.

On October 4th my brother hitched up his horse to the buggy and we started for Marion county, about 40 miles southwest, going through White City, a small town in Morris county. Leaving White City a few miles we came to an open prairie and traveled on it and at noon stopped and baited our horse and took our lunch. Hitching up after dinner we drove some five or six miles on the open prairie, when we came to a boy herding cattle. I should think he had from 290 to 300 head. It was near a stream but there was but little water in it in places. Passing on towards Harrington we saw several herds of cattle, from 100 head and upwards, pasturing where there would be a section of land and upwards enclosed with barbed wire fences. Arriving at Harrington we stopped a short time. It is quite a smart little town. The Rock Island R. R. has a round house and shops there and branches off in three directions over Kansas. The Missouri Pacific also runs through the place. Traveling on about eight miles we came to W. E. Bowen's, a former Ridgeway boy, where we stopped over the Sabbath. He is in Marion county, a short distance from Las Springs in said township. He told me there were four sheep in the township when he took the assessment last spring and the township was mortgaged for nearly all it was worth. After enjoying a good visit with Mr. Bowen and family we started homeward Monday, feeding our horse and eating lunch on the prairie, at about the same place we did Saturday. We reached White City about 3 p. m. and stopping found out that a man by the name of Otis, a farmer, who is running on the people's ticket for Congress, was billed to speak, so we stopped and heard him. The farmers are alive and working for the Alliance ticket, for they claim it is their only hope from monopolies and trusts. They say that J. J. Ingalls has been in the senate about fifteen years, and they have yet to find one act or vote of his to benefit the farmer.

GEORGE L. OLIVER.

DIED.

Died at her residence in Wexford, Wexford County, Mich., Sept. 23d., 1890, Cornelia S., wife of Frederick V. Horton, in the 66th, year of her age. Cornelia S. Long was born in Alabama township, Geneseo County, N. Y., March 30th, 1825. She was the daughter of Apollos and Sarah (Green) Long. About the year 1845 she removed to Lenawee county, Mich., and engaged in the occupation of teaching. In 1850 she removed to Eaton Rapids, Mich., where she was married to Frederick V. Horton, May 14th, 1850. Two children blessed this union (sons) both, with the husband, surviving her to mourn her loss.

In the year 1864 she became a member of the Baptist church of Eaton Rapids and afterwards united by letter with the Baptist church of Tecumseh. She was a consistent Christian, a kind and affectionate wife and mother, and a true friend, beloved by all that had the pleasure of her acquaintance. She had been somewhat out of health for some time and subject to long spells of insomania which finally terminated in nervous prostration, and on Sept. 23d, she was called home to rest from all her labors.

THE FORUM FOR NOVEMBER.

The November number of the Forum contains three articles that treat of three phases of agricultural depression. One is by Mr. C. Wood Davis, the Kansan student of our agricultural development, who, under the title of "The Probabilities of Agriculture" writes a reply to the recent article by Prince Kropotkin on "The Possibilities of Agriculture." Mr. Davis shows by a review of the corps of the world that approximately the limit of production has been reached. He predicts that food will become dearer and dearer, and that in a few years we shall import food into the United States. In another article Mr. Daniel R. Goodloe, of Washington, presents the startling statistics as nearly complete as they have been made, of the farm mortgages in all the most important western States which show that the independent small farmer in these States is gradually becoming extinct; and in the third article, the Rev. Dr. Washington Gladden reviews the organizations of farmers, recites their motives, and points out the valuable part of their work and influence.

Two American race questions are discussed: "The Progress of the Negro," by the Rev. A. D. Mayo, who after twenty-five years' close study of the problem, sets forth his hopeful conclusions, which are very complimentary to both races in the South; and "French Canadians and the Dominion," by W. Blackburn Harte, a Canadian writer. Mr. Harte reviews the rise and explains the aims of the Catholic hierarchy in Canada, which, he argues, will rule or ruin the Dominion if it can.

Senator Cullom, who took an important part in the work of admitting the six new States into the Union, presents the record of their development and explains their industrial and social condition. President Francis A. Walker writes a reply to the recent article on "Industrial Democracy" by the Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott; and he aims to show that Dr. Abbott has fallen a victim to obscure generalizations and that industry cannot become "democratic" in the same way that government may become "democratic." Edward Eggleston writes the autobiographic essay this month, telling the formative influences of his life—how all his life he has suffered a conflict between a desire to preach and a desire to write.

IS THE TARIFF A TAX?

"Although the tariff is not a tax, the campaign is," says my friend, H. C. Smith, ex-candidate for Prosecuting Attorney, "and it works to a charm."

A good story is told on Henry and his namesake, the inimitable "Doc." They were booked for a double political attraction down in one of the little towns to the south of us, and Doc, who had been riding the circuit continually, with the weight of the universe on his shoulders, like Atlas, pleaded ill-health, telling Henry that the engagement would have to be filled alone by him, and to prepare himself for a speech to occupy the evening.

This was a little discouraging, but he sailed in, studied all the points necessary to spin out a two-hour oration, hired a carriage, and hied him to the scene of action. Arriving there he was a little surprised to see the "invalid" shaking hands and smiling among his friends with all the warmth of a divine revelation.

This was all right, of course, because a man who is too ill to make a speech can sometimes shake hands. But what was his surprise when the long-haired Demosthenes started in and whanged away at the audience for two straight hours, not even stopping to take a drink of water.

About all Henry could say when he arose to address the remnant of the crowd, was that if the theological orator had any more sick spells during the campaign, there would be no use for any one else doing anything.—Adrian Times.

AUCTION SALE.

The Heirs of Peter Derby will offer at public auction, on the premises, 3 miles southwest of Franklin Center, on Friday, Nov. 14, '90, at 1 o'clock sharp, the following described property: Two yearlings, 1 spring calf, 2-yr-old heifer, sow and 7 pigs, 1 mowing machine, 1 binder, plow, cultivator, fanning mill, sherry drill, 1 single buggy, lumber wagon, pair bobsleds, caldron kettle, set scales, log chain, hay rake, scotch harrow, quantity of hay. Six months credit at 7 per cent interest, on all sums over $5 dollars. Ben Reynolds, Auctioneer.

Chas. Burridge, Administrator of the Joseph Harbeson estate, will sell at public auction on the premises known as the Joseph Harbeson farm, on section 24 of Franklin township, about four miles west from the village of Tecumseh, Friday, Nov. 21st., '90, at one o'clock in the afternoon the following: Two cows, 2 steers, 2 calves, undivided half of 65 sheep and 15 lambs, platform spring wagon, undivided half interest in a set of Fairbanks' scales, about 50 chickens, hay in stack, in barn, cornstalks, covered buggy and other articles. Usual terms. Ben. Reynolds, auctioneer.

The Messenger says that the tariff question is settled till the next election. Not quite, neighbor. The tariff question can never be settled until it is settled right.

the Conservatives, and was mistaken in relying upon their confessions of good faith. He further says that henceforth he will devote himself entirely to the cause of the people.

Brewery Explosion.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—An explosion in the famous Pilsen brewery caused the death of four workmen and the serious injury of several others.

Counterfeiters at Work.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—A gang of counterfeiters of coin, who have been operating in frontier towns, on the line between Saxony and Austria, have been arrested. An investigation of their case has resulted in implicating a number of hitherto respected residents of the various towns in the criminal proceedings. The profits of the gang are said to have been enormous.

Irish Press on Balfour.

DUBLIN, Nov. 10.—Freeman's Journal says: "If Balfour is satisfied with his tour of Ireland so are the Nationalists, and also the people whose hands will be permitted to dip into the money bags of the treasury. Bribes offered have proved too much for a priest in one place and a Gombeen man (local usurer) in another, but they will not affect the Nationalist cause. Mr. Balfour's performance hoodwinks nobody."

Piracy Rampant at Tonquin.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—The Soleil publishes dispatches from Tonquin, saying that piracy is rampant there and the French outposts are being attacked constantly. The fact that these disorders are occurring is kept secret, the advices say, as it is feared that if publicity was given to them, the project now before the French chambers for a loan by the French government to the Tonquin protectorate, would be seriously interfered with.

Captain Casati's Book.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Not alone Italy, but England and Europe generally, are interested in the forthcoming book of Captain Casati, the noted African traveler. Signor Camperio, writing to the Riforma (newspaper) says that Casati is the only person who can say the last word about the recent partition of Africa. It is said that the book will refute much that Stanley has published and go to show that Casati should have received some credit that Stanley neglected to accord him.

TORE HER JAWS APART.

Horrible Assault on a White Girl by a Negro Ruffian.

BALTIMORE, MD., Nov. 10.—Details which have been received here of an assault on Bertha Phipps, a white girl of fifteen, by Ernest Forbes, colored, aged twenty, a laborer on farm near Annapolis, show that the crime was of the most aggravated nature. The girls jaws were torn almost completely apart, her clothing was torn from her body and her condition is pitiable in the extreme. She is lying at the point of death from her injuries. Forbes was arrested while making his escape to an adjoining county and was nearly lynched by the excited mob. He is now guarded, but the feeling is so intense it is not improbable he will be ultimately lynched.

ANARCHIST MEETING.

Fears that the Red Flag May Cause Trouble in Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 10.—Anarchists are making preparations on a large scale for a meeting here and persons living in the neighborhood are considerably alarmed lest the affair will terminate in a riot. The same speakers who were to address the meeting in Newark Friday night are billed to speak here. Circulars have been distributed by the thousand in this city and the suburbs advertising the meeting and calling upon the anarchists to respond. The red flag is displayed at the head f othe circulars, which state the meeting will be the third anniversary of the murder of the Chicago martyrs. The proprietor of the hall is hesitating about allowing the agitators to meet in his place.

MEDICAL MARE'S NEST.

An English Physician's Opinion of Koch's Consumption Cure.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—In reference to the recent alleged discovery of Prof. Koch, an eminent physician of this city, writes to the papers: "There are certain considerations about this matter that make us hesitate before concluding that the medical millenium is about to set in. In the first place it may be pointed out without any disparagement to Dr. Koch or his colleagues that in no field of knowledge are mare's nests so large and so frequent as in medicine. On the whole, it seems probable that Mr. Koch's cure will turn out to be germicide, in which case its effects are not likely to prove lasting, though in any case it is to be hoped, for the credit of German medicine, that the rumors are unfounded."

BIRCHELL STILL UNMOVED.

He Sees the Lumber For His Scaffold Arrive at the Prison.

WOODSTOCK, ONT., Nov. 10.—Birchell saw Saturday, the first indications of the preparation for his execution. This was the arrival of the material for the scaffold from which he will be launched into eternity on Friday next, but he made no sign that he realized its purport. An enterprising Toronto manufacturer has made the doomed man a present of a fine black shroud for the occasion, which Birchell seemed much pleased with.

Birchell received a card from the "Colonel" dated as before from Jackson, Michigan. He still protests that he did the shooting and not Birchell. The card was submitted to an expert and compared with Birchell's writing, and he pronounced it to have been written by the prisoner. Mrs. Birchell remained in her room at the hotel all day and gave way to frequent bursts of grief. She will have one more interview with Birchell before the fatal day.

Breaking the News to Birchell.

WOODSTOCK, ONT., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Birchell has communicated to her husband the news that executive clemency had been refused. She was accompanied by her sister, and both ladies were crying bitterly. Birchell asked what was the matter, and when shown the dispatch from Ottawa retained his composure and merely remarked to his wife: "Well, dear, I guess I've got to go."

A Diplomat Dead.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Don Frederico Vollo, charge d'affairs of the Costa Rican legation and acting minister for some months past, died suddenly at Elsmere, this city, of pneumonia, after an illness of five days. Don Auselmo Vollo, cousin of deceased, now attached to the legation, will temporarily become acting minister.

FARMERS' SOCIAL CLUB.

There was quite a large attendance of the Farmers Social Club at the home of A. P. Coddington, Nov. 5th. The program was fully carried out. The plan of work for the winter was quite generally discussed and many good suggestions given. Mrs. Rector suggested, as it was nearly 10 years since the formation of the club, that we hold some sort of anniversary meeting which suggestion was heartily seconded by the club, and a committee appointed to make arrangements for the same. Adjourned to meet Nov. 20th at R. Gillespie's with the following program:

Music—Ora and Grace Gillespie.
Writings of Henry Ward Beecher.
Paper—A. P. Coddington.
Sel. Read.—Mrs. Finch.
Inst. Music—Eva Rector.
Sel. Read.—Mrs. Grant Schreder.
Quotations by members of the club.
General summary of the important events of the past month—Will Fisher.

Question—Is it wise for farmers to increase the acreage of crops that seem to be paying best?

THE MARINE CONCERT.

The Young People's Society of the M. E. Church are entitled to much credit for the fine musical entertainment which they furnished our citizens last Friday evening. It was something entirely new and was highly enjoyed by a large audience. The choruses were led by Miss Dora Graysen with her usual skill and efficiency. The solos were splendidly sung. The male quartette was heartily encored, as it deserved to be. The tableaux were all good and the closing tableau "Dream" by eight young ladies held the audience entranced for fully five minutes. It was a beautiful spectacular scene. The new orchestra gave two selections, which added much to the entertainment and gave the orchestra itself a splendid introduction to the public. In fact there was not an inferior number on the program, and every one seemed more than satisfied with the musical treat they had enjoyed.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

Mr. Geo. W. Oles fully sustained his national reputation for skill in handling his favorite instrument, the violin, and his efforts, in many selections were constant succession of triumphs which fairly enraptured the audience.—Battle Creek Daily Journal Battle Creek, Mich.

A Petersburg man voted his tax receipt, while all sorts of bills were voted in various parts of the state. A man has got to be reasonably sober to vote under the present system. The old way he could be marched to the ballot box and voted by somebody else. —Adrian Messenger.

UNION CITY, Mich. Nov. 30, '89.
To Whom it may Concern:—Mr. G. W. Oles was with us last evening in a concert, under the direction of our Young People's Society. To say that Mr. Oles gave us complete satisfaction does not half express it. He electrified us. His like we have never heard.
J. R. KNODELL, Pastor Cong'l Church.

For the benefit of the Parsonage fund a committee of ladies of the Baptist church will furnish a "Crazy Supper" Tuesday evening, Nov. 18th at their chapel. The committee consists of Mrs. Ipfnic, Whador, Gdtenioned Ehsenve, Urbna, Sdmsa, Htnso, Elugrsohlarn, Hfoenistsef, Geviglmlban, who will be most happy to meet all their friends at that time and promise a good supper with 25 cents worth of laugh thrown in.

The Mayor of Dowagiac, Michigan, writes: DOWAGIAC, Dec. 13th, 1889.
To Whom it may Concern:—After having heard Musin, Remenyi, Camilla Urso and many other artists on the violin, and having devoted no little time to the instrument myself, I do not hesitate to pronounce Mr. Geo. W. Oles second to none. His reputation, which preceeded him, as a man and a gentleman is verified by acquaintance. Truly Yours,
JAMES HEDDON.

Did you buy a book of the Frenchman?

Mrs. J. D. Robbins has gone to Cleveland for a few days.

Increase in Values

Of All the Agricultural Products,

ACCORDING TO ANNUAL REPORT OF SECRETARY RUSK.

He Says That the Increase is Especially Noticeable in Cereals—He Speaks of the Export Cattle Trade and Commends International Agricultural Gatherings.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The secretary of agriculture has presented his annual report to the president. He expresses a distinctly hopeful view of agricultural affairs, indicating the obvious benefits to farmers of certain legislation which he specifies. By comparing prices at Chicago for October 15 of 1890 and of 1889, he shows a marked increase in the values of agricultural products, especially of cereals. Secretary Rusk asserts that without ignoring the effects of natural causes in enhancing values, it is evident that the economic legislation of the last session of congress has directly benefitted the farmers; the improved value of cereals, as he believes, being largely due to the silver legislation, which, moreover has lessened the influence of Russia and India, our wheat competitors in English markets. Our increased export trade in cattle and animal products, another cause of congratulation, he traces to the energetic and effective measures adopted for the eradication of pleuro-pneumonia, and to the growing appreciation at home and abroad of the department's ability to suppress or effectually control contagious animal diseases. In the line of further precaution, the department is now prepared to carry out the inspection of export cattle before shipment, provided for by the act of August 30. Similar energy has been directed to our pork interests, the department having already undertaken the inspection called for by the same act. The secretary strongly recommends an inspection law still more comprehensive of all animals slaughtered for inter-state or foreign trade.

The present immunity of northern cattle from Texas fever, he believes to be due to a general compliance with the regulations of the department issued last spring.

The outlook for a home sugar industry are considered rather favorable. The secretary predicts that in the near future half of our sugar will be thus supplied from the sugar beet.

Reference is made to the forthcoming transfer of the weather bureau to the department of agriculture, with a declaration of the secretary's desire to widen the present scope of the bureau, so as to increase its benefits to agriculture. He also insists strongly upon the necessity for more frequent representation of the department at meetings of agricultural and kindred societies, not only to give them encouragement and supply information, but for the benefit of the department workers themselves, who will thus be brought into closer contact with the farmers and will become more familiar with their wants and the best means of meeting them.

The possibilities of serving the corn growers throughout the country, by extending the market for Indian corn in foreign countries, has engaged the secretary's attention, with the result that he has appointed a special agent abroad, having especial qualifications for this duty, to investigate and report upon the possibilities of promoting the consumption of Indian corn in European countries.

The frequent occurrence of important international agricultural gatherings is mentioned, and the fact is pointed out that at these the United States, the greatest agricultural country in the world, is most frequently conspicuous by its absence. The secretary declares that some means should be provided by which on occasions of great importance, such as the international congress at Vienna last year, this country could be officially represented through the department. Such gatherings, he argues, afford the very best opportunity for properly qualified persons familiar with conditions of American agriculture, to observe the methods pursued abroad, and to estimate their adaptability to our own country. By such means alone, he says, will it be possible for us to hold our own in the intellectual competition which is the basis of all commercial competition.

Killed His Wife's Paramour.

KANSAS CITY, MO., Nov. 10.—David A. Greever, the wealthy cattle man, who was shot by Charles Clifford, the light-weight pugilist, died from the effects of his wounds. Clifford will be arraigned charged with murder. Mrs. Clifford, over whom the quarrel was held, has disappeared. It is thought she may have concealed herself, fearful of being charged with complicity in the Greever's murder.

His Wounds Were Fatal.

LAFAYETTE, IND., Nov. 10.—John Werkhoff, the young Chicago man who was shot by George Bennett last Monday, died in the afternoon. The doctors performed laparotomy upon him, but could not save his life. Scott, the second man shot by Bennett, died instantly. The murderer is in jail, but does not appear at all concerned. The railroad friends of Werkhoff are much excited over his death.

Financial Monarch Dead.

ALEXANDRIA, VA., Nov. 10.—Hal. G. Dulaney died at Melbourne, London county, in his thirty-seventh year. Mr. Dulaney was the wealthiest man in Virginia, having fallen heir to the estates of Lady Hunton, of England and the Dulaney family, of this section. He was well known in Washington, and had spent a great deal of his time abroad.

Murdered While Playing Marbles.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Nov. 10.—Edward Trano, a fifteen-year-old boy, was fatally shot in the afternoon by Mrs. Mary Vogel, a widow living at Eighteenth and Rowan street. Mrs. Vogel has been annoyed by a crowd of boys playing marbles in front of her house.

Trouble in Kalamazoo College.

KALAMAZOO, MICH., Nov. 10.—Dr. Munson A. Wilcox, president of Kalamazoo college, has resigned because of the wholesale desertion by students. The trouble resulted from his refusal to reinstate twenty collegians who recently hazed two professors on a dark night.

DISTINGUISHED IRISHMEN.

Final Arrangements For the Meeting in Their Honor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The committee in charge of the meeting called in honor of the Irish delegates, which will be held in honor of the visiting Irish members of parliament, at the Metropolitan opera house on Monday, met to make final arrangements. Governor Hill and the Irish party will be escorted from the Hoffman house to the opera house by the 69th regiment and the reception committee. On arriving at the opera house James O'Donohue will introduce Governor Hill, who will make a short address and then introduce Messrs. O'Brien, Dillon and the others of the Irish party. All the reserved seats and boxes have been sold and a large crowd is expected.

STANLEY ENTERTAINED.

Big Dinner to the Intrepid Explorer Who Claims America as His Home.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Henry M. Stanley was entertained at a private dinner given in his honor by Mr. E. A. Quintard at the Union League Club. Among the guests were Chauncey M. Depew, Collector Erhardt, General Hawley, Bill Nye, John Russell Young, Thomas W. Knox, M. W. Cooper, Murat Halstead, Lieutenant Jephson, Bishop Quintard, of Tennessee, Col. Finley Anderson and Col. Winchester. About two thirds of those present were members of the Stanley club which was organized in Paris in 1878. Speeches were made by Henry M. Stanley, C. M. Depew, General Hawley, Lieutenant Jephson and John Russell Young.

THANKSGIVING.

PRESIDENT HARRISON HAS ISSUED HIS PROCLAMATION.

Thursday, November 27, is Appointed as the Day for Returning Thanks for the Blessings of Peace and Plenty.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The president has issued the following Thanksgiving proclamation: By the grace and favor of Almighty God, the people of this nation have been led to the closing days of the passing year, which has been full of the blessings of peace, and the comforts of plenty. Bountiful compensation has come to us for the work of our minds and of our hands in every department of human industry.

Now, therefore, I Benjamin Harrison, president of the United States of America, do hereby appoint Thursday, the 27th day of the present month of November, to be observed as a day of prayer and thanksgiving; and I do invite the people, upon that day, to cease from their labors, to meet in their accustomed houses of worship and to join in rendering gratitude and praise to our beneficent Creator for the rich blessings He has granted to us as a nation and in invoking the continuance of his protection and grace for the future. I commend to my fellow citizens the privilege of remembering the poor, the homeless and the sorrowful. Let us endeavor to merit the promised recompense of charity and the gracious acceptance of our praise.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this eighth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and fifteenth. BENJAMIN HARRISON.

By the President: James G. Blaine, Secretary of State.

They Can Wear Badges.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—In compliance with the joint resolution of congress, approved September 25, 1890, granting permission to officers and enlisted men of the army and navy to wear the badges adopted by military societies of men who served in the war of the revolution, the war of 1812, the Mexican war and the war of the rebellion, the secretary of the navy today issued an order modifying the regulations of the navy in accordance with the act. The resolution authorizes these badges to be worn upon all occasions of ceremony.

Barge and Consort Lost.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., Nov. 10.—A Sault Ste Marie, Mich., special to the Tribune says: The Canadian Pacific steamer Carmona, which arrived at Algoma mills in the afternoon, reports the total loss of the steam barge Bruno, Captain Peters, and her consort, the Louisa. They were loaded with coal for the Canadian Pacific railway, bound from Cleveland to Algoma mills, and were wrecked in the heavy northeast of north gale Thursday night on the Marquette reef, sixty-three miles southeast of Algoma mills.

General McKibbin Dead.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—General David B. McKibbin, U. S. A., on the retired list, died here in the afternoon at 4:20 of cancer of the throat. Several weeks ago he underwent an operation for it, but only temporary relief was afforded. Since then he has gradually grown weaker. General McKibbin served with distinction in the Mexican and Indian wars and in the war of the rebellion. He was sixty years old at the time of his death.

WILL QUAY RESIGN?

A Report that He Will be Succeeded by Mr. Clarkson.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The following is published in an evening paper here: "Among the reports discussed by the political gossips was one that Senator Quay would resign the chairmanship of the Republican National committee as soon as he returns from Florida, and that Mr. Clarkson would be his successor."

Killed An Escaped Convict.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 10.—City Police Sergeant Vogt while attempting to arrest an escaped negro convict, Sam Thomas, on the Glendale plantation, St. John Parish, in the night, was compelled to kill him in self defense. Vogt surrendered and is now held on the charge of murder and of illegally making an arrest outside of New Orleans without a special warrant.

Princeton Wins.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10.—Princeton and the University of Pennsylvania, foot ball teams, played a championship game here, the former winning after a very exciting game by a score of 6 to 0.

The First Conviction.

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—James McSorley was sentenced to six months in the house of correction for voting on another man's name on election day.

LOOKING FORWARD.

THE DEMOCRATS ALREADY MAKING PRESIDENTIAL DEALS.

Friends of Whitney and Hill Will Exchange Eastern Speakership Votes for Western Presidential Votes, While Clevelandites Will Go South for Help.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—With the return of members of Congress to the city, the contest for the speakership of the next House begins to assume local interest and importance. The fight for the position will be waged warmly during the coming winter and will have its effect even on the deliberations of the present House of Representatives. The most interesting phase of the discussion of the subject at this time is the question of its relation to the contest of the Democratic nomination for the presidency in 1893.

One of the current bits of gossip is that an alliance may be formed between the east and the west in the speakership contest with a view to an arrangement for the presidential nomination.

Prominent Democrats now in the city say that the Democratic strength of New York, New Jersey Connecticut, Maryland, West Virginia, part of Pennsylvania and part of Virginia can be thrown for a western candidate for the speakership in exchange for western votes for an eastern candidate for the presidential nomination. Governor Abbett, of New Jersey, ex-Governor Black, of Pennsylvania, Senator Barbour, of Virginia and Senator Gorman, of Maryland are counted as favorable to such an alliance.

In this combination, the candidates for the presidency, most spoken of are Whitney and Hill; while it is current gossip that the friends of Cleveland and Pattison in the east may form an alliance for the election of a southern candidate for speaker in exchange for southern votes in the Democratic national convention.

DIED THREE TIMES.

Shroud Prepared But the Corpse Comes to Life.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 10.—Miss Mollie Merriman, who is conducting revival services at the Eleventh Street M. E. church, Covington, has come nearer death than most people. Twice she has been laid in her coffin and friends were invited to her burial.

A few years ago Miss Merriman, who is a diminutive creature of 28, fell ill, and, after three weeks, died, apparently. Preparations for the obsequies were begun, but on the day set for burial the supposed corpse was found to be warm and Miss Merriman returned to life. In a few days she recovered. Some time afterward she had another attack and lay in a trance for two days. Her shroud was prepared and friends had been invited to the funeral. Again Miss Merriman turned back from the valley of the shadow of death and retraced her steps to earthly existence.

MUNGER MARRIED.

The Notorious Salvationists Marries the Girl He Abducted.

WASHINGTON, C. H., O., Nov. 10.—O. R. Munger, the notorious tailor and ex-Salvationist, who created such a commotion at Anderson, Indiana recently, by abducting Miss Mollie Moore and taking her to Chicago, is again to the front. Mrs. Moore, the girl's mother, entered suit for $10,000 damages against Munger, charging him with abducting and seducing her daughter. Munger himself had already sued for a divorce from his wife, and his wife had determined to prevent the granting of the divorce. To get rid of his wife, it is learned, he paid her $1,000 not to appear against him, and the divorce was granted. To settle the damage suit he married Miss Moore, and so once again Munger is swimming on the top wave.

Tragedy at a Dance.

CLARKSBURG, W. VA., Nov. 10.—At the village of Good Hope, seven miles from here, Thursday night a young man named Myers escorted Miss Ettie Burnside to a dance. During the evening the lady became tired of him and sought other company. Myers got angry and accused the lady's cousin, S. M. Burnside, of causing the trouble. Hot words followed and Myers shot Burnside with a 38-calibre revolver in the left shoulder, inflicting a very dangerous wound. Myers has been arrested and the feeling is very strong against him. Previous to this difficulty Myers and Burnside had been the closest friends. All the parties to the affray are prominent and move in the best society.

Mahoning Miners Meet.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 10.—An important meeting of coal miners of the Mahoning Valley, who have been out on a strike several weeks to secure an advance of ten cents per ton, was held here in the afternoon. During the past week eight miners at Poland shaft returned to work at the old price, stating that they were forced, as their families were destitute. The following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That we extend an invitation to the Poland miners to cease work Monday morning, and stand with the miners of the Mahoning valley."

Butterworth on the Bill.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—In an interview Congressman Butterworth, of Ohio, voiced his sentiments on the overwhelming defeat of the Republican party in the recent election thus: "The McKinley bill was the prime cause of the landslide. In my opinion no Republican can stand upon a platform based on its measures and be elected President of the United States."

Lunatic Escapes the Gallows.

PADUCAH, KY., Nov. 10.—Leo James, colored, sentenced to be hanged at Hickman for assassinating James Garvin, of Chicago, while temporarily in Fulton four months ago, has been tried by a jury and found to be insane. He has been regarded as crazy ever since his conviction. The jury's verdict sends him to an asylum. James was to have been hanged on the 21st inst.

A Hermit's Death.

LIMA, O., Nov. 10.—David Edwards, an eccentric man living at Venedocia, was found dead in his miserable hovel in the morning. It is supposed he had been dead a week, as his body was badly decayed. He was sixty years old, had never married, and lived all alone. It is thought he has a large amount of money secreted some place on the premises.

Catarrh

Is a constitutional and not a local disease, and therefore it cannot be cured by local applications. It requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the disease, and effects a permanent cure. Thousands of people testify to the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for catarrh when other preparations had failed. Hood's Sarsaparilla also builds up the whole system, and makes you feel renewed in health and strength.

N. B. If you decide to try Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

"I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh and received great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh was very disagreeable, causing constant discharge from my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and pains in the back of my head. The effect to clear my head in the morning by hawking and spitting was painful. Hood's Sarsaparilla gave me relief immediately, while in time I was entirely cured. I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is worth its weight in gold." MRS. G. R. GREE, 1020 Eighth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has helped me more for catarrh and impure blood than anything else I ever used." A. BALL, Syracuse, N. Y.

ESTATE OF HUGH HEANEY.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 20th day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety. Present, Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Hugh Heaney, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Alexander Richard, administrator upon the estate of said deceased, alleging that the funeral expenses and debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration thus far incurred have been fully paid and that he is now ready to close said estate and to render his final administration account, and praying that said account may be allowed, and that the residue of said estate may be assigned and distributed to those entitled thereto according to the statutes in such case made and provided, that he may be discharged and his bond cancelled and for such other order and decree as to this court shall seem proper.

It is ordered, That Monday, the 17th day of November next, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

Attention, Comrade.

DO YOU WANT A PENSION? Do You Want Your Pension Increased?

There is a New Pension Law and nearly every soldier is now entitled to a pension.

DR. J. H. REYNOLDS

Late a member of the Board of Examining Surgeons at Adrian, Mich., and who has examined over two thousand soldiers for pensions, will hereafter devote two hours each day to

PENSION BUSINESS

The Doctor was a soldier and is a pensioner himself, with his five years' experience as Examining Surgeon for Pensions, believes he can make it pay YOU to come and see him.

He knows the RATE on every known disability.

Knows what Diseases or Disabilities are due as results of any other.

Knows (as every EXAMINING SURGEON will tell you) that many men do not draw what the law allows them, because their claims are not presented in proper shape.

Knows how to put your claim in such shape that you will get pay for ALL results of the disease or wound for which you are pensioned.

Knows all the recent decisions made by Commissioner and how to give you the advantage of them in dollars.

Knows that some recent rulings are of vital importance to many pensioners, if their claims are only properly presented.

Knows whether you are entitled to Restoration and how to get it.

I charge just the legal fees because I earn them. ALWAYS BRING YOUR CERTIFICATE WITH YOU.

If you want the benefit of a Pension while you live go and see Dr. Reynolds.

I can get you from $2 to $6 more per month under the new law than other agents.

To any person examined by the board, at Adrian, before Aug. 1, 1890, I have something of importance to tell you.

Come and let us examine you (no charge) and I will tell you all about it. About one-third of the soldiers examined while I was on the board were rated for disabilities not claimed. You had better come and see me about it.

Correspondence solicited, with stamp for reply. 15 East Maumee-st., Adrian, Mich.

ATTENTION, Soldiers & Sailors.

Under the new pension law just passed by Congress all Soldiers and Sailors who served 90 days in the Rebellion, and who are disabled from any cause permanently, (need not have originated in the service,) are entitled to a pension of from $6 to $12. All soldiers' widows, minor children and dependent parents come under this law. Being located at the Capital near the U. S. Pension office, we can give our personal attention to your claim and thus ascertain any defect quickly and supply the same.

Write for blanks. Give full description of service and disabilities.

DODD'S CATARRH CURE. LOCAL AND INTERNAL TREATMENT.

In order to cure catarrh it is necessary to allay the inflammation of the irritated membranes with a soothing application, cleanse the head of the plugging mucous secretions, and heal the discharging ulcers. For cold in the head and nasal catarrh Dodds' local treatment does this without the aid of snuff, douche or fumes. If the disease has extended downward affecting the bronchial tubes or lungs, digest and blood, the internal treatment both removes from the system the scattered poison, and its building-up properties assists nature in restoring the impaired parts. Send for our book treating on catarrh. FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y. Sold in Tecumseh, Mich., by C. A. Wright & Co., druggists.

BRONCHITIS

is an inflammation of the bronchial tubes—the air-passages leading into the lungs. Few other complaints are so prevalent, or call for more prompt and energetic action. Neglect or delay may result seriously. Effective remedies should always be at hand. Apply at once a mustard poultice to the upper part of the chest, and, for internal treatment, take frequent doses of

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

G. O. Lepper, Druggist, Fort Wayne, Ind., writes: "My little sister, four years of age, was so ill from bronchitis that we had almost given up hope of her recovery. Our family physician, a skilful man and of large experience, pronounced it useless to give her any more medicine, saying he had done all it was possible to do, and we must prepare for the worst. As a last resort, we determined to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and I can truly say, with most happy results. After taking a few doses she seemed to breathe easier, and, within a week, was out of danger. We continued giving the Pectoral until satisfied she was entirely well. This indisputable evidence of the great merit of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has given me unbounded confidence in the preparation, and I recommend it to my customers, knowing it cannot disappoint them."

"Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured me of a bad cough and my partner of bronchitis. I know of numerous cases in which this preparation has proved very beneficial in families of and that the medicine is known among them as 'the consoler of the afflicted.'"—Jaime Vidal, San Cristobel, San Domingo.

"A short time ago, I was taken with a severe attack of bronchitis. The remedies ordinarily used in such cases failed to give relief. Almost in despair of ever finding anything to cure me, I bought a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was helped from the first dose. I had not finished one bottle before the disease left me, and my throat and lungs were as sound as ever."—C. B. Hunter, Altoona, Pa.

Before the Courts

The Stanley Controversy May Come,

BEFORE IT IS FINALLY SIFTED AND SETTLED.

Newspapers in England are Full of Comment on the Affair, and Public Interest is Keen for New Developments—Other Foreign News.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The controversy growing out of Stanley's charges against the rear guard continues to occupy a large amount of space in the newspapers, and public interest in the matter is apparently very keen. The long statement furnished by Stanley to the Times correspondent in New York, and published this morning, has been extensively commented upon by the afternoon journals. The weight of opinion seems to be that since Stanley largely bases his assertions upon the reports of natives in his employ, who are not worthy of credence in such important matters, the statement necessarily falls far short of being conclusive or satisfactory to those who desire the actual facts to be revealed and proved. It is very generally believed that the whole dispute must finally be brought before some legally constituted tribunal for settlement. The Pall Mall Gazette draws attention to the fact that when, in 1888, the missionary Brooke and the Syrian interpreter Assad Farran gave currency to the stories of cannibalism now being repeated by Stanley against Jameson, Stanley denounced the stories as canards and asserted that when examined before the Emin relief committee the Syrian had falsified his own statements. Mrs. Jameson has also published a letter defending her husband and showing that the story of his inciting the natives to cannibalism was long ago disproved. The Liverpool Journal of Commerce states that the Duke of Westminster, one of the wealthiest men in England, has associated himself with Stanley in a company formed for the purpose of developing the resources of various regions in West Africa. The duke is floating the company's stock, and it is expected that active operations will be commenced at no distant date, probably under Stanley's personal supervision.

Archdeacon Farrar has inspected the shelters, refuges, etc., organized by General Booth, of the Salvation army as a nucleus for the great enterprise of redeeming the English masses, and has been deeply impressed with the thoroughness and practicability of the scheme. He will preach on the subject at Westminster Abbey today and will give his hearty support to the plan outlined by the general.

Another wholesale eviction of non-rent paying tenants from the Olphert estates at Falcarragh, county Donegal, will take place next Tuesday. Two hundred and fifty families comprising 1,500 persons will be thrust from their humble abodes into the highways. An immense force of police and military have been ordered to the spot in order to prevent any successful resistance on the part of the tenants or their friends. This announcement following so closely upon Chief Secretary Balfour's tour of Donegal, has caused a painful impression and if the secretary's visit had in any degree inclined the people to hope and patience, the good effects are likely to be lost in the renewed bitterness of feeling always aroused by the unhousing of hundreds of helpless victims of the rakerent system.

Advices from Milan state that the meeting of Chancellor Von Caprivi and Signor Crispi was of a peculiar cordial character. Of the interview between them nothing is known to the public, but Signor Crispi is expected at a banquet soon to be held in Turin, to give the world an inkling of the understanding arrived at. It is believed in London that the two ministers would not separate without a clear definition as to the future of the Triple Alliance. It is to be noted that the Chancellor rather hastened his journey after the published statement that the Vatican had endeavored to influence the court of Austria against the alliance, and that notes were exchanged on this subject between the vatican and the papal Nuncio of Vienna. This reported action on the part of the papacy, and the intriguing of France to detach Italy from Germany, evidently aroused the German cabinet to the need of binding more closely the ties of the union between the three powers. As both Signor Crispi and Chancellor Von Caprivi, as well as their respective masters, are already pledged to the principle of the alliance, the result of the meeting would seem to have only a cementing of a policy previously determined.

Origin of Stanley's Charges.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Jamesen, widow of Professor Jamesen, of Stanley's rear guard, states that Stanley's charges against her husband's conduct are based upon the statement of a Syrian interpreter who was dismissed from the expedition. This man came to England, and was examined before the Emin relief committee, when he contradicted his own previous statement. Professor Jameson wrote a letter to the committee giving important information respecting the charges and their source. This letter will be published in due time.

Killed Their Daughter's Lover.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—A man and wife named Ponsy, with the assistance of a son, recently beat to death the lover of their daughter, who was found in her room at night. All three were acquitted. As they were leaving the court house they were attacked by an angry crowd which attempted to lynch them. They were, however, rescued by the police, after receiving considerable injuries.

The Pope's Aid Asked.

ROME, Nov. 10.—The pope has been solicited, through Cardinal Rampolla, in behalf of the British government, to prohibit the Catholics in America from contributing to the funds of the Irish national league, on the ground that funds are used for unlawful and immoral purposes.

Boulanger Devoted to the People.

JESUS CONDEMNED.

LESSON VII, FOURTH QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, NOV. 16.

Part of the Lesson, Luke xxiii, 13-25. Connect Verses 26, 31—Golden Text, Isa. liii, 3—Commentary by Rev. H. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helps Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

13. "And Pilate, when he had called together the chief priests and the rulers and the people." Pilate has not escaped from his dilemma. Although he has made friends with Herod, through Jesus rejected, he has not yet made friends with the Jews, and Jesus is again before him to be disposed of. There is a greater question than that of friendship or enmity with people either in high or low places on this earth, and that question, "What shall I do with Jesus," Pilate must now attend to and settle forever. The same matter is before every one who has heard the Gospel, and while it may be postponed, and God in great mercy continue His long suffering, yet the time will come when it must be settled in one way or the other.

14. "Ye have brought this man unto me as one that perverteth the people; and, behold, I, having examined Him before you, have found no fault in this man, touching those things whereof ye accuse Him." This is Pilate's second testimony to His innocence (see vs. 5), and hard on His accusers, who have plainly failed in their case against Jesus; for Pilate insists that their accusations against this man are unfounded, and that He is innocent of the things laid to His charge. What a record this is in favor of Jesus, and it stands in the eternal word of God.

15. "No, nor yet Herod, for I sent you to him; and lo, nothing worthy of death is done unto Him." Here is the strong testimony of two Roman governors against the accusations of the Jews and in favor of Jesus. Even though it had been otherwise, and both had thought to have found some cure of death in Him, while that would have made these governors to be on the side of the Jews, it would have proved nothing against Jesus, for no man knoweth the Son save the Father. No Roman governor, or even emperor, or Jewish council was capable of sitting in judgment on Him. Earth never saw such a sight before: God standing at the bar of man to be judged. With what astonishment and horror must the holy angels have looked upon these things.

16. "I will therefore chastise Him and release Him." Insisting that He was innocent, and yet ready to chastise Him, even though he should the next moment release him. How strange and inexplainable it all seems! And yet they treated the apostles thus a little later, when, being able to prove nothing against them, and being advised by Gamaliel to let them alone, before they let them go they took them and beat them (Acts v, 40).

17. "For of necessity he must release one unto them at the feast." And gladly would he improve this opportunity to set Jesus free.

18. "And they cried out all at once, saying, Away with this man, and release unto us Barabbas." In Matt. xxvii, 20, it is said that this was by the advice of the chief priests and elders.

19. "Who for a certain sedition made in the city and for murder was cast into prison." And this is the man of their choice. A robber (John xviii, 40) and a murderer. If like attracts like, then we see how it was. They were all robbers in the highest degree, for they were guilty of robbing God (Mal. iii, 8, 9), and had even made His temple a den of thieves or robbers (Luke xix, 46). And as to their being murderers, "he that hateth his brother is a murderer" (I John iii, 15), and they were not only hating Jesus their brother, but Jesus their king and their God.

20. "Pilate therefore, willing to release Jesus, spake again to them." It may have been just here that they said, "We have a law, and by our law He ought to die, because He made Himself the Son of God." For when Pilate heard that saying he was the more afraid (John xix, 7, 8). And as he talked with Jesus privately Jesus said: "Thou couldst have no power against me, except it were given thee from above; therefore he that delivered me unto thee hath the greater sin." It is said that from thenceforth Pilate sought to release Him (John xix, 11, 12).

21. "But they cried, saying, Crucify Him, Crucify Him," or they continued crying "Crucify Him." They had but one desire concerning Him, and to all else they were deaf and blind. Die He must, and they would not cease till it was accomplished. Oh, that the followers of Jesus had in His cause the persistence and zeal which the followers of the devil have in his service.

22. "And he said unto them the third time, Why what evil hath He done? I have found no cause of death in Him. I will therefore chastise Him and let Him go." Well, Pilate, what does your threefold testimony to His innocence and your twofold threat to chastise Him and let Him go amount to if you do not let Him go? In the name of all that is right, let Him go without chastisement, since you are sure that He is innocent, or else cease your efforts, confess yourself a coward and gratify quickly these bloodthirsty dogs.

23. "And they were instant with loud voices, requiring that He might be crucified. And the voices of them and of the chief priests prevailed." John gives some additional arguments which the Jews used, probably about this time. "The Jews cried out, saying, If thou let this man go, thou art not Cæsar's friend. Whosoever maketh himself a king speaketh against Cæsar." When Pilate heard that he brought Jesus forth. And when they added, "We have no king but Cæsar," that settled it (John xix, 12, 15).

24. "And Pilate gave sentence that it should be as they required." He knew no higher power than Cæsar, and him he will honor (but only for the sake of his position), let who may go to the wall. This is not strange when we consider that even ministers of the gospel have been known to please some man or men (because of their salary) rather than God. But Pilate has not an easy conscience about it yet, for "he took water and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this just person; see ye to it."

25. "And he released unto them him that for sedition and murder was cast into prison, whom they had desired; but he delivered Jesus to their will." Read Matt. xxvii, 26-31; and see your Jesus, your Saviour, who loves you as father or mother never did nor could; see Him scourged (mark its meaning), crowned with thorns, spit upon, smitten, mocked; and say do you care? is it anything to you? And if so, how much? How much can you bear for His sake? How much can you meekly bear of the unkind or even cruel will of others? And are you so glad of the redemption which He thus purchased for you that you never cease telling of it from day to day?

May Thank Her Stars.

The narrow escape of Mrs. B. M. Sevrise, of Elkhart, Ind., from a premature death is wonderful. She states that "for twenty years my heart troubled me greatly. I became worse. Had smothering spells, short breath, fluttering; could not sleep on my left side, had much Pain in Breast, shoulder and stomach. Ankles swelled. Had much headache and dizziness. Treatment did me no good, until I tried Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and Restorative Nervine. The first bottle helped me, and I was soon virtually cured. For sale at Baker & Hall's drug store. A fine book on the Heart and Nerves free.

A Great Blessing.

A healthy mind in a healthy body is a great blessing. Nine-tenths of the ills of the body are caused by blood troubles, and blood troubles are the result of deranged kidneys and liver. Brooks' Kidney and liver Syrup will restore the diseased kidneys and liver to a healthy action. We do not hesitate in recommending it. C. A. Wright & Co.

The Overworked Farmer.

The long hours of hard physical labor, the exposure to all sorts of weather and continuous hardships have a tendency to cause liver and kidney diseases and blood poison. Brooks' Kidney and liver Syrup will regulate the kidneys and liver and effectually cleanse the system of all poisonous matter. Try it. C. A. Wright & Co.

WE ARE THE LEADERS!

OUR STOCK THE LARGEST!
OUR PRICES THE LOWEST!

THE People of Tecumseh and Vicinity have given us a Liberal Patronage. Why do People come 25 miles to trade with us? First, Our Prices are the Lowest. 2d, It is a Satisfaction to Select a Suit or Overcoat from such a Tremendous Stock as ours. You can get just the Color and Style you want.

Our Goods are Perfect Fitting. We do not buy Clothing only from Houses that have a national reputation for the Fit and Workmanship of their goods. We know that a Perfect Fitting Garment is as essential as Good Cloth. Some dealers buy the cloth sewed up as cheaply as possible. They think you don't know the difference, but you do. We have just bought of L. Marcus & Son, Buffalo, N. Y., a stock of

SUITS AND OVERCOATS

At a Price Less than the Cost to them to Manufacture. This Purchase enables us to sell Clothing Cheaper than Ever. COME STRAIGHT TO US We can Please You.

Clinton Column.

CLINTON, MICH., NOV. 13, 1890.

Fred [illegible] still very ill.

C. S. [illegible] has went to Adrian on Tuesday.

Mrs. G[illegible] grave is not dangerously [illegible].

Mrs. E. [illegible] has been over to Detroit [illegible] this week.

F. D. [illegible] is about to erect a barn on his place. The contract is let to Ed. Somers.

F. R. S[illegible] and wife gave an informal reception in honor of Mr. Gorman from 4 to 6 [illegible].

Eight [illegible] Democrats went to Manchester [illegible] day night, to help their brethren celebrate the victory.

The jollification here Wednesday night was a success in every particular. A feature of it was a handsome, orderly parade with a [illegible] of boys with scarfs across their [illegible] lers with the name of a Democratic candidate thereon, and Ed. Kiernan dressed as Uncle Sam, on a rich platform. W. Van-Tuyle read a poem composed by Roswell R. [illegible] for the occasion. There was singing by the glee club, Hon. James S. Gorman, Congressman-elect, spoke to a large and enthusiastic audience from the steps of the town hall. The business and stores were decorated, and a bonfire and fireworks pleased the little ones. The Tecumseh band discoursed music, and everyone seemed happy.

A GREAT AMERICAN MAGAZINE.

The Success of "The Century" and its Plans For 1891.

THE CENTURY MAGAZINE is now so well known that success of its past success seems almost an old story. The N. Y. Tribune notes that it and its companion, St. Nicholas for Young Folks, issued by the same house, "are read by every one person in thirty of the country's population," and large editions of both are sent beyond the seas. It is an interesting fact that a few years ago it was a rare event seven thousand copies of The Century went to Scotland,—quite a respectable edition for its kind. The question in England is no longer "Who reads an American book?" but "Who does not see the American magazine?"

A few years ago The Century about doubled its circulation with its famous War Papers, by Generals Grant and others, adding many new readers later with the Lincoln History and Kennan's thrilling articles on the Siberian Exile System. One great feature of 1891 is to be describing that remarkable movement to the gold fields in '49, in a series of richly illustrated articles written by survivors, including the narrative of men who went to California by the different routes, accounts of the gold discoveries, life in the mines, the work of the vigilance committees (by the chairman of the committees) etc., etc. General Fremont's last writing was done for this series. In November appears the opening article, "The First Emigrant train to California,"—crossing the Rockies in 1841,—by General Bidwell, a pioneer of pioneers. Thousands of American families now had some relatives or friend among 'the Argonauts of '49' will be interested in these papers.

"THE GOLD HUNTERS OF CALIFORNIA,"

MANY OTHER GOOD THINGS ARE COMING.—

The narrative of an American's travels through that unknown land Tibet (for 700 miles over ground never before trod by a white man); the experiences of escaping War-prisoners; American Newspapers described by well-know journalists; accounts of the great Indian fighters, Custer and others; personal anecdotes of Lincoln, by his private secretaries; "The Faith Doctor," a novel by Edward Eggleston, with a wonderfully rich programme of novelettes and stories by most of the leading writers, etc., etc.

It is also announced that The Century has purchased the right to print, before its appearance in France or any other country, extracts from advanced sheets of the famous Talleyrand Memoirs, which have been secretly preserved for half a century—to be first given to the world through the pages of an American magazine.

A Safe Investment.

Is one which is guaranteed to bring you satisfactory results, or in case of failure a return of purchase price. On this safe plan you can buy from our advertised Druggist a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. It is guaranteed to bring relief in every case, when used for any affection of Throat, Lungs or Chest, such as Consumption, Inflamation of Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, whooping Cough, Croup, etc., etc. It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, perfectly safe, and can always be depended upon.

and

The Christian Union

$3 a year

Do you know The Christian Union? We have made a special and exclusive arrangement to send to each of our mail subscribers a copy of this crisp and popular Family Paper, by way of introduction. Let us tell you about it in advance. Only a hint or two—the way to know it is to read it every week.

The "Outlook" is a week's world-history. Supplements the daily paper—sometimes supplants it.

Each issue is made up on the issues of the week. The best writer to be found gives his best thought on each vital topic.

Sermons by America's foremost preachers. Sunday reading for people of every faith.

Pictures nearly every week—not for art's sake, but to make clear the text.

Railways and Pleasure Resorts of America. Any time-table or descriptive circular sent free to any Christian Union reader, on application.

It's a woman's paper—helpful, entertaining, suggestive in all home matters.

It's a man's paper—virile, inspiring, in the forefront of all great movements.

Boys and girls watch the mail for it. There is good fun in its pages every week; bright stories and practical talks.

"She Loved a Sailor," a powerful dramatic story by Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, begins in late October, and runs four months.

Ex-President R. B. Hayes says: "The Christian Union is a paper of progress. Its ideas, spirit, and aims are excellent. It is hopeful, generous, effective."

By special arrangement we offer to extend your subscription to this paper for one year, and send The Christian Union one year to a new subscriber, for the very low combination price named above. No other paper in town is able to make this offer. Don't miss this opportunity to secure two papers that you want, at so low a price. Address this office.

WILHELM'S IMPROVED CREAMERY CAN.

Unequalled for private Dairies of from one cow to full size Creamery. $5.00 will buy FOUR 3-GAL. CANS making a capacity of 12 gallons of milk, and will PRODUCE ALL THE CREAM FROM 4 TO 8 HOURS, in a vat, tub, or any receptacle the farmer may choose, holding water from 10 to 14 inches in depth, and at a temperature from 40 to 60 degrees cold. IT MAKES A PERFECT CREAM and combines the advantage of deep setting, rapid cooling, protecting the milk from all impurities of the atmosphere which so quickly taints cream. Also preventing souring by thunder storms, from flies, insects, dust, and all bad odors, thus preserving both cream and milk, clean and sweet. Over 200,000 in actual use in the U. S. One setting of milk is all that is needed to prove the merit of the can. Usual size of can, 3-gal., price $1.25. A liberal discount on orders of one dozen Cans and upwards. Write for descriptive circular and testimonials. I also make a specialty of building Creameries and furnishing all the best improved machinery and apparatus. JOHN WILHELM, Wooster, Wayne Co. O.

C. L. Osgood, Samaria, Mich. says—The Milk Cans I bought of you give perfect satisfaction. We can make just as good and just as much butter in the most unfavorable season of the year by the use of your Cans as at any other time of the year. I have 4 Cans. Have used them 3 years and would not be without them.

ED PALMER, CLARA TEMPLE, COMMITTEE.

On Thursday night of last week burglers entered the store of W. F. Clack, by boring a ⅜ hole near the lock of the front door and forcing the bolt. They visited his sleeping room in the upper story and blew the lamp out he had left burning nd shut the door to the room, they went below, and with a blacksmith's sledge they got at Wm. Riggs shop, broke off the knob of the combination lock to the safe, where they put in powder enough to blow the door of the safe into a hundred pieces. The jar cracked the oval glass to the show case sitting on the counter near the safe. The alarm drawer was pried off from the the counter and between $20, and 25 in cash and several under shirts, neck ties and socks were taken.

It was'nt until the explosion of the safe that Mr. Clark woke up enough to realize what was going on, then he gave the alarm from the window but too late; the birds had gone, and no trace of them has been learned up to present writing. The officers were notified at once but no clue to their whereabouts has been ascertained.

Card of Thanks

We desire to tender our heartfelt thanks to the neighbors and friends for their kindness and assistance during the sickness and death of my husband and our father; also to the friends who did the singing at the funeral.

MRS. ELIZABETH ARNER AND FAMILY.

BRITTON BUDGET.

Elmer Osgood has moved into his new house.

Mr. Jesse Hendershot paid Britton a visit last Sunday.

Fred Dubois has hired out to Mr. Lewis for the winter.

James Gibson is suffering from a swollen face, caused by taking cold.

Miss Maggie Exelby visited friends in Tecumseh on Saturday and Sunday last.

Jesse Coller and Miss Nellie Easterly paid Britton friends a visit last Saturday.

Last Saturday morning Tom Smit was drawing a load of logs for Irve Osborn, when one of his horses, a very valuable animal, dropped dead in the harness. Cause, heart disease.

The C. J. & M. people have been hauling gravel on their track near Britton, and Lon Rose, our section foreman, is busy ballasting. He has got his track east of here in fine shape and says he will keep it so.

Mr. Thomas, our night operator, has made a contract with the Exelby Hotel to supply their table with game during the coming winter. Mr. Thomas has provided himself with a shotgun of the finest workmanship and finish and on Saturday morning he brought in his first batch of game, which consisted of a very large woodpecker.

Last Saturday night a stranger walked into the depot at Adrian and asked for a ticket to Milan. He got the ticket but refused to pay for same, and when the operator remonstrated with him he took the fire poker and after knocking him down, kicked him repeatedly and left him for dead. Our night operator was notified and the fast train from the west was stopped at Britton and searched thoroughly but no arrests were made.

On Friday a young man got off the evening train and went into the bar room of the hotel. After sitting there for a short time he went over to the various stores, as he said, for the purpose of selling pens and stationery. His actions aroused the suspicion of our villagers and parties were sent to watch him. About 10 o'clock he went into the depot and acted so strangely that our deputy sheriff made up his mind to search him, which he accordingly did. Nothing was found on his person except a large, ugly looking dirk knife. As nothing could be proved against him, he was allowed to go, and left town early the next morning.

OUR COMPLIMENTS TO THE TRIBUNE.

It is amazing that for a dollar a year the New York Tribune can provide a weekly newspaper, which will contain such features as are proposed for 1891. See Prospectus in another column. No one can read what The Tribune has to say for itself without being struck with the sincerity, patriotism of purpose, and enterprise of that great national newspaper. It has collected a large corps of special contributors comprising many of the most prominent men in America, and will have long articles from them on leading questions of the day; and it is note worthy that The Tribune, true to its own patriotic purposes, has made up its list of writers without going abroad for any of them. We risk little in saying that its enterprise in securing Roswell G. Horr, of Michigan, to explain the Tariff to the Farmers of the country, will receive a rich reward. Secretary Rusk, Julius C. Burrows of Michigan, P. T. Barnum, and the long list of other special writers will certainly supply important essays. The Tribune is the best of the metropolitan weeklies, and readers will do well to send for a sample copy before making their subscriptions, the coming winter.

WHAT CURES?

Editorial Difference of Opinion on an Important Subject.

What is the force that ousts disease; and which is the most convenient? How far is the regular physician useful to us because we believe in him, and how far are his bills and powders and tonics only the representatives of his personal influence on our health?

The regular doctors cure; the homœopathic doctors cure; the Hahnemannites cure; and so do the faith cures and the mind cures, and the so-called Christian scientists, and the four-dollar-and-a-half advertising itinerants, and the patent medicine men. They all hit, and they all miss, and the great difference—one great difference—in the result is that when the regular doctors lose a patient no one rumbles, and when the irregular doctors lose one the community stands on end and howls.—Rochester Union and Advertiser.

Nature cures, but nature can be aided, hindered or defeated in the curative process. And the Commercial's contention is that it is the part of rational beings to seek and to trust the advice of men of good character who have studied the human system and learned, as far as modern science lights the way, how far they can aid nature and how they can best avoid obstructing her—Buffalo Commercial.

It is not our purpose to consider the evils that result from employing the unscrupulous, the ignorant, charlatans and quacks to prescribe for the maladies that afflict the human family. We simply declare that the physician who knows something is better than the physician who knows nothing, or very little indeed about the structure and the conditions of the human system. Of course "he does not know it all."—Rochester Morning Herald.

I have used Warner's Safe Cure and but for its timely use would have been, I verily believe, in my grave from what the doctors termed Bright's Disease.—D. F. Shriner, senior Editor Scioto Gazette, Chillicothe, Ohio, in a letter dated June 30, 1890.

REPRESENTATIVE WACHTEL FOR SPEAKER.

There seems to be a general desire on the part of democrats all through the state that Hon. Philip B. Wathcel, of Petoskey, should be elected Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Wathcel has every requisite for the position which it is the apparent desire of the democracy that he should occupy. He is a man of unswerving integrity, and was one of the few members of the legislature of '89 against whom there was never even the slightest breath of suspicion. He is cool-headed and courageous, and is just the man to clean out the corruptionists and lobbyists. He is in every sense of the word a gentleman, uniformely courteous and affable, and could secure the hearty co-operation of his associates and preside with fairness and dignity. He is a thorough parliamentarian, having added to his experience in the legislature that of a committee clerk in congress, and we doubt if among all the one hundred men elected to the present House there is one to whom can be more safely intrusted the onerous and important duties of speaker. He is a worker, and his own tireless industry cannot but inspire the same virtue in others.

It is one of the utmost importance to the party and to the people that the legislature of '91 transacts its business carefully, intelligently, honestly, and in the shortest possible time. Much depends upon the speaker, and the democrats will make no mistake if they elect Hon. Philip B. Wachtel to that position.—Independant Democrat.

TECUMSEH, THURSDAY, NOV. 20.

The vest pocket voter has evidently come to stay.

The conclusion is irresistable that the McKinley bill was loaded at the muzzle.

Senator Ingalls of Kansas will probably conclude now that politics are a mere "barren ideality."

The tin pail brigade made a grand charge all along the line on election day, and it counted too.

The Democracy should not be too severe on Major McKinley. They owe him a debt of gratitude that can never be fully paid.

If the present Congress is wise it will pass a liberal appropriation before adjournment to improve the navigation of Salt river.

The farmers are beginning to appreciate the fact that protection protects the wrong man, and they are voting accordingly.

The Democratic Speaker of the next house will have no trouble in counting a quorum. It is safe to predict that Reed's gag rules will be abolished.

The Farmers' Alliance claim 38 members in the next house. Most of them hail from the South, however, and were elected on the regular Democratic ticket.

The "Old Roman" banquet held at Columbus, Ohio, last Thursday in honor of Ex-Senator Thurman was a splendid affair. Ex-President Cleveland was present.

Whatever failings Chairman Quay may have, he certainly is [illegible] with some practical sense. He says the Republican defeat was due to one cause—a lack of votes.

We expect to see a safe, prudent and economical State administration during the ensuing two years. The Democrats made no mistake when they elected Farmer Winans.

New England is no longer the Republican Gibralter that it used to be. Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut have swung out of the Republican column for good.

Prof. Hammond's numerous friends in Tecumseh will universally congratulate him upon his election to an important State office. He sailed into port on the crest of the tidal wave very handsomely.

The Independent vote and the Farmers' Alliance were very important factors in the recent victory. The Democracy bid their new allies welcome and will endeavor to make them feel at home.

Many people in Tecumseh, regardless of politics, will be gratified to know that Daniel E. Soper will be our next Secretary of State. Gil Osmun has made a good Secretary but we have full confidence that "Our Dan" will fill the position with equal credit.

The day following the election Grover Cleveland said: "I challenge the right of any man in the country to rejoice more heartily than I over the result of yesterday;" and well may he say so, for he gave the people the issue upon which the victory was won.

In Iron county, which gave Stephenson over 400 majority for Congress, several hundred bogus Democratic tickets were cast, which had Stephenson's name in place of Semers for Congress. Thus does the G. O. P. manifest its devotion to an honest ballot and a fair count.

The Republican majority in the U. S. Senate is now fourteen. The Democratic gain of four and the Farmers' Alliance gain of two at the recent elections, will reduce that majority to two, exactly what it was before the admission of the six new states. The whirligig of politics generally evens things up in time.

Among all the agencies which contributed to the political upheaval in this State, none had a greater influence than the Detroit Free Press. Its manly stand for clean, honest politics and its able championship of tariff reform was one of the most potent factors that converted the heavy Republican majority of two years ago into a minority this fall.

THE ALLIANCE HAS COME TO STAY.

Mr. L. L. Polk, President of the National Farmers' Alliance, is very jubilant over the result of the elections. In the course of a recent interview he said: "The Democrats and Republicans are claiming everything just now, but when they come to sift the chaff from the wheat they will find that the Farmers' Alliance had something to do with electing a fair proportion of the good men who will have seats in the next Congress. Up to the present time it is a certainty that Congress will contain thirty-eight straight-out Alliance men, and there are twelve or fifteen more who are pledged to us. These men are from the south and northwest—the two sections in which most of our work was done. The Alliance in Nebraska, Minnesota and Iowa is not our organization, has not amalgamated with us, but it made the same fight and will join us this winter. Our Alliance cooperated with them; we will co-operate with any farmers' association and in a little while have a grip on the situation in almost every corner of the land.

"We are here to stay. This great reform movement will not cease until it has impressed itself indelibly in the nation's history. Financial reform is the necessity of the hour and it must come. The press and the voice of the stump speaker were our only assistants. The Alliance had no campaign fund, no boodle; if we had had money we would not have used it. The virtue and the patriotism of the people are the things to appeal to. Our methods were fair and square, and the whole world could see what we were doing. The principles on which the Alliance is founded are solid and correct; we must succeed. The fight was no small affair. The extremists of both parties attacked us bitterly and gave no inch of ground. In the south it was the Democrats who opposed us. In the north our most vigorous antagonists were Republicans."

THE LESSON OF THE ELECTION.

The simple solution of the overwhelming popular verdict of Tuesday last is that it proclaims the end of needless taxes for speculative greed; and if protection shall longer be made the shield of this crime against the people, protection will be overthrown without the hope of resurrection, and it will be done by Republican States. There is one, and only one, hope for liberally just protection to labor, and that is the immediate repeal of the McKinley bill—now rejected by an unexampled popular revolution—and the immediate revision of the tariff of 1883 by reducing taxes on necessaries of life and giving our industries free raw materials from wool to iron ore. Slavery leaders when thus admonished were unequal to the task of halting their own madness, and slavery died unlamented; and protection leaders, if deaf to the revolutionary protests of the people, and unequal to the task of halting their own greed, will as surely sound the death knell of a policy that should be an integral part of our free government. Protection can combat free trade; it can't combat its wanton prostitution to oppression and robbery.—Philadelphia Times.

GOV. JOHN M. PALMER.

The election of the Hon. John M. Palmer as the next United States Senator from Illinois is now assured. It would be a weak expression of the truth to say that he has deserved it. He has deserved anything the American people can give him. In our history his struggle for democracy and liberty stands without a parallel. He has had nothing to win for himself. Desiring for himself nothing except the tranquillity which comes in the crowning years of a well-spent life, as its best reward, he entered what seemed to be a hopeless struggle against overwhelming odds. Defeated in the first engagement, he came back to the attack with an ardor that could not have been increased by the flush of victory. Anybody can fight with the odds in his favor. It is easy enough to play where the game is even; but the man who fights the hopeless fight, "who fails and still fights on," is the moral hero who wins lasting victory.

And Gen. Palmer's victory will be lasting. He has done more for American liberty than most men of this generation. His success means the breaking of the money power and the establishment of popular control in the senate, now the stronghold of plutocracy. It means justice for the agricultural states of the west and south; it means peace, prosperity and union for the country; the relief of labor from its burdens; the restoration of government of, by and for the people.

What praise or thanks could be adequate for such work, so nobly done? But, in the name of the democratic party and of the American freedom of the fathers, the Republic gives him, from its heart of hearts, such praise and thanks—not as he deserves—but as it can give.—St. Louis Republic.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE.

The same tale is told by every statesman and politician who returns to Washington. Democrats and Republicans alike say the tariff did it, and very few of them fail to add that ex-President Cleveland is put at the very head and front of his party by the result of the election. Representative McAdoo, who returned from New Jersey, says:

"Cleveland's message sent to Congress in December, 1887, no doubt had a great deal to do with Tuesday's triumph. The McKinley bill was the chief issue of the campaign. Everywhere I spoke, the audience was made up of at least one-third Republicans. They wanted to know all about the McKinley bill, and the result of the election indicates that they thoroughly understood the workings of that infamous measure. In 1888 we sent tons of tariff literature to the farmers, but they did not have time to study it before that election. They have been looking it over since, and this year we went among them and spoke about the matter in very plain language." He adds that the other things contributing to the result were the force bill and the arbitrary practices of the majority in the House.

Representative-elect Tim Campbell who knows all about Tammany, and how things stand amongst the workers in New York, does not take any stock in the much-talked-of Tammany opposition to Cleveland. Your correspondent asked him if Tammany would kill Cleveland off now, as they got control of New York. "Not at all," he says: "I think Mr. Hill will go to the Senate. I cannot but regard Tuesday's election" he added, "as a full indorsement of Cleveland's tariff-reform message. The rout of the Republicans was not confined to any one section of the country, but was general, and I believe we will win in 1892."

Representative Hare of Texas, says: "I regard Cleveland as the father of this grand victory. He started the ball in 1888 with his tariff message, and now we have these splendid results. In my opinion, Tuesday's victory will make Mr. Cleveland our Standard-bearer and next President, and I would not be surprised if the Republicans should nominate Blaine in 1892. I was talking to-day with a Democrat who opposed Mr. Cleveland's tariff message in 1887, believing it to be unwise, because he saw in it the defeat next year. He said that when Cleveland's attention was called to the danger of the message, when he was told that it would inevitably defeat him in 1888, his reply was that he did not care about 1888, he had thought of all that, and was conscious that the Democratic party might meet with reverses that year, but what he looked to was the future of the Democratic party and that as soon as the issue was made, and the people came to understand it, they would indorse Democracy in every part of the country."

Allen W. Thurman, son of Ex-Senator Thurman, in a jollification speech at Hamilton, Ohio, gave the credit of the victory to Ex-President Cleveland and added:

"Yet this was the issue, plain and simple, brought about by the McKinley bill; and to the man Grover Cleveland, who three years ago boldly and fearlessly attacked this whole system, more than to any other, do we owe this victory. Never for one moment, amidst all the abuse that was heaped upon him, did he falter or his courage fail. Believing in the truth and justice of his position, believing that the government had no right to take money from the pockets of the people solely to benefit a particular class, he continued year after year, when others hesitated, to battle for the right; and now, when all are eager to join in the fray, certainly this fact, that he dared to lead when scarcely any dared to follow, shows the mettle he is made of; and I believe that the whole people will see to it that he, and only he, shall be again chosen as their leader in 1892. If ever man spoke the truth, surely he did when he said a few days ago: "No one has a greater right to rejoice than I have."

THE RESULT IN WALL STREET.

The Weekly circular of Henry Clews & Co., issued Nov. 8th, contains the following exposition of the election result, which shows most clearly how the recent Democratic victory is regarded in heavy business and banking circles.

"The remarkable result of the elections can hardly be said to have so far had any important effect on the market. It appears to be generally conceded that Tuesday's vote overshadows a coming modification of the commercial policy of the country; yet the immediate importance of that probability is qualified by the fact that an interval of two or three years and possibly more is likely to elapse before any actual changes are enacted. Moreover, sweeping changes of popular opinion are apt to be followed by partial reactions; and in this case it is not yet very clear what extent of change is desired. Except in a few special industries, the New Tariff is very generally regarded as an extreme measure not really needed by the condition of manufacturers and calculated to encourage unwholesome excess of production in certain trades; and if the verdict rendered at the polls would be satisfied with a correction of the excesses of the McKinley Law while preserving, at least for a while, a moderate and judiciously distributed protection, that measure of change would probably be accepted by Wall Street as portending great good for the nation. If, on the contrary, the now winning party should allow their success to tempt them into sudden and extreme changes of commercial policy, the result would be probably very different; but such an indiscreet use of power does not at present seem to be apprehended. In any event, the change, whatever its nature or extent, cannot be expected within three years; which is a period long enough to admit of gradual preparation and to mature policies with ample deliberation; and if the prospect creates a general caution and conservatism, that may prove better for the country than the excesses of production into which the McKinley Act would otherwise have been likely to tempt large branches of industry. These are something like the views with which most Wall Street men ragard the results of the elections.

Thousands Poisoned.

In a recent work on Heart Disease, Dr. Franklin Miles—the noted specialist—gives many new and sterling facts. Thousands of people are slowly poisoning themselves, weakening their hearts by the use of tea, coffee, tobacco and alcohol. These are Heart Whips, causing it to beat rapidly, thus gradually wearing it out, producing shortness of breath when exercising, pains in side and shoulder, hungry and faint spells. Finally heart failure and sudden death. For weakened and irritated hearts the press everywhere highly recomend the New Heart Cure discovered by Dr. Franklin Miles, which is for sale at Baker & Hall's.

TETTER AND BOILS.

For years I was afflicted with an aggravated case of Tetter. I tried lotions, salves, soaps, and other outward applications, without any beneficial results. In addition to the Tetter Boils commenced breaking out all over my body, causing me so much pain that I had to quit work and go to bed. I then decided that I had started wrong and insted of using external treatment I ought to go to the seat of the disease and purify my blood, as it was obviously bad blood that caused both the Tetter and the Boils. I took several blood purifiers without any good effects. About the time my case was declared incurable I commenced taking S. S. S. In a few weeks the Tetter was cured, and one by one the Boils disappeared, until I was entirely and permanently cured. This was three years ago, and since then I have been free from skin eruptions. My skin is now and has been for three years, as smooth as any ones. S.S.S. not only cured me of the Tetter and Boils, but also restored my appetite and general health causing me to increase in weight and improve in every way.

All medical authorities agree that catarrh is no more nor less than an inflammation of the lining membrane of the nasal air passages. Nasal catarrh and all catarrhal affections of the head are not diseases of the blood, and it is a serious mistake to treat as such. No conscientious physician ever attempts to do so. It is held by eminent medical men that sooner or later a specific will be found for every disease from which humanity suffers. The facts justify us in assuming that for catarrh at least a positive cure already exists in Ely's Cream Balm.

Does it hurt the Clothes?

We hear that some woman said of Pearline—"it's the greatest thing I ever saw for easy washing and cleaning, in fact it does so much, I'm afraid of it." She recalls the old saying, "too good to be true."

How absurd to suppose that the universal popularity of Pearline is due to anything but wonderful merit.

How absurd to suppose that millions of women would use PEARLINE year after year if it hurt the hands or clothing.

How absurd to suppose that any sane man would risk a fortune in advertising an article which would not stand the most severe (and women are critical) tests.

That's just what PEARLINE will stand—test it for easy work—quality of work—for saving time and labor—wear and tear—economy—test it any way you will—but test it. You'll find PEARLINE irresistible.

A REAL LUXURY!

Looking out over the many homes of this country, we see thousands of women wearing away their lives in household drudgery that might be materially lessened by the use of a few cakes of SAPOLIO. If an hour is saved each time a cake is used, if one less wrinkle gathers upon the face because the toil is lightened, she must be a foolish woman who would hesitate to make the experiment, and he a churlish husband who would grudge the few cents which it costs.

If your grocer sends you anything in place of SAPOLIO, send it back and insist upon having just what you ordered. SAPOLIO always gives satisfaction. On floors, tables, and painted work it acts like a charm. For scouring pots, pans, and metals it has no equal. Everything shines after it, and even the children delight in using it in their attempts to help around the house.

Grocers often substitute cheaper goods for SAPOLIO to make a better profit. Send back such articles and insist on having just what you ordered.

M'KINLEY AND LABOR.

HOW HE HITS AT THE FURNITURE INDUSTRY.

A Great Increase of Duty on Furniture Plush and on Mahogany—Increase on Mirrors—The Furniture Men Ready for Free Trade.

In making many kinds of furniture a plush is necessary as a covering. The number of people in the United States who use such furniture cannot possibly be estimated, but they can hardly be less than several millions. These millions are interested in the price of their furniture—they want to get it as cheaply as possible.

Also the manufacturers of this furniture are interested in getting their materials as cheaply as possible, for cheap materials mean cheap production, hence larger sales at lower prices, while at the same time the rate of profit is not lowered.

The furniture plush used in covering the seats and backs of chairs and sofas is made by only one concern in this country, this being an establishment in Philadelphia. This manufacturer has heretofore had a protective duty of 40 per cent., all for his little private interests. One would suppose that the privilege of taxing several millions of his fellow countrymen forty cents on the dollar on all the plush used in making their furniture ought to be sufficient to satisfy this Philadelphia man. It appears to be otherwise.

Although he did not appear before McKinley, so far as the record shows, to ask for higher duties, yet the bill as passed and signed by the president makes an enormous increase in the duty, and the man from the City of Brotherly Love has begun to collect his taxes from his fellow citizens—he has raised his prices.

His cotton, which is his raw material, has gone down in price. Still that does not affect the case with this man who has a little trust of his own. When McKinley backs up the little one man trust with prohibitory duties of course that one man trust is going to enter into its possessions. McKinley has publicly preached to him and to the country the doctrine that high prices are better than low ones, and in raising prices this one man trust is simply putting McKinleyism into practice.

The extent of the increased duty in the McKinley bill would not be suspected from the bill itself, except by those who are familiar with the prices of this stuff; in fact, when you look at the duty as it stands in the new law it looks like a reduction. The old duty was 40 per cent. ad valorem; the new duty reads "14 cents per square yard and 20 per cent. ad valorem." If a person does not know the wholesale price of this plush he may suppose this McKinley duty is actually lower than the old one. On the contrary, it is about twice as high. That is McKinley's way of masking his duties so that their enormity may not be detected except by the few.

How this increased duty has affected the price of plushes generally may be seen from a late number of The New York Commercial Bulletin. It says: "The plush market is being conspicuously affected by the new tariff law. The popular grades of this fabric are, according to its provisions, advanced from 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. and from that up to 105 per cent. The effect of the new law's enactment was at once to force up values all around this market from 50 to 60 per cent."

But why did McKinley impose this double duty upon the makers of furniture? Did he have some grievance against them? Was it because they told him last December that they "neither need nor ask for protection?" Did he therefore think that the furniture men would prove fit subjects to be preyed upon by the one man trust in Philadelphia? These men told McKinley that they could manufacture furniture "cheaper than it can be produced in any other country; that they employed 100,000 laborers and produced $125,000,000 worth of goods annually, and that they exported in 1888 $3,000,000 worth of it." Did they forfeit all claim on McKinley's sympathy when they spoke so lightly of protection as to say they did not need it?

But the blow that McKinley has struck at our furniture men is still greater when we come to the duty on hard woods, which are so extensively used in the finer grades of furniture. Under the old tariff law all sawed lumber paid $2 per 1,000 feet, which was a very light duty on such expensive woods as mahogany and rosewood. McKinley changes the duty to 15 per cent. ad valorem, although there is not a mahogany tree in the United States, and now all imported mahogany lumber must pay a duty ranging anywhere from $8 to $42 per 1,000, according to quality. That is to say, the duty is increased anywhere from 300 to 2,000 per cent!

As if this were not enough, McKinley lays an additional burden upon these men who are so bold and reckless as to tell him they need no protection. A great deal of furniture is made with mirrors. These are all imported from Germany, none having ever been made in this country. This so-called German looking glass is controlled by a trust recently formed by the men who import it into this country, and thus a monopoly is guaranteed to them at the expense of the furniture men.

What does McKinley do under these circumstances? Does he lower the duty? On the contrary, he raises it by 50 per cent. on all glass not larger than 16 by 24 inches. Besides this the customs administrative act, which went into effect Aug. 1, imposes duties on the boxes, on the expenses of packing in Germany, and allows nothing for glass broken while crossing the sea. Verily, the way of the furniture maker is hard!

But what does McKinley do to recompense these men with whom he has dealt so hardly? He does the most foolish and useless thing imaginable—he raises the duty on furniture, which is now 30 per cent., to 35 per cent., and this notwithstanding the fact that the National Furniture Manufacturers' association had told him that they could manufacture furniture cheaper than it can be produced in any other land, and that therefore they neither needed nor asked for protection. And yet McKinley attempts to make up to these men for the unjust imposition of burdens upon them by putting a "tin whistle" increase of duty on furniture! How like the blundering, self confident McKinley!

Meanwhile what of the $3,000,000 worth of furniture which our manufacturers are exporting every year? Are they going to be able to continue to export that amount under the increased cost of production caused by McKinley's higher duties? Of course we free American citizens don't mind paying higher prices for our furniture, since McKinley has shown us what a beautiful thing it is to have no cheap things in our own country; but the question is, Will foreigners buy our furniture at McKinley prices? Or will our manufacturers of furniture have to adopt McKinley's notion that the foreign market has too much pauper made wares in it and is no good anyway, and that they will therefore withdraw from that market altogether? In this case the tariff will get in its work of compelling fewer sales at higher profits, and we free American citizens will help to bear the burdens which McKinley lays upon the furniture men. Of course we are quite willing to do that, if only to vindicate the wisdom of the patriotic Maj. McKinley. What is patriotism worth anyway if it does not cost us something?

COMPETING FOR CARGOES.

McKinleyism Develops an Instructive Lesson in Foreign Trade.

The exports of our products from the port of New York for the week ending Oct. 11, were nearly twice as large as for the corresponding week last year. The New York Commercial Bulletin has investigated the subject and publishes the following explanation of the large increase:

"At the custom house yesterday inquiry was made in several departments as to the cause of the large increase, but no reason could be ascribed except that the rush of imports to this country incident to the operation of the new tariff had brought hither a large number of vessels, and the competition for return cargoes had been so great that freight rates had been reduced to a minimum, thus offering to exporters special inducements to send out domestic produce earlier than they otherwise would have done."

This explanation only emphasizes the truth of the position of the tariff reformers, that an increased demand in America for European products will increase the demand in Europe for our products, and that instead of injuring labor by admitting foreign commodities into the country, we help labor immensely by enlarging the foreign market for the very things which our labor has produced. Does not foreign trade thus give us a twofold benefit? Not only does it enlarge the demand for what our labor has created, but also it places in reach of our consuming millions—laborers, farmers, everybody—the necessaries of life at lower cost.

This great inrush of foreign goods at New York during the last week of the old tariff law in order to escape the McKinley duties has but one explanation. Those goods came in answer to the demands of American buyers, both rich and poor. The merchants who ordered those goods to be sent here acted simply as agents for the great mass of consumers who need cheap goods; and when McKinley shuts out those goods he is merely acting against the interests of his American fellow citizens, however much he may boast of his "American bill."

But the extract above quoted confirms another position of the tariff reformers. They have been saying all along that commerce between the people of different nations is barter—an exchange of commodities for commodities. Here were a great number of ships—a greater number perhaps than ever before—coming into New York harbor with foreign goods. Did they take away money in payment in order to "make gold flow out of the country" and thus ruin us, as the protectionists are always saying?

Oh no, these empty ships began at once to compete for cargoes to take back to Europe, and as this custom house official said, "freight rates had been reduced to a minimum." So great was that competition for freights that several cases were reported where wheat was taken to Europe in ballast free. That means the placing of our grain upon the European markets at a considerable advantage. Low freights on our wheat give us greater power to compete with Russia and India in the English market. A saving on freight gives the preference to our grain and increases the demand for it.

The McKinley bill, however, has now gone into effect. The object of that bill, as stated by McKinley himself, is to restrict importation. When foreign goods are thus largely excluded, is it not clear that fewer ships will come to our shores? Will not the competition for cargoes then cease? Will not the freight charge for shipping grain to Europe be largely increased? No vessel will sail empty from Europe to New York for a cargo unless it can make double freight on that cargo. In this way the price of our grain will be increased in Europe, less of it will be bought, and Mr. Blaine can say more truly than ever, "The foreign market for our breadstuffs grows narrower."

McKinley's reciprocity measure, to make our own people pay a tax on their tea, coffee, sugar, hides, etc., reminds one of the old jingle:

There was a man in our town,
And he was wondrous wise;
He jumped into a bramble bush
And scratched out both his eyes.

The rise in the price of corsets, dress goods, velvets, hat trimmings and millinery goods is not calculated to make McKinleyism very popular with the ladies.

The figure 9 in our dates will make a long stay. No man or woman now living will ever date a document without using the figure 9. It stands in the third place in 1890, where it will remain ten years and then move up to second place in 1900 where it will rest for one hundred years.

There is another "9" which has also come to stay. It is unlike the figure 9 in our dates in the respect that it has already moved up to first place, where it will permanently remain. It is called the "No 9" High Arm Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine.

The "No. 9" was endorsed for first place by the experts of Europe at the Paris Exposition of 1889 where, after a severe contest with the leading machines of the world, it was awarded the only Grand Prize given to family sewing machines, all others on exhibit having received lower awards of gold medals, etc. The French Government also recognized its superiority by the decoration of Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, President of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor.

The "No. 9" is not an old machine improved upon, but is an entirely new machine, and the Grand Prize at Paris was awarded it as the grandest advance in sewing machine mechanism of the age. Those who buy it can rest assured, therefore, of having the very latest and best.

Do you want to buy a Lamp?

And the best lamp ever made, like Aladdin's of old, a "wonderful lamp!" A lamp absolutely non-explosive and unbreakable, which gives a clear, soft, brilliant white light of 85 candle power! Purer and brighter than gas light, softer than electric light, more cheerful than either! That lamp is
"The Rochester."
And with it there is no smoke, no smell, no broken chimneys, no flickering, no sweating, no climbing up of the flame, no "tantrums" nor annoyance of any kind, and it never needs trimming. Its fonts (oil reservoirs) being tough rolled seamless brass, with central draft, it is absolutely unbreakable, and as safe as a tallow candle.
Only five years old, and over two million of these lamps in use. It must be a GOOD lamp to make such a telling success. Indeed it is, for lamps may come and lamps may go, but the "Rochester" shines on forever! We make over 2,000 artistic varieties,—Hanging and Table Lamps, Banquet, Study, Vase and Piano Lamps,—every kind, in Bronze, Porcelain, Brass, Nickel and Black Wrought Iron.
Ask the lamp dealer for it. Look for the trade-mark stamp: "THE ROCHESTER." If he hasn't the genuine Rochester and the style you want, or if no lamp-store is near, send to us for free illustrated catalogue (and reduced price-list), and we will box and send you any lamp safely by express, right to your door.

DR. A. TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.
It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.
The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.
WHAT IT CURES.
All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.
It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.
Over 40 Years.
This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.
Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

THE NEW CONGRESS.

The following table shows the political complexion of the last House, the present House and the newly elected House. It is taken from the Chicago Tribune, a leading Republican paper, and appeared Nov. 12th, one week after election. There may be a few changes either way yet, but they are as likely to be in favor of the Democrats as against them. We think the table can be relied upon as substantially correct. All the Farmers Alliance members are figured in the Democratic column, as they may be expected to act with the Democrats on the tariff and silver questions.

The Democratic majority is 145. There are 121 votes from the South. Hence it appears that without a vote from the South the Democrats would still have a majority of 24. This more fully appears from the following summary:

A BRILLIANT WEDDING.

The Jackson Patriot of Nov. 13th, contains a lengthy account of the wedding of Harry Selfridge. Mr. Selfridge's father resided in Tecumseh in an early day and many of our older residents will remember the family well. We clip a portion of the notice.

The marriage of H. G. Selfridge, formerly of this city, which occured in Chicago, Tuesday evening, was the most brilliant and ultra swell wedding the garden city has produced for years. The Chicago press devotes columns to the occasion.

The Herald says: "standing within the shadow of the big stage of the Central Music Hall yesterday afternoon, Harry Gordon Selfridge, a member of the firm of Marshall Field & Co., and general manager of the retail store on State street, was married to Miss Rosaline A. Buckingham. Towering above them were pillars of flowers and evergreens, masses of blooming chrysanthemums and a profusion of potted plants and cut flowers, which gave the stage the appearance of a gothic chair. The big hall never contained a larger or more fashionable audience Every seat was occupied, and 3,000 pairs of eyes saw the happy couple join hands as Professor David Swing pronounced the words that made them one. The wedding was conducted on an elaborate scale such as has marked no simi'ar event in Chicago for many years. Invitations were issued to nearly three thousand friends and acquaintances of the bride and groom.

There is nothing like Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil to quickly cure a cold or releve hoarseness. Written by Mrs. M J. Fellows, Burr Oak, St. Joseph Co., Mich.

HON. JOHN D. SHULL.

John D. Shull, Representative elect for this district in the State Legislature, was born in the traditional log cabin of a pioneer farmer, in Huntington Co., Indiana, Oct. 25th, 1844. His father died eleven months later, when his mother, with three small children, returned to her former home in Franklin Co., Penn. Here the subject of this sketch acquired such education as he could in a country school, supplemented by a three years' course in the Chambersburg Academy. He learned the "art preservative" in the office of the Franklin Repository, then published by Col. A. K. McClure, now of the Philadelphia Times. He participated in the war of the Rebellion as a private in Company G, 8th Penn. Cavalry. Was severely wounded in battle at Sailor's Creek, Va., April 6th, 1865, three days before Lee surrendered to Grant at Appomattox. Returning from the army he first taught school one term, after which was engaged in the drug trade two years at Frederick, Md., five years at Topeka, Kan., and nine years at Lansing, Mich. Was married in 1873 to Mary C. Adams, daughter of Hon. P. R. Adams of this place. Since September, 1883, he has resided in Tecumseh, where his principal occupation has been farming. He served one term as alderman in the City of Lansing, and two terms as Supervisor of Tecumseh. He belongs to Tecumseh Lodge 69, F. and A. M., and is an enthusiastic member of Beers Post 140, G. A. R., of which he has been Commander. Mr. Shull now has the legal right to use the prefix "Hon." before his name, and no citizen of Tecumseh better deserves that honor. His splendid run at the late election for a purely political office is a most emphatic proof of his personal popularity where he is best known. We believe he will fill his new position in such a manner as to reflect credit both upon himself and this community.

CHILDREN'S LITERATURE.

WHAT "ST. NICHOLAS" HAS DONE FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

Victor Hugo calls this "the woman's century," and he might have added that it is the children's century as well, for never before in the world's history has so much thought been paid to children—their schools, their books, their pictures, and their toys. Childhood, as we understood it, is a recent discovery.

Up to the time of the issue of the St. Nicholas Magazine seventeen years ago literature and children's magazines were almost contradictory terms, but the new periodical started out with the idea, that nothing was too good for children; the result has been a juvenile magazine genuine with conscientious purpose,—the greatest writers contributing to it, with the best artists and engravers helping to beautify it,—and everything tuned to the key-note of youth.

It has been the special aim of St. Nicholas to supplant unhealthy literature with stories of a living and healthful interest. It will not do to take fascinating bad literature out of boy's hands, and give them in its place Mrs. Barbauld and Peter Parley, or the work of writers who think that any "good-y" talk will do for children, but they must have strong, interesting reading, with the blood and sinew of real life in it,—reading that will waken them to a closer observation of the best things about them.

In the seventeen years of its life St. Nicholas has not only elevated the children, but it has also elevated the tone of contemporary children's literature as well. Many of its stories, like Mrs. Burnett's "Little Lord Fauntleroy," have become classic. It is not too much to say that almost every notable young people's story now produced in America first seeks the light in the pages of that magazine.

The year 1891 will prove once more that "no household where there are children is complete without St. Nicholas." J. T. Trowbridge, Noah Brooks, Charles Dudley Warner, and many well-known writers are to contribute during this coming year. One cannot put the spirit of St. Nicholas into a prospectus, but the publishers are glad to send a full announcement of the features for 1891 and a single sample copy to the address of any person mentioning this notice. The magazine costs $3.00 a year. Address the Century Co., 33 East 17th St., New York.

Good Fortune of a Land Broker.

In Feb. 1890 I commenced to use Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup and plasters for inflammatory rheumatism from which I had suffered for three years. My joints were swollen so that I could hardly walk, but three bottles of the Syrup, and the Plasters applied to my limbs, have cured me. C. R. NICHOLSON,

A Suggestion that Saved My Life.

I took a severe cold and suffered pain through the back and kidneys, I sent for a physician, who pronounced my case Gravel, A friend recommended Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Roudout, N. Y., and after taking two bottles I considered myself perfectly cueed.—John Davies, Rochester, N. Y. What more could be asked.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Woodard of Elkhart, Ind., and Mrs. L. J. Totten of Kalamazoo, who have been visiting their aged mother, returned to their homes last Monday.

Frank Baxter is in town two or three days this week. He is now engaged in the real estate business in Nashville, Tenn, being a member of the firm of Baxter & Cruzen. He is getting nicely started and is well pleased with the outlook there. That section of the South is rapidly filling up with Northern immigration, and there are lots of fine openings for enterprising business men.

The entertainment to be given at Grange Hall, Nov. 26th, at 7:30 P. M., by the Prohibitionists of Macon will consist of the following: Prayer. Singing by the Choir. Select reading. Violin solo. Short speeches. Recitation. Quartetts. Songs by the Glee club. Violin playing by two little children. They are expecting help from Ridgeway choir and Tecumseh Glee club. A cake and coffee supper will be given and all for 10cts. Ladies will please furnish the cake. Everybody is cordially invited. Come early so as to procure seats.

REVIVAL MEETINGS.

Mr. McIntosh, the eminent Revivalist, will commence his labors in the M. E. church next Sunday morning. Mr. McIntosh does not belong to the class of wandering and irresponsible evangelists, but is a minister of the M. E. church, who gives his time to revival work, under the sanction of the Conference. His efforts have everywhere been accompanied with extraordinary demonstrations of divine power. A cordial invitation is extended to the ministers and members of the other churches to join us in this effort to secure a season of spiritual refreshing to the churches, and a religious awakening to the community. The public generally is earnestly invited.
J. S. JOSLIN, Pastor.

THREE KOURSES FOR ME AND YOU.

The Crazy Supper at the Baptist Chapel last Tuesday evening was rightly named. There were three rounds, which consisted of staples, appetizers and dessert. The three rounds taken together made a good square meal, which was cheap enough at twenty-five cents. The ladies composing the committee were rigged in fantastic attire, much to the amusement of the visitors. Below is the menu—after interpretation. By sandwiching this menu and the one printed last week together, one can easily unravel the bill of fare. It was a very enjoyable evening socially, and added nearly twenty-five dollars to the parsonage fund.

MENU—FIRST COURSE.

Baked Beans.	Bacon.
Rolls.	Sandwiches.
Tea.	Hash.
Turkey.	Chicken.

SECOND COURSE.

Tongue.	Pumpkin Pie.
Catsup.	Picalilli.
Lady Fingers.	Honey.

THIRD COURSE.

Tiffany, cornet; Fred Hall, tenor; James Elliott, alto; Cleo Hall, alto; Chas. Burridge, 1st. claronet; Art Harding, cornet; Robert McClure, cornet; Harry Spalding, 2d. clarinet; John Nyland, tenor; Marvin Hayden, bass drum; Peter Ridgley, snare drum Don Bowen, drum major.

The performance last evening at the Opera House, of the "Two Orphans" was well patronized and most favorably received. This celebrated piece needs no discription; suffice it to say the company handled the various role in a creditable manner. Mr. Tucker, as Jacques scored a pronounced success, while Miss Thompson's pathetic portrayal of the blind orphan, elicited unbounded applause and sympathy. Miss Davenport's mother Frochard was a clever piece of character work and won her the deserved hatred of the audience—Port Huron Times. The above company appears at the Opera House, Friday Nov. 21.

Rev. Frank Osborn is making a brief visit at the old home.

Fritz & Company have a new message in to-day's paper. Read it.

There are now thirty-seven subscribers to the Hudson waterwosks.

There will be a Thanksgiving service in the Presbyterian church on Thursday Nov. 27th as 10:30 A. M., the congregations of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist churches uniting in the service. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Frank Arnold of the Baptist church. All are invited.

The thirtieth annual convention of the Mich. State S. S. Association will be held in the central M. E. church at Lansing, Dec. 2, 3 and 4, 1890. B. F. Jacobs of Chicago, Wm. Reynolds of Peoria, Ill., and Marion Lawrence of Toledo, will be present. The music will be conducted by Mrs. E. A. Hough of Jackson.

The Tiffany Iron Works are about ready for business. Their machinery is nearly all in position, the heating pipes are placed, the moulding room is in order. The blower is expected every day, and the first heat will probably be taken next week. Several workmen are already on duty making patterns and getting things in readiness for business.

Len W. Hoch has succeeded in exacting a promise from Henry George, the celebrated labor orator and single-tax economist, to visit Adrian, and deliver a lecture. He will be here on the evening of January 30th, and the proceeds of the lecture, after paying expenses, will be given to the Adrian Benevolent Association, for their use. He should have a crowded house.—Adrian Times.

Burglars attempted to enter the bank of VanTuyle & Silvers at Clinton, last Thursday night. They had got the front door partially opened when they were frightened away by people returning from the jollification meeting at Tecumseh. They then stole a span of horses and double buggy from Geo. Calhoun, with which they drove nearly to Adrian and abandoned the rig.

The trial of the new Battle Creek threshing machine took place last Tuesday on the farm of Wm. F. Pocklington in Ridgeway. The patentee himself was present to supervise the work. For the first trial the machine worked admirably and fully met expectations. It will probably be subjected to a further test before a definite decision is made to manufacture it by the parties interested.

Harper's Magazine for December will be a superb Christmas number. The illustrations will include, besides a frontispiece in tints, a large number of full-page engravings representing some of the best work of the best modern artists. The fiction, which will be given a prominent place in this number, is of a character especially appropriate to the holiday season, and the editorial departments will be brimful of allusions to Christmas cheer and Christmas duties.

The Democrat jollification meeting last Thursday evening was a hummer. A big crowd had gathered before seven o'clock and a display of fireworks then took place on Chicago street which would have done credit to a Fourth of July celebration. At eight o'clock the crowd repaired to the Opera House which was packed to the doors. Lt. Salsbury made a fine speech of thirty minutes and Congressman-elect Gorman spoke for over an hour. Brief remarks were made by Editor Field, who presided, S. C. Stacy, Capt. Fred Wood and Alexander Richard. The Democrats were highly pleased with the meeting.

Do not forget the Oles' violin concert this evening.

Indignant Britons

Managers of the African Expedition

Are Objects of Scathing Denunciation

BECAUSE OF THE DISGRACE THEY BROUGHT THE NATION.

Barttelot Now Excused on the Ground of Insanity, and a Similar Plea Will Probably Be Urged on Jameson's Behalf—Moral Pointed —Other Foreign News.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The officers of the Emin Relief committee are very much irritated by the flood of scathing condemnations which is being poured upon their management of the recent African expedition. There is a genuine feeling of indignation among the British public because of the disgrace brought upon the nation by the acts of the men employed by the committee. Barttelot is now excused on the ground of insanity. It is possible that the plea of insanity will eventually be brought forward on Jameson's behalf, for his atrocious conduct seems foreign to what was thought to be the man's nature by those who who knew him at home.

Some critics point a moral in this deplorable affair by dwelling upon the essentially vulgar purpose of the whole enterprise. The pretense that the purpose of the expedition was to relieve Emin is sneered at by these commentators as a pious fraud, and they declare the real object of the syndicate of capitalists known as the Emin Relief Committee to be the gobbling up of ivory and the confiscation of territory in the equatorial province if possible.

Contrasted with Livingstone's religious zeal or Sir Samuel Baker's passion for the spread of knowledge and civilization this filibustering expedition would have reflected little glory upon the country of its organization, even had it been free from the hideous brutalities which are now revealed. Those who indulge in these views express the hope that future expeditions into Africa may be conducted by the government for a national purpose and by responsible officers. These animadversions are naturally distasteful to the committee, and both President Mckinnon and Secretary Mackenzie have displayed a good deal of ill-temper in repulsing newspaper men who attempted to interview them on the subject of the recent revelations. Mr. Mackinnon, in fact, has practically adopted the famous attitude of the late Mr. Vanderbilt toward the public. He boldly declares that the committee is above criticism; that he despises newspaper comment; that the public is incapable of understanding the facts, and that he will make no statement unless notified of an official inquiry.

Turkish Garrisons Strengthened.

TUNIS, Nov. 17.—Fearing that Italy is about to make an attempt on Tripoli, three thousand Turkish troops have been sent to reinforce the garrisons of that province, and the forts are being strengthened.

That Jameson Letter.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The Brussels Independent Belge says that Jameson stands condemned by his own letter, which is tantamount to an unwilling and indirect confession. This is also the general opinion of the English press.

A Sweet Singer Caged.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—The Herald says: Miss Laura Moore, who plays the part of Lilita, the Princess, in Francis Wilson's "Merry Monarch," was married at Bishop Cheney's residence to E. L. Nathan Snyder, son of B. P. Snyder, president of the National Savings bank, of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Snyder's contract with Wilson provides that she must give him four week's notice before leaving. She will therefore stay with the troupe for that length of time and then retire to private life in Washington.

Murdered Her Own Child.

TOPEKA, KAS., Nov. 17.—Mrs. John John Swinson, Friday night murdered her four-year-old child Annie by giving her a dose of laudanum. Mrs. Swinson has been morbidly insane ever since last winter, when she had an attack of la grippe. She confessed to the crime yesterday. She said she knew she was about to die and could not bear to leave her favorite child behind. She determined to send it before her to heaven, where it would meet her when her own death occurred.

Receiving the Brazilian Squadron.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Acting Secretary Grant, of the war department, has directed General O. O. Howard, commanding the division of the Atlantic, to co-operate with the naval authorities at New York in the Brazilian squadron. The squadron in its passage up the bay will be greeted by the several forts on either side of the bay with national salutes, and these, with the salutes from naval vessels in the bay, will make a continuous salute for several hours.

Petroleum Explosion.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—At 12:30 in the morning there was an explosion of crude petroleum used for fuel in Crand Bros. Pipe Foundry, at Desplaines and Fulton streets. The building immediately took fire and was practically consumed. The loss is about $20,000, which is about equally divided between building and machinery. What caused the oil to explode is not known.

Phrenologist Commits Suicide.

CRESTON, IOWA, Nov. 16.—Something over a week ago Dr. F. Oliver, of Sioux City, Iowa, came to Creston and advertised to begin a course of lectures on phrenology. Saturday not responding to the call for breakfast, his room was entered and he was found unconscious, having taken morphine, belladoma, nux vomica and other poisons. Physicians pronounce his case hopeless.

Aged Editor Dead.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Nov. 17.—Edward Gardner, postmaster at Bayonne, New Jersey, and editor and proprietor of the Bayonne Times, died here aged seventy years. Mr. Gardner was formerly connected with the Cambridge Post of Washing county, New York, and subsequently with the Brooklyn Eagle.

CHOLERA'S RAVAGES.

Path of the Fatal Plague is Daily Becoming Wider.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Reports received at the marine hospital bureau headquarters, through the state department, of the progress of cholera abroad show that at Aleppo cases are daily becoming more numerous. Thirty-eight cases and nineteen deaths were reported on October 7, the latest date noted. A few new cases are continually occurring, while all the villages around Aleppo and Orfa are infected. The most serious fact noted in the latest report received from Constantinople state that cholera has made its appearance at Alexandretta, the seaport of Aleppo. At Hedjaz 4,171 deaths have occurred since the epidemic broke out. The latest advices from Hioga, Japan, report 239 cases and 61 deaths there for the week ending September 27. At Nagasaki-Ken, the United States consul reports 883 cases and 84 deaths for the week ending September 29.

DYING BY DOZENS.

A FATAL TYPHOID EPIDEMIC AT CLERMONTVILLE, OHIO.

For Three Months Past There Has Been Almost a Daily Funeral—A Happy Valley the Scene of Distress and Mourning.

CLERMONTVILLE, O., Nov. 17.—For three months past this village has been the scene of a terrible epidemic of typhoid fever which has almost depopulated the town. Death has followed death with such frightful rapidity that there have been almost daily burials in the cemetery. Entire families were stricken down at once, or else the dreaded fever would select their members one by one until all had run the gauntlet of death. The cause of the epidemic is unknown, as Clermontville, because of its location and pure and clean surroundings, has always been noted for its healthfulness.

An exact list of the dead cannot be given, owing to the differences between the physicians attending the sick. When the epidemic first entered the village the doctors were divided in opinion as to whether the fever was of a malarial or typhoid character. These disputes have continued more or less, and while some physicians admit that a plague has been within their midst, others maintain that of the long list of the sick reported only a few were genuine cases of typhoid fever.

But the fact remains that at Clermontville district, two miles long and one mile wide, contains but three houses that have not been visited by fever within the last three months. So great was the calamity that the news of it reached the State Board of Health and a dispatch of inquiry was sent to the local health office.

It is a surprising fact that Clermontville's woe has been generally unknown to its neighboring towns until within the last few days. One reason for this was that while many died many also recovered from very severe attacks because of the healthful climate of the place. The village is not easy of access, either, except by river, and this accounts for the fact that Clermontville has ministered to her sick and buried her dead unaided by her sister towns.

The Parker academy at Clermontville, once a famous institution, but now somewhat decayed, has been fortunate during the sick season. But two cases were reported among the students, and they were of so mild a type that the patients soon recovered. Professor Parker has kept a list of all the cases of fever in town, and informed the reporter that between fifty and sixty persons were attacked with the malady within the bounds of Clermontville. The fever attacked generally those who were exposed to the sun and who had to work hard.

The epidemic is now leaving the village, the grim fact being that it has little more to work on, unless it would retrace its ground over the weakened ones who battled with it successfully.

Was He Murdered?

ELKHART, IND., Nov. 16.—The whereabouts of young Dr. Congdon, the physician whose mysterious disappearance from here Wednesday has caused so much excitement throughout this vicinity, are as yet unsolved, although his overcoat, revolver, with one chamber vacant; pocket book, containing a promissory note, and medical instruments were found in a grove a mile east of here. The coat was on one side of a fence and the other articles on the opposite side. His friends are of the opinion that he has been murdered for the $900 which he drew from the bank here, and that the person who drove his horse into the livery stable Wednesday night was one of the murderers impersonating him and who did it for a blind.

Henry Villard Coming Back.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—William Nelson Cromwell, the assignee of Decker, Howell & Co., says that he has received a cable from Henry Villard stating that he will sail for New York on the 20th inst. The assignee says that Mr. Villard has not lost faith in the enterprises with which he was connected and that while in Europe attending a sick daughter he had remitted several millions of dollars in cash to his representatives here.

O'Sullivan Was a Traitor.

JOLIET, ILL., Nov. 17.—The belief that O'Sullivan, the Cronin prisoner, has squealed, is general here. The reason assigned for the denial is that in case O'Sullivan got out he would meet the same fate that Cronin did inside of three days. The discipline of the prison is also involved. The more earnest the denial the firmer grows the belief that the statement is true.

Counterfeiter Caught.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 17.—Albert Green, a shrewd, captivating man, was sent to the grand jury under heavy bonds for passing Confederate money. He operated chiefly among saloon-keepers, and made it a point to spend good money freely and then spring a ten-dollar Confederate bill. Four saloonkeepers were caught, and he attempted to repeat his trick upon one of his victims. This led to his arrest.

New Pacific Slope Railroad.

DENVER, COL., Nov. 17.—The Colorado Midland railway, Pike's Peak route, opened its new through line to Salt Lake City and Ogden yesterday, carrying through business between Denver, Ogden and all Pacific coast points with two through trains each way. This makes a standard guage line from Denver to the Pacific coast.

SOME BIG ASSIGNMENTS

Made at Kansas City—The Close Money Market is the Cause.

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—The Kansas City packing and Chase refrigerator, the Kansas City packing company and the Cold Blast transportation company have made assignments for the benefit of their creditors, to George F. Parker, of Boston, who is a director in the first named concern. The Kansas City packing and Chase refrigerator company has been established some ten months and William G. Bell, of the failed firm of William G. Bell & Co., was its president. This company practically absorbed the two others but separate organizations were kept up. The liabilities of the Kansas City packing and Chase refrigerator company are held in New England. The capital stock of the Kansas City packing and Chase refrigerator company is $2,000,000, and the business is in dressed cattle and hogs. The assignee stated that the stringency of the money market was the chief cause of the assignments. An attachment for $500,000 was placed on the Kansas City packing company as a precautionary move, when it was decided to assign, and such other proceedings taken as would hold the assets for the creditors without any preferences. Mr. Parker stated that the failure of Bell & Co., had little, if any effect on this company, as the dealings between them were very limited. He said the combined liabilities of the companies would not exceed $750,000 and the nominal assets would foot up $1,500,000.

UP THE SPOUT.

THE PLAYERS' LEAGUE TAKES A SUDDEN TURN.

A Post Convention Caucus Which Seems to Indicate that the League Will Soon be a Thing of the Past.

NEW YORK Nov. 17.—It is stated that after the adjournment of the National league base ball convention several conferences were held by Players' and National league capitalists and that an arrangement was agreed to by which the Boston and Philadelphia Players' league clubs will be admitted to the American association. This puts an end to the plans of the Players' league people of continuing their organization. Just what arrangements can be made in Cleveland has not yet appeared.

The National League Adjourns

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The National League has adjourned. It was announced that nothing had been done except to discuss the sitation. The work of patching up the difficulties in the doubtful cities was left to the conference committee with full power to act.

THE DISTINGUISHED IRISHMEN.

Dillon and Harrington Royally Received in Newark N. J.

NEWARK, N. J. Nov. 17.—Saenger hall was crowded last night to welcome to this city Messrs. Dillon, Gill and Harrington. Governor Abbett presiding, and on the platform sat many of Newark's prominent citizens, including Mayor Haynes and the entire board of alderman. Governor Abbett introduced Mr. Dillon who was received with enthusiasm. He said he came from a country where liberty was comparatively unknown. They were here, he continued, looking for the right which America possesses, the power that no power under heaven could take away from them, the power of managing their own affairs. Messrs. Harrington and Gill also made speeches. About $1,500 was raised.

Fuel Famine Feared in Nebraska.

OMAHA, NEB., Nov. 17.—A fuel famine is feared in Nebraska on account of lack of cars to transport coal from the Union Pacific mines in Wyoming to points in this state. Already a number of towns have reported that the coal supply has been exhausted and no more could be secured. In case of severe weather or a heavy fall of snow great suffering would ensue, as many of the towns in this state are entirely dependent on the Union Pacific for fuel.

A Vermillion Vessel Lost.

MILWAUKEE, WIS., Nov. 17.—A special to the Evening Wisconsin from Manitowoc, Wis., says the steamer Nevada, of Vermillion, O., sprung a leak and was abandoned at 2 o'clock a. m. the crew being taken off by the steamer Manhatten and landed at Manitowoc. The Nevada floated until 10 o'clock this morning, when she sank seven miles northeast of Kewburne. The Nevada was valued at $50,000, and is insured for about $45,000.

Watch Clubs are Lotteries.

SEDALIA, MO., Nov. 17.—In the criminal court the grand jury indicted George W. Townslee, one of the leading jewelers of the city, and Zimmerman & Son, of the Empire laundry, for advertising a lottery. Mr. Townslee organized a watch club recently, and Zimmerman & Son have for some time past given a clock every Saturday night to some of their patrons, the same being awarded by a drawing after the style of a lottery.

Half a Million Liabilities.

FORT WORTH, TEX., Nov. 17.—W. F. Somerville, who owns real estate, bonds and stocks valued at $5000,000, made an assignment to Thomas E. Ross, trustee, for the benefit of his creditors. His liabilities are $200,000. Somerville's failure was caused chiefly by the stringency in the money market.

Paper Mill Burned.

APPLETON, WIS., Nov. 17.—No. 1 mill of the Atlas Paper company devoted to the manufacture of sulphate and mechanical wood pulp, was destroyed by fire Friday night. Loss $70,000; insurance $45,000, mostly in Mutual companies.

Treasury Redemptions.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The treasury department has redeemed under its circular of October 9, $75,350 four and a half per cent. bonds, making the total redemptions to date $4,909,759.

He Is a Defaulter.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Nov. 17.—Teller Julius E. Smith, of the Merchants' National bank, of this city, is a defaulter in the sum of $9,800. A warrant for his arrest has been issued.

Anti-Dressed Beef Legislation.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 17.—The court of last resort has confirmed the decision of the lower court that the dressed beef exclusion act is unconstitutional.

Catarrh

Is a constitutional and not a local disease, and therefore it cannot be cured by local applications. It requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the disease, and effects a permanent cure. Thousands of people testify to the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for catarrh when other preparations had failed. Hood's Sarsaparilla also builds up the whole system, and makes you feel renewed in health and strength.

N. B. If you decide to try Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

"I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, and received great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh was very disagreeable, causing constant discharge from my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and pains in the back of my head. The effect to clear my head in the morning by hawking and spitting was painful. Hood's Sarsaparilla gave me relief immediately, while in time I was entirely cured. I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is worth its weight in gold." MRS. G. B. GIBB, 1029 Eighth Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has helped us more for catarrh and impure blood than anything else I ever used." A. BALL, Syracuse, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

ESTATE OF JANE GORDEN.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 10th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Jane Gorden, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of John Boyd, alleging among other things that he is one of the principal creditors of said deceased; that more than thirty days have elapsed since the death of said deceased; and praying that administration of said estate may be granted to Charles Burridge, or to some other suitable person.

It is ordered, that Monday, the 8th day of December next at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

ALWAYS BRING YOUR CERTIFICATE WITH YOU.

If you want the benefit of a Pension while you live go, and see Dr. Reynolds.

I can get you from $2 to $6 more per month under the new law than other agents.

To any person examined by the board, at Adrian, before Aug. 1, 1889, I have something of importance to tell you.

Come and let us examine you (no charge), and will tell you all about it. About one-third of the soldiers examined while I was on the board were rated for disabilities not claimed. You had better come and see me about it.

Correspondence solicited, with stamp for reply. 15 East Maumee-st., Adrian, Mich.

ATTENTION, Soldiers & Sailors,

Under the new pension law just passed by Congress all Soldiers and Sailors who served 90 days in the Rebellion, and who are disabled from any cause permanently, (need not have originated in the service,) are entitled to a pension of from $6 to $12. All soldiers' widows, minor children and dependent parents come under this law. Being located at the Capital near the U. S. Pension office, we can give our personal attention to your claim and thus ascertain any defect quickly and supply the same.

Write for blanks. Give full description of service and disabilities.

DODD'S CATARRH CURE.

LOCAL AND INTERNAL TREATMENT.

In order to cure catarrh it is necessary to allay the inflammation of the irritated membranes with a soothing application, cleanse the head of the plugging mucous secretions, and heal the discharging ulcers. For cold in the head and nasal catarrh Dodds' local treatment does this without the aid of snuff, douches or fumes. If the disease has extended downward affecting the bronchial tubes or lungs, digestion and blood, the internal treatment both removes from the system the scattered poison, and by its building-up properties assists nature in restoring the impaired parts. Send for our book treating on catarrh. FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y. Sold in Tecumseh, Mich., by C. A. Wright & Co., druggists.

DEMANDS

That only honest and reliable medicines should be placed upon the market. It cannot, therefore, be stated too emphatically, nor repeated too often, that all who are in need of a genuine Blood-purifier should be sure and ask for

Ayer's

Sarsaparilla. Your life, or that of some one dear and dear to you, may depend on the use of this well-approved remedy in preference to any other preparation of similar name. It is compounded of Honduras sarsaparilla (the variety most rich in curative properties), stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, and the iodides. The process of manufacture is original, skilful, scrupulously clean, and such as to secure the very best medicinal qualities of each ingredient. This medicine is not boiled nor heated, and is, therefore, not a decoction; but it is a compound extract, obtained by a method exclusively our own, of the best and most powerful alteratives, tonics, and diuretics known to pharmacy. For the last forty years, Ayer's

Sarsaparilla

has been the standard blood-purifier of the world—no other approaching it in popular confidence or universal demand. Its formula is approved by the leading physicians and druggists. Being pure and highly concentrated, it is the most economical of any possible blood medicine. Every purchaser of Sarsaparilla should insist upon having this preparation and see that each bottle bears the well-known name of

J. C. Ayer & Co.,
Lowell, Mass.

In every quarter of the globe Ayer's Sarsaparilla is proved to be the best remedy for all diseases of the blood. Lowell druggists unite in testifying to the superior excellence of this medicine and to its great popularity in the city of its manufacture.

Fire Works Trust.

Fourth of July Materia Held by a Syndicate.

A DIRECT BLOW AT THE PATRIOTISM OF YOUNG AMERICA.

Incorporation Papers Filed at Albany New York, Which Indicate a Combination in the Manufacture of Fire Works.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 17.—A certificate of incorporation filed in the secretary of state's office here indicates that all the leading fireworks manufacturers have combined. The corporation is called the Consolidated Fireworks Company, and its capital is fixed at $2,500,000. The principal office of the trust is to be in Northfield, Richmond county, this state. The directors, whose names and residences indicate how far-reaching is the combine, are George W. Street, of New York, George H. Prentiss and Charles A. Johnson, of Brooklyn; Joseph W. Palmer and James Palmer, jr., of Rochester; Thomas B. Diehl, of Cincinnati, and John W. Bond, of Baltimore.

BUFFALO BILL'S INDIANS.

Investigation of the Alleged Bad Treatment in Europe.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The forty Indians of the Buffalo Bill's wild west show who recently returned to this county from Europe, were given a hearing by acting Indian Commissioner Belt to determine the facts as to their alleged ill-treatment while with the show. The Indians were closeted with the commissioner for an hour and none of the official or the interpreter of the show were allowed in the room. An interpreter from the Indian school at Carlisle, Pa., was present. The Indians were questioned closely as to their treatment while abroad and all denied the charges that they were ill-treated. They said that they were well cared for and desired to continue their engagements with the show.

Acting Commissioner Belt closed the hearing with an address in which he told the Indians of the excitement among their race over the supposed coming of new Messiah and cautioned them not to be drawn into it, but to use their influence in behalf of the government, to quiet their people

The Indians called on the president in a body at one o'clock in the afternoon. They were presented by Major Burke. No reference was made to the charges of bad treatment.

FIELD SPORTS.

Williams Wins.

WILLIAMSTOWN, MASS., Nov. 17.—Williams defeated Amherst in a very exciting game of foot ball by a score of 6 to 0.

Palo Alto Trots.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—Palo Alto trotted a mile in 2.14¼ at the Bay District track, Saturday, in an attempt to break his record of 2:12½.

Cleveland Won.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 17.—The foot ball game between the Cleveland and Allegheny Athletic association teams was played in the mud. Cleveland won, score 5 to 4

Yale Easily Wins.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 17.—The Yale foot ball team easily defeated the eleven from the University of Pennsylvania by the score of 66 to 0, or ten times the size of Princeton's victory of one week ago. Yale put her adversary on the defensive at the start and kept her there all through the game. Griffith, of Pennsylvania, had several ribs broken, and Dewey, of the same team, was also injured.

TROUBLE AHEAD.

Manufacturers of Hats and Trimmers Have Differences.

DANBURY, CONN., Nov. 17.—The hat manufacturers held a meeting Saturday afternoon to decide what action to take in regard to the Hat Trimmers' Association, whose members at a meeting decided to abolish the articles of agreement which have existed between the manufacturers and the association for five years. At the meeting of the manufacturers it was decided to lock out the 2,000 girls employed in the trimming department Monday and allow the other departments to operate. If the trimmers stand by their demand for a few days, however, it will necessitate the shutting down of all the departments of the twenty factories in the city, and thus throw out of employment 10,000 hatters and paralyze the hatting industry temporartly at least.

MEXICAN MAILS

Will Not Be Disturbed by Mr. Wanamaker.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Postmaster General Wanamaker has notified the Mexican director general of posts that there will be no detention or inspection of Mexican newspapers containing lottery advertisements while crossing the territory of the United States for delivery to subscribers and others in postal administrations beyond. The postmaster general based this announcement on a decision rendered by Assistant Attorney General Tyner. The question involved was raised by editorials in Mexican newspapers and was brought to the attention of Mr. Wanamaker.

Windom Wont Talk.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Secretary Windom has declined to say what effect, if an, the embarrassment of Baring Bros. of London, would have on American securities or on the financial situation. Comptroller Lacey said that the latest advices from New York showed the National banks in that city to be in a sound condition. He anticipated no bank failures in this country as a consequence of the financial flurry in London.

Stole a $12,000 Diamond.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Louse Lachot, the French maid in the employ of Commodore Bateman, has been held for trial, charged by Mrs. Bateman with having stolen from her a diamond necklace, valued at $12,000. The maid had traveled all over Europe with Mrs. Bateman, and the utmost confidence was placed in her.

DASHED ON THE ROCKS.

Many Victims of the Shipwrecked Serpent Cannot Be Recognized.

MADRID, Nov. 17.—The British cruiser Lapwing has taken on board at Camarinas the three survivors of the Serpent and will convey them to Coruna, where they will be transferred to the troopship Tyne, bound for England.

The scene of the wreck abounds with rocks, over which the waves are continually dashing, mutilating the corpses of the victims, so that many of the bodies are unrecognizable. The survivors, after their marvelous escape through the surf and rocks to land, staggered and crawled over the distance of two and a half miles to Camarinas. In the official report the survivors state that the vessel struck at 10:30 p. m. She was steering south by west, three-quarters west, and was proceeding about nine knots an hour. The weather was thick and wet, and there was a violent wind. After striking the rocks, the heavy swell caused the vessel to thump heavily. This lasted half an hour. Meanwhile the officers remained on the bridge. The crew, at the captain's orders, took to the rigging. Finally a tremendous sea struck the vessel and threw her on her beams. The three survivors, being members of the life boat's crew, had their belt's on. They are able to state nothing accurately as to what occurred after they were washed overboard, but they suppose that the same wave threw their companions into the sea, and that they were all drowned or killed by contact with the rocks.

Comment in America.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The wreck of the British cruiser Serpent has caused considerable comment among the officers of the navy, reflecting credit to some extent upon the new ships of this government. The accident is taken as a further proof that the smaller ships of the British navy are too light in their construction, a fact that has been suspected for some time. The plans of certain of our vessels have been based on English designs, but in every case the frames have been strengthened so that the calamity need cause no fear of a repitition on this side of the water.

AN ENGLISH PLAN.

A NEW TEMPERANCE CAFE ESTABLISHED IN LONDON.

Wealthy Tea Merchant's Philanthropic Efforts to Give the Workingmen a Place to Eat and Spend a Quiet Evening.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The leading temperance advocates in London have been inspecting the new "Tea-to-tum" cafe which was recently started in the east end of London by Mr. Buchanan, a wealthy tea merchant, and have come to the conclusion that one of the best possible methods of removing the fatal attractiveness of the public house would be the provision of good and cheap eating houses in every quarter of the large cities of Great Britain. The tea-to-tum cafes as they are called, are intended to combine the advantages of a cafe and a club, and they are intended for the uses of the working classes. On the ground floor is a restaurant, and above is a room for bagatelle and billiards. Newspapers, chess and draughts are provided, and the rooms are well and tastefully fitted up. Better than all the food is not only cheap but excellent. A satisfactory meal may be obtained at the cafe for four pence. Mr. Buchanan's aim is not profit so much as the provision of places where workingmen and women can have a good meal and spend a quiet evening, but the venture has begun to pay its way so that the temperance advocates will have little difficulty in obtaining funds to open similar cafes elsewhere. It is demonstrated every winter that an appetizing and nourishing meal can be given (on a fairly large scale) for a penny; how much more then, when the limit of cost is four pence. A lady milliner recently opened a restaurant in the west end of London for shop girls, where an excellent meal can be obtained for a few pence, and there have been equally successful experiments in other large towns.

ESCAPED THE GALLOWS.

Joe Davidson, on Trial for Murder in Kentucky, is Acquitted.

WINCHESTER, KY., Nov. 16.—The trial of the celebrated Joe Davidson for the murder of Ed. Campbell, of Hazzard, last November, was concluded, after a dramatic trial of ten days, the jury returning a verdict of not guilty. The evidence was conclusive as to the killing, but the court instructed the jury that the prisoner had a right to kill Campbell in defense of his brother, Henry Davidson, who, with others of the French faction, were beseiged in the residence of Jesse Fields, the jailer of Perry county. It was proved that the deceased at the time he was killed was firing into the house from a commanding position on a neighboring hill. Most of the participants of the Perry county war, who were imprisoned here were released on bail.

NAVAL HOSPITALS.

Annual Report of the Surgeon General of the Navy.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The annual report of Commodore Browne, surgeon general of the navy, to the secretary of the navy, gives in detail the improvements made at naval hospitals during the fiscal year. The hospitals were in excellent condition. Commodore Browne says that an endeavor is being made to complete the sanitary history of each state, with expectations for its realization.

The number of persons examined for the naval service, including apprentice boys, during the year 1889, was 13,444 and 4,896 were rejected for physical disqualifications. The number rejected for color-blindness was 176. The number of patients admitted to the sick-list during the year 1889 was 12,029, and 203 of them died. The cost of maintaining the medical burial during the year 1889 was $84,424.

Rabbit Hunter Killed.

PEORIA, ILL., Nov. 17.—John Strickler was out rabbit hunting with his nephew. He got on top of a brush heap to scare the game, and losing his balance fell just as his nephew fired. He received the charge in the back below the shoulder blade and died instantly.

Horse Fair Closed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The horse show at Madison Square garden closed Saturday night. Twenty thousand persons were present. It was the most successful exhibit ever held in this country.

JESUS IS CRUCIFIED.

LESSON VIII, FOURTH QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, NOV. 23.

Text of the Lesson, Luke xxiii, 33, 47. Commit Verses 33, 34—Golden Text, Isa. liii, 6—Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

33. "And when they were come to the place, which is called Calvary, there they crucified Him, and the malefactors, one on the right hand and the other on the left." Our last lesson left Him in their hands to do their pleasure with Him; and after the scourging and mocking we see the cross laid brutally on that torn and bleeding back, and He goes forth bearing His cross (John xix, 17). While it is not said that He fainted under it, the fact that they turned Simon the Cyrenian about, and compelled him to bear it after Jesus (verse 26), looks as if He may have sunk beneath it, or perhaps stumbled through weakness or loss of blood. Then hear Him as He says to the women who follow, "Weep not for me, but for yourselves and your children" (verse 28). And see the two malefactors each bearing his cross. Thus follow to Calvary or Golgotha, the place of a skull (Matt. xxvii, 33). And now see the three crosses each bearing its living, dying, agonizing burden; on either side an evil doer suffering justly, but in the midst the Holy Jesus suffering the just for the unjust.

34. "Then said Jesus, 'Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do. And they parted His raiment and cast lots." Can you see Him stripped of his raiment, laid down upon the cross, the nails driven through His quivering flesh, and then hear Him pray, "Father, forgive them."

35. "And the people stood beholding. And the rulers also with them derided Him, saying, He saved others, let Him save Himself, if He be Christ, the chosen of God." Their cruelty knows no bounds; they have now done their worst; they have crucified Him, but they cannot cease; and as He hangs in greatest physical agony upon the cruel cross they deride Him. He could have saved Himself if He had wished. Not all the power of men or devils could have harmed Him unless He had permitted it. Hear His own words: "I lay down my life that I might take it again. No man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again. This commandment have I received of my Father" (John x, 17, 18).

36. "And the soldiers also mocked Him, coming to Him and offering Him vinegar." The sufferings and death of Christ tell out the hearts of all classes of men—the true children of God who in trial forsake Him; the professor only, who, being tempted, sells Him; those highest in religious things, who, being only hypocrites, hate reality; those highest in temporal power, who know nothing of eternal realities and care only to please people; the irreligious (as these soldiers), who care for none of these things, and the offscouring of the earth suffering just punishment for their crimes—all have their hearts revealed by the cross of Christ.

37. "And saying, If thou be the King of the Jews save thyself." They could not understand a king who had no followers and seemed to have no power.

38. "And a superscription also was written over Him, in letters of Greek and Latin and Hebrew, This is the King of the Jews." The chief priests objected to this, and wished Pilate to write, "He said, I am King of the Jews" (John xix, 21); but Pilate insisted on keeping it as he had written it.

39. "And one of the malefactors which were hanged railed on Him, saying, If thou be Christ save thyself and us." Rulers, soldiers and malefactors all utter the same taunt, "Save thyself."

40. "But the other answering, rebuked him, saying, Dost not thou fear God, seeing thou art in the same condemnation?" Hardened, indeed, must have been the heart of this condemned man, who, knowing that he must very soon meet God in the spirit world, railed even to the last.

41. "And we indeed justly; for we receive the due reward of our deeds; but this man hath done nothing amiss." Another testimony to the innocence of "This Man." We have heard it from Judas, from Pilate, from Pilate's wife, indirectly from Herod, and now from this thief on the cross.

42. "And he said unto Jesus, Lord, remember me when Thou comest into Thy kingdom." This is grand. Not only does he confess himself a justly punished wicked man, but he confesses that the man at his side is an innocent man suffering unjustly; that notwithstanding all that has been done to Him and said to Him He is really a king and has a kingdom; and he humbly asks to be remembered in that kingdom.

43. "And Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, today shalt thou be with Me in Paradise." What a trophy for Christ to display among the redeemed!

44. "And it was about the sixth hour, and there was a darkness over all the earth until the ninth hour." He was crucified at the third hour (Mark xv, 25), which would be about 9 o'clock. At the sixth hour or 12 o'clock this darkness set in, which continued till He died at 3 o'clock. The sun refused to shine longer upon such a scene; earth put on mourning.

45. "And the sun was darkened, and the veil of the temple was rent in the midst." The veil was a symbol of His body or flesh. As in tabernacle and temple, the veil concealed the glory of God; so during all His stay on earth the mortal body of Christ concealed within it the glory of God.

46. "And when Jesus had cried with a loud voice, He said, Father, into Thy hands I commend My spirit: and having said thus He gave up the ghost." This is the last of His seven sayings on the cross. For the others in the order of utterance see verses 34, 43; John xix, 25-27; Matt. xxvii, 46; John xix, 28, 30. They tell of forgiveness, Paradise, provision for our need while here and the infinite cost at which all has been purchased. This last confirms the fact of life apart from the body or conscious existence after death. Compare Stephen's "Lord Jesus receive my spirit" (Acts vii, 59), and by the word of God become so fully persuaded of these things that you can almost see yourself apart from your body enjoying the riches of God's glory.

47. "Now when the centurion saw what was done, he glorified God, saying, Certainly this was a righteous man." Yet another testimony to the innocence of the Lord Jesus Christ in addition to those mentioned under verse 41. We hope the centurion truly believed on Him, but we are not told. If he should turn out to be the Cornelius of Acts x that would explain how Cornelius came to be so devout. But we must wait. For the record of the earthquake, and the opened graves, and the incidents of His burial by Joseph and Nicodemus, as well as the piercing of His side, see Matt. xxvii, 51, 52; John xix, 34-42, and the remaining verses of this chapter. How often we have read the story, but how little we understand or appreciate it! God give us opened eyes and tender hearts.

The Wonderful Tower.

The highest structure in the world s Eiffel Tower, at Paris, 1,000 feet high But the great discovery of Dr. Franklin Miles is certain to tower far above it in promoting human happiness and health. ADRIAN, - MICHIGAN.

Clinton Column.

CLINTON, MICH., NOV. 20, 1890.

The New York Stars gave an entertainment here Monday night under the auspices of the lecture association.

Mrs. Allen Bartlett & Son left last Saturday for Sandusky, Ohio, where they will visit for a short time.

Miss Aggie Kirk came home last Saturday for a visit. She is still in Jackson.

Guy Katner has had quite a severe attack of tonsilitis.

Mrs. Ed. Rowland of Tecumseh visited friends and relatives the latter part of the week.

We hear that Henry Starrett is expected home next month from California, where he has been for his health for about three years.

Lenie Kimball spent Sunday in Detroit.

Mrs. H. R. Williams returned home last week. She has been visiting her sister in North Carolina.

The Episcopal ladies are very busy getting ready for their annual fair and entertainment.

Miss Blanche Smith came home from Detroit Monday noon, for a two week's vacation.

The morning train South Tuesday, struck a flock of sheep belonging to John Schreeder, and according to report, killed 40.

Mrs. Ed. VanDeMark spent a couple of days in Manchester this week.

C. S. Burroughs and wife drove over to AnnArbor Wednesday.

The Good Templers gave a dinner and supper at the M. E. church Tuesday. A number of people from abroad attended.

P. C. Smith drove over from Ann Arbor Saturday.

J. T. Clark went over to Detroit on business the latter part of the week.

Miss Alice Carrol is about to open a dress making shop on the corner across from the town hall. Miss Lizzie Kirk is to be an assistant. The public may rest assured that their patronage will be appreciated and no effort will be spared to please.

We noticed our new druggist on the street to-day, Mr. H. M. Heal, recently of Roscommon, Mich.

Mr. Eugene VanDeMark has left his Mark, consequently he will hereafter be known by the euphonius name of VanDe. See the board fences in this vicinity. He has evidently come to the conclusion that fences need paint as well as barns.

Dr. White bears the honors of coroner's office with dignity and grace, or will when he has been sworn in.

Mr. David Brooks has been very sick but at present is better.

1,600 : MICHIGAN ; FARMERS!

are actual paid-in-advance subscribers to THE NATIONAL STOCKMAN AND FARMER. They appreciate its ninety-six columns each week, filled with well-classified reading matter, complete and accurate market reports and containing only clean reliable advertisements, and we appreciate their patronage.

We have no more intelligent and critical readers than those in Michigan. We want more of them. With more than 20,000 subscribers in Ohio where our paper is well known we have no difficulty in extending our list. We want 3,400 more in Michigan in the next sixty days. We would get them and double that number if farmers there knew what we have to offer them. A postal card will bring a sample copy.

Subscription price, $1.50 per year. In clubs of five, $1. The remainder of this year free to new subscribers for 1891. Will pay $3,000 in cash to our club raisers April 1, 1891.

The Christian Union

$3 a year

Do you know The Christian Union? We have made a special and exclusive arrangement to send to each of our mail subscribers a copy of this crisp and popular Family Paper, by way of introduction. Let us tell you about it in advance. Only a hint or two—the way to know it is to read it every week.

The "Outlook" is a week's world-history. Supplements the daily paper—sometimes supplants it.

Each issue is made up on the issues of the week. The best writer to be found gives his best thought on each vital topic.

Sermons by America's foremost preachers. Sunday reading for people of every faith.

Pictures nearly every week—not for art's sake, but to make clear the text.

Railways and Pleasure Resorts of America. Any time-table or descriptive circular sent free to any Christian Union reader, on application.

It's a woman's paper—helpful, entertaining, suggestive in all home matters.

It's a man's paper—virile, inspiring, in the forefront of all great movements.

Boys and girls watch the mail for it. There is good fun in its pages every week; bright stories and practical talks.

"She Loved a Sailor," a powerful dramatic story by Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, begins in late October, and runs four months.

Ex-President R. B. Hayes says: "The Christian Union is a paper of progress. Its ideas, spirit, and aims are excellent. It is hopeful, generous, effective."

By special arrangement we offer to extend your subscription to this paper for one year, and send The Christian Union one year to a new subscriber, for the very low combination price named above. No other paper in town is able to make this offer. Don't miss this opportunity to secure two papers that you want, at so low a price. Address this office.

WILHELM'S IMPROVED CREAMERY CAN.

Unequalled for private Dairies of from one cow to full size Creamery. $5.00 will buy FOUR 3-GAL. CANS making a capacity of 12 gallons of milk, and will PRODUCE ALL THE CREAM FROM 4 TO 8 HOURS, in a vat, tub, or any receptacle the farmer may choose, holding water from 10 to 14 inches in depth, and at temperature from 40 to 60 degrees cold. IT MAKES A PERFECT CREAM and combines the advantage of deep setting, rapid cooling, protecting the milk from all impurities of the atmosphere which so quickly taints cream. Also preventing souring by thunder storms, from flies, insects, dust, and all bad odors, thus preserving both cream and milk, clean and sweet. Over 200,000 in actual use in the U. S. One setting of milk is all that is needed to prove the merit of the can. Usual size of can, 3-gal., price $1.25. A liberal discount on orders of one dozen Cans and upwards. Write for descriptive circular and testimonials. I also make a specialty of building Creameries and furnishing all the best improved machinery and apparatus. JOHN WILHELM, Wooster, Wayne Co. O.

C. L. Osgood, Samaria, Mich. says—The Milk Cans I bought of you give perfect satisfaction. We can make just as good and just as much butter in the most unfavorable season of the year by the use of these Cans as at any other time of the year. I have 4 Cans. Have had them 3 years and would not be without them.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE

BRITTON BUDGET.

A number of our young folks attended the Good Templars' Convention at Clinton this week.

E. M. Lewis of Raisinville has commenced building his coal kilns and already employs a number of men cutting coal wood.

The Exelby House boasts of from ten to twenty-five cats. Every morning at daylight Mr. Santus pays a visit to the butcher shop to procure meat for his feline acquaintances. They thrive well under his tender care.

A real live bride and bridegroom stayed over night at the hotel the middle of last week.

Charles Swinerton has obtained the job of attending mason during the erection of the coal kilns.

John Gibson informs us that he had a letter from Dave Sloan a few days ago. We are sorry to inform our readers that Mr. Sloan is no better. The climate of Colorado does not agree with him and he intends moving to California shortly.

There is a rumor of orange blossoms in the near future.

We caution all the smokers in Britton to buy their own tobacco in the future and not try to save money by procuring the weed from the pauper boxes of our merchants. It is certainly a cheap way of smoking but there is an old saying, "penny wise and pound foolish," and your correspondent has proved such to be the case. He would not give himself away were it not for the love he bears his fellow-men. And if any profit by the lesson he will feel more than paid for the pain and humiliation he has passed through. A few days ago our correspondent thought he would save his money and procure his tobacco from the pauper boxes in future. He accordingly filled his pipe from one of these boxes and sat himself down to enjoy a quiet smoke, smiling to himself to think that in the future the luxury of smoking could be carried on without expense. While in this happy frame of mind an explosion occurred which fairly made the windows of the hotel rattle, and it was afterwards said, by a person who is well-known for his truthfulness, that he heard the explosion beyond the Christian Church, and tho't they were blasting stumps in Tecumseh. For a second or two after the explosion your correspondent was unable to say whether he was living or dead, but the sight of his shattered pipe on the floor convinced him that he was yet living, although terribly shaken. A burnt child dreads the fire and the victim of gunpowder and tobacco made a solemn vow never again to indulge in the dangerous luxury of smoking tobacco from pauper boxes.

Will Babcock has a new drug clerk.

We heard it was circulated that our teacher was arrested and had to appear at Adrian for shooting quail. There is no truth in the report. If some people would mind their own business it would be a benefit to the community. There are a number of our villagers who seem to know more about the business of their neighbors than the neighbors do themselves. We shall always take the side of right and if this vile system of scandal and gossip continues we shall feel it our duty to publish the names of a few of the worst scandal mongers of the village.

During the winter the mill of Osgood Bros. will only run three days in the week, viz.: Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

FRANKLIN FACTS.

Ernest Wisner is back on a visit from Nebraska.

David Burroughs from Calhoun Co. is visiting his aged father, Davidson Burroughs. The old gentleman will be ninety-one next March.

Miss Ula Burroughs is still in Cambridge with relatives.

Philo Mills began his school in Dist No. 3 last Monday; Willis Smith the same day in the Bradley Dist.

The funeral of Mrs. Rodman Taylor occurred at the house last Friday morning. The patient face that has been familiar to us since childhood will be sorely missed in her neighborhood. The house was filled with those friends who had known and loved her and the coffin was covered with flowers—slight tribute of their affection and esteem. Mrs. Mary Woods, of Hillsdale, and Levi Taylor, also of the same county, son and daughter of the deceased, with their families, were present at Mrs. Taylor's funeral; also Mr. and Mrs. Frank Young, of West Liberty.

RIDGEWAY RAMBLES

Farmers are drawing corn husking to a close.

Henry Coats has been building a Page wire fence along the roadside of the wood lot east of the village during the past week.

Ezra Sink of Britton has the contract to paint the woodwork of outside of the church and has begun work.

The annual election of officers of the Hall Library Association will be held in the parlors of the Library on Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 2d, at one o'clock. It is hoped a full attendance will be present.

Born—to Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Harrison last week, a boy. All doing well.

Several Tecumseh friends were in attendance at the box social held at the Hall Library parlors last week Wednesday evening.

Sherman Terry and daughter, Mrs. Peter Welling, of Tecumseh, called on friends in the village last week.

Clara Temple and Jennie Osgood visited Tecumseh friends last week several days.

Rhoda and Lou Arner spent Saturday and Sunday with friends in Tecumseh.

Miss Alta Sedan of Dundee visited Marcie Kelley a few days, returning home Monday.

J. D. Arner spent Sunday at Marshall with his brother.

The L. C. S. was held at the home of Mrs. Sue Clark on Friday evening, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. Jane Temple.
1st Vice Pres.—Ella Pattison.
2nd " " —Mrs. Agnes Loree.
Sec.—Lulu Rappleye.
Ass't Sec.—Clara Temple.
Treas.—Ada Linn.
Chaplain—Rev. J. A. Lowry.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

Send to F. P. Shumway, Jr., Boston, Mass., for a free sample copy of the Cottage Hearth, a beautiful illustrated magazine, and so realize what an extraordinary offer we are making when we offer to send both the Cottage Hearth and this paper for a full year for only $2.00, when the price of the Cottage Hearth alone is $1 50 a year. The Boston Transcript says of the Cottage Hearth:—

"Setting aside its literary contents, which are of a high order of merit, the collection of receipts for the kitchen and for the sick-room, its practical suggestions and advice for the raising and care of plants and flowers, its instruction for beautifying homes by simple means, and other practical features, make it invaluable to every household."

"Actions speak louder than words," if you will give Dr. Craig's Kidney and Liver Cure a trial it will prove its efficacy more ably than a year of talking would.

ONSTED ODDS.

Some very nice fall weather.

School again started up here on Monday of this week with Mr. Warren Shephard as teacher.

The grangers will hold a social at their hall on Friday evening of this week and every one is invited.

Mrs. Clarence Stearns of Wexford county is visiting with friends in this vicinity at present.

The blackboard at the Onsted school house has been put in first-class order by Messrs. Daniels and Sharrh, for future use in the school.

Charles Townsend has sold his place of six acres in North Rome and purchased a little farm of twenty acres near Hudson and is moving thereon.

William Aldrich is calling on friends this week at Addison, Hudson, Pittsford and Jonesville.

Over 80 persons attended the P. of I. social at Fred Mattman's a few evenings ago. They intend to hold them every four weeks until further notice.

Will Bennett returned last week from a visit at Greenville, Mich.

Mrs. Henry Taylor of Dakota, with her children, have come to Michigan to stay the winter, as it is rather hard wintering in North Dakota.

Shorter days make longer evenings and long evenings are the time to call on your friends and discuss national and farm affairs so as to get all the information you can on those subjects.

Farmers' cellars are full of field and garden sass and the housewife wears a smiling countenance on account of the same.

Mrs. Clark Welch and children, of Columbia, Dakota, will be guests of friends in this vicinity during the winter.

Willis Taylor is quite poorly at present.

Quite a number of people in this locality complain of sore mouths at present.

After a brief intermission the question for discussion: Resolved—That the government should own and control the railroads," was taken up, and as it had been so recently discussed, tabled.

The next meeting of the society will occur at Wm. Witherell's Friday evening, November 28; that the society will have a very enjoyable time is a foregone conclusion in that hospitable home. A good program will be presented with plenty of A1 music, followed by the discussion of the question: "Resolved—That the hope of reward has a greater influence on the human character than the fear of punishment." Affirmative—Carl Wisner, J. C. VanDoren, Hollis Taylor, E. Spalding, A. D. Hunt, Alton Whelan, Geo. Taylor. Negative—Mrs. A. B. Wisner, G. W. Allen, Mrs. R. Langdon, J. S. Allen, Clarence Wisner, Bertha Taylor, Reuben Langdon.

THE DETROIT KIRMESS.

Special rates on all railroads are promised to those desiring to go to Detroit to attend the Kirmess, which is the great social event in the near future in that city. All the leading society ladies are participating in its preparation, which will include, as one of its most attractive features, the dances of twelve different countries, by young ladies in the costumes of those countries. The Kirmess will open at the Detroit Rink on Monday evening, December 8th, and will be continued each afternoon (4 p. m.) and evening (8 p. m.) the remainder of the week, or eleven separate entertainments, each being complete and showing all the dances. The Kirmess is to be given for the benefit of the Woman's Exchange, one of Detroit's Charities, and is to be managed by Miss Margaret McLeager, of New York. A circular of particulars may be secured by addressing the secretary, Mrs. Fitz[illegible] Edwards, 530 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich.

THE following story, which I believe to be absolutely true, was related to me by Colonel Wilson Hackett, a well-known lawyer of Chicago:

I have never eaten but one Thanksgiving dinner, that is, I have never eaten but one dinner on Thanksgiving day when my heart was actually filled with gratitude. Of course, we all feel a sort of thankfulness on the prayer-day appointed by the Nation's ruler, but how many of us are able to say that our hearts are really overflowing with thankful praise?

Last autumn, Abner Walker, Tom Pruitt and I went fishing on the lower White river, in Arkansas. We knew nothing of the country and especially were we ignorant of the best places to fish; and, consequently, we employed as guide an old fellow known as Bone Buck. I don't think that I had ever before seen quite so lank a man. Tom Pruitt, considerable of a wag, by the way, declared that Bone Buck could stand in a double-barreled shotgun, reach down and take hold of his boot straps.

Reports of heavy rains above had reached us, and the river was slowly rising when we started down the stream, but as a dangerous rise is very rare in the fall of the year, we paid no attention to the warning muttered by Bone Buck. After traveling about thirty miles we landed and began to explore the neighborhood to settle upon a camping place. We had not gone far after leaving the boat when Bone Buck stopped suddenly and said:

"Look here, in this country a big spring rise that don't come is mighty nigh a shore sign of a fall overflow. The June rise didn't oome, an' now I bet you any thing we air in fur it. I bet thar is a twenty-foot rise a rushin' down this minit, an' ef you men will take the advice of a man that is putty nigh a fool in some things but powerful sharp in others, you will strike out fur high ground an' let this fishin' go for awhile. Fish never will bite when the water is risin', nohow."

I was disposed to take Bone's advice, but Tom said: "No, we have come all the way down here to fish and I am going to fish. What do you say, Abner?"

"I am in favor of trying it awhile, anyway," Abner rejoined.

"All right," Bone replied. "I'll stay with you, an' even ef we don't ketch no fish we mout have a power of fun. Lissen," he suddenly added, "don't you hear that water roarin'?"

To hear that roar did not require very close listening. I had often heard the comparison, "like the rush of mighty waters," but never before had I appreciated the full force of the phrase.

"Come," said Bone, wheeling about, "we've got to git that boat or we mout be drounded like a lot of rats."

We ran back to the place where we had landed. The boat was gone. "That almost do settle it," Bone declared. "Come ahead an' let's pull outen here befo' it gits too dark to see. You men don't 'pear to ketch the meanin' of all this here. Ef we git cut off by the water you will wishi you never hearn tell of a fish."

He did not understand us, for we did appreciate the danger, but not knowing what to do could say nothing. We struck out in a westerly direction and had proceeded but a short distance when darkness overtook us. Bone did not say much, but judging by the grunts he indulged in whenever he heard any new noises, I knew that he was far from being satisfied with the situation. After a long walk through a forest densely tangled in its wildness, Bone halted and, remaining silent for a few moments, said:

"It's plum dun settled now, I'm thinkin'."

"Have you lost your way?" I asked.

"I ain't had no way to lose. I don't kere how often a feller comes through these here woods, he don't l'arn no way. A squirrel ain't home when he's in here."

"What are you going to do?" Abner asked. "I'd like to know for I've got my appetite with me, and I am beginning to hanker after the flesh pots."

"Yas," Bone replied, "an' let me tell you that you'll hanker still wus befo you git to whar the pot is a b'ilin'. Every thing we had, you know, was tuck away by the boat."

"I know that, but can't we find some house?"

"Could find suthin' of the sort of we was outen here, but how air we goin' to git out when we air dun hemmed in by the water? The river has riz so fast that the water is runnin' on all sides of us like a mill tail."

"That's serious," said I, "but it may soon fall so that we can get out."

"Yas," he responded, "an' it may stay up for a month. Ef we don't starve it will be a wonder."

"You are deucedly cheerful in your remarks," said Tom Pruitt. "Don't you think that by straining a point you could say a few more dismal things?"

"Could do it an' mout not strain much, nuther. Down in here summer's a few years ago a party of fellers got kotch out durin' a rise, an' when the water went down we found them. They hadn't lost none o' thar clothes, so all the expense we was put to was gittin' some plank fur the coffins."

Abner—a rather timid man he is, too—groaned aloud, a ludicrous evidence of fear that brought forth a laugh from Tom. I didn't laugh.

All we could do was to wait for morning, and, making down beds of the boughs of trees, we tumbled into troubled dreams. The sun was shining when we awoke, and Walker, taking the brightness as an evidence that the danger was past, sprang up with a shout. Bone grunted contemptuously. "You ain't outen the woods yit," said he, "an' it ain't hardly time to holler. I went down to look at the situation jest now, an' the outlook is mighty pore. Look over yander. Whut do you think of that?"

It was nothing to inspire a pleasant thought, I assure you. We were in the midst of a great sea. The great rush of water had formed "a cut off," leaving us on an island. The river, or rather one of its violent prongs, had torn through a small cotton field and was rushing past with a terrific sweep.

"I tell you it's dun plum settled," said Bone. "No tellin' when this water will run out, an' I'm mighty afeered that we'll be mighty gnawish befo' we see the juice of a middlin' of meat."

"Oh, I've got to have something to eat pretty soon; I can't stand it," Walker declared. "If I had a fishing line I would throw in here and catch something."

"Mout ketch a chunk," said Bone; "but as fur fish, you mout as well fling a line in the county road."

It was useless to stand there and grieve, so, making the best of our misfortune, we began the construction of a sort of hut. Thus the long day passed, and as the sun went down we saw that the water was still rising. This to me was exciting, but Bone looked on complacently. The first thing I heard the next morning was a piteous moan from Walker.

"No use to moan an' mowl," said our guide. "We air here. Let me see what the water is a doin'. She's still a risin' all right," he added, after making a brief inspection.

"Why, you mud turtle!" exclaimed Tom "you seem to want it to keep on rising. Do you want to be washed away?"

"I know whut I'm about, youngster, an' don't pester yo'se'f about me."

"Oh, I'm not bothering about you," Tom replied. "I'm simply concerned about myself and the other boys."

"Ef we had a deck of kyards," Bone remarked after a short silence, "we mout break off a few of ole man hunger's teeth."

"I wouldn't play a card," said Walker, "if I had ten thousand. What I want is something to eat and then I want to get out of here."

We had nothing to eat that day. Just before lying down for the night, Bone said that he was afraid the water was falling. Tom called him a fool. When daylight came, Bone sprang up and ran down to the water's edge, stood there a moment and shook his head sadly.

"What's the matter?" I asked.

"I am afeered she's a fallin'," he answered.

"Look here, Bone," said I, "we are as hungry as wolves and don't care about your barbarous jokes. Let us have no more of this foolishness."

Four days passed and we were nearly famished. Bone had ceased speaking about the water, but I noticed that he watched it closely. It was about noon, and we, too weak to stir around, were sitting near the edge of the water, when suddenly Bone, uttering an exclamation, sprang into the stream. We jumped up. I thought the fellow had lost his mind. I saw him seize a yellowish something and strike out for the shore. Tom ran down and held out an old rail. Bone came out, bringing with him an immense canvassed ham. Then there arose a yell of joy.

"Wait till I shuck him," he said, beginning to remove the canvas. "Ef the water hadn't a kep' on a risin' we wouldn't a got this here. Riz so high that it teched some feller's plantation store. Now let me kyarve him."

He served each of my party before he took any himself. Every face wore an expression of profound gratitude. "By the way," said Walker, "this is Thanksgiving day." It was indeed a day of thanksgiving.

The next morning we were released by a little steamboat that chanced to come within sight.

BE THANKFUL

That you are alive and in good health and with a good appetite for your Thanksgiving dinner.

That while your affairs for the past year have not gone as prosperously as you could have desired they are still in much better shape than they might have been.

That you live in this the grandest era of the world's history—a day of liberty of human speech and conscience and under a Government so grand and free that the humblest citizen goes about his business with scarcely the knowledge forced upon him that we have a Government at all.

"What is that?"

THE DAY OF GIVING.

IN the amber days of autumn, when the mellowe black and glow,
And the ambient "upper ocean" holds a crystal hint of snow,
Comes an hour of tender feeling when charity holds sway,
And the world is gently thoughtful on the Nation's Giving Day.

Then the jocund-visaged pumpkin gives its wealth of toothsome gold,
Sandwiched 'twixt the snowy crustings into flaky lightness roll'd,
And the oligarchic gobbler, child of pomp and indolence,
Gives his plump and luscious being to the spit of recompense.

The man of many millions gives a trifle from his store,
The toiler strips his larder of a good full half or more,
While 'neath the grinning rafters where starving thousands lie,
The dying give a blessing and the living give a sigh.

O! Father of the helpless, hasten Thou the blessed morn
That the faithful long have waited, promised since the Christ was born,
When there shall be in all the land no barred nor bolted door,
Nor marbled super-selfishness, nor hungry, hoveled poor.

CHARLES EUGENE BANKS.

A LUCKY BLIZZARD.

The Story of a Glad Thanksgiving at Rose Ranch.

WHEN the long pampa grass was green, Rose ranch was one of the prettiest little places in all Northern Texas; but now that it was sere and dead, Rose ranch looked glum and drear under the pallid November sky.

Somehow the appearance of things had an unusual effect on the young lord and master of this domain, and he felt glum and drear too. He stood on the front step of the little white dwelling which he had built with his own hands, and leaned against one of the heavy door-posts, scowling dismally.

What a big, strong, handsome fellow John Ellsworth was! It was odd that he had never married, being at least twenty-seven. He was just the man to win all of a woman's love, and there was so much of him to get lonesome. But his life had been devoted to sterner things than thoughts of love; notwithstanding his indomitable spirit and his untiring industry, it had taken him years, single-handed and unequipped as he was, to bring his Texas home to its present value.

While standing ruminating at the door John's vision was greeted by the appearance of Jessie Carell, "the school-marm o' Sassafras," as some called her, who lived at Colonel Bludsoe's, a mile to the north of Rose ranch, and taught the Sassafras school nearly three miles to the south. She passed John's home, therefore, every day, and sometimes he joined her and accompanied her to the door of the school-house. This was when Cephas Bludsoe was not along.

She was a sweet little woman; no one could help thinking that.

Usually she rode a black pony on her trips back and forth to school, but on this particular morning she was walking.

John brightened at sight of her, and as she came up and smiled a greeting he went down the path and took possession of her books and lunch-basket.

"How's it come you're walkin' this morning?" he asked, as they passed down the road. "Where's the pony?"

"'Doc' got out among the range horses last night," she answered, "an' I thought I wouldn't wait till he was caught. I can stand walkin' to-day, as there's no school at all to-morrow."

"Thanksgivin'—thet's so. But it's too far fer you to walk, Jessie. I'll see thet you ride back this evening. I'll have one o' my ponies down to the school-house fer you."

"Cephas is goin' to bring 'Doc' down, he said." Her eyes fell as she said this.

The frown returned to John's brow, darker than ever. He said nothing for a moment. Then he shifted the books on his arm, and muttered something to the effect that it "might snow big for Thanksgivin'."

"Sister Carrie's comin' to-day to spend Thanksgivin' and a month with me," he informed her presently.

"Comin' from Ohio?"

"Yes. She'll get to Houston station on the afternoon train, an' I'll meet 'er."

"From all you've told me about Carrie, I think I'd like to see her very much," remarked the young school-ma'am, earnestly.

"Would you?" said John. "I'll tell you: s'pose you spend Thanksgivin' at Rose ranch, an' Carrie 'll get up a rousin' dinner for us."

"I'm sorry," she began, paused, and continued: "I'm sorry, but I promised Cephas to go over to Galloway's with him to-morrow."

"Seems like you an' Cephas are havin' a good deal to do with one another p' late," John muttered in a hard voice. Then he added: "I've been thinkin' o' you all mornin'." Judging from the way he spoke this, it was not unlikely that his thoughts of her had affected him more than the weather.

"I hope you thought good things," she said, pleasantly.

"I heard you an' Cephas were goin' to marry, Christmas-times," he said, abruptly.

She glanced up at him quickly.

"Who told that?" she asked.

The subject was suddenly dropped at this point. Cephas Bludsoe came riding up and blusteringly saluted them.

"Gloomy day, ain't it, Ellsworth?" he remarked. "Hope it won't snow afore I get back from the station. Goin' down to-day, John?"

"To the station? Yes, this afternoon," John answered, quietly.

"I'll see you there, mebbe."

"She didn't deny it," he muttered. "I reckon it must be so."

That afternoon he went to Houston station, which was a good eight miles from Rose ranch, and when the train from the north came there was Carrie, as radiant and gladsome as of old.

As the two started in the little spring-wagon for the ranch, John noticed Cephas entering the station's liquor resort in company with two young fellows who were notorious ne'er-do-wells. It proved that this was the beginning of a great Thanksgiving drunk on the part of the three.

"Seems like he's forgot his promise to take the black pony fer Jessie," John thought.

Brother and sister were rejoiced at meeting again after their long separation, and the miles were traveled quickly.

However, they had hardly left the station when John noticed a peculiar change in the atmosphere. It grew cold and the sky was lowering. Evidently a sterm was near.

He whipped up the horses and they sped along rapidly.

Darker and darker grew the heavens. John thought he had never known a storm to approach so swiftly.

It became bitterly cold, and the wind blew from the north. Suddenly the sleet and snow began to fall, and John knew that they were in the midst of one of those terrible blizzards of the Southwest.

He made Carrie as comfortable as possible with his big buffalo robe and her shawls, and bundled up himself all he could, but still they suffered from the cold.

By the time they reached Sassafras school-house there were two feet of snow on the ground, and it was falling in a blinding flood.

The building was deserted and locked. John thought of Cephas in the saloon at the station, and wondered if Jessie had waited for the black pony.

They were still more than a mile from Rose ranch, when a human form, prostrate in the snow, caused the horses to shy and brought an exclamation from John.

He drew the team to a standstill, and, passing the lines to his sister, leaped from his seat and bent over the storm's victim.

"Great Heavens, Carrie!" he cried, "it's Jessie—the school-ma'am o' Sassafras!"

Carrie did not hear him. Stung by the driving sleet and the biting cold, and frightened perhaps by their master's sudden spring from his seat, the spirited horses had plunged forward, and finding no restraining hand at the bits, for Carrie's hands were stiff and numb with the cold, they dashed away over the prairie, leaving John standing helplessly in the snow over the inanimate form of the little teacher!

John lost not a moment in idle contemplation of the situation.

Gathering the little teacher in his strong arms, and holding her close against his breast, that she might absorb some of the warmth from his own person, he boldly struck through the snow in the wake of the team, which had now entirely disappeared in the storm.
